And so, Santa Barbara extends an invitation to all to be present during this fiesta. To all Native Sons and Native Daughters he says, "Put on your Spanish costume and help us celebrate." To the world she says, "There is no other celebration like 'Old Spanish Days.' The greater part of all entertainment is free. It is for all the people of California and for all the world. Come and enjoy it!"

GRAVE CALIFORNIA PIONEER HERO MARKED WITH TABLET.

Elk Grove (Sacramento County)—At rites sponsored by Liberty Parlor No. 213 N.D.G.W., a bronze plaque was May 29 unveiled above the grave of John P. Rhoads at Slough House. The plaque, presented by Mrs. Sadie Winn-Brainard of Califia Parlor No. 22 N.D.G.W. (Sacramento), reads: "In memory of John P. Rhoads, who carried Naomi Pike from Donner Lake over forty miles of snow down to Sutter's Fort. Dedicated May 29, 1932, by Liberty Parlor No. 213 N.D.G.W."

Guy Foulks presided, Mrs. Brainard presented the plaque, and it was accepted by President Louisa Krull of Liberty Parlor. The Elk Grove high school orchestra, directed by Earle Nicholls, rendered selections, and community singing was led by Carol Latson. Pic Rhoads, son of John P. Rhoads, related the history of his hero-father.

The main address was delivered by Miss Esther R. Sullivan, Past Grand President N.D.G.W. She spoke interestingly of the California Pioneers, with particular reference to Mrs. Naomi Pike-Schenck—now 89 years of age and residing at The Dalles, Oregon State,—the 3-year-old member of the Reed-Donner Party who was carried to safety across the Sierra snows by John P. Rhoads in 1847.

[The Reed-Donner Party tragedy has heretofore been fully related in The Grizzly Bear. Among the original members of that party were 19-year-old Mrs. Harriet F. Pike, her husband and two children. Her husband was killed enroute. Mrs. Pike was one of the "Forlorn Hope" that left Donner Lake to seek relief for the party December 16, 1846; they reached Johnson's Ranch January 17, 1847. John P. Rhoads, a member of the first relief, promised Mrs. Pike he would bring out her children, and he returned with Naomi, her infant daughter having perished while she was seeking relief. At Sutter Fort, in 1847, Mrs. Pike was wedded to M. C. Nye, and for some time the family resided near Marysville, Yuba County, at that time known as Nye's Ranch. John P. Rhoads was not a member of the Reed-Donner Party. He was born in Kentucky, October 5, 1815, and arrived in California in 1846. He first settled near what is now Wheatland, Yuba County, and later went to the Slough House district of Sacramento County, where he died December 20, 1866.—Editor.]

SAN FRANCISCO—THE BOARD OF Grand Officers met June 4, in attendance being Grand President Seth Millington, who presided, Grand First Vice Justice Emmet Seawell, Grand Second Vice Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Jesse H. Miller, Eldred L. Meyer, John M. Burnett, Henry S. Lyon, Joseph J. McShane, Horace J. Leavitt and Charles H. Spengemann. Much routine business was transacted.

Letters of appreciation for the resolutions, pertaining to the naval appropriation bill of the Federal Congress, adopted at the Stockton Grand Parlor were received from Rear Admiral T. J. Senn, Rear Admiral W. C. Cole and F. B. Upham, chief of the Navy Department's navigation bureau.

It was ordered that the funds bequeathed the Grand Parlor by the late Senator James D. Phelan (Pacific No. 10) be left in the banks in which now deposited.

Joseph B. Keenan (Niantic No. 105) and Grand Second Vice Koenig were nominated for election as directors of the San Francisco Hall Association, to represent the Grand Parlor's holdings therein.

At the request of Castro No. 232 (San Francisco), a letter of thanks was ordered sent W. K. Kellogg for his gift of a 700-acre Orange County ranch and Arabian horses, together with a maintenance fund, to the people of California and the University of California.

The petition of James Lick No. 242 (San Francisco) to consolidate with Castro No. 232 (San Francisco) was favorably considered, and Grand President Millington authorized the consolidation.

Following the Stockton Grand Parlor, Grand President Millington communicated with members of the Order in various cities regarding the selection of a place for the holding of this year's Admission Day, September 9, celebration. As a result, Thomas M. Foley (Pacific No. 10) urged that San Francisco be selected. It being necessary to consult the Parlors of that city, a motion prevailed that full power to act in the matter be delegated to the Grand President. At a meeting June 10 of the San Francisco Extension of the Order Committee, the suggestion was received favorably, and therefore the statewide celebration will be held in San Francisco.

No. 1, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer—Bakersfield No. 42, Los Angeles No. 45, San Diego No. 108, Ramona No. 109, Arrowhead No. 110, Santa Barbara No. 116, Hollywood No. 196, Long Beach No. 239, Sepulveda No. 263, Glendale No. 264, Santa Ana No. 265, Cahuenga No. 268.

The Board of Grand Trustees organized by the election of Jesse H. Miller as chairman, and Eldred L. Meyer as secretary.

School Dedicated.

Saint Helena—Under the auspices of Saint Helena No. 53 and in the presence of an assemblage of 700, the grand officers June 10 dedicated the new Saint Helena union high school. A splendid program was presented. President Paul R. Alexander of the board of school trustees extended greetings, and addresses were delivered by Grand President Seth Millington and Grand Third Vice Harmon D. Skillin.

The dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by Grand President Millington, Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, Grand Second Vice Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice Skillin, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane and Grand Secretary John T. Regan. As this was graduation day at the school, the Grand President was accorded the honor of presenting diplomas to the graduates, who were introduced by Principal T. B. Street.

Oldtimers Given Badges.

Auburn—A large number of oldtimers, former or present residents of Placer County, were guests June 12 of Auburn No. 59 and Auburn No. 233 N.D.G.W. at a picnic. Sheriff Elmer Gum and Mayor Jack Walsh had charge of the luncheon, and Mildred Macy and Herbert Merrow headed the committee that arranged the program. P. W. Smith was the toastmaster, and the principal speaker was Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, who said "We must see that no pioneer heroes are left unknown."

Miss Onetta Walsh presented badges to J. W. Burner of Auburn and Mrs. F. A. Stone of Oakland, the oldest man and woman in attendance. Burner, a Placer County resident since 1891, was born June 12, 1847, in Sacramento County, the son of A. Burner, who came to California aboard a sailing vessel in 1844. Mrs. Stone, born in Connecticut in 1848, arrived in Placer County with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Slade, in 1856, and resided continuously in Auburn until 1913.

Drum Corps Captain Surprised.

San Rafael—Officers of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 were elected June 6, Monroe E. Petersen being selected for president. Installation will be held jointly with Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W. The forty-seventh institution anniversary of the Parlor was celebrated June 20 with an entertainment and banquet following the initiation of a large class of candidates. This initiation concluded the membership contest between the present officers, the past presidents and the "scrubs."

Manuel A. Andrade recently retired as the captain of Mount Tamalpais' drum and bugle corps, and on behalf of the members of the corps was presented, by Drum Major M. E. Soares, with a beautifully engraved emblematic gold ring. Captain Andrade was tireless in devotion to the interests of the corps which, in its comparatively brief career, has won many trophies and received much praise for its efficiency. He was so completely surprised by the gift of appreciation that he was actually speechless. Jas. Foster succeeds him as captain of the corps.

Hears of "Conditions of the Day."

San Bernardino—Tamar McGarvey was elected president of Arrowhead No. 110 June 1. State Senator Tallant Tubbs of Presidio No. 194 (San Francisco) addressed the Parlor on "Conditions of the Day" June 8. A basket picnic at Sylvan Park, Redlands, June 15 was arranged for by a committee composed of Grand Organist Leslie Maloche (chairman), Gordon Lee, Henry Peake, John Andreson Jr., Robert Reeder, Walter Harris, Jerry Doyle, T. J. Sawyer, Ralph Frederickson and Fred Kramer.

June 18 the Parlor had its fifth annual steak supper at Doyle's ranch. June 29 several candidates were initiated, and final arrangements were made for the annual Fourth of July barbecue.

Sonoma Outing.

Sonoma—Sonoma No. 111 and Sonoma No. 209 N.D.G.W. will hold their annual barbecue and dance July 17. An entertainment feature will be a baseball game between the team of Castro No. 232 (San Francisco) and the local club. Charles Bacigalupi and Emily Provident head the Parlors' arrangements committees.

Eight candidates were initiated by Sonoma No. 111, June 20, the ritual being exemplified by a team from Fruitvale No. 252 (Oakland). A banquet followed the ceremonies.

Marker Dedicated.

Redding—A marker—a copper plate embedded in a five-ton boulder—to designate the site, two miles north of Anderson, where the old California-Oregon trail deviated from the present highway, was dedicated May 23 by McCloud No. 149 and Hiawatha No. 140 N.D.G.W. The site was deeded to McCloud by Mr. and Mrs. Grover E. Oaks.

Benefit Draws Large Crowd.

Monterey—A large crowd attended the card party and dance given jointly by Monterey No. 75 and Junipero No. 141 N.D.G.W. for the benefit of the homeless children. W. W. Rodehaver was chairman of the general arrangements committee.

Calistoga Home-coming.

Calistoga—Calistoga No. 86 is sponsoring a home-coming celebration for the latter part of September. All former residents will be requested to attend, and a program is being arranged for their entertainment. Plans are also under way for a ritual contest, between the "old guard" and the "kids" of the Parlor, to be held in the fall.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures June 15, 1932:

Parlor.	Jan. 1	June 15	Gain	Loss

Pucinelli will be president, L. E. Sarbo recording secretary and Frank Pimental financial secretary. The people of the town generally are giving every encouragement, and this promises to become a large and influential unit of the Order.

This is going to be a big night in Los Banos, according to Deputy Grand President Lobree, who urges all Parlors to be represented and to bring along their drum corps. The townspeople are donating liberally the necessaries for a feast, so there will be plenty to eat. Stockton No. 7 will exemplify the ritual.

Plaque Presented County.

Placerville—A George Washington memorial plaque, presented to El Dorado County by Placerville No. 9 and Marguerite No. 12 N.D.G.W. in recognition of the bicentennial, was unveiled in the lobby of the county court house June 15. Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon presided, Grand President Seth Millington made the presentation address, and Judge George H. Thompson accepted the gift on the county's behalf. A program of entertainment followed.

Placerville had an informal reception for Grand Trustee Lyon May 24, and on the Parlor's behalf President George M. Smith presented him with a token of esteem. Lyon, who is district attorney of El Dorado County, responded fittingly.

Flag Day Observed.

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 sponsored a unique program at the plaza in Old Town in observance of Flag Day, June 14. The flags of three nations—Spain, Mexico and the United States of America—and also that of the State of California were raised as the national airs of each country were played by the marine band. Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer was chairman of the day, and appropriate addresses were delivered by Colonel D. C. Collier, Armando C. Amador, Judge Eugene Daney Jr. and Mayor John F. Forward Jr.

June 10, also at the Old Town plaza, the San Diegans placed the thirty-second of a series of markers indicating the many historic sites throughout San Diego City. The marker reads: "Plaza San Diego Viejo: established as the first Mexican Pueblo in California, 1834. Taken by American Forces under Capt. Ezekiel Merritt late in November, 1846, when the Mexican flag was cut down by Senora Maria Antonia Machado de Selvas and the American flag raised and nailed to the flag pole under enemy fire by Albert B. Smith." Speakers included Edward Bernard, George W. Marston, David Millan, D. W. Campbell and Albert V. Mayrhofer.

Chain Demon Fire!

San Francisco—The Grand Parlor Forestry and Conservation Committee, Southard M. Modry secretary, has directed a letter to all Subordinate Parlors requesting them to co-operate with the United States Forest Service and the State Division of Forestry in the campaign to reduce forest fire losses. It is urged that open meetings, devoted entirely to the cause, be held, and that county boards of supervisors be petitioned to adopt a suggested uniform fire ordinance.

All members of the Order are urged to assist in the attempt to "Chain Demon Fire! Do your bit to protect and conserve our natural resources, particularly our forests and wild life."

River Excursion.

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 sponsored a Sacramento River excursion the night of June 18 and it was greatly enjoyed by a large crowd. The arrangements committee included Jos. Fitzhenry (chairman), June Longshore, Lew Wallace, Irving Beale, Frank Didion, John Majors, Angie Nicolosi, Billy Nesbitt, Marshall Crabb, Carter Pressey, Joe Hellinge Jr., A. M. Mull Jr.

Officers of the Parlor will be installed jointly with those of La Bandera No. 110 N.D.G.W. the early part of July. Jos. Fitzhenry, president-elect of No. 3, will be the chairman of the evening.

Oldtime Picnic.

Oakland—Members of Claremont No. 240 and Argonaut No. 166 N.D.G.W., their families and friends gathered at Valente Park in Contra Costa County for a real oldtime picnic June 21. A baseball game, races and dancing furnished amusement. Officers of Claremont, with Louis Cambet as president, will be installed early in July by District Deputy Victor Raible. The Parlor is looking forward to a successful term.

Entertained With Songs.

Santa Ana—Santa Ana No. 265 was delightfully entertained with a program of songs June 20 by three San Jacinto young women—Marion

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

JULY 4, 1882, THE ONE HUNDRED AND sixth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence of the United States of America was patriotically celebrated throughout California with parades and elaborate displays of fireworks. The weather was extremely hot, thermometers in shaded spots of the valleys going above 100 degrees. The Fourth coming on a Tuesday, a four-day holiday, beginning Saturday, the 1st, was observed generally.

In the parade at Sacramento City, fifty-four members of the Society of California Pioneers, in hacks placarded "The '49ers," were followed by a delegation, afoot, from Sacramento Parlor No. 3 N.S.G.W.

Fred M. Dickerson, firing a salute at Saint Helena, Napa County, had one hand blown away, and James Saultry, a guard at San Quentin, lost both hands while firing the sunrise salute. Rev. F. G. M. Fenn of California Parlor No. 1 N.S.G.W. (San Francisco) delivered the Fourth oration at Cloverdale, Sonoma County; in the evening he went bathing in the Russian River and was drowned.

A cloudburst July 1 in Tejon Canyon caused a fifteen-minute flood which wrought great damage. An Indian rancheria was swept away by a twenty-five-foot-high wall of water and many of the Indians were drowned.

Beginning July 20, Siskiyou County had a series of destructive thunder storms during which eight inches of rain fell. Growing crops were severely damaged.

The season's wheat crop was now estimated at 29,000,000 centals valued, at prevailing prices, at $50,000,000. There were 3,249,000 acres in grain. The yield was larger than in 1880, but smaller than in 1881.

A reunion of the survivors of the ship "Pharsalie," which arrived at San Francisco July 23, 1849, was held. But eight responded to the call.

To build a high school at Auburn, Placer County, Jo Hamilton headed the subscription list with a lot and $500 in cash.

Seven ships arrived this month from Chinese ports, bringing 5,473 more Chinamen to swell the horde coming to California before the restriction act could be put into effect.

A convention of hydraulic miners at Nevada City July 22 was attended by 175 delegates. Resolutions were passed favoring the construction of debris restraining dams on the Yuba River and other streams, and preparations were made to fight the farmers in the courts.

Ten business houses of Smartsville, Yuba County, burned July 17 and one citizen lost his life; the monetary loss was $20,000. Fresno City had a fire July 24 that consumed thirty-five buildings, causing a $300,000 loss.

The Colusa House, built in Colusa City in 1851, was partially destroyed by fire July 28; loss $6,000. The Olive Branch Hotel at Berkeley, Alameda County, burned July 6; loss $7,000.

At Nevada City July 25 the dwelling of J. H. Boardman was burned and his sons, Edward and Carter, aged, respectively, 8 and 6, were cremated while asleep.

At San Jose, Santa Clara County, July 6 fire destroyed the Lick Mills, built in 1855, partially of mahogany, by the Pioneer philanthropist, James Lick. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

The vaults at Carmel Mission, Monterey County, containing the remains of Padre Junipero Serra and three other priests were opened July 3 and the coffins were identified. The plate stated Padre Serra died August 28, 1784. Above his coffin was that of Father Julian Lopez, who died in 1803. The coffins, made of redwood, were in an excellent state of preservation. That of Padre Serra was not opened nor removed.

John Sullivan, who came overland to California in 1844, was employed at Sutter fort (Sacramento) in 1846, and in 1850 went to San Francisco, where he invested in real estate and accumulated a fortune, died at the latter place July 30.

In boring a well at Cloverdale, Sonoma County, the auger, at a depth of forty feet, went through a white pine log. Six feet further down the auger contacted a tree, standing upright, and the boring ceased.

July 13 two attempts were made to rob the La Porte, Sierra County, and Marysville, Yuba County, stage. In the morning, near Strawberry Valley, the express guard, G. M. Hackett, responded with a volley of buckshot to a masked man's command to halt; the robber returned the fire and ran away. In the afternoon, near Forbestown, the stage was again commanded to halt, and the guard and the robber fired simultaneously; the latter again escaped.

A pavilion constructed atop Telegraph Hill, San Francisco, was thrown open July 4 and the cable streetcar line began operation. The pavilion, circular in shape, was surrounded by a balcony from which visitors had a grand view.

John Ballou and his son had an altercation July 7 with a Chinaman in Visalia, Tulare County. The Chink drew a pistol and killed Ballou, the father of fifteen children. The lad then procured a knife and ended the murderer's existence.

J. B. Kaiser of Antioch, Contra Costa County, became insanely jealous. July 11 he shot and dangerously wounded his wife and a young man in his employ, and then drowned himself.

An Italian gardener near Oroville, Butte County, became weary of having his garden raided repeatedly and set a watch. The night of July 2 he shot and killed a Chinaman.

George Gift, aged 18, was killed near Calistoga, Napa County, July 12 by the accidental discharge of his shotgun.

L. B. Tucker, at Grimes, Colusa County, went blind in January, and July 28 cut his throat and died. He was the third brother to commit suicide.

Wm. K. McClintlock, aged 18, attempting to ford the Klamath River in Siskiyou County, was thrown from his horse and drowned July 20.

Hiram Mariner, a sawmill employe, was accidentally killed July 5 near Nevada City.

Frank L. Griswold, aged 17, fell from a load of hay in Yolo County July 5 and his head was crushed under a wheel of the wagon.

OLD DESERTED HOUSE

(JEANETTE NORLAND.)

What can be more mournful
Than an old deserted house,
With its shutters and its doorways all awry?
Its ceilings full of cobwebs
And its floors all thick with dust.
It somehow makes you want to sit and cry.

Yet here, in years gone by,
A young husband brought his bride,
And here they raised a group of girls and boys.
But sickness took its toll,
Things went from bad to worse;
And grim despair sapped all their hopes and joys.

And so the place is left
To revert to Mother Earth.
For, when loving hands remove their tender care,
All the ravages of time—
All the agents of decay,
Cooperate to leave a ruin there.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

DR. VICTORY A. DERRICK, PAST Grand President, passed away May 31 at her Oakland home. She was born at Chinese Camp, Tuolumne County, in 1871, and was affiliated with Aloha Parlor No. 106 (Oakland). In 1893 she graduated from the University of California Medical School, and until just recently was most active in Native Daughter affairs. Surviving are two daughters—Mrs. Charles K. Gamble of Melbourne, Australia, and Mrs. James de St. Maurice of Oakland (Aloha N.D.).

Dr. Derrick was chosen Grand President at the Thirty-fifth (San Francisco 1921) Grand Parlor, and presided at the Thirty-sixth (San Rafael 1922) session. A woman of keen judgment and pleasing personality, a staunch friend always, and exemplifying as well as expounding the precepts of the Order, she numbered her admirers by the thousands. Through her passing, the Native Daughters suffered a distinct loss.—C.M.H.

Cook Book for Home Benefit.

The Grizzly Bear for June referred to the "Loyalty Cook Book," now on sale, prepared by Grand Trustee Willow Borba, and incorrectly stated funds realized from its sale will go towards the Loyalty Pledge of Santa Rosa No. 217. In a letter dated June 3, Mrs. Borba called attention to the error and said:

"The 'LOYALTY COOK BOOK' SALE is not to pay the Santa Rosa pledge, as you have stated. It is TO PAY THE LOYALTY PLEDGE OF ALL PARLORS. ALL FUNDS ARE TO BE GIVEN TO THE HOME, TO PAY THE BALANCE DUE ON THE MORTGAGE. I am working to lift the mortgage from the Native Daughter Home."

Pioneers Not Forgotten.

Colusa—Colusa No. 194 dedicated May 30 a bronze plaque, donated by Mrs. Sadie Winn-Brainard (Califia No. 22), in memory of Colonel Charles D. Semple, founder of this city. When he landed here in 1850 the site was inhabited by 10,000 Indians of several different tribes, the Colus tribe, from which the city derived its name, being the most powerful. Colonel Semple's remains rest in the Colusa cemetery.

Addresses were delivered by Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan, Margaret Davison and Mrs. Brainard. A Pioneer Mother, Mrs. Geo. White, presented to the committee in charge a beautiful boquet for the grave. All neighboring Parlors were well represented at the ceremonies.

The assemblage then proceeded to the new Will S. Green Park, where a marker was placed upon a cedar tree in memory of Joseph Warren Hilsee, Mrs. Brainard's grandfather, who was buried in Colusa in 1870. His daughter, Mrs. Winn, now 84 years of age, gave a very interesting account of the Hilsees' journey to California.

Site First Public Building Marked.

San Bernardino—Lugonia No. 241 sponsored a Loyalty Pledge benefit card party, which was a complete success, June 7. Twenty-two tables were reserved, and delicious refreshments were served. The committee in charge included Rhoda Smith (general chairman), Mary Johnson, Lois Poling, Clara Barton, Eva Bemis, Daisy Davenport, Nola Fogler, Ada McInerney and Marjorie Beck. June 8 officers were elected, Nola Fogler being chosen president, and June 16 the Parlor members were picnic guests of Arrowhead No. 110 N.S.G.W.

June 25, Lugonia marked with appropriate ceremonies the site of the Council House, San Bernardino's first public building. Following the marking the Pioneers were entertained at their log cabin and they were presented with a California State (Bear) Flag.

Enthusiastic Anniversary.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 222 had a most enthusiastic meeting June 7, the occasion being its tenth institution anniversary. It was termed "Mae Rose Berry night," in honor of the district deputy, who was the honor-guest. She was presented with a gift, the presentation being made by Elsie Deloca, for the Parlor. Among the many visitors were Past Grand Emma Foley and Grand Trustee Willow Borba.

At tables beautifully decorated with flowers a sumptuous dinner was served by a committee composed of Florence Anderson, Pearl Lopus, Josephine Tagliaferri, Julia Perolini, Edna Meadows, Margaret Oeltjen, Ida Morra, Annie Dickson and Ella Sebesta. Following this, six candidates were initiated, President Elizabeth Dillon presiding at the ceremonies. Officers for the July-December term were elected, Pearl Lopus being chosen president.

"Shabby Affair."

Hollister—The "poverty party" staged by Copa de Oro No. 105 was quite a "shabby affair," but a howling success. In the "parade of the needy," Hilda Thompson was awarded a bag of potatoes for a strikingly shabby appearance, and Edith Chandler won a can of beans for a realistic portrayal of a beggar at work. A bread line was formed and good old mulligan stew, bread, coffee and "sinkers" were doled out in regular style.

Faithful Service Appreciated.

San Diego—Recognition of education week was shown by San Diego No. 208 and San Diego No. 108 N.S.G.W. by participation in a program at the Southwest junior high school at Nestor, at which time a California State (Bear) Flag was given the school by the Parlors, the presentation speech being delivered by Judge Eugene Daney Jr.

At a recent meeting of the past presidents club of No. 208 at the home of Miss Marion S. Stough, Mrs. Elsie Case was received as an honorary member, as a reward for her long and faithful service as secretary of that Parlor. Mrs. Pearl Adams Simpson was hostess at the June meeting.

Wonderful Talk.

Elk Grove—Fifteen Parlors were represented at the official visit of Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson to Liberty No. 213 May 27. Visiting grand officers were Grand Trustee Edna Briggs, Past Grands Mary E. Bell, Mattie M. Stein and Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, Supervising Deputy Bessie Leitch and District Deputy Nellie Nordstrom.

Mrs. Carlson gave a wonderful talk and, on the Parlor's behalf, was presented with a gift by President Louise Krull. A program was rendered by Robert Krull, Beatrice Colton, Muriel Blodgett and Juanita Lovdal, and delicious refreshments were served.

Depression Party.

San Rafael—Many members and guests gathered June 13 to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of Marinita No. 198 at a depression party. A hard-times parade was held, and prizes were awarded those who best carried out the idea in their costumes. Much amusement was caused by imposing fines on those sitting on the side lines. Several dancing and vocal numbers were greatly enjoyed, after which all retired to the banquetroom, which showed no hard times. The hall was decorated in bicentennial colors; a huge birthday cake adorned the center table and tasty refreshments were served.

Guests of the evening were Past Grand Emma G. Foley, the "mother" of Marinita, District Deputy Mae Shea, Grand Trustee Ethel Begley and four charter members: Ann Spinney, Lillian Whitmore, Myra Murphy and Ann Andrade. Each was presented with a dainty corsage and favored with remarks.

New Baby in Family.

San Francisco—Utopia No. 252, organized by Alice Cummins, was instituted June 3 with forty charter members by Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson, who was assisted by Past Grand Estelle M. Evans, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustees Ethel Begley, Anna Thuesen and Willow Borba, Grand Outside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, Senior Past Grands Margaret G. Hill and Amy V. McAvoy. Grand President Carlson addressed the members of the "baby Parlor" and presented a silver-mounted gavel. The Grand Parlor presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags.

Officers of Utopia include: Alice Cummins, president; Madelyn Collins, past president; Rose Burke, first vice; May Sullivan, second vice; Phyllis Burke, third vice; Lelia Little, recording secretary; Mary Pitterson, financial secretary; Esther Cooper, treasurer; Edna Higgins, marshal; Mary Fitzgerald, inside sentinel; Ursula Lawless, Lillian Boulanger, Lottie Benson, trustees.

Historic Site Marked.

Fullerton—One hundred and fifty Pioneers and their descendants were guests of Grace No. 242 at the annual reunion for oldtimers. Luncheon was followed by a program. Among the speakers were President Mattie Edwards, Thos. McFadden, Mrs. J. E. Pleasants and Past President Nellie Cline. The Parlor celebrated its fifth institution anniversary with a family picnic June 3 at Irvine Park. June 16 Past President Carrie Ford sponsored a public dinner, which was followed by a program of moving pictures and a lecture on South America by John Tuffree.

To mark the site where Gaspar de Portola camped, Grace June 18 dedicated in Brea Canyon a six-foot shaft bearing an appropriately worded bronze plaque, the latter being contributed by Sadie Winn-Brainard (Califia No. 22) of Sacramento. Mrs. Carrie McFadden-Ford, chairman of the Parlor's history and landmarks committee, presided, and the speakers included Dr. John Ball, Assemblyman Fred Craig, Mrs. W. W. Blackmer, Mrs. Nellie Cline and President Mattie Edwards. June 23 the sewing club had an all-day session at the home of Rena Johnson.

Tree Dedicated to Pioneer.

Stockton—Joaquin No. 5 had a bicentennial tree planting in Victory Park and dedicated a sequoia to James A. Turner, only living member of the San Joaquin branch of the California Pioneers, who will be 102 years of age August 6. Past Grand President Carrie Roesch-Durham gave the introductory remarks, and three charter members—Clara Stier, Hannah Gray and Mrs. Durham, conducted the ceremonies. Mrs. Minnie Logan, a daughter of Turner, accepted the tree.

Successful Card Party.

Ontario—A most delightful and successful card party was held June 6 under the auspices of the sewing branch of Ontario No. 251. The decorations, flowers of every hue, were beautiful. Thirty tables were in operation, the players coming from all surrounding communities and as far distant as Los Angeles. A delightful musical program was given by Mrs. Lois Johnson, accompanied by Mrs. V. B. Anderson. Refreshments were served by Mmes. Adele Frankish and Eva Mendelson.

Camptonville—The annual outdoor class initiation of Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly No. 6 was held June 26 at historic Galena Hill, on the road to Downieville, where Past Grand President Fred H. Greely was born. Candidates were furnished by the Parlors represented in the association, and delegations from all of them attended the function.

MOST FAMOUS CALIFORNIA LAND CLAIM DECLARED FRAUD.

February 5, 1853, a Mexican named Jose Yves Limantour appeared before the United States Land Commission with papers purporting to be grants of land to him by Governor Micheltorena in 1843. He said the reason for his not presenting the claims previously was due to the fact that he had been too busy heretofore to attend to his California properties. In all, some 600,000 acres in California were claimed under these grants, including practically all the northern half of San Francisco County, the islands of the bay, and the Farallones.

The Land Commission rejected the claims, so far as the outside lands were concerned, but gave its confirmation to the claims to San Francisco. This immediately caused a land panic in San Francisco. Many citizens who were led to believe that Limantour had a valid title began buying the lands back from him. In all, he collected some $300,000.

In the meantime, Henry Halleck, an authority on Spanish titles, pronounced the documents forgeries. There were lawyers, too, who said Governor Micheltorena could not have deeded the government lands in this manner. The United States Government took up the matter, because under the claim the Presidio and other Federal properties had been given to Limantour. The famous geologist, George Davidson, examined the documents for the Federal Government and agreed that they were spurious. Finally, the United States Court pronounced the papers fraudulent. Limantour was arrested, gave bail of $30,000, and left the state. This is the most famous of all the land cases arising in California. PETER T. CONMY, historian Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 N.S.G.W.

PROCEEDINGS FORTY-SIXTH N. D. GRAND PARLOR

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

MRS. ANNA MIXON-ARMSTRONG OF Woodland, Yolo County, affiliated with Woodland Parlor No. 90, is now the Grand President of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, having been installed as such just preceding the close of the Forty-sixth Grand Parlor, in session at Merced City June 20, 21, 22 and 23. Following her induction into office, Grand President Armstrong addressed the assemblage as follows:

"Tonight is one of great moment to the members of my Parlor and to me—an occasion that brings happiness, joy and appreciation. The honor you have conferred in elevating me to the highest office within the power of the Order, Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, brings forcibly to my mind and heart the loyal support and steadfast devotion you have manifested in behalf of my Parlor and myself. Words are inadequate to express my emotion as I accept your fraternal gift.

"The pulse of fraternity is organized endeavor, stability of purpose, endurance and foresight. With your assistance and the Divine Master's guidance, I trust my term of office will prove my worth and justify your confidence in me. My fullest appreciation must be shown in my endeavor to carry on the responsibilities which have been laid upon me. In that effort, I pledge my full energy.

"I would ask that each delegate carry back to her Parlor an enthusiasm that will reflect and inspire an added activity of its entire membership. The very fact that you were chosen to represent your fellow-members at this Grand session sets you apart as a leader in your community. Upon you, therefore, devolves a responsibility of leadership which I urge each one of you to embrace.

"If I may use the very expressive word, 'pep' up your Parlor. Encourage each member to have a real part in a fraternal revival that will carry the banner of our Order to the front of all fraternal organizations. If you do that, the Native Daughters of the Golden West will become a greater and ever-increasing factor in fraternal and community life, and we will draw to ourselves hosts of worthwhile women who will welcome the opportunity of having part in maintaining the pioneer traditions to which we are pledged.

"The promulgation of the tenets of our Order is a duty every Native Daughter bears. It should also be considered a privilege.

"It is my ardent hope that we may see a material advance in our work for the homeless children during the year; that the Subordinate Parlors and individual members will interest themselves in planning activities whereby money may be raised for carrying on this work of benevolence and love.

"Let us justify the trust that was placed into our keeping by Fairfax Wheelan and his associates by putting forth greater efforts and achieving greater results, so that the home placing of homeless children may continue to grow in magnitude.

"This is my first word to you as your Grand President. Will you do these things for our Order and for me? I am confident you will not fail in these important services!"

WHAT TRANSPIRED

Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson, affiliated with Dolores Parlor No. 169 (San Francisco), presided throughout the deliberations of the Forty-sixth Grand Parlor. The reports of grand officers and committees dealt mostly with accomplishments of the Order which heretofore have been recorded in The Grizzly Bear, so no reference is here made to them. A synopsis of what otherwise transpired at the Grand Parlor follows:

In keeping with the George Washington bicentennial, the grand officers appeared at the opening session in attractive colonial costumes.

"How indifferent, many times, we become towards our organization!" said Grand President Carlson in her report to the Grand Parlor. "If we would pause, while hurrying through life, and consider the great benefits of our Order and its wonderful teachings and ideals, we would realize how much it means to us whom God has permitted to be born in this glorious paradise. The organization of Native Daughters of the Golden West has been recognized as a fraternity of real accomplishments of the things worthwhile, and has brought us to the pinnacle of wonderful achievements. The influence of our work, I am sure, will ever remain as a monument of unified effort of wisdom and love." During the stewardship of Mrs. Carlson the membership showed a net increase of 447 and two new parlors were instituted.

MRS. ANNA MIXON-ARMSTRONG,
GRAND PRESIDENT N.D.G.W.

The report of Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler gave a detailed account of the numerous transactions of that most important office. During the Grand Parlor year 138 members passed away and death benefits totaling $9,227 were paid.

Grand Treasurer Susie K. Christ reported the cash balances in the several Grand Parlor funds June 1, 1932, as follows: general, $18,447.02; trust, $10,116.60; death benefit, $2,971.68; Mills College scholarship, $988.73; university scholarship, $598.71; redwood memorial grove, $895.86; Home savings, $5,427.43.

Millie Tietjen, assistant treasurer Home Committee, reported the cash balances June 1, 1932: $5,087.10 savings account, $2,848.88 general fund, $831.90 furnishing fund, $794.11 endowment fund. The Home receipts for the Grand Parlor year totaled $20,036.35 and the disbursements $18,277.38. Loyalty Pledge receipts were $9,284.40, and $9,306.27 was paid on the mortgage.

IN MEMORIAM.

Shortly after the convening of the Grand Parlor the following resolution, presented by Past Grands Dr. Mariana Bertola, Margaret Grote-Hill and May C. Boldemann, was adopted by rising vote:

"To the memory of P.G.P. Minnie Coulter, Grand President of 1894, and P.G.P. Dr. Victory A. Derrick, Grand President of 1922, who passed away this year. Whereas, we appreciate and glory in the past work for the Order which they have given, be it

"Resolved, That we express our sympathy to the respective families of the deceased, and also our love and recognition of the lives of these two splendid women, each in her own way contributing to the welfare of her community. They are not lost to us; their work and their affectionate friendship will always be with us. 'Death is the chillness that precedes the dawn; we shudder for a moment, then awake in the broad sunshine of the other life.'"

At the close of Monday's session, Grand President Carlson declared the Grand Parlor would recess in loving memory of Past Grands Coulter and Derrick.

LEGISLATION ENACTED.

The following changes in the governing laws were authorized, the abbreviations "C.G.P." and "C.S.P." referring, respectively, to the Constitution Grand Parlor and the Constitution Subordinate Parlors:

Art. V, Sec. 3 C.G.P., amended by adding, "The candidates for Grand Parlor offices who have no opposition shall be elected by acclamation and their names omitted from the ballot."

Art. VI, Sec. 3 C.G.P., amended by eliminating from the prescribed duties of the Grand Secretary, "and to drape the Grand Parlor Flag for thirty days."

Art. IX, Sec. 11 C.G.P., amended by substituting for the provision referring to financial support of the Committee on Children's Agency, "it . . . shall be supported by such funds as may be raised or voted by the respective Parlors."

Art XI, Sec. 1 C.G.P., amended to provide, "not fewer than thirty qualified persons" must make written application to work as a Subordinate Parlor.

Art. II, Sec. 2 C.S.P., amended by substituting for the provision relating to office eligibility, "Any member in good standing may be eligible to hold office, providing she has been a member of the Parlor six months; under extenuating circumstances the six-month membership period may be waived."

Art. IV, Sec. 7 C.S.P., amended to read, "The Recording Secretary, Financial Secretary, Treasurer and Trustees shall not be permitted to hold more than one office at any one time."

The Order of Business for Subordinate Parlors was amended to read: "No. 15, Report of Sick or Disabled Members. No. 16, Report of Visiting Committee. No. 17, Ordering Drafts for Benefits."

Several changes were made in the Ritual, which was considerably shortened and simplified. The report of the Ritual Committee was so favorably received that the members thereof were, on motion, given a rising vote of thanks.

The title "district deputy grand president" was changed to "deputy grand president."

It was ordered: That no meetings, whether open or closed, be held on Sundays. That members, to be elected delegates to Grand Parlor, attend at least two-thirds of their Parlor meetings during the year. That an applicant who desires to receive the benefits of the Home be a member of the Order at least ten years. That all recording secretaries be compelled to send registered letters notifying members of their suspension. That recording secretaries forward membership cards not later than the 10th of each month.

To encourage new Parlors, it was ordered that those newly instituted "receive a complete set of banners and regalias complimentary from the Grand Parlor, and that those Parlors instituted during the last two years be allowed some credit on their account."

BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Alameda County was selected as the place of meeting for the Forty-seventh (1933) Grand Parlor.

It was ordered that the mortgage on the Home be liquidated at this time, the necessary sum to be drawn from the Home's reserve funds.

It was ordered that the $10,000 willed to the Grand Parlor by the late Senator James D. Phelan (Pacific No. 10 N.S.G.W.) "be held and maintained in trust by the Grand Parlor, to be used as specified by the will of Senator Phelan."

A resolution was adopted, requesting the State Park Commission to set aside the Donner Lake, Nevada County, area as a state park.

San Francisco was endorsed as the place for holding this year's Admission Day, September 9, celebration, and the Subordinate Parlors were urged to co-operate therein.

A budget of $14,914 was approved, and to provide that amount a percapita tax of one dollar was levied. In addition, a fifty-cent percapita assessment for the Home was voted.

The granting of charters to Ontario Parlor No. 251 and Utopia Parlor No. 252 (San Francisco) was ratified.

One hundred and fifty dollars was contributed to the Mission San Diego restoration fund, and fifty dollars to San Juan Capistrano Mission.

The incoming Grand President was directed to appoint a committee to supervise completion of the Pioneer Redwood Memorial Grove marker.

The Grizzly Bear Magazine was re-endorsed as the official organ of the Order, and financial provision was made for the publication therein of the official directory of Subordinate Parlors.

A resolution was adopted extending thanks to various organizations and individuals who contributed to the entertainment and the pleasure of the Grand Parlor.

Subordinate Parlors so requiring were given an additional year's time in which to complete their Loyalty Pledge payments. And it was ordered that all receipts from the Loyalty Pledge and the cook books be sent direct to Past Grand Emma G. Foley, secretary Home Committee.

To cut down the expense incident to the printing of the "Grand Parlor Proceedings," it was ordered that reports be simplified, and that the directory of Subordinate Parlors be eliminated.

A resolution prevailed, directing that a letter be sent the Federal Interior Department's Indian field service asking relief for California Indians, and requesting each individual Parlor to write California's senators and congressmen in the Federal Congress urging their support. "As natives of the State of California, let us give this our earnest consideration," as conditions are deplorable.

GRAND OFFICERS-ELECT.

At the election for grand officers June 22, 382 ballots were cast, and the following were selected:

Grand President, Anna Mixon-Armstrong (Woodland No. 90).

Grand Secretary, Sallie R. Thaler (Aloha No 106).

Grand Treasurer, Susie K. Christ (Yosemite No. 83).

Grand Marshal, Gladys E. Noce (Amapola No 80).

MRS. GLADYS E. NOCE,
GRAND MARSHAL ELECT.

Grand Inside Sentinel, Orinda Gunther-Giannini (Orinda No. 56).

Grand Outside Sentinel, Hazel B. Hansen (Verdugo No. 240).

Grand Organist, Clara A. Gairaud (Vendome No. 100).

Grand Trustees (in order of vote received), Florence D. Boyle (Gold of Ophir No. 190); Edna B. Briggs (La Bandera No. 110); Anna Thuesen (Alta No. 3); Ethel S. Begley (Marinita No. 198); Minna Kane-Horn (Eschscholtzia No. 112); Jane Vick (Reina del Mar No. 126); Willow Borba (Santa Rosa No. 217).

They, with Evelyn I. Carlson (Dolores No. 169), who automatically became the Past Grand President, were installed by Past Grand Estelle M. Evans, who was assisted by Past Grand Amy V. McAvoy, Sadie Winn-Brainard (Califia No. 22) and Elvena Woodard (Vallejo No. 195).

PUBLICITY.

Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs, chairman Publicity Committee, reported in detail the publicity efforts of the Subordinate Parlors. "The publicity group have, in every way possible, broadcasted to the world a clearer and broader knowledge of our Order's contribution to state and to country. . . . We have tried to do our part in remodeling material thought in accordance with the highest specifications of the spirit. . . . Individual workers have been most diligent in rendering a needful service of the very highest type, locally and in joint development of the entire Order.

"The Grizzly Bear, our official publication, has been exceedingly helpful to our cause throughout the year by the generous allotment of space to stories of our activities. . . . This valuable publication should be encouraged by our contributions to its columns and generously assisted by our subscriptions. While contributing to our local press, we should not overlook the vital fact that each and every member of our Order should be a reader of and a subscriber to this distinctively Californian magazine, so definitely devoted to the advancement of California and all things Californian."

NOTES OF THE SESSION.

Past Grand Carrie Roesch-Durham (Joaquin No. 5), who has the distinction of having attended every Grand Parlor, again headed the credentials committee. She instituted Veritas No. 75, the hostess Parlor.

Past Grand Dr. Mariana Bertola tendered her resignation as permanent chairman of the Home Committee, but because of her devotion to the Home and years of service to the Order the Grand Parlor refused to accept the resignation.

The Order's scholarship at the University of California at Berkeley for the 1932-33 year was again awarded Winona Laverty (Veritas No 75). Scholarships at Mills College and the University of California at Los Angeles will be awarded later.

The Election Board was composed of Past Grands Emma Lou Humphrey, Pearl Lamb and Mamie G Peyton, Mollye Y Spaeth (Marinita No 198) and Gertrude Tuttle (Californiana No 247). Past Grand Ariana W Stirling was the official timekeeper for nominating speeches.

Greetings on behalf of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West were extended by Grand President Seth Millington, who was accompanied by Grand First Vice Chas A Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Past Grand Charles L. Dodge.

Miss Mary E. Brusie (Argonaut No. 166), secretary N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Central Homeless Children Committee, delighted the Grand Parlor with a report, unusual in presentation and clearness of detail, on the splendid accomplishments of the committee. She was assisted by a group of happy children and their mothers. She also had on exhibition a bountiful supply of artistic and useful children's garments, prepared by willing workers and contributed by various Subordinate Parlors.

Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, originator of the Loyalty Pledge, reported thirty-eight Subordinate Parlors had paid their pledges in full, and that the balance on the Home mortgage had been reduced to $4,400. During the session an additional $765.85 was turned in to the Loyalty Pledge Committee.

At the ball Tuesday night the grand march was led by Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson and Governor James Rolph Jr. Prior to the dance the drill team of Joaquin Parlor No. 5 (Stockton) entertained, and the excellent maneuvers were highly commended. Members of the team wore dainty gowns of orange with green slippers and carried garlands of California poppies.

Following the exemplification of the ritual Wednesday night, Past President Association No. 1 of San Francisco presented a historical pageant, directed by Grand Trustee Ethel S. Begley.

Numerous presentations were made during the session, including an emblematic ring to Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson by the Grand Parlor, Past Grand May C. Boldemann making the presentation address.

Grand Trustee Willow Borba reported on the cook book compiled by her from recipes sent in by members of the Order, and stated that each Subordinate Parlor would be allowed one dollar for every book disposed of, the amount to be credited to the Parlor's Loyalty Pledge.

PAST GRANDS' ANNUAL FEAST.

With Dr. Mariana Bertola as hostess, the Past Grand Presidents had their annual reunion dinner Tuesday evening. The George Washington bicentennial was the motif of the happy occasion. Those assembled appeared in colonial dress, each impersonating some outstanding character of Washington's time, as follows:

Dr. Bertola, Martha Washington; Carrie Roesch-Durham, George Washington; Cora B. Sifford, Abigail Adams; Ariana W Stirling, Miss Harriet Lane; Dr Eva Reinemann, Rev Jos Thaxton, Emma Lou Humphrey, Mr Alexander Hamilton, Mamie G Peyton, Mrs John Quincy Adams; Mamie Pierce Carmichael, Miss Fairfax, Mary E Bell, Belva Ross, Bertha A Briggs, Dorothy Quincy Hancock, Mattie M Steele, Thomas Jefferson, Amy V McAvoy, Elvira W Laird, Catherine E Gloster, Mary Washington, Dr Louise C Heilbron, Dolly Madison, Esther R. Sullivan, Betty Washington Lee, Emma Gruber Foley, May C Boldemann, Margaret Grote Hill, Addie L Mosher, Pearl Lamb, Alice F Watt, Grace S Stoermer, colonial dames.

Estelle M. Evans, appropriately gowned and equipped, was welcomed as the baby member of the college of Past Grands and initiated in usual form. Olive Bedford Matlock was re-elected president, and Bertha A Briggs was retained as secretary. May C Boldemann was chosen hostess for 1933.

ONE

(EVA BRAZIER.)

Beauty and Truth share one abode, I know.
It is a fallacy that Truth is plain;
As beautiful as mountains tipped with snow,
So loveliness adorns the Truth's domain
To worship Beauty is not heresy;
As light comes with the Dawn, so does Truth shine
Through moments of exalted ecstacy,
With pristine clarity at Beauty's shrine
Truth wears no varnish, but incomparably
'Tis clothed upon with Beauty's light and shade.
It is not theirs the heart of Truth to see,
Who with fine scorn have Beauty's spirit flayed.
Beauty and Truth are one in Light and Power
As is the rose the seed and blossomed flower

CALIFORNIA HISTORY AUTHORITY AWARDED GOLD MEDAL FOR BOOK.

San Francisco—Dr. Herbert Eugene Bolton, head of the University of California history department, was June 9 awarded a gold medal by the Commonwealth Club of California for his "Outpost of Empire," designated the "finest book by a California author published in 1931." Forty-six books were entered by authors of the state in competition.

"Outpost of Empire" is based on early California history and was pieced together from translations made by Dr. Bolton of the original diaries and correspondence of Juan Bautista de Anza and the friars who accompanied him, in opening the road from Sonora, Mexico, to California in 1774.

Inventions Exposition—A Western States Inventions and Industrial Exposition is to be held July 17-24 at Long Beach, Los Angeles County.

SEAWEED FOUND BOON TO HEALTH SEEKERS

A wealth of mineral substances essential to the health and happiness of mankind has been discovered in the lowly plants that adorn the ocean bed, is attested to by Prof. H. H. Barr, Los Angeles, Calif.

Rich in iron, iodine, calcium, phosphorus, manganese, magnesium, potassium, sulphur and 26 other important organic minerals properly proportioned by nature, seaweed brings to the body, and particularly to the tired, starved glands of the body, those vital elements that build robust health and drive out pain and disease.

That it has long been known as a food to people of far-off climes, endowing them with amazing strength, vitality and mentality, may come as surprising news to many.

It is destined to work wonders for those who are wise enough to include it in their daily diet and continue its use consistently.

At the present time (in Japan) perhaps six or seven different kinds of sea plants or seaweeds are used at a single meal. GOITRE, poor eyesight, decayed teeth, rheumatism, constipation, are unknown in Japan.

Prof. Barr, after years of research work, has discovered how to put his formula, consisting of sea plants, in tablet form. Organic minerals found in California, Japanese, Nova Scotia and Irish seaweed, has aided many who are suffering from physical exhaustion, nervousness, rheumatism, acidity, gas, indigestion, underweight, low blood pressure, anemia, kidney, stomach and bladder disorders, neuritis, low vitality, asthma, many female disorders, skin disorders, GOITRE and CONSTIPATION.

Sea-Tone tablets purify the blood stream, assist all of the glands to normal function (chiefly the thyroid, through the action of pure iodine), eliminate URIC ACID, and toxic poisons from the skin, kidneys, liver, stomach and BOWELS. Sea-Tone is a FOOD SUPPLEMENT. THEY DO NOT CONTAIN DRUGS.

Vitamins A, B, D, E are found in Prof. Barr's Sea-Tone Tablets. Vitamins must be found in the diet to enable the proper assimilation of minerals.

Send for interesting literature or mail $1 for a bottle of Sea-Tone Tablets, to Sea-Tone Laboratories, 918 Chester Williams Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif. Mail orders promptly filled.—Adv.

In Memoriam

JUSTICE FRANK MARION ANGELLOTTI

Whereas, It was pleased the Supreme Ruler to summon from his sphere of usefulness to the Grand Parlor in High our Worthy and beloved brother, Frank Marion Angellotti, and whereas Mount Tamalpais Parlor No. 64 N.S.G.W. has lost a loyal member, our Order a staunch supporter, his country a patriotic citizen and the bar one of the most honored members

As District Attorney, Superior Judge, Associate Justice and Chief Justice of the State of his nativity, he was just, courageous, upright, painstaking, considerate, ever courteous, kindly and charitable toward the faults of others. He never neglected or betrayed a client, he enjoyed the confidence of his fellow citizens to the utmost, a strong partisan, he enjoyed the friendship, respect and support of his political opponents, and he was repeatedly returned to the high offices he so ably and so faithfully filled as long as he was willing to accept them, and it was with deep and genuine regret that his fellow citizens learned that he no longer sought public office. As son, brother, husband and father, he was kind, loving and devoted, a devout Christian, a leader in civic affairs, he always labored for the advancement and progress of his community and for the uplift of humanity. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Parlor tender to his bereaved family our sincerest sympathies and that we humbly pray that the Merciful Father shall comfort them in this, their dark hour of sorrow, and be it further resolved, that the charter of this Parlor be draped for a period of thirty days, that the Parlor stand in silence following the reading of these resolutions in respect to his memory, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of our late brother, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, and that a copy be forwarded to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

San Rafael, June 7, 1932.

MARY E. MATHEWSON.

To the Officers and Members of Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 N.D.G.W. -We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions to the memory of our departed sister, Mary E. Mathewson, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has called to the Heavenly Parlor on High our esteemed and beloved sister, Mary E. Mathewson, and whereas, Bahia Vista Parlor has lost a true and loyal member, her husband a devoted wife and companion, her four sons and daughter a lovable mother, and her brother an affectionate sister.

Resolved, That the sympathy of the Parlor be extended to the bereaved members of the family and that the charter of the Parlor be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and that a copy be spread in full upon the minutes of the Parlor, also, that a copy of the resolutions be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine.

LOUISE McDOUGALL,
LOTTIE BISHOFF,
DORA BRAYTON
Committee.

Oakland, June 10, 1932.

MRS. CARRIE A. VANDERHOOF.

To the Officers and Members of Dardanelle Parlor No. 66 N.D.G.W. We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence and respect to the memory of our departed sister, Mrs. Carrie A. Vanderhoof, respectfully submit the following:

Resolved, That in the death of Sister Vanderhoof, Dardanelle Parlor suffers the loss of a member worthy of the highest respect and esteem. We shall miss her deeds of kindness and sisterly love. And whereas, the "Portals of Eternal Pearl" opened to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Carrie A. Vanderhoof, we grieve and condole with those bereft. Yet they must find consolation in this thought.

"Forever from the Hand that takes
One blessing from us, others fall.
And soon or late, our Father makes
His perfect recompense to all."

Resolved, That the charter of Dardanelle Parlor be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Parlor, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased sister and one to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication. Respectfully submitted,

SAN FRANCISCO

THIS YEAR'S STATEWIDE ADMISSION Day, September 9, celebration under the auspices of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West will be held at San Francisco. That was decided by the San Francisco N.S.G.W. Extension of the Order Committee June 10, when Grand President Seth Millington was requested to designate San Francisco as the celebration city, and he did so. The Native Daughters will, as heretofore, join wholeheartedly in the festivities.

September 9, also, the American Legion will dedicate San Francisco's $5,500,000 Memorial building, and the Legion and the Natives will co-operate in fittingly observing Admission Day.

The Extension of the Order Committee elected the following officers: Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane (Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214), chairman; Lloyd L. Doering (South San Francisco Parlor No. 157), vice-chairman; Harold J. Regan (South San Francisco Parlor No. 157), secretary; Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig (Golden Gate Parlor No. 29), treasurer; Virgil Orengo (Rincon Parlor No. 72), sergeant-at-arms.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

Officers of Alta Parlor No. 3 were elected June 14, May L. MacDonald being chosen president.

At tables beautifully decorated with pink roses, Fremont Parlor No. 59 had a delightful dinner June 2. A musical program followed, under the direction of Mrs. May Dwyer. Participants included Mms. A. Groome, Kathryn McGrath, Ella Tait, Anita Johnson, May Grantley, Essie Gill, Etta O'Shea, Ella Hurd, and Miss Louise Adami.

In observance of mothers night, El Vespero Parlor No. 118 entertained twenty mothers with the playlet "Why Mothers Grow Gray." In the cast were Edna Farrell, Evelyn Simmens, Kate Paganucci, Helen Reddy, Irene Lapphaile and Renee Lozahic. Specialty numbers were given by President Anne Godfrey, Isabelle Casey, Ruby Bried. June 1 the Parlor celebrated its thirty-second institution anniversary at a banquet, the honor-guests being District Deputy Mae Marchant and Charter Members Nell R. Boege, organizer of El Vespero, Lillian Biggs, Anne Walsh, Mary Jordan, Mary Mahoney. The tables were decorated in bicentennial colors and the favors were martha washington dolls. New and fascinating games were played. Chairman Evelyn Simmens and her committee were highly praised for the very enjoyable affair they had arranged. The semi-annual whist June 14 was a success, financially and socially; Jane Lapachet was in charge.

The official visit of Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson to Genevieve Parlor No. 132 was an inspiring occasion. Among the many other visitors were Past Grands Genevieve Baker, after whom the Parlor was named, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Margaret Hill and Emma Foley, Grand Organist Lola Horgan, Grand Trustees Ethel Begley and Anna Thuesen, and Supervising Deputy Mae Boldemann. The hall was beautifully decorated with greens and flags, and an electrically lighted portrait of George Washington added much to its attractiveness. Numerous presentations were made, including $300 for the Loyalty Pledge fund from No. 132. Selections were rendered by the San Francisco and the Genevieve glee clubs. Grand President Carlson highly complimented President Rena Taube and her corps of competent officers, and spoke interestingly of the Order's projects. Refreshments were served at the meeting's conclusion.

The card party of Gabrielle Parlor No. 139 was enjoyed by a large number of members and their friends. The anniversary banquet was held June 7. The entertainment program was arranged by President Ruth Koehler, who put on an amusing play.

In observance of mothers night, the officers of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 presented the play, "Let Mary Do It." Following the show the guests were escorted to the banquetroom, where the table was ladened with goodies. Each mother was presented with a beautiful handkerchief and hand-made sachet. Anita Werner had charge of the wonderful affair. In recognition of Flag Day, the past presidents were entertained June 13. At the beautifully decorated festive board the honor-guests were seated in rotation according to their terms of service. Each received a souvenir of the occasion.

An outstanding event was the official visit of Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson to her home-Parlor, Dolores No. 169, June 11. Dinner preceded the meeting, which was attended by an immense crowd, including visitors from all sections of the state. Native Sons auditorium, where the meeting was held, was gorgeously decorated. Mrs. Carlson was presented with an exquisite wrist watch. The entire arrangements for the homecoming were under the capable supervision of Ida Corrigan, who had the assistance of the Parlor's entire membership. At the supper served at the meeting's conclusion members of Dolores Parlor No. 208 N.S.G.W. poured the coffee.

Mae Waring was in charge of the entertainment for the mothers of the members of Castro Parlor No. 178. A program was presented by the N.D.G.W. glee club, Jacqueline Hogan, Rudie Swall, Barbara Latz, Jean Clare Mook, Venise Vaughn, Ruby Bried, Frances Dougherty and Al. Cirimelli. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Amelia Silva of Dolores No. 169 N.D.G.W. entertained Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson at a delightful bridge luncheon at the Native Daughter Home June 2. The tables were decorated with choice flowers and attractive prizes were awarded. Guests included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Past Grand Mae C. Boldemann, District Deputy Agnes McVerry, Erna Lazarus, Edna Gunther, Hazel Nelson, Mae Godfrey, Emma O'Meara, Millie Ghirardelli, Clara Casella, Lorayne Starner.

RECEPTION FOR OFFICIAL.

Castro Parlor No. 232 N.S.G.W. had a reception June 14 in honor of its past president, Harmon D. Skillin, elected Grand Third Vice-president at the Stockton Grand Parlor. Over three hundred attended to pay their respects, including delegations from all the bay region; Municipal Judge Leo Aggeler and Bernard Hiss (Hollywood Parlor No. 196); J. Hartley Russell (Stanford Parlor No. 76), Richard M. Hamb (Piedmont Parlor No. 120) and Alfred H. McKnew (San Francisco Parlor No. 49), former grand trustees; Sheriff Richard R. Veale (General Winn Parlor No. 32); James A. Wilson and Charles L. Dodge, Past Grands.

The grand officers in attendance included Grand President Seth Millington, Grand Second Vice Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Inside Sentinel Gam Hurst, Grand Trustees Jesse H. Miller, Joseph J. McShane and Charles H. Spengemann. An excellent entertainment program was presented, brief addresses were made and refreshments were served.

KEEP AFTER THE WEEDS.

Weeds have no place on the farm or in the garden. They rob the other plants of water, food, air and sunlight—all necessary for their proper development. There never has been a time when the farmers of the state have been so "weed conscious" as at present. Control of weeds, rather than an ineffectual attempt to eradicate them, has been made the basis of a program throughout California. In the home garden the control of weeds is simpler. But there is a tendency, as the season advances, to neglect work with the hoe and cultivator. See that weeds are kept out; each one removed means there will be less trouble next year. Control of weeds conserves moisture, saves plant food for the crops that should grow and adds to the sightliness of the garden.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

A FLARE FOR COMBINING UNUSUAL colors, a penchant for wide swank girdles, a knack of adding just the vivid and vital touch of color to make a dashing effect—these are the things that have won a place in the hall of tyle and the smart shops. Let us review a few f them: One is made in the two-color theme, avy with yellow, and red scarf to match. 'here's a two-piece sports dress in a waffle veave which has an interesting angora scarf nd elbow-length sleeves; a two-piece jersey vith a satin vest and a wide girdle belt. An ndependence-blue dress of sheer wool, but tail-ored smartly, has great wine-red buttons as a olor splash to fasten it.

In more formal things we dye the lace to natch the fabric exactly. For our Sunday-best lress of nile-green we use big pearl buttons that ook like eardrops. "Stardust" is the name of a iew evening dress of heaven-blue, glistening vith rhinestones. Another, more or less de-pending on whether or not the jacket is worn, s a dress of pale yellow mousseline-de-soie with a sash and bow of burnt-orange taffeta to match he tiny bolero jacket with romantic puffed leeves which tops it.

Pink and blue together offer one of the newest nd loveliest of color notes as the summer sea-on opens. An evening dress of orchid pink ombines chiffon and cartwheel lace, with the ace in the skirt and sleeves in a beautifully anciful design. It is suggested that it be worn vith turquoise accessories—turquoise shoes and jewels. Apple-green is another happy color to choose for wear with pink.

The tucked chiffon dress in dark colors with a collar of white satin is a favorite for the moment. Wine-red, in the popular soft woolens, crepes and prints, is a decidedly new fashion note. In the prints the white background with dark red dots, stripes, checks or other designs is very smart. This shade is also effectively combined with the new dust-pink.

The waffle-pleated scarf has entered the mode in scarf styles. The smart, flat, but higher, necklines characterize the new summer blouses in the popular new silks, rayon and cotton materials. For the white jacket-suit the print blouse in dots, checks or stripes is particularly favored.

Summer things can be as smartly and as chicly tailored as winter things. The new and fascinating styles prove that. The tailored sports things in washable materials are cool, serviceable and appropriate for a land where the sun is warm and the nights balmy.

It is a question that you must decide for yourself whether you will join the "dotted" brigade or go in for stripes. Both are going strong. For business days and after-business informalities, there are flag stripes, candy stripes, sailor stripes, pin stripes, zigzag stripes, and so on, endlessly.

The knitted fashions have firmly entrenched themselves in feminine favor. Individuality is the keynote of the new collections. Even the design and fabric are "breezy," not to mention the mental stimulation derived from the lovely colors and subtle color harmonies. Boucle, angora and jersey are all represented in innumerable weaves and weights, with meshes and lacy weaves well in the lead.

"A scarf for every neck," would seem to be the slogan for this summer. Small ones are best—in any fabric, pattern and color scheme which look well with the rest of the costume. They should be worn tight around the throat, and are most chic if tied a little to one side. A hand-knitted scarf, with rows of three or four colors, is very smart, and so easy to make. Bangle bracelets are the smartest accessories to wear with sports clothes of all types.

A little less than nothing, is the answer to what's what in bathing suits this year. The so-called swim suit has a skirt knitted all in one—either a complete skirt or just an apron effect in front. Both types go in for a lot of intricate strappings, halter necks, suspender backs, and the like, to keep things where they should be, and still give the sun every chance. Sapphire and royal blue are most popular this year. White is still used a lot.

The day of so-called "modern art" in bathing-suit decoration is gone. Now, all the color contrast comes in the straps. Lime-yellow makes a clever suit, which has a lace weave to the straps and around the waist, making it look somewhat like a brassiere model. Nickknacks to go with slacks are halter sweaters, like those halter scarfs, except that they are knitted, striped and slip on over the head. The scarfs are adjustable, with metal clips. Other accessories are ballyhoo interlaced beach sandals and little bellhop jackets that match or contrast. Slacks themselves are of botany flannel, pique, jersey or corduroy, and are tailored navy-fashion—stylishly voluminous with metal buttons or zippers as trims.

During the outdoor season a smart sports costume "goes" everywhere except on the most formal occasion. So we're being practical as well as economical, and concentrating largely on simple tailored things.

With a long period of play-days just ahead for the little ones, mothers will be enthusiastic over the wide variety of styles offered. The grown-up fashion trends are apparent in all juvenile collections. Tailored styles vie with empire and waistline models, surpliced, ruffled and sashed. Color contrast is used effectively, and appliqued motifs, scallops, fine tuckings, pleatings, seamings, pockets, belts, embroidered motifs and buttons are useful and ornamental. Children's bathing suits are gay, brief affairs that leave the major portion of the body exposed to the health-giving rays of the summer sun. Swagger nautical togs are the most exciting of beach fashions for boys and girls. Slacks and pajamas in bicentennial colors are high favorites.

Apple Show—Sebastopol, Sonoma County, will stage its annual Gravenstein Apple Show, August 2-7.

HOLLYWOOD BOWL'S ELEVENTH ANnual season of "Symphonies Under the Stars" will open Tuesday evening, July 5, in the great amphitheater. Dr. Alfred Hertz, "father of the bowl," has been chosen to conduct the first program, and Bowl officials announce the occasion will be one of the events of the Olympic year concert series. Preparations for the special events to be presented with the orchestra during the eight-week summer season have been under way for several weeks, and with the completion recently of the list of ballet producers to be represented, and the addition of two noted soloists' names, but few details of the ambitious plans for the season remain to be arranged.

A highlight of the first week's concerts will be the appearance July 8 of the 300-voice Los Angeles civic chorus, singing "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," by Coleridge-Taylor, with Sir Hamilton Harty, who will follow Hertz in the conductor's stand, directing. Bowl officials announced that Adolph Bolm and Jose Torres y Fernandez, the latter the producer of the brilliant Spanish ballet for La Fiesta last year, have been engaged to present the third and fourth dance spectacles this season. Theodore Kosloff and Ernest Belcher will do the others. Cyrena Van Gordon, beautiful contralto of the Chicago civic opera, and Paul Althouse, tenor of the Chicago and Metropolitan operas, also have been engaged as soloists. Others include Richard Bonelli, Alfred Wallenstein, Bianca Saroya, Dimitri Onofrei and Ruggiero Ricci.

FLAGS PRESENTED SCHOOL.

Carthay Center elementary school was June 7 presented with United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags by Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., through the generosity of J. Harvey McCarthy. Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger briefly outlined the aims and purposes of the Order and told of its interest in educational matters. Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt delivered the presentation address, and the children gave a musical interpretation of "California Under Four Flags."

There was a large gathering of parents, teachers and pupils, among them Mrs. McGraw, principal of the school; Mrs. Frances Day, president of the association; Mrs. Mary B. Murray, supervisor California history department Los Angeles City schools; Mrs. John S. McGroarty. Flags were presented the Carthay Center school when dedicated in 1925; it then had 19 pupils, now it has 960.

MOTHER INITIATES DAUGHTER.

At the final initiation of her term as president of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., Mrs. Gertrude R. Allen had the distinctive honor June 15 of initiating her daughter, Miss Lois Barbara Allen, and six other candidates. Since she was 5 years of age, Miss Lois has attended the Parlor meetings, but always patiently waiting in the anteroom, and developed into an ardent supporter of the Order. Including this class, Mrs. Allen initiated a total of seventy-three during her term. She will be succeeded by Mrs. Mattie Gara.

The card party of June 8 was largely attended; in charge were Ruth Ruiz, Margaret Carter, Edith Strain and Olinda Kerby. June 8 the sewing club met at the home of Grace T. Haven, who provided a delightful luncheon. The all-nations dinner dance June 29 was a very splendid affair. The menu was in charge of Edna Holcomb, and how it was enjoyed! Several "stars" were among the many who thoroughly appreciated the occasion. Irene Whitney-Collins and Ella Vucovich-Steinbeck, recent brides of the Parlor, were given a shower June 15; Irene Eden and Leonie Clos were in charge.

Los Angeles' July program includes: Report Grand Parlor delegates, 6th. Monthly card party, 13th, Mrs. Ruth Traeger hostess. Public installation officers, 27th. President Allen's June message was: "You may travel, no matter how fast or far; you cannot escape it, wherever you are; some duty awaits you, some good you should do—there is something the world is expecting of you."

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET.

The thirty-sixth anniversary banquet of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. was a most enjoyable occasion and largely attended. Governor James Rolph Jr. was the guest of honor. Many prominent in civic, political and governmental affairs, as well as noted athletes were introduced. A most excellent program of entertainment features was presented under the supervision of Mrs. Leland Atherton-Irish.

George Breslin was the toastmaster, and kept the crowd in good humor with his well-directed witticisms. Among the many speakers were Municipal Judge Leo Aggeler, president of Hollywood, Bernard G. Hiss, Henry G. Bodkin, Leo Youngworth, Mrs. Irish, Governor Rolph, and H. M. Gurney, Henri Didot, Dr. Gustav Struve and Ryan A. Grut, consuls, respectively, of England, France, Germany and Denmark.

July 25, Hollywood will initiate a class of candidates in honor of Grand President Seth Millington, and at the same time will introduce features honoring recent initiates. Refreshments will be served. The Parlor plans to materially increase its membership the next six months.

GOT EVERYTHING?

When you plan a vacation you make a long list of things to do before you go, things to take along: Get clothes pressed, buy ticket, new suit for Junior, man to look after garden . . . toothbrush for Mary, cream for sunburn, golf clubs, razor strop . . . a million things to remember. Probably you'll forget something . . . everybody does; but make it something unimportant. Double check the important things . . . among them, see that you change your travel funds into Travelers Cheques or Letters of Credit. They are convenient as cash . . . much safer . . . and inexpensive. Get them at officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., having been selected at the election held June 14. The luncheon speaker was District Attorney Buron Fitts, who was introduced by Mrs. Florence Irish, program chairman. "He spoke plainly about the condition of affairs, especially about gangsters, eighty-seven of the worst from the East having made Los Angeles their mecca at one time. Things were made so hot for them, however, that they have departed."

The fourth birthday party of the Parlor, a beautiful affair held in the lovely home of Mrs. Earl Osborn, netted a substantial sum for the treasury of Californiana. A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Osborn and her sister, Mrs. Matilda Murdock.

JOINT N.S. INSTALLATION AT GLENDALE.

Officers of the Los Angeles County Native Son Parlors will be jointly installed at public ceremonies in Masonic Temple, 234 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, July 6. Arrangements are in charge of Glendale Parlor No. 264. Supper, for which advance reservations must be made, will precede the ceremonies, which will be open to all Natives and their friends.

BRIDES RECEIVE GIFTS.

Long Beach—District Deputy Eva Mae Bemis and Miss Lois Poling visited Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. June 2, and the Parlor presented the former with a silver gift, President Violet T. Henshilwood delivering the presentation address. A party honoring all members who had birthdays the first six months of 1932 followed the meeting. Second Vice-president Eleanor Johnson had charge of arrangements.

June 16 one candidate was initiated, and two recent brides, Mms. Katheryn Dodd-Bradley and Minnie Kofahl, were presented with gifts, the presentation addresses being made by Past Presidents Daisy T. Hansen and Lucretia Coates. A dinner and card party June 30 was in charge of District Deputy Clara Fay and Mrs. Leola Temby.

Recent meetings of the thimble club have been held at the hall. The quilt, the cover for which was made and donated by Mrs. Fannie Baker, has been finished and will be disposed of July 7. Mrs. Kate McFadyen, "mother" of the Parlor, who has been quite ill, is very much improved. Headed by Mrs. Zella L. Hodgedon as president, the newly elected officers of Long Beach will be installed July 21.

WATERMELON FEAST.

The July calendar for Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. includes: 8th, brief entertainment and watermelon feast. 15th, class initiation. 22nd, Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer will have charge of a program. 29th, Walter Slosson promises entertainment by a mystifying magician.

Ramona's anniversary barbecue June 12 was well attended and everybody had a good time. June 10 four candidates were initiated. Dr. James M. Watson, the incoming president, will introduce several novel entertainment features during his term.

"OH, BLESSED MISSION!"

The following came to The Grizzly Bear from Lewie W. Smith of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. with the statement: "Enclosed is a bit of poetry written by one of the schoolgirls of Highland Park. Her teacher thought it good enough to publish." Evelynne Judd, aged 14, a student at the Luther Burbank junior high school, is the schoolgirl referred to:

See you decaying structure
Towering in the moonlight
Dark against the starry sky
A tragic yet majestic sight
That building is a mission
A refuge of the forgotten padres who
Yet live in glory in the great beyond
Whose wonderful work reached not a few.
But many ignorant neophytes who
Were not ready to grasp knowledge
With eager hands
But slowly seeking in exchange
The love and care the fathers gave them
The sloping fields and tranted lands
Resound their praises with
Rumblings of waves on ocean sands
A wonderful country this land of ours
All made possible by mightier powers
Than mine.
Oh, blessed mission!"

N. S. OFFICIAL HONORED.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. had a very successful dance party June 17 in honor of Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee N.S.G.W. Second Vice-president Katherine Worsham was the hostess. In keeping with the pioneer celebration, the guests came in costume, and for the most typical prizes were awarded Elizabeth Valencia and Elmer Barnes. The affair proved so delightful it has been decided to hold a dance each month.

The June 6 card party, featuring the Olympic motif, was well attended; Marie Barnes was hos-

KEEP ON KEEPIN' ON.

If the day looks kinder gloomy
And your chances kinder slim,
If the situation's puzzlin'
And the prospect's awful grim;
If perplexities keep pressin'
Till hope is nearly gone,
Just bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

Frettin' never wins a fight
And fumin' never pays;
There ain't no use in broodin'
In these pessimistic ways;
Smile just kinder cheerfully
Though hope is nearly gone,
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

There ain't no use in growlin'
And grumblin' all the time,
When music's ringing everywhere
And everything's a rhyme.
Just keep on smilin' cheerfully
If hope is nearly gone,
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

THE ROMANCE OF SAN BERNARDINO

Clara M. Barton

THE SAN BERNARDINO PIONEER SOciety is composed of citizens who came to the valley in 1850 and 1860. It became an active society April 26, 1853, and was made up of men who shared in the harrowing events of early days and re responsible for the building up of the City San Bernardino. The society has taken an ive part in all civic affairs. It was the first to ke a move toward the construction of the nty court house, the federal building and the t public park, and it was the Pioneer Society ich made daring and successful moves to pre- ve the historical sites of the valley. At the t election of officers George Lord was made sident. Vice-presidents were John Brown Sr., vid Seeley, James W. Waters, William F. Holb and N. P. Earp. Henry M. Willis acted as responding secretary, John Brown Jr. as re- ding secretary, B. B. Harris as treasurer, and G. Gill as marshal.

THE GOLDEN LAND.

We've entered now the Golden State,
Where warmest welcomes for us wait;
The land where corn and oil and wine
Are free and plenty as sunshine

Oh Golden Land! proud Golden Land
We feel our welcome, and our hand
Is given now with right good will
To those who greet us for we wish
Remember that in forty nine
We had no oil nor corn nor wine

San Bernardino leads the van
With fruits delicious and we can
But tell them what our hearts now feel
And wish them joy, long life and weal

The ladies and the children sweet
Who gladden us with smiles and greet
The veterans of forty nine,
For them we ask for bliss divine

God bless the ties that hence forth bind
Old Argonauts, and may we find
This happy hour, in all our years
The pleasantest for Pioneers

So let us all, while gathered here
Each Saturday throughout the year
In memory our friends enshrine
Who gave us corn, and oil, and wine

This ode was composed by B. F. Whittemore aboard the excursion train when coming into the valley April 17, 1890, and the melody is "Beulah Land." A custom of the society is to clasp the hand of a visitor as the song is being sung—a custom which will ever linger in the minds of those who have been cordially received as guests by the Pioneers. So, the noble and courageous Pioneer is never forgotten or forsaken.

EPISODE 9.
THE FIRST ADMINISTRATION.

A few short years had passed and the settlers, as well as those who had been born and raised in the city, realized this now-thriving settlement was in position to form its own charter and to have its own government.

"We can't go on this way," said one of the active businessmen. "Every township has its own way of self government, so why shouldn't we? We have enough citizens who are taking an active part in all of our plans and I fully believe that we can accomplish more, if we have a purpose to work for. It would mean advancement and independence."

July 30, 1904, a few citizens who were keeping the town machinery in order elected a board of trustees, which would receive from the state special permission to hold an election. The qualified electors then chose the following highly respected and capable citizens, who were ordered to prepare a charter to be submitted to the voters of the city: John Andreson Sr., H. M. Barton, I. R. Brunn, J. W. Catick, M. L. Cook, G. M. Cooley, Frank Daly, J. J. Hanford, W. S. Hooper, A. G. Kendall, James Murray, L. D. Houghton, Joseph Ingersoll, W. M. Parker, Horace C. Rolph.

They constituted the organized Board of Trustees. The state gave them ninety days in which to prepare the charter, and January 30, 1905, it was heartily approved by both houses of the Legislature. The activities did not stop here, however, and plans for forming a complete city government were formulated. Several of the old residents, who could not see the importance and necessity of so doing, became antagonistic. Several weeks were required to win them over! The new charter provided for a mayor, common council, water commission, city planning, fire, police and other departments.

Hiram Merritt Barton, a charter member of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. and a former member of the State Legislature, was elected mayor by a large majority. He appointed Walter A. Shay chief of police and found in him a man of capability, always fair and square. To take full charge of the fire department, Albert A. Glatz, whose past experience in handling the fire situation won approval from the citizens of San Bernardino, was named.

Mayor Barton's movements were closely watched, and his suggestions as to future advancement won much favor with the public. It was his custom to interview the councilmen and the heads of the various departments before each council meeting and get their opinions of the various ordinances to be drawn up, and thus he overcame complications that were bound to arise. By the time his administration was completed, in 1907, he had to his credit necessary ordinances that were being enforced. The cooperation received from employes of the city departments revealed to him that his efforts in constructing a solid foundation upon which a thriving city was building were not given in vain.

The first move made by Mayor Barton was to build a fire hall, to house all the fire apparatus and be fitted throughout with comforts for the firemen who were to live there. This was the first step necessary toward the building up of a substantial fire department, but Mayor Barton found many objections to conquer. He succeeded, however, in not only erecting the splendid fire hall, but other city buildings as well.

The charter and original ordinances are still in effect, and the foundation constructed in 1905 is still supporting the San Bernardino City government.

To the list of candidates for District Attorney of Los Angeles County has been added the name of J. Marion Wright of Glendale, a native of Los Angeles, graduate of the Los Angeles High School and the U S C. College of Law, and for twenty years a practicing attorney. He is 42 years of age.

Wright was induced to enter the campaign, according to announcement of his sponsors, under pressure of a combined request from leading lawyers and businessmen of the county. In the statement offering him as a candidate he is described as "a man ideally fitted by character, temperament and training to be district attorney."

His practice, it is related, has covered a wide range and taken in all State and Federal courts, including United States Supreme Court. He is referred to by his sponsors as "the type of citizen who should be called into service because, if elected, he will prove an honest, fearless fair and well balanced district attorney." He has never held office.

Wright is a member of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, Masons, Shriners and Native Sons. Among his sponsors are listed Norman Bailie, former president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, Dr W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, Walter G. Follard, architect and Ralf Goddard, retired capitalist, both of Pasadena, E. Clem Wilson, Frank S. Hutton, George Beebe and Burrel D. HORNED TOBACCO WORM.

A large green worm that appears on tomato plants, known as the horned tobacco worm, will do real damage both to foliage and fruit unless prompt control measures are taken. Where it first appears, handpicking may control it. Where there is a larger patch, or a field, and the infestation is heavy, then spraying or dusting must be used for control. If dusting is preferred, use five parts of air-slaked lime and one part of powdered arsenate of lead. For a spray, use two ounces of powdered arsenate of lead, two ounces of laundry soap and three gallons of water.

TOMATOES AND IRRIGATION.

Be careful of the irrigation when tomatoes begin to set their fruit. Give the plants plenty of water up to the blossoming period, but when it is time for the tomatoes to set, let up on irrigation. Otherwise there will be difficulty in getting early fruits; they will drop. After the tomatoes have set, the water may be applied again. Of course, the plants should not be allowed to get to the wilting stage because of lack of soil moisture, but the ground should not be kept too wet when the blossoms appear.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

THE FIRST SESSION OF THE SEVENty-second Federal Congress terminated July 16, and just prior to adjournment passed what is generally referred to as the "relief bill," but officially titled "Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932." The measure has since been approved by President Herbert Hoover. Its main features are: $300,000,000 to be made available for "direct" relief of the destitute; $1,500,000,000 for loans through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for self-liquidating projects, and $322,224,000 for a public works program.

This measure is linked with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, the "pet" legislation of the national administration which has been vigorously condemned, and as vigorously extolled, by members of the Congress and others. So, whether any but the highboys—the thieving bankers and their like who brought on the bountiful depression—will be directly benefited by the "relief" bill is problematical. The great obstacle in the way of the bill's final passage was the amendment providing that all loans of the R.F.C. shall be made public. The national administration strenuously opposed that provision, but it is in the bill as passed and approved, and the bill also contains this provision:

"Sec. 207. No loan or advance shall be approved under this section or under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, directly or indirectly, to any financial institution any officer or director of which is a member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or has been such a member within the twelve months preceding the approval of the loan or advance."

That section was undoubtedly added following the nationwide clamor after the making known of the fact that former Vice-president Charles G. Dawes had, shortly after his voluntary retirement as president of the R.F.C., borrowed $80,000,000 from the Corporation in the interest of his Chicago bank. Commenting on the Dawes borrow, the "Tri-County Labor News" said:

"Eighty million dollars is by odds the largest single loan made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; nor is that the chief item of surprise. The Corporation is a Government institution. It has not a dollar of cash or credit except as these are provided by the people of the United States. Mr. Dawes was the first president of this concern. His eulogists described him at the time as a superman who had put aside his own affairs so he might 'serve' his country. When he resigned a few weeks ago he modestly admitted that he had finished the job and that prosperity was on the way. . . . Now it appears that 'Hell an' Maria's principal accomplishment in connection with the R F C. was to borrow $80,000,000 for his own bank. Whether the deal was arranged before or after he resigned as head of the institution is not clear. All we know is that he got the money, plenty of it, and now proudly proclaims that his bank is 'impregnable.' Of course it is 'impregnable.' Any bank may be rendered 'impregnable' if its chief is turned loose among Uncle Sam's billions and permitted to help himself."

Congressman William C. Lankford of Georgia, speaking in the House of Representatives July 7 on the "relief" bill, commented thusly:

"Much has been said about this being a superbanking bill and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation being a superbanking institution. To my mind there is no doubt about this question. The only problem is whether or not this superbanking institution shall be operated for the benefit of the big corporations of the country or shall be operated for the benefit of the whole people. . . . Why not make those loans directly to the individual citizen rather than lending it to the large corporations on the theory that part of the money will eventually inure to the benefit of the ordinary private citizen? . . .

"You can not bring back to life a dead, decaying body by the engrafting of a little live skin. You can not take the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, set up by the monopolistic interests of the country, owned by Wall Street international bankers, operated for the immensely rich, and officered by those who look at everything from the standpoint of the capitalist, and make that corporation an agency of service for the common people by feebly and gently suggesting that its officers may, if entirely satisfactory to them, make an occasional loan to some wealthy individual who is able to hire lawyers and comply with all the red tape that would be required of him by those who do not want to loan any amount to any individual . . . Big corporation men like Dawes, are able to get $80,000,000 at a clip probably in the midst of a bacchanalian feast of mirth and hilarious glee. It is so easy for those that have millions upon top of millions to get more."

Some information regarding the R.F.C. is not amiss at this time. Its second quarterly report, made public July 8, sets forth that from February 2 to June 30 loans totaling $1,054,814,486 were authorized to 4,196 borrowers—$642,789,313 to banks and trust companies, and $213,882,724 to railroads. The greatest number of loans in any single state was in Illinois, where 307 institutions, including 274 banks, were accommodated. Loans in California totaled 99. The report lists 10 employes of the Corporation receiving $1,000 or more monthly, and an additional 112 employes receiving more than $100 monthly.

There is a deficit in California State Government funds; just how much, no one appears to know definitely, but there are rumors it reaches high up into the millions. Records of the controller's office reveal that the present administration spent during the 1931-32 fiscal year $24,770,930 more than was expended during the previous fiscal year. And that enormous increase with conditions as they are, and have been for some time past! The state attorney-general remarks,

"The cost of government, national, state, county and municipal, has rapidly increased in the last few years. Charges everywhere are made that the increase far exceeds the advantages to result achieved, and so far as I know, no one has disputed the correctness of this charge."

No one has disputed, because the charge is indisputable.

"Though the present stifling depression broke early in 1929," continues the attorney general, "no effort to cut governmental extravagances or to reduce the cost of government was made until the surpluses were completely exhausted and deficits occurred."

Not only has no effort been made to reduce the cost of government, but it has actually been increased by materially boosting the salaries of favored state employes. The suggestion that the highest salary paid to any state officer shall be $5,000 per annum should be enacted into law.

August 30 will be primary election day. Carefully consider the reputations and the qualifications of each of the record-breaking number of candidates for public offices, and then vote for those who, in your own judgment, will best serve the masses, not the classes.

The near-intolerable conditions existant throughout this nation are the direct result of the failure of the majority to perform their chief duty as American citizens—their neglect of the ballot-box. The minority govern, because the majority have been slackers. Are you satisfied with conditions? If not, express your dissatisfaction at the polls!

One hundred and twenty-one immigration bills were introduced at the recent session of the Federal Congress. Eight became laws and the others go over to the December session for consideration. Of those adopted, two, of particular interest to California, are not so good:

Public Law 248, recognizes as American citizens at birth native women of the Hawaiian Islands who lost citizenship by reason of marriage to aliens. More voting wives of ineligible-to-citizenship husbands.

Public Law 277, provides that if an alien husband married a citizen wife prior to July 1, 1932, the alien husband is given a non-quota status, but if the marriage was on or after July 1, 1932, the alien is given first preference within the immigration quota. Opens the immigration door for more Japs and other undesirables.

"Unless American civilization is made moral, it will become unsafe," said Rev. John Snape, addressing the Northern Baptist Convention at San Francisco. "We must enforce our laws or confess that our form of government is a failure." Had the church, all denominations, devoted more time and energy to expounding the Gospel and less to politics and associated activities the moral-cancer would not have had such a spread.

An excellent suggestion comes from Superior Judge Harry B. Miller of Chicago, who urges that the marriage and divorce laws be federal rather than state. The conflicts between enactments of the various states destroy the sanctity of marriage and its social benefits. He urges that:

"Persons mentally or physically unfit be barred from marriage. Men divorced from wives with minor children be barred from remarriage until their obligation to the children has ceased or permanent arrangements for their support made. The legalities surrounding marriage be strengthened and that marriages and divorces both be made less easy."

The purchasing power of the dollar, estimates the Federal Labor Department, is now fifty percent greater than in 1929. As dollars are, with most people, about seventy-five percent fewer than in 1929, where's the cheer in their increased purchasing power? More dollars, in possession of more people, is the crying need.

California's chief executive has in mind the calling of a special session of the State Legislature to initiate a statewide water plan, the initial step in which would be to ask the voters to authorize a $160,000,000 bond issue "to finance the first unit of the water plan." The cost of the succeeding units has not been made known, but would be more than plenty. The chief executive probably will change his mind, but if he does not and the proposal goes to vote, the propertyowners of the state, already over their heads in taxes due to too-generous bond voting and other causes, should swamp the suggested water, and any and all other, bonds with negative votes. Commenting on this water scheme, the "Manteca Bulletin," published in one of California's richest agricultural sections, said editorially:

"The suggestion that the State of California might secure a hundred million dollars for the proposed statewide water program, is about the only reason we can see for a revival of the measure. We always seem to have an idea that to cause some other tax-producing source underwrites an expenditure, that in the last analysis we don't pay the bill. But it's always the man at the bottom of the heap that pays the taxes, whether he thinks he does or not.

"California has about as much need for the proposed statewide water program at present as the City of San Francisco has for a second Hetch Hetchy project. But because we think there is some easy money in sight we all want to grab at it. California has a long ways to go before it can show the need for more irrigation. First, we must find a market for what we produce—then we must demonstrate that more lands can be farmed to a profit."

Several factories, particularly in Eastern states, have been employing additional help since the adjournment of the Federal Congress, and some newspapers express the belief business was waiting for the national lawmakers to quit before starting "the climb toward renewed prosperity."

That may be true, but more likely it is the often-staged pre-election "full dinner pail" "stunt," put on at the command of the powers-that-be to attract votes. Anyway, more people are being employed.

Seldom does a writer receive commendation for effort put forth solely to enlighten readers on important public questions which should be the concern of all. Exceptions follow:

"I have read with much interest your several Grizzly Growls in The Grizzly Bear of July 1932. The first is especially appealing; I have said somewhat the same, but not in the emphatic and clear way in which you have. . . . The second 'growl' regarding the banks situation, the third

EPISODE 10.
FAIRS.

WHILE THE EASTERN STATES were having their country fairs, San Bernardino was holding its street fair. This was a yearly event looked forward to by all who took an active part in community affairs. The fair was held in the spring of the year, when the products of the soil were at their best.

A queen was chosen by popular vote and the prime minister was appointed by the executive committee in charge of all arrangements. During the few days of the fair's activities the reigning queen was at her place upon a flower-bedecked throne. From this regal place, her majesty viewed the parades. Before her passed gaily-decorated buggies, wagons, horses, tricycles, bicycles and other conveyances; those who preferred to walk did so, in costume.

A scant five years ended street-fair activities, as the citizens found themselves preparing to pay homage to the hundredth birthday of their natal city. From May 17 to 21, 1910, there was a celebration in which every person in the city took some active part. As a link in the chain of missions, on May 20, 1810, a branch of San Gabriel was established one mile south of the center of San Bernardino, and directly in front of it was the main highway that led to all missions, El Camino Real. A little chapel was built, surrounded by the beautiful Valley of San Bernardino.

The first steps toward honoring the birth of the city were taken by the San Bernardino Pioneer Society and Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. Their plans met with widespread approbation and soon the matter was placed in the hands of committees from all parts of the valley. Vast changes had taken place during the expanse of a hundred years.

The celebration opened with a historical pageant. As for a queen, the city elected by popular vote an "indian princess," Miss Lena Johnson, and her entry before her people was from the center of a large century plant. As it slowly opened, she gracefully stepped out and bowed in recognition to the greetings given her. Her chief was James McGregor, and her court consisted of indian maids and braves. The city also appointed spanish rulers, in the persons of Miss Rose Aguirre, who was honored as the "spanish guevendora," and her escort, a "spanish guevendor," W. M. Parker. With their attendants, they had special places beside those of the indian tribe upon the stage from which the numerous events were witnessed.

The centennial celebration was the closing chapter for street fairs of any kind, and the beginning of a new life of activities. March 6, 1911, the curtain went up on a new type of entertainment, and a display was presented for the approval of the citizens of the valley. It was then that the dreams of Harry M. Perkins were realized. On this day, the First National Orange Show was held. William W. Brison, at that time president of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce, was, by virtue of that office, president of the show. Because of his successful achievements with the centennial, Ralph E. Swing was appointed general chairman.

The first orange exposition was held in a small tent, and the exhibits of citrus seemed quite a novelty to the many visitors who came from other parts of the valley. Finding only citrus were to be displayed by the men, and that no effort was to be made to educate visitors in the use of the fruits, Mrs. Thomas Hadden got a group of women together and the now-popular and educational byproducts department was originated.

This first show was the firm foundation upon which the now-famous National Orange Show was built. Each succeeding year brings more enthusiasts and exhibitors. Sweepstakes in the form of silver cups and cash are presented, and ribbons are issued as special prizes. For several years the show was housed in a tent, but now has a home of its own, the largest exposition building on the Pacific Coast. The San Bernardino Orange Show has become a substantial and permanent institution. Much credit for its success is due Royal H. Mack, who for many years has stood at the helm.

California is noted for three annual events, the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena every January first, the San Bernardino National Orange Show the latter part of every February, and the "Mission Play" at San Gabriel. These have become known all over the world, and their stories never weaken.

EPISODE 11.
ADVANCEMENT.

One enters the San Bernardino Valley by Kendall drive. From its peak may be viewed a prosperous and peaceful territory outlined by evergreen trees—a panorama of the ideal homesite. At night the lights of the valley are like brilliant gems, and the tourist receives a fairyland impression. Too, the newcomer finds the valley is ideally located. Leaving the sunshine and the orange groves, and climbing via the high-gear road, the visitor later finds himself up on the mountain peaks, amid snow.

Ambition and self-confidence have been the direct cause of the rapid strides taken by the citizens of the valley during the twentieth century. Readjustments had to be made. Historic landmarks, that should have been protected, have been razed to make way for the progress of the city; old trees, planted by the loving hands of the Pioneer, have also felt the cruel blow of the axe.

San Bernardino has not been at a standstill, and with a population of 38,000 has accomplished much. It has a residential section that is an outstanding feature, and to encourage the beautifying of homes the Chamber of Commerce sponsors home-garden contests. A silver cup is given during the Yuletide season for the most beautiful living decorated evergreen tree by Mrs. H. M. Barton, who is active in civic affairs of the city. Citizens of the city have extended their homesites to the foothills, and citizens of the valley look up to them with pride. The business section has modern and pretentious buildings that are monuments to the men and the women who constructed them.

In the center of Lugo Park stands a towering and substantial building sponsored by all civic heads and erected by the taxpayers. Previously, there stood a wooden frame building, but a tongue of fire lapped it to the ground. Though the military unit had housed its ammunition within the flimsy structure, and lost it, the destruction of the building made way for another step in the advancement of the city. The Municipal Auditorium was many months in the making, and accommodates several thousand people.

West of the Auditorium stands a delightful and charming log cabin, erected by those directly responsible for the building of the city. It is the home of the Pioneers, built of hand-hewed logs. No nail mars or scars those logs, and all early-day treasures are housed and guarded therein. In this three-room building the Pioneers meet every Saturday, rain or shine. It is here they come to pay undying tribute to the men and the women who so courageously built a splendid community.

The Pioneers and those born and raised in the city have seen many drastic and startling changes. There are modern electric cars to replace the once-popular horse cars; the huge new San Bernardino County Court House, ever surrounded by spacious and blooming gardens; the old rundown parks have been made anew, and even the unsightly washes of sand and debris have been converted into charming parks; new schools have replaced the old, and a junior college, surrounded by spacious lawns, has been recently constructed in which children of the less-fortunate may obtain some advantages. The most important industry of the city is the Santa Fe shops.

Opposite Lugo Park stands a homey looking building known as the Woman's Club. The American Legion building is an asset to the city. Uncle Sam has taken an active interest in the advancement of the city and has erected a Federal building at the cost of $350,000.

Fraternal and patriotic organizations are numerous, and many own their own buildings. But two organizations, however, are striving to preserve the landmarks and history of the San Bernardino Valley—Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. and Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. Through them, much has been done. Their interest in civic affairs is evidenced by their accomplishments. Though both Parlors meet in rented quarters, plans are being made to be in a home of their own in the very near future.

And so, in keeping with loyalty and the upbuilding of the City of San Bernardino, we find that the efforts given in the beginning prove that no one shirked his duties. Those carrying on in the twentieth century are continuing the work their ancestors began. From a barren desert to a garden of paradise, the co-operation, the aims and the ideals of all concerned have been vividly shown. Thus continue the links in the chain of success, and San Bernardino has won for itself a warm and respected reputation as to its manner of homage.

HISTORIC PLACES ARE PLAQUED

BRENTWOOD (CONTRA COSTA COUNty)—Donner Parlor No. 193 N.D.G.W. (Byron), assisted by Byron Parlor No. 170 N.S.G.W., unveiled and dedicated June 26 at the entrance to the Dr. John Marsh home, familiarly known as the "Stone House," a bronze plaque presented by Mrs. Sadie Winn-Brainard of Califia Parlor No. 22 N.D.G.W. (Sacramento), a granddaughter of General Andrew Maver Winn, Founder of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. The plaque is inscribed: "In memory of John and Abbie Marsh, pioneers; he was the first doctor in California; born 1799, arrived 1836, murdered September 24, 1856; Abbie Marsh died August, 1855; builders of the Stone House; dedicated by Donner Parlor N.D.G.W., 1932."

Richard R. Veale, charter member of General Winn Parlor No. 32 N.S.G.W. (Antioch) and sheriff of Contra Costa County, was the master of ceremonies, and among the many in attendance was the 71-year-old granddaughter of Dr. Marsh, Miss Sarah Marsh. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Estelle M. Evans, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., accompanied by Miss Frances Diffin, and a quintet,—Mrs. Clara Houston, Ray Houston, William Anderson, Miss Gwendolyn Richardson and Leslie Richardson—accompanied by Thelma Richardson. Speakers included Past Grand President Amy V. McAvoy and Supervising Deputy Edna Hill of the Native Daughters; Past Grand President James F. Hoey and State Senator Will R. Sharkey of the Native Sons; State Finance Director Rolland A. Vandegrift, State Assemblyman R. P. Easley, A. F. Bray and C. W. St. John. The Liberty union high school band of Brentwood favored with selections. The committee of Donner Parlor in charge of the ceremonies included Mms. Edna Hill (chairman), Virginia Boltzen, Mabel Peterson and President Josephine Pimentel.

John Marsh, one of the greatest of early American adventurers, was an outstanding Pioneer of Contra Costa County. Born in 1799, he graduated from Harvard University, and came to California in 1836, arriving at the Pueblo of Los Angeles. Here he registered as a physician and was accepted as such on the strength of his Latin-worded diploma from Harvard, as no one could be found to translate it. Thus he became California's first doctor, and rendered splendid services. His practice took him from Monterey to Sutter's Fort.

Early in 1837 Dr. Marsh bought a vast ranch, located in the shadows of Mount Diablo and extending from the base of the mountain to the banks of the San Joaquin River, nine miles distant; it was known as the Los Medanos Rancho. He soon became the wealthiest man in California, both in gold and cattle. He was a leader in a plan to unite California and Oregon—he to become president or governor—but a fued between Governor Alvarado and General Micheltorena prevented its consummation. He also participated in the struggles of the California Republic.

For almost twenty years, he lived in an adobe house located back of the present "Stone House." With the advent of a daughter, Alice, born to his wife, Abbie, Dr. Marsh's dreams had come true—he had wealth, an accomplished wife, and a child. Now, for a home, the finest in California. Joyously he and Abbie planned every detail of the magnificent edifice, which still stands as a monument to their memory. The bricks of which it is made were burnt on the place and the ornamentation of freestone was quarried on the property. But their hopes were unrequited. Abbie died in August 1855, almost a year before the completion of the house. September 24, 1856, enroute by horse and buggy to Martinez, Dr. Marsh was waylaid by vaqueros, seeking revenge, and murdered just outside the town.

MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN MARKS SITE CALIFORNIA'S FIFTH STATE FAIR.

Marysville (Yuba County)—Marysville Parlor No. 162 N.D.G.W. dedicated July 4 in Cortez Square a fountain, erected in memory of the women and men who founded the city, in 1850. The fountain stands upon the site of the pavilion which housed California's Fifth State Fair, in

RE-ELECT

UNITED STATES SENATOR

SAMUEL M. SHORTRIDGE

(REPUBLICAN)

For 12 years he has served California faithfully and well! His record of service is for the whole people!

As a ranking member of the Senate Finance Committee he has won for California industries, commodities and labor more tariff protection than is enjoyed by any other ten states.

He has championed rigid restriction of immigration; was author of the Japanese exclusion provision of the Immigration Act of 1924; introduced the Filipino exclusion bill.

He is friend of labor, business, farmer!

A SENATOR FOR ALL CALIFORNIA!

858. The exhibitors at that exposition, it is aid, included General John A. Sutter, outstanding Pioneer; General John Bidwell, founder of Chico, Butte County; Peter Lassen, for whom Lassen County and Lassen National Park are named; Kit Carson, famous guide.

The fountain bears a bronze plaque embellished with a covered wagon and inscribed as ollows: "Dedicated to the memory of the Pioneer Men and Women of Marysville. Erected by Marysville Parlor No. 162 Native Daughters of he Golden West July 4, 1932."

Mrs. Gertrude Cable presided, and among the peakers were Councilman Leo J. Smith; Past Grand President Fred H. Greely of the Native ons; Past Grand Presidents Dr. Louise C. Heilron and Esther R. Sullivan, and Grand Secreary Sallie R. Thaler of the Native Daughters. n the course of her remarks Miss Sullivan said: "Sutter's New Helvetia grant from the Mexan government covered territory now embraced in Sacramento and Sutter Counties and portions of Placer, Yuba and Colusa Counties. He called the Marysville portion of it New Mecklenburg, but the settlement, starting with two adobe buildings at the foot of what is now 'D' street, was better known as Nye's Ranch, then Yubaville, until Mary Murphy Covillaud's name was given it in 1850."

MONUMENT MARKS SITE SAN BERNARDINO'S FIRST PUBLIC BUILDING.

San Bernardino City—The site of this city's first public building is now designated by a monument, erected by Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W., which was dedicated June 25. A plaque has the following inscription: "In memory of Charles C. Rich and Amasa M. Lyman, builders of the Council House, 1852. First school, church and later court house of this county. Dedicated by Lugonia Parlor No. 241, Native Daughters of the Golden West. June 25, 1932."

Miss Clara M. Barton, chairman of the Parlor's landmarks committee, presided at the ceremonies. Rev. Golder I. Lawrence delivered an invocation, and the dedicatory address was delivered by Dr. Richard R. Lyman of Salt Lake City, grandson of one of San Bernardino's founders. President Gladys Case Baker of Lugonia made the presentation address, which was responded to by Supervisor C. E. Grier. President George W. Beattie of the San Bernardino Historical Society recounted the history of the city and the county. Miss Naomi Rich of Riverside City, a granddaughter of Charles C. Rich, was among the many in attendance.

Following the ceremonies the Native Daughters entertained at the log cabin in Pioneer Park. President C. J. Daley of the San Bernardino Pioneer Society extended a welcome. Associated with Miss Barton in arranging the day's program were Laura Clark, Daisy Davenport, Catherine McIntosh and Gladys Case Baker.

SIERRA COUNTY MUSEUM DEDICATED.

Downieville (Sierra County) — Downieville Parlor No. 92 N.S.G.W. and Naomi Parlor No. 36 N.D.G.W. dedicated July 4 the Sierra County Museum, in which will be housed, under control of the Parlors, early-day relics. The dedicatory address was delivered by District Attorney J. M. McMahon. Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd presented a Flag of the United States of America.

The building, made entirely of stone, was presented to Downieville by the heirs of J. M. B. Meroux, Sierra County Pioneer. It is one of the oldest structures in the northern section of the state, and is believed to have been erected in 1852. It has survived three disastrous fires.

July 14 the Parlors placed upon the Sierra County court house a plaque reading: "The erection of this Building commenced April 18, 1854. Completed May 6, 1855. David G. Webber, builder."

Gas Tax—With the addition of the new Federal Government tax, motorists of the United States are now paying gasoline taxes at the rate of approximately $2,000,000 a day.

Assessors' Meet—The annual convention of the California County Assessors Association will be held at Al Tahoe, Nevada County, August 22-24.

WHO WAS "ROBERT SEMPLE"? IF you had read carefully The Grizzly Bear for May 1932 you would know. Refer to page 25 of that issue and you will find this, which answers the question: Dr. Robert B. Semple was one of California's noted Pioneers. A native of Kentucky, he arrived at Sutter Fort (Sacramento) Christmas Day of 1845. He was a member of the Bear Flag Party which, June 14, 1846, raised the California Republic Flag at Sonoma. At Monterey, August 15, 1846, he issued the state's first newspaper, "The Californian," which in May 1847 was moved to Yerba Buena (San Francisco) and later sold to the "California Star." In 1847 he located the site of the present City of Colusa. He also laid out the present City of Benicia, Solano County, and constructed and operated the first ferry across Carquinez Straits. He also organized the state's first mail service; April 19, 1849, two soldiers on horseback left San Francisco and San Diego, met half-way, exchanged mail sacks and returned to their starting points. Dr. Semple was the president of California's First Constitutional Convention, which assembled at Monterey, September 1, 1849. He died at Williams, Colusa County, October 25, 1854.—Editor.

Good News.

Members of the Order will be delighted to learn that Junior Past Grand President Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez and his wife, who were seriously injured in an auto accident near Santa Barbara last May, left the hospital for their San Francisco home July 4. Mrs. Gonzalez is still troubled with a broken shoulder bone, but is improving, and Dr. Gonzalez expects to resume his practice August 1. He plans, also, to be at Santa Barbara for the school dedication August 19.

Would Promote Athletics.

The Grand Parlor Athletic Committee—Al. Sandell (chairman), R. J. Garrett, L. Alva Werner, Wesley Colgan and Arthur J. Cleu—will meet early in September to discuss the advisability of promoting athletics throughout the Order.

A questionnaire has been sent all Subordinate Parlors, and they are requested to fill it out and return not later than September 1 to Chairman Al. Sandell, 830 Market street, San Francisco. This should have prompt attention.

Busy in the Field.

Deputy Grand President Al Lobree, engaged in field work for the Grand Parlor, was in Madera City last month and reports a large class of candidates will be initiated for Madera No. 130 by the officers of Fresno No. 25. From Madera, he will proceed to Hanford, Visalia and Tulare City, where he hopes to institute new parlors.

Parlor Instituted.

Los Banos—Los Banos No. 206 was instituted July 9 by Grand President Seth Millington, who was assisted by Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane and Deputy Grand President Al Lobree. The ritual was exemplified by a team from Stockton No. 7 composed of George D. Avery, president; C. W. Walsh, senior past; L. Buol, junior past; J. D. Gallagher, first vice; Ben J. Waller, second vice; George Witherow, third vice; W. A. Strong, marshal; R. A. Mitscher, assistant marshal; M. O. Woods, inside sentinel; J. B. Sacco, outside sentinel; Glenn Kennedy, pianist.

Officers of Los Banos were installed by Deputy Laurence Buol as follows: Robert L. Puccinelli, president; Joseph A. Enos, junior past; Manuel J. DeParsia, first vice; Daniel L. Pedrone, second vice; John L. Pasmore, third vice; Louis Edw. Sarbo, recording secretary; Frank Pimentel, financial secretary; George L. Hoke, treasurer; Frank Damberasio, marshal; Daniel J. Galatio, inside sentinel; Joseph Celano, outside sentinel; Paul L. Negra, Ralph Newsome, James Wm. Ives, trustees. Modesto No. 11 presented the "baby" with a seal of the State of California.

Anniversary Observed.

San Bernardino—Officers of Arrowhead No. 110, with F. L. McGarvey as president, were installed July 13 by Deputy Ray Marsile. The Parlor's forty-fifth institution anniversary was observed July 20 with a short program in honor of the three remaining charter members, Albert Burcham, Emory Tyler and Joe Rich.

The Arrowheaders and many visitors had one big night at the Parlor's clubhouse at Crestline July 23. A feast of barbecued steak was followed by the initiation of several candidates. The officers appeared in "wild west" costumes for the occasion. An Admission Day observance committee has been appointed, composed of Ben Harrison (chairman), Lyman A. Reed, M. G. Hale and Grand Organist Leslie Maloche.

Will Be in Line.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa No. 28 will be represented in the Admission Day parade at San Francisco, and a committee composed of Wesley Colgan (chairman), Frank Berger, Jim Brucker, Dr. W. C. Shipley and Secretary Leland S. Lewis has been appointed to make the arrangements. President Wesley Beach headed a delegation that July 23 paid a visit to Mount Tamalpais No. 64 at San Rafael.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures July 20, 1932:

Parlor.	Jan. 1	July 20	Gain	Loss

Five Parlors Install Jointly.

Sacramento—Officers of Sacramento No. 3 and Sunset No. 26, and La Bandera No. 110, Sutter No. 111 and Coloma No. 212 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed at Native Son Hall July 15. Joseph Drennon, Clyde Corcoran, Doris Fisher, Esther Mulligan and Mary Lucas were the officiating deputies, and Joseph Fitzhenry, L. W. Marvin, Miss Helen Kennedy, Mrs. Ida Merwin and Miss Marie Christie became the respective presidents.

Grand Trustee Edna B. Briggs was chairman of the general arrangements committee, and she was assisted by a large number of co-workers from all five Parlors. Dancing followed the ceremonies, which were largely attended, and refreshments were served.

Purchases Home.

Plymouth—Plymouth No. 48, through a committee composed of H. Jameson, O. Harrell and E. Hodges, has completed arrangements for the purchase of its own home, the former clubhouse of the Plymouth Gold Mines. The property is being renovated and improved, and will make a cosy meetingplace for the Parlor.

SANTA BARBARA SCHOOL DEDICATION

CLIFFORD F. RIZOR
(Chairman of Publicity,
Santa Barbara Parlor N.S.G.W.)

THE OLD SPANISH DAYS FIESTA AT Santa Barbara will open August 18. At least ten of the grand officers of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, and possibly several grand officers of the Orders of Native Daughters will be Santa Barbara's guests during the celebration. On the second day of the fiesta the Native Son grand officers will dedicate Santa Barbara's new Eastside junior high school. This structure, representing an investment in land, building and equipment of nearly one million dollars, marks the completion of a twelve-year program of intensive building and improvement in the school system of Santa Barbara.

In the years since 1920 Santa Barbara, like many other cities of California, has grown rapidly. As a consequence, the enrollment in its schools here during that period has increased 200 percent, necessitating a constant expansion of school facilities and teaching staff to properly meet the demand. Paul E. Stewart, superintendent of schools for Santa Barbara, stated in a recent talk that it has been necessary to rebuild and modernize the entire school system for the reason that until 1920 the schools were housed in old wooden buildings built previous to 1904. The erection of the new junior high school is significant as marking Santa Barbara's complete transition from the "red schoolhouse" era, and gives adequate facilities to what is now one of the highest accredited school systems in California.

Thus it comes about that when Grand President Seth Millington, with his co-worker, Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell make their dedicatory addresses on behalf of the Native Sons, they will signalize not only the completion of a fine new building, but a renewed and modernized educational scheme, infused with new life and ambitions.

The four city blocks which form the campus of this new school were once swamp land. Scientific filling and drainage have changed them from an intolerable eyesore and made them into a very desirable community asset. The potential value of surrounding property has thus been considerably increased.

The building itself is of Spanish architecture from designs furnished by the school architect W. H. Weeks, who has designed many fine school buildings, some of which have been dedicated by the Native Sons in other cities. He has provided a recess for the dedicatory plaque in the floor of the front entrance to the building, so that the entire ceremony of dedication, including the laying of the plaque, may be witnessed from the area fronting on the entrance. This permits of the entire program being held out-of-doors.

The committee of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. on dedications has enlisted the support of the newspapers, womens clubs, parent-teacher organizations and other civic bodies with the purpose of securing a large attendance at the dedication. The committee is working to secure an outpouring of at least 1,500 people at the ceremony.

Special transportation rates to Santa Barbara from all points in California will be in effect during Old Spanish Days week. This will afford an opportunity to all residents of the state to witness the fiesta at a very nominal cost. Santa Barbara promises an entertainment, and a vacation experience, unique and satisfying.

Historic Fort Ross Attracts.

Sebastopol—An Independence Day celebration supervised by Sebastopol No. 143 at historic Fort Ross, built by Russian settlers in 1812, attracted a large crowd. W. S. Borba was master of ceremonies. State Assemblyman Hubert Scudder officiated at the dedication of a marker placed at the settlement by the Redwood Empire Association. State Senator Herbert Slater was the speaker of the day.

Determined To Increase Visits.

San Rafael—Officers of Mount Tamalpais No 64 and Matinita No 198 N D G W were jointly installed July 23 by Deputies J S Rosa Jr and Mrs A W Todt, Monroe E Petersen and Lena Mazza becoming the respective presidents. Charles Soldavini Jr. and Antionette Hecht had charge of the decorations and entertainment. Many visitors were in attendance and the evening proved most enjoyable.

Deputy Monroe Label has installed the officers of Petaluma No 27 and Sebastopol No 143. An enthusiastic member of Mount Tamalpais, he is making determined efforts to increase fraternal visits between the Sonoma and the Marin County Parlors through an interparlor committee.

July 13 officers of Marin County Past Presidents Assembly No. 5 were installed by Director general James F Stanley, Charles Soldavini Jr succeeding J. S. Rosa Jr. as governor. Governor general Louis F. Erb and Trustee-general Adolph Gudehus spoke most encouragingly of the outlook for the past presidents association. A sumptuous repast was served at the close of the meeting.

Former Grand Officer Dead.

Stockton—Edward Van Vranken, former Grand Trustee, died July 3 at Vallejo, Solano County, survived by a wife and two children. He was affiliated with Stockton No. 7, and had served San Joaquin County as district attorney and supervisor.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

NUMEROUS NOTORIOUSLY OBNOXious political rackets have been propagated in Los Angeles, but what appears to be the outstanding one was the just-recent indictment of a superior court judge by the grand jury. Here are the facts, as revealed in the public press from time to time: A "receivership racket" was uncovered some months ago and the grand jury proceeded to investigate. Just prior to its discharge from duty, the grand jury returned a bribery indictment against a judge of the superior court who is a candidate for re-election at the August primary; the indictment was voted on the unsupported testimony of one man. The grand jury did not indict the man who claimed to have accepted the "bribe" from the indicted judge, nor did it indict three superior court judges who are not August primary candidates for re-election, but who have been linked with the receivership racket and against whom the Bar Association is sponsoring a recall.

That indictment, irrespective of the innocence or the guilt of the accused and in view of the facts above set forth, stinks to high heaven! It has every earmark of a political racket, and further lessens faith in judicial uprightness. If the truth has been made public, but one conclusion can be drawn from that indictment: the political gangsters have wedged their way into the grand jury precincts. There should be a thorough and competent investigation, by the Bar Association preferably, of the local grand jury system, to ascertain if the members of that body are selected in full accord with the statute or if they are handpicked directly or indirectly by and at the suggestion of those in and those out of public office who do not want their careers investigated by an inquisitorial body whose members play no favorites and are beyond reach.

Los Angeles is overburdened with financial, political and other gangsters, and they prey unmercifully on the decent element of the citizenry; that is the main reason why taxes are so burdensome. Justice is continuously outraged! The great majority of the citizenry, who are honest and lawabiding, should awake to this situation and clean out the gangsters and their agents by electing to public office citizens of unquestioned integrity who will not only respect and obey the laws of the land themselves but will administer those laws impartially and fearlessly.

Unless there be a cleanup of the rotten conditions, the Angel(ess) City cannot possibly regain its place in the sun of safe communities—safe for investment, safe for honest endeavor, and safe as a homeplace. Begin the cleaning-out at the August 30 primary! The ballot-box, if used with care and after due consideration of existant conditions, is the weapon that will rout the gangsters!—C.M.H.

COME OUT, NATIVE SONS!

Seth Millington of Gridley, Butte County, Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, will arrive in Los Angeles August 5. He wants to discuss affairs of the Order with members of all the southland Parlors, and to make that possible arrangements have been made for a joint meeting the night of August 5 on the fourth floor of Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. Every Native Son who can possibly do so, should attend that meeting.

In honor of the Grand President, a noonday luncheon August 6 has been arranged for by Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, and the following day he will be the guest of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 at a barbecue in Santa Monica Canyon.

August 8, Grand President Millington will visit Hollywood Parlor No. 196, and the following night he will be at the meeting of Glendale Parlor No. 264. Classes of candidates will be initiated on both these occasions.

SPECIAL BOWL EVENTS.

Three of the most important special events planned for the Olympic year series of Symphonies Under the Stars in the Hollywood Bowl will be presented early in August.

Tuesday, the 2nd, the pageant, "California Welcomes the World," will be given as a part of the regular Bowl program. More than 2,000 persons will take part in this spectacle, including representatives of every foreign nation participating in the games.

The next concert under the warm summer skies will be "International Night," Thursday, the 4th, with Alfred Wallenstein, world-famous cellist, making his Bowl debut as conductor. It will be his only appearance in the conductor's stand, although he will be heard later in the season as soloist with the orchestra.

The following night, Friday, the 5th, will bring the Bowl's third choral production, Verdi's "Requiem," sung by the Los Angeles Civic Chorus, with an all-star cast in the solo parts. Bernardino Molinari, conductor of the Augusteum Symphony of Rome, will direct the orchestra in all of these programs except Wallenstein's.

SPLENDID AFFAIR.

A most noteworthy function in Native Son circles was the public installation of the officers of seven Parlors at Glendale, July 6, under the auspices of Glendale Parlor No. 264. A tasty supper, prepared and served by the Glendale Native Daughters and Native Sons, preceded the ceremonies. The Glendale Fire Department orchestra, directed by H. T. Mundon, furnished music. Earl LeMoine was the toastmaster, and introduced numerous personages. Some 300 were in attendance, Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 sending a large delegation in "Old Spanish Days" costumes.

President Phil D. Molen of Glendale Parlor presided at the installation ceremonies, and introduced Superior Judge B. Rey Shauer as master of ceremonies. Mayor Frank P. Taggart of Glendale extended a welcome, and among the other speakers were Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger, William I. Traeger and John T. Newell, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William I. Reuter, Leo V. Youngworth and Harry C. Sweetser. Under Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz successfully and painlessly conducted the good of the order. Others in attendance were Deputy Grand President Al Cron, and District Deputies A. C. Dinsmore, H. G. Bentley, E. E. Baldwin, Ray Marsile and W. E. Baskerville. Organ selections were rendered by Mrs. Hazel K. Skinner, and Mrs. Thelma A. Leaton was heard in two vocal selections.

Burrel D. Neighbours, chairman Grand Parlor Ritual Committee, most impressively delivered the installation charges, and Grand Organist Leslie Maloche presided at the piano. Presidents of the Parlors whose officers were installed include: Owen S. Adams, Los Angeles No. 45; Dr. James M. Watson, Ramona No. 109; W. C. McCormick, Santa Barbara No. 116; Kenneth Case, Hollywood No. 196; Joseph A. Pia, Sepulveda No. 263; Leslie Schellbach, Glendale No. 264; Orin Welch, Santa Monica Bay No. 267. Glendale Parlor's arrangements committee for the event included: Phil D. Molen (genera chairman), Clinton E. Skinner (chairman installation), Leslie Schellbach (chairman banquet), Louis G. Verdugo (chairman supplies) Leslie Henderson, Albert Boeckman, Abel R Molen, Walter Kent, Harold R. Bowen, Harvey T. Gillette, Carl Stahl and Loring Kent.—C.M.H.

ADMISSION DAY OBSERVANCE.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of Los Angeles County have organized a committee to arrange for the observance of Admission Day,

Me! . . . I always carry

TRAVELERS CHEQUES

When I was young and full of wild ideas I used to carry cash with me on my trips . . . but not any more. I don't mind taking chances when they have to be taken; but when they don't—well, I just don't take them. I got the habit a long time ago of carrying Travelers Cheques. Or, if it's to be a long trip, I get a Letter of Credit. I've found them just as convenient as cash . . . a lot safer . . . and economical. If you take the advice of a seasoned traveler, before you leave you'll drop in and change your money into Travelers Cheques at

September 9. Burrel D. Neighbours, Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., was elected chairman; Mrs. Mary Noerenberg, Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., vice-chairman; Fred J. Burmester, Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., secretary; Frank Frank, Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., treasurer.

At a meeting July 22 the committee decided to sponsor a brief program, to be followed by a dance. Clinton Skinner, Mrs. Gertrude Allen, Past Grand President John T. Newell and Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements, and they were authorized to select co-workers. The affair will be held in the ballroom of the I.O.O.F. building, Oak and Washington streets.

HAND-MADE FLAG PRESENTED.

Officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed by Deputy Rita Smith July 27, Mrs. Mattie Gara becoming president. The hall was prettily decorated and there was a large attendance of members and friends. A splendid program was presented, including an address by Sheriff William I. Traeger, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., and short talks by Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Mary Foye and Marion Parks. The swimming class is making fine progress. A letter of thanks has been sent Bert Harwell, Yosemite Valley naturalist, for courtesies extended the Parlor's delegates to the Grand Parlor. Ruth Traeger was hostess for the July 13 card party, which was well attended.

Mrs. Estelle Hard has presented the Parlor with a hand-crocheted and framed Flag of the United States of America. The gift, the work of the donor, was accompanied by a card inscribed: "Greetings to you all in honor of our country's flag, the dear old red, white and blue. This friendly greeting will convey sincere remembrances to you all. July 4, 1932." The dinner of all nations" was a wonderful success, socially, financially and gastronomically. Quite a few Olympic stars gave brief talks.

August 10, Los Angeles will have another of its popular monthly card parties; Effie Walters and Katharine Sens are the hostesses. August 4 a beach party, including swimming, will be featured.

FREE MAN, WHO KNOWS NO MASTER, WOULD SERVE AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY LOS ANGELES COUNTY

The duties of the District Attorney of Los Angeles County can be honestly discharged by none other than a free man, a man who knows no master save his determination to serve faithfully the people at large.

We are emerging from trying times. It is certainly not idle to say that this county has been over-ridden and its people fairly driven to distraction by an appalling array of white-collar crooks, special assessment district promoters, and rogues of all descriptions. The people know it, but have been powerless. These things, and more, have made to increase the already unbearable burden of taxation and destroy the value of property.

RICHARD GARVEY,
Candidate for District Attorney.

Such conditions have also injured not only those unfortunate enough to have been directly affected, but have indirectly hurt every man, woman and child in the community. If they are to be remedied, only vigilance by the District Attorney and earnest prosecution to conviction will stop the nuisance.

To examine human acts under the strict rules of law and yet make proper allowances for the weaknesses of mankind and the justice of the particular case, should be the great essential qualification of the man who holds the office of District Attorney. To avoid rash and intemperate censures and ignorant decisions which injure the reputation of citizens entitled to protection from adverse publicity before they are formally charged with guilt in manner prescribed by law, should be his other indispensable qualification.

The office of District Attorney should be conducted in a befittingly dignified manner, and at all times kept free from that grotesque and literally infernal servitude—political ambition. I shall appeal for help to those patriotic citizens who feel that they have had their fill of the present order of graft, fraud and deception that has been permitted by those charged with enforcement of the law. I shall appeal to those citizens who are wishing and hoping that they may again live in a community where faith in their representatives will give them that confidence and security in their homes which should be their birthright. The strength of the American Public is in the home. Uncertainty in vacillating and unfaithful public servants creates a feeling of insecurity in the home. Our people trust the government, and they trust the law to protect them, guard their rights, keep their schools inviolate, and their children safe.

As a member of the Native Sons, I appeal to those of Pioneer stock whose patriotism to California was born in them, and to those loyal adopted sons and daughters of California for help to destroy this ring of vultures.

My desire for this office of trust is based solely upon my wish to serve the people of this community in which I was born and raised, and to reflect honor upon the memories of those who reared me and upon that Public School wherein I was taught the glorious history and sacred traditions of my country.

WOODLAND — GRAND PRESIDENT Anna Mixon-Armstrong was tendered a reception by her home-Parlor, Woodland No. 90, on her return from the Merced Grand Parlor. President Ruth Hickey welcomed Mrs. Armstrong, and in the course of her response she expressed appreciation for the efforts put forth by the Parlor to advance her to the highest position in the gift of the Order. Miss Henrietta Toothaker sang "Dawning," and then presented Mrs. Armstrong with a huge basket of beautiful flowers. Others on the program were Maida Jean Stephens, Ross Baldwin, Frank Mixon and Stacy Armstrong. A banquet was served under the direction of Lela Ewert.

One of the first official acts of Grand President Armstrong was to present to Rowena Norton, superintendent Yolo County schools, a California State (Bear) Flag to be displayed in her office.

Youth Must Assume Leadership.

Santa Barbara—The July 5 meeting of Reina del Mar No. 126 was in honor of Grand Trustee Jane Vick. A program, arranged by Mrs. John D. Ross, Mrs. George McCrea, the president, and Supervising Deputy Anna McCaughey, included an address by Clark Kerr of the Society of Friends on "The Economic Aspects of Peace and What It Means to Youth." He said:

"The youth of the world, and particularly in our own country, must be prepared to assume leadership. Study of international economics is fundamental in this preparation. I make a plea for consideration of the future. It is up to the younger leaders, now being developed, to perfect the machinery for arbitration which is only in a rudimentary stage." A round table discussion followed the address.

Planning for Official Visit.

Oakland—Officers of Piedmont No. 87 and Piedmont No. 120 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed July 7 by Deputies Edna Healey and Elwood Fitzgerald, Mrs. Josephine Collins and Frank Patrick Smith becoming the respective presidents. Past president emblems were presented Mrs. Kathleen Dombrink and Andrew Costello by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Inside Sentinel Gam Hurst. Past Grand President Sue J. Irwin was among the visitors. Chairmen of the evening were Mrs. Edna M. Healey and Thomas J. Healey. Dancing concluded the ceremonies.

Piedmont No. 87 is making extensive plans for the official visit, the first in Alameda County, of Grand President Anna Mixon-Armstrong August 4. Chairman Edna M. Healey is being assisted by Gretta Murden, Alice Ollson, Dorothy Davis, Ella Mullen, Margaret Thomas, Augusta Huxsol, Jennie L. Jordan, Kate Ford, Grace Searing, Dorothy Hadlen, Marcella O'Connell, May Meade and Rose Martinelli.

Two Initiated.

Oroville—Gold of Ophir No. 190 initiated two candidates and installed officers July 6. Deputy Annie Skelly officiated and Rosa Crum became the president. Numerous presentations were made, including an emblematic pin to Past President Jessie Hoover and flowers to Grand Trustee Florence Boyle. Following the meeting refreshments were served on the veranda at Memorial Hall.

Gold of Ophir has recessed until September 7, at which time a program in recognition of Admission Day will be presented.

Thimble Club Recesses.

Santa Ana—Officers of Santa Ana No. 235 were installed July 25 by Deputy Eva Bemis, Mrs. Mildred Gray becoming president. The ways and means committee, headed by Mrs. Muriel Bray, is very busy with a newspaper contest. Mms. Marion Crum, Genevieve Hiskey and Matilda Lemon attended last month meetings of the Los Angeles committee that is arranging for the observance of Admission Day, September 9. No. 235 joined Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W. in a picnic at Irvine Park which proved very enjoyable and profitable. The membership drive which closed recently resulted in a tie, but both sides will serve a potluck dinner in celebration.

Santa Ana's thimble club has had sessions recently at the homes of Olive Witt, Lillian Gant, Olive Seba and Marion Crum. At the latter gathering, July 14, Mrs. Crum, the retiring president of the Parlor, was presented with a basket of flowers as a token of the club's love and appreciation. Meetings of the club will be resumed in September. Past President Mary Moore, seriously ill at Modesto, has returned to Santa Ana much improved in health. Miss Emma Hadley of Newport Beach, a member of the Parlor, recently became Mrs. Emma Crawford.

Reception for Grand Trustee.

San Rafael—There was a large attendance at the July 11 meeting of Marinita No. 198. Visitors included Deputy Delphine Todt, Mms. Walker, Gandolfo and Label, and a delegation from Fairfax No. 225. After the usual business was completed all were invited to the banquetroom by Catherine Kelly, chairman of the evening's festivities.

An informal reception was there held for Grand Trustee Ethel Begley, this being her third year on the Board of Grand Parlor Trustees. The hall was artistically decorated in bicentennial colors and huge vases of gladiolas. An immense cake was on the table at Mrs. Begley's place, and she was presented with a gift. Al visitors favored with interesting and complimen tary remarks. Tasty refreshments were served.

Order's Projects Explained.

Alturas—During the Independence Day cele bration and roundup Alturas No. 159 had charg of the parade, and the organizations to whic units were assigned gave splendid co-operation The Parlor entered a float, which was awarde first prize by the Roundup Association. Gran Vice-president Irma W. Laird was a guest speak er before the Rotary Club and explained the Or der's outstanding projects.

S. D. Evans of Roseburg, Oregon, in appreci ation for services rendered has presented th Parlor with a gavel set made of native Orego maple. During recent roadmaking activitie hereabouts some prehistoric stone weapons an implements were unearthed, and they have bee placed in the Native Daughter Museum.

Doing Creditable Work.

San Diego—San Diego No. 208 participated i the three-day Independence Day celebration her by the entrance in the July 4 parade of a ver beautiful float depicting a California flower gar den. Three of the Parlor's charming member adorned the float, Misses Floribel Barngrover Alice Damarus and Iris Kalben. A reception t the Grand Parlor delegates followed the meet ing of July 13.

The evening of July 18 Mrs. Edith Barngrove threw open her attractive home for a card part to aid the Parlor treasury. The Indian welfar committee of No. 208, under the chairmanshi of Mrs. Doris Hoffner, has been doing creditabl work, having sent out numerous donations o clothing and food.

Grand President's Official Itinerary.

Joint Installation.

Oakland—Officers of Aloha No. 106 and Ath ens No. 195 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed Jul 12. Deputies Irma Murray and Joseph Ehrhar officiated, and Thelma D. Rogers and E. L. Bul lock became the respective presidents. O Aloha's behalf, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thale presented an emblematic jewel to Past Presiden Martha Watson. Dancing followed the installa tion ceremonies, and refreshments were served

To Honor Pioneers.

Chico—Officers of Annie K. Bidwell No. 16 were installed July 12 by Deputy Anna Barnard Laura Anderson becoming president. Past Pres ident Frances Snider and Deputy Barnard were presented with gifts. Visitors included Gran Trustee Florence Boyle, Deputies Annie Skelle and Ruth Brown. Refreshments were served.

Members of the Parlor enjoyed an all-day pic nic July 10. Plans are under way for honorin the Pioneers of the community Admission Day September 9, with a bicentennial program.

President Entertains.

Fullerton—President Mattie Edwards of Grac No. 242 presided at the last business session o her year July 7. After the meeting she and he daughter entertained the Parlor members at bridge party and served a late supper at a beau tifully decorated table. President Edwards pre sented her officers with gold hand-painted sugar and-creamer sets, which she designed and paint ed, and each guest was given a pastel felt colon ial dame needlebook. On behalf of the officers Past President Nellie Cline presented Mrs. Ed wards with a large floral basket.

SEAWEED FOUND BOON TO HEALTH SEEKERS

A wealth of mineral substances essential to the health and happiness of mankind has been discovered in the lowly plants that adorn the ocean bed, is attested to by Prof. H. H. Barr, Los Angeles, Calif.

Rich in iron, iodine, calcium, phosphorus, manganese, magnesium, potassium, sulphur and 26 other important organic minerals properly proportioned by nature, seaweed brings to the body, and particularly to the tired, starved glands of the body, those vital elements that build robust health and drive out pain and disease.

That it has long been known as a food to people of far-off climes, endowing them with amazing strength, vitality and mentality, may come as surprising news to many.

It is destined to work wonders for those who are wise enough to include it in their daily diet and continue its use consistently.

At the present time (in Japan) perhaps six or seven different kinds of sea plants or seaweeds are used at a single meal. GOITRE, poor eyesight, decayed teeth, rheumatism, constipation, are unknown in Japan.

Prof. Barr, after years of research work, has discovered how to put his formula, consisting of sea plants, in tablet form. Organic minerals found in California, Japanese, Nova Scotia and Irish seaweed, has aided many who are suffering from physical exhaustion, nervousness, rheumatism, acidity, gas, indigestion, underweight, low blood pressure, anemia, kidney, stomach and bladder disorders, neuritis, low vitality, asthma, many female disorders, skin disorders, GOITRE and CONSTIPATION.

Sea-Tone tablets purify the blood stream, assist all of the glands to normal function (chiefly the thyroid, through the action of pure iodine), eliminate URIC ACID, and toxic poisons from the skin, kidneys, liver, stomach and BOWELS. Sea-Tone is a FOOD SUPPLEMENT. THEY DO NOT CONTAIN DRUGS.

Vitamins A, B, D, E are found in Prof. Barr's Sea-Tone Tablets. Vitamins must be found in the diet to enable the proper assimilation of minerals.

Send for interesting literature or mail $1 for a bottle of Sea-Tone Tablets, to Sea-Tone Laboratories, 918 Chester Williams Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif. Mail orders promptly filled.—Adv.

The newly-elected officers of the Parlor were installed July 21 by Deputy Mary Noerenberg, Lena Aspden becoming president. Visitors included a large delegation from Californiana No. 247 (Los Angeles).

Cook Book for Reward.

San Jose—Vendome No. 100 held a reception in honor of Grand Organist Clara A. Gairaud. A "stunt" program under the leadership of Mrs. Veronica Lind was thoroughly enjoyed. A banquet closed the festivities, during which Mrs. Gairaud was given a shower of gifts and flowers, the Parlor's token being a beautiful evening bag. Mrs. Gairaud is president of the Santa Clara County Music Teachers Association. Vendome is making elaborate preparations to receive Grand President Anna M. Armstrong on her official visit August 3.

Grand Organist Gairaud is sending out a challenge to any member of the Order (Vendome and San Jose Parlors excepted) to guess the initial "A" of her name. The first correct answer received by October 1 will be rewarded with one of Grand Trustee Willow Borba's 3,000-recipe "Loyalty Pledge Cook Books."

Encouraging Reports.

Santa Rosa—A joint public installation of the officers of Santa Rosa No. 217 and Santa Rosa No. 28 N.S.G.W. was held July 7, and there was a large attendance of visitors and members. No. 217 anticipates a pleasant evening August 18, when Grand President Anna M. Armstrong officially visits.

There are very encouraging reports on the "Loyalty Cook Book," sponsored by Grand Trustee Willow Borba. Members of the Order are finding ready sale for it, and they have the satisfaction of having the purchasers well pleased with their investment.

Birthday Party.

Modesto—Thirteen members who had recent birthdays were honored by Morada No. 199. The guests sat at a table adorned with beautiful boquets and a huge lighted birthday cake, and each was presented a lovely gift. With Deputy Ethel Mathiasen presiding, officers of Morada were installed July 27 jointly with those of Modesto No. 11 N.S.G.W.

Benefit Card Party.

San Bernardino—Lugonia No. 241 had as guests July 13 Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel Hansen, who gave a delightful talk, and a group from Ontario No. 251. July 19 a benefit card party was held in the home gardens of Mary Johnson, incoming first vice-president. Prizes were awarded and refreshments were served.

Successful Whist.

Mountain View—El Monte No. 205 and Mountain View No. 215 N.S.G.W. July 13 gave a joint whist party, which was very successful.

Past Presidents Doings.

Oakland—Association No. 2 entertained in honor of Frances McGovern, retiring president. An enjoyable program was followed by dainty refreshments. Many beautiful gifts were presented the honor-guest by Chairwoman Josephine Clark. At joint ceremonies July 25, officers of No. 2 and Past Presidents Assembly No. 3 N.S.G.W. were installed, Emma Haggerty becoming president of the former. C. Bartlett headed a large committee in charge of the social program, and an emblematic pin was presented Frances McGovern.

San Jose—Association No. 3 had a very happy meeting July 12, when a potluck dinner was served. The hall was beautifully decorated. Officers were installed by Miss Elsie Fisher, Mrs. Amelia Hartman becoming president.

Chico—Association No. 5 installed officers July 1 at the home of Margaret Hudspeth, Marie Picanco becoming president. Plans for the annual picnic August 5 were outlined. Mae Belle Bills and Irene Henry are in charge of arrangements. Cards followed the meeting.

In Memoriam

KITTY DAVILLA.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to again visit El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 N.D.G.W. and call to the Grand Parlor on High our beloved sister, Kitty Davilla, and whereas, our Parlor feels keenly the loss of one who, for many years, was a loyal and faithful member, therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we mourn her removal from our midst, we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

"Her work on earth is done,
In Heaven just begun.
And may she greet each one of us
At the setting of our sun."

Be it further resolved, that we extend to the bereaved husband our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, that he be sent a copy of these resolutions, that a copy be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

TIME WAS, WHEN SUMMER MEANT light colored clothes for nearly every occasion, if one hoped to look cool on a warm day. And the theory was all very lovely, but the difficulty became apparent shortly after one started out, trying to return looking enviably clean. Today, the mention of sheer white does not necessarily conjure a picture of wispy materials that fluff and billow by visions of ruffles and frills. The new fabric is something of a paradox. While it is thin and cool, it is heavy enough to tailor beautifully and trims with interesting detail.

A sheer suit, in dark color plus a bit of crisp white organdy, is most comfortable, fresh looking and cool. With the Olympics at hand, and every day crowded full, the dark sheer is a blessing undisguised. The dark light-weight ensemble meets the demand for all occasions. It has a reserve that is most becoming, especially for the larger woman. It is well known that dark colors minimize one's size.

The small checked, conventional pattern in white and blue, brown and beige, or black and white, dotted or checked, is lovely. The next time you go in search of just one costume, ask for a tailored sheer with touches of white, and wear this costume with white cotton gloves, white purse and a white hat. You will then be attired correctly for the warm days.

Prints are a little like organdies—never quite out of fashion. Attractive summer sports frocks have narrow stripes running so as to define the lines of the silhouette. Some are made of white briella, a suede-finished jersey fabric of the dull acele which follows the vogue for chalky suede finish.

Knit fabrics are being shown in piques, dropstitch effects and a variety of fancy cords. For summer golf, heather-checked costumes are made in new versions of rustic eponge in either rayon or cotton.

Woven checks are not only very modern and attractive, but practical as well. Pin pleats in the back, and large military bellows pockets are useful style features. In the front of the waist, and in the front and in the back of the skirt are more pin pleats. Self-colored belts are held by tiny buckles.

Just about the very smartest color combination for the summer months, and certainly one of the most effective, is white with touches of red. One of the most popular types is that which is not really a sports frock, nor yet for afternoon attire, but rather, one that may be worn all day.

A white crepe-de-chine of good quality is trimmed with a red shiny-leather belt, red buttons and a red kid bow. Reds that are bright and light adorn this year's most successful clothes for beach, casino and club wear. There is, of course, more red and white than any other combination.

One of the new serge weaves is slightly softer than the old-fashioned serge, yet not soft enough to be classed as a tweed. One outfit has a skirt which gets its fullness through four pleats that begin below the yoke line, a straight well-fitted jacket and a blouse of red-and-white striped crepe-de-chine. The blouse is cut along the shoulders and at the throat on the same lines as the jacket. There is a cravat scarf of white crepe, edged with the striped silk.

Cotton dresses and suits are still being favored, gingham along with the others. Cottons are more fascinating than ever. A checked gingham coat is combined with a pique dress. Clever gingham blouses accompany the tailored suit of linen. Pique is by far the most popular for active sports wear. A striped linen vest has lapels, and is buttoned down the front. This is just the thing when a change is wanted from sweaters.

It is no secret that cotton, for summer evening frocks, has proved to be altogether charming and picturesque. When it is tucked and ruffled, or when it has the utter restraint of pique, it is perfect for a summer night of gaiety. The little chiffon is likely to look quite limp beside it. From the tennis jumper to the eyelet frock and the mousseline evening gown, cotton is the word!

Thrift continues to be not only a virtue, but also a smart fashion, making the dollars go as far as possible on the road to style. One good dress may serve in place of three, by change of accessories such as coats and guimpes. Black crepe evening frocks have removable guimpes and scarfs. A smart scarf is tied at the back and, when loosened, it may be flung about the shoulders.

Today, silk is more or less common; that is, common in its universal use. But satin remains to carry on tradition. White, ivory and ice-blue satins, and those with the faintest suggestion of a rose tint are being pressed into gorgeous services, and this is just a hint which will be elaborated on later.

Of course, the summer nets, laces and organdies are still good. The lace gown is popular; that is, when the lines are long and willowy. It can be tailored and still be an evening frock, and may be worn for dinner or afternoon affairs with a little bolero with loose, short sleeves and a tie that knots carelessly in front. When the bolero is removed, you are ready for the formal affair.

It takes an expert to tell an evening dress from a pair of pajamas these days. Clothes made for sunshine and those made to shine under night lights are pretty much alike. Heavy crepes and silks are being worn at many of the hotels and clubs.

FEMININE FANCIES

Following the general trend, the lighter and less-sophisticated fabrics are used for young girls' fashions. A pale pink organidie has rayon checks in the same color. With this, several colorful accessories are worn: a bodice with trimmings of rayon flowers in shades of pink, a necklace of pink beads and shoes of pink rayon crepe-de-chine.

Collar and cuffs are made of pleated organdie, featuring an ornament in bright blue pyralin and chromium-plated metal. The belt and handbag are of the same shade of blue.

A frock for the little one, when playing at any out-of-door place, is made of yellow and white shantung, with pleated skirt and yoke of white. It has no sleeves, and a low back for comfort. An embroidered monogram adds a smart touch of decoration.

Population Grows—The Federal Census Bureau estimates the population of California, as of July 1, 1932, at 5,947,000, an increase of 269,749 since the April 1930 census. California's growth is the greatest of all the states of the nation.

State Fair—California's annual State Fair will be featured at Sacramento City, September 3-10 will be provided for dancing. Other features in the way of entertainment will be presented.

Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Dr. A. B. Mayhew, Manly Danforth and Judge Joseph Call compose a reception committee, and the following will look after the festival details: President Orin Welch, Outside Sentinel Hector Baida, First Vice-president Arthur Leonard, Arthur Giroux, Dr. Robert Eshelman, Ernest Reyes, Elden Price, Harper Ledbetter, Harry Dailey, Edward Grom, Clayton Brent, Jack Dailey, Harry Prager, Douglas McCreery, Elton Gripp, Dr. Leland Clark, Bert Bair, Secretary John Smith and Henry Levy.

FINE RECORD.

Impressive ceremonies marked the open installation of officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., July 20. The hall was decorated beautifully with large baskets of vari-colored blossoms, and with the attractive costumes of visiting officers and officers-elect the scene presented was inspiring. Deputy Mattie Edwards installed the officers, including Mrs. Milo D. Aylward as president. Reports showed that Californiana made a fine record in civic and philanthropic affairs during the term of President Gertrude Tuttle.

Organist Wilfred Chapman presented the program, which included musical and dance numbers. Honor-guests were Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Florence Dodson-Schoneman and Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen. Gifts were presented Mary Noerenberg, junior past president, and Gertrude Tuttle, retiring president, and floral offerings were presented the grand officers, President Aylward and Mrs. Charles Decker, first vice-president. Mrs. Edith Adams, hospitality chairman, and committee served cooling refreshments at the close of the evening to the company of 200, which included large delegations from Grace Parlor No. 242 (Fullerton) and Los Angeles Parlor No. 124. July 12, Mrs. Leland Atherton-Irish presented Raymond Yauqua, tenor, and Richard Cardos, pianist, in a fine program. July 26 the Parlor adjourned to September 27 for vacation. August 9, Californiana will hold "open house" for Olympic visitors, all Natives and friends.

Mrs. Ida Potts McKenzie of Californiana sponsored a delightful bridge tea at the Uplifters ranch July 9 for the benefit of the California Olympic hostess fund. She was ably assisted by her daughters, Mms. George Horgan and Paul Gilbert, and Mms. Mary Noerenberg, Adelina Waite, Josephine Stewart and Mary Skinner. Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, hostess for California, introduced Mrs. Arthur Wright, head of Olympic hostesses. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Josephine Stewart, who sang "To California," Olympic song composed by Mrs. Louise Glaeser, and Mrs. Mary Skinner. Two hundred guests were in attendance, and the function was a complete social as well as financial success.

GLENDALE EXTENDS INVITATION.

Glendale—The boxing bouts featured by Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. July 20 drew a large crowd. President Leslie Schellbach was in charge. Junior Past President Phil D. Molen wishes to thank all those who in any way cooperated with the Parlor during his term as president.

Grand President Seth Millington will be the guest of Glendale, August 9, and an invitation to all members of the Order to be present is extended. The ritual will be exemplified, and any Parlor having candidates is requested to bring them in for initiation.

CARD PARTY AT OCEAN PARK.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. is holding monthly dances at the Rendezvous; Katherine Worsham was chairman for July 22. Rosalie F. Hyde served on the committee that arranged for the dedication of the California State building in Los Angeles July 29. Eight members of the Parlor will each day during the Olympics serve at the registration headquarters. Santa Monica Bay will have a card party August 29, at which time a patchwork quilt will be disposed of.

PROFESSOR NELEH MYSTIFIES.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. has adopted the policy of one open meeting each month for the members, their families and friends. Th of July 22 was in charge of Past Presidents W ter M. Slosson and B. Rey Schauer, and tho who failed to attend missed a real treat. T program opened with a piano selection by C ganist A. Trembley of Saint Vincent church, f lowed by vocal selections by a trio. Glen Le Vitt, John Robinson and Marco Linero and an enlightening talk on "Military Preparedness" by Lieutenant John Oliver of the 97th Anti Aircraft Service.

Then came the evening's surprise. Professor C. Nelch, magician of the age, better known as Charles Hubbard Smith, a member of Ramona. He certainly mystified his audience, holding them spellbound for two hours. Most magicians specialize in some particular phase of the art, but Nelch is finished in Occidental, Oriental, Hindu and Egyptian magic, and for good measure he has other big feats. In a short time Nelch will tour the state.

George Reeves Schmidt, a son of Superior Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, was initiated into membership in Ramona July 15. Homer J. Chapelle has been made curator of the Parlor's historical relics collection at Exposition Park Museum, succeeding Charles J. Prudhomme. August 5, following the Grand President Millington meeting, Ramona will serve refreshments in the clubroom; August 12, the ritual will be exemplified; August 26, a hijinks and smoker will be featured.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Superior Judge John L. Fleming (Ramona N.S.) is a grandpa.

Ernest W. Parsons (Ramona N.S.) is visiting in Eastern states.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

JUDGE CURTIS URGES ECONOMY FOR COURTS.

Economic administration of the courts as a means of assisting the general movement to keep the costs of government within reasonable limits is urged by Municipal Judge Wilbur C. Curtis in announcing his candidacy for Judge of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Office No. 13.

Judge Curtis believes efficiency in the courts can best be obtained by every judge giving a full day's work on the bench and by speeding up trial work as much as possible. Putting this theory into practice, Judge Curtis now hears the default calendar of the Los Angeles Municipal Court in addition to his regular assignment of trial work.

Judge Curtis was elected to the Municipal Court in 1929 and from March until June of this year he served as Judge of the Superior Court by appointment of the State Judicial Council. In 1930 he was a member of the Los Angeles Crime Commission and he is widely known as the author of numerous articles on civic and court problems, some of which have had national circulation. —Advertisement

SAIDE MAE HALCOMB.

"Not in anger, not in wrath
The Reaper came that day,
'Twas an Angel visited the earth
And took the flower away"

Be comforted, ye loved ones who weep,
She lives with God, she is just asleep.

Green be her memory in the Parlor's heart.
She loved so well, through her true life's span;
Blessed be her rest who acted well her part,
Who honor'd God in doing good with all her heart.

Whereas, We the members of Ellapome Parlor No. 55 N.D.G.W., have learned with deep sorrow and regret that God has seen fit to remove from this life our dear and beloved sister, Saide Mae Halcomb. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in her removal from this earth and our midst we mourn for one who was beloved by all, be it further resolved, that we sincerely sympathize with the bereaved families on the dispensation with which it has pleased a Divine Providence to afflict them, be it further resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Parlor, that a copy of the same be presented to the bereaved families, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

And like a bell, with solemn sweet vibrations
We hear the Voice of God say "Peace"

Sweet be her rest and gentle be her sleeping,
God's way is best, she is in His keeping.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

AUGUST 1882 WAS POLITICAL CONVENTION month in California. Every county had a gathering of Republicans to name delegates to the state convention and to select nominees for county offices. The state convention, held at Sacramento City August 30, was a harmonious gathering. The adopted platform was anti-Chinese and anti-railroad, and for a fair-and-square Sunday law, but dodged the debris question. Among the nominees were M. M. Estee of San Francisco for governor, A. R. Conklin of Yolo County for lieutenant-governor and F. A. Pedlar of Yolo County for secretary of state.

The Federal Government Chinese restriction act went into effect August 1. From January 1 to that date 27,105 Chinks arrived in California and 4,141 departed for their homeland, adding 22,964 to the state's Oriental population in that period. A few more arrived after August 1 but were not allowed to land, and the influx of the undesirables practically ceased.

Although it was claimed the Coolies were displacing White men, there was a scarcity of the latter to harvest the crops, and so Sacramento Valley farmers were, in many instances, compelled to hire the Chinese. The labor-shortage trouble, however, apparently was not due to lack of White help but to an overabundance of booze emporiums.

The Stockton, San Joaquin County, "Independent" published the following: "Our city was, as is usual at this season, crowded with ranch hands on Sunday who came into town to have theit weekly drunk and spend their earnings." A farmer near Chico, Butte County, drove into that town Sunday night with his header wagon and searched out the saloon where his harvest hands were rendezvousing. He carried out seven, "two full for resistance," loaded them into the wagon and hauled them back to his farm.

Wild blackberries were growing in immense acreage in Mendocino County and bushels of them were being gathered by families, many of which came from points forty miles distant.

An artesian well bored on Washington street, San Francisco, struck at a depth of 115 feet a flow of 6,000 gallons of water an hour.

J. B. Rame, a Santa Ana, Orange County, hop-grower, sold his crop in New York City for $16,-000, and cleared $11,000.

A company was formed at Oakland, Alameda County, to manufacture belting from sheep intestines. It was turning out belting fifty-five feet long and of light weight, said to be more durable than leather.

August 10 was the hottest day recorded for several years. At Red Bluff, Tehama County, the thermometer went up to 105 degrees, and at Fresno City it mounted to 110.

Hollister, San Benito County, and adjacent towns were severely shaken by earthquake at 12:21 a. m. of August 7.

A brilliant meteor flashed across the heavens at 2 a. m. of August 9. It illuminated the Sacramento Valley as bright as day and left a tail of light behind that glowed for several minutes.

The G.A.R. of California South had a week's reunion at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County, beginning August 8. The veterans camped along the beach and paraded daily.

The state school fund was apportioned this month. There were 215,522 schoolchildren in California, and for their education $334,659 was distributed to the several counties.

The First Artillery Regiment N.G.C., consisting of companies from Sacramento City, Woodland, Yolo County, Nevada City, Nevada County, and Camptonville, Yuba County, went by steamboat to San Rafael, Marin County, August 20 for a week's encampment.

B. B. Redding, Pioneer of 1850 and secretary of state in 1862, died at San Francisco August 21 at the age of 58. He introduced several varieties of fish, including the rainbow trout, into California waters.

Ygnacio Miramontez died at Searsville, San Mateo County, August 29. He was born there in 1811 and was the owner of El Corta Rancho.

The last spike of the California Southern Railroad was driven August 15 at Colton, San Bernardino County, and the first passenger train ran that day from San Diego City to that town, where a celebration was held.

The hydraulic mines around Smartsville were shut down August 15 in compliance with an injunction issued out of the Yuba County court. They were valued at $3,000,000 and supported a population of 2,000. In twenty years, $20,-000,000 worth of gold had been washed out by these mines.

Tunneling into a mountain at the Morning Star drift mine in Iowa Hill, Placer County, an ancient river bed, 400 feet wide and of unknown length, was found. The gravel was "lousy" with gold.

The Eagle Gulch mine in Plumas County struck a seam from which was chiseled a piece of gold weighing thirteen pounds and worth $2,-700. In one day over ten thousand dollars' worth of gold was extracted from the seam.

Los Angeles was greatly excited over the report of rich placers being found in San Gabriel Canyon, and rainbow chasers were rushing through Azusa by the hundreds. Twenty-one thousand dollars' worth of gold dust was said to have been brought out and sold August 25.

The "Anti-Debris Guards," an organization of a hundred Sacramento City youths, was formed this month with Tom Fox as president and Joe Wiseman as captain. What the guards were to do was not divulged, but they were uniformed and began drilling.

The Hardy powder works near Vallejo, Solano County, exploded August 11, and Superintendent A. H. Hall, George Edgecomb and Fergus McArdle were killed.

Fires during August caused heavy losse among them: Lemoore, Kings County, ten build ings the 6th, $50,000; Suisun, Solano County hotel the 7th, $10,000; Courtland, Sacrament County, salmon cannery the 5th, $12,000; Placerville, El Dorado County, foundry the 15th $20,000; sawmill near Dutch Flat, Placer Coun ty, the 15th, $25,000; South San Francisco ca barns the 28th, $25,000; Sacramento City cracker bakery the 30th, $25,000.

Red Bluff, Tehama County, had a disastrou fire August 18, nearly all its business house and a number of residences being destroyed The loss was estimated at $500,000. The plan of the Sierra Flume and Lumber Company nea that city burned August 29, causing a $200,00 loss.

John Farrell, known as "Jack of Clubs," in fight with Charles Michel at San Francisco Au gust 21, hit him a heavy blow that broke hi neck.

Shadrick Jones, Chico, Butte County, farmer was murdered August 5 by his son-in-law, Jame Parker.

Ernest Baldwin, 5-year-old son of the treas urer of San Benito County, fell off a wagon a Hollister August 6 and was killed.

Sol Heslem and Sam Brooks got into a quarre at Columbia, Tuolumne County, August 10 an the latter was killed.

A cavein August 9 at the Moore Flat, Nevad County, hydraulic mine buried and killed fou Chinamen.

S. C. Stevens, Colusa City attorney, went t the home of Ashford Christian August 27 to col lect a fee. A fight ensued and Stevens wa kicked to death.

Wm. M. Dair, a miner, fell 350 feet down th shaft of the Red Cloud mine at Bodie, Mon County, August 15 and was killed.

NATIONAL FOREST'S NAME CHANGED.

By presidential proclamation of July 12, th California National Forest will now be known a the Mendocino National Forest. The purpose o the change of name is to avoid the confusio resulting from a national forest having the sam name as the state in which it is located. Thi national forest is located in the Coast Range i parts of six different counties.

The name Mendocino was selected as the mos euphonious as well as the most appropriate his torically because it is the oldest in the entir California coast region. Cabrillo, the Spanis explorer, named a prominent cape Mendocino i 1543 in honor of his patron, Antonio de Men doza, then governor of New Spain, now Mexico

"MARK OUR LANDMARKS"

FORGOTTEN HERO

Chester F. Gannon

(HISTORIOGRAPHER N.S.G.W.)

IN THE CITY CEMETERY AT SACRAMENTO is a grave surmounted by a ten-foot marble shaft. On one side is the chiseled face of a man, on another side is engraved, "Presented by the People of the State of California."

Despite that tribute from a young state, today that grave is forgotten, and the man whose remains lie interred therein is scarcely given a passing thought by the present generation who pass that way.

Yet, in that grave in the State Plot of former officials of the State of California, lie the remains of a hero. That hero was William I. Ferguson. At the time of his death he was a state Senator from Sacramento County. Many Decoration Days have come and gone since the interment in 1858, and the people of that generation have passed on. No friend or admirer today lays a floral offering to the memory of the man whose mortal remains have practically gone back to nature.

The very lack of them shows that no matter how noble, brave and honorable a man may have been, yet the passing years quickly submerge his personality into the unnumbered legion of dead. It is the duty of the Native Sons to keep alive the traditions of the past and the memories of those men and women who contributed so much to the glory of California's pioneer days.

There was no nobler or finer type of Pioneer than Ferguson. Born in Pennsylvania, he grew up in Illinois and became a lawyer. He filled many public offices with distinction and was a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln. In 1853 he left the City of Springfield, Illinois, and came to Sacramento and immediately became interested in politics and law. A fervid orator, he became one of the leading spokesmen against slavery and thereby incurred the wrath of the slavery party in California. The pro-slavery faction was strong, and contained many influential and reckless men. To speak one's mind in reference to slavery was almost to invite one's own death. However, Ferguson had the courage of his convictions, and spoke often and eloquently against human bondage. Another young man by the name of George Penn Johnston, likewise interested in politics, Southern born, an attorney-at-law and an advocate of slavery, quarreled with Ferguson in a saloon in San Francisco.

When one desires to quarrel with another, it is easy to attain that end. Johnston forced the quarrel over a slight jocular statement of Ferguson's. He challenged Ferguson to a duel. Angel Island, in San Francisco Bay, on August 21, 1858, was the scene and date of that so-called "field of honor."

In the exchange of shots Ferguson fell, mortally wounded, but lived for three weeks thereafter. His courage on his deathbed was an example of genuine stability and great fortitude. He forgave his antagonist and asked that his friends do likewise. One of his last requests was that his personal friend, Edward D. Baker, who had likewise come to California from Illinois, would deliver his funeral oration. This was his last request as he entered the operating room to have his leg amputated. He never spoke after the ether was applied. He died in his thirty-second year.

He had all the qualities which spell success. He was amiable, kind, intelligent, courageous. He was liked by all who knew him, and a brilliant future was assured had he lived.

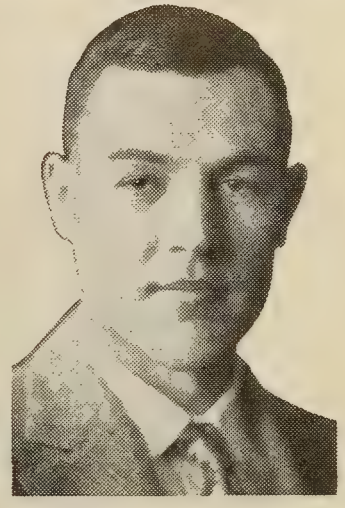
Baker delivered the eulogy over his body as it lay in the Senate Chamber at Sacramento on the 16th day of September, 1858. Then the body was interred, and the monument hereinbefore referred to was erected. It is doubtful if there is another monument in California to a public official with a similar inscription thereon. At his bier, the great Baker said:

"I have perhaps known him longer than anybody here. I have known him, more particularly in his early youth, perhaps better than any one here assembled. I have watched the bud, the blow, the fruit, and lastly the untimely decay; and while I desire to speak of him as he himself would wish to be spoken of; while I do not mean that personal friendship shall warp my judgment or lead me to say as his friend anything unduly in his praise, so also, on the other hand, shall I say nothing against him or others that is unjust or unkind . . . .

"The gentleman whose remains you are about to consign to his last resting-place until the trump of the Archangel shall sound, was a native of the State of Pennsylvania. I knew his father well; a respectable, worthy, honest man; a mechanic by pursuit, intelligent, self-reliant, and in every respect honorable. The young man was ambitious from his boyhood. He sought the profession of the law, not merely for itself, but as an opening that would lead to what he considered were higher and more noble positions . . . .

"In conclusion, I would remark that I have no words sufficient to express my own personal regret. I have lost a warm personal friend. I may find others, but I shall not be able to find friends that I have loved in other years. I shall not often find those to whom I can, as I could to him, talk of the old familiar times and the lessons I taught him in early life—of the virtues and example of his parents—of his mother's, his poor afflicted mother's affection and love—of his old contests—his old hopes, so often broken. I shall not often find friends like these, nor can the breach which death has made be so easily repaired."

Except for the grave, there is nothing in the City of Sacramento to show where this man lived for five years. There is nothing to show the building in which he died or where he had his office. No marker points out to the passerby of this age where the footsteps of Ferguson once trod.



It is our bounden duty to keep alive the memory, the virtues, the nobility of such men as William I. Ferguson. We can do it, by placing suitable markers on the spots which once knew them when they ran quick with life.

SAN FRANCISCO

THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND Native Daughters of the Golden West, and the Society of California Pioneers are working together to obtain the right to erect, atop Telegraph Hill, San Francisco, a monument to the California Pioneers. A counter plan is afoot to place there a Coit memorial shaft, using therefor funds left by the late Mrs. Coit "to beautify San Francisco." Voicing disapproval of the Coit-shaft plan, the following resolution has been adopted by the Telegraph Hill Memorial Committee: Lewis F. Byington (chairman), John T. Regan, James A. Wilson, Joseph R. Knowland, William F. Humphreys, Angelo J. Rossi, John H. Nelson, Chas. A. Koenig, William J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Evelyn I. Carlson and Mrs. Sallie R. Thaler:

"Whereas, Telegraph Hill, known as Loma Alta by the old Spanish explorers, is one of the most prominent landmarks in San Francisco and closely associated with the Spanish navigators of the Pacific Ocean, the discovery of Gold in California and the early Pioneers who were the founders and builders of San Francisco, and around it also grew up the first commercial settlement on San Francisco Bay, known as Yerba Buena; and

"Whereas, The Native Sons of the Golden West and the Society of California Pioneers were the first to suggest the erection of a monument on this splendid site, to commemorate the heroic deeds of the Pioneer Fathers and Mothers of California and their patriotic labors in bringing California into the Union; and

"Whereas, These Orders and their members were the first to subscribe funds for the erection of a monument to the Pioneers on this site, to the amount of thirty thousand dollars, and stand ready to secure additional subscriptions for a much larger amount, believing that all citizens interested in the history of California should have an opportunity of aiding in the erection of such an appropriate memorial; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the Native Sons of the Golden West and the Native Daughters of the Golden West, hereby request the members of the Park Commission and the Art Commission of San Francisco to labor to the end that any monument erected on historic Telegraph Hill shall be of such height and artistic design as shall attract the attention and the admiration of all our citizens and of all travelers who visit our shores, and that said monument shall be erected to the memory of the Pioneer Men and Women of the West and be known as the Monument to the Pioneers of California."

Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington proposes that the $30,000 already pledged by the Pioneers and Native Sons, together with the $25,000 bequest of the late Senator James D. Phelan, be included with the Coit sum to erect a suitable monument.

TO BURN HOME MORTGAGE.

At the breakfast Sunday, August 14, the Native Daughters will burn the Home mortgage, which has been paid in full. The property, at 755 Baker street, is now free of debt. Past Grand Genevieve Watson-Baker and Mrs. Jennie Greene, senior members of the Board of Relief, will act as hostesses.

The Grand Parlor Home Committee has chosen the following officers: Past Grand Dr. Mariana Bertola, chairman; Past Grand Genevieve Watson-Baker, first vice-chairman; Miss Elizabeth F. Douglas, second vice-chairman; Past Grand Emma Gruber-Foley, secretary; Mrs. Jennie Greene, treasurer, Miss Millie Testjen, assistant treasurer.

PLANNING FOR ADMISSION DAY.

Plans for the state-wide Admission Day, September 9, celebration in San Francisco under the auspices of the N.S.G.W. Extension of the Order Committee, are progressing. The Native Daughters are co-operating, and many of the local Parlors will appear in the parade in colonial costumes, in commemoration of the Washington bicentennial. The parade will be held the morning of Admission Day, and in the evening a grand ball will be held. Other entertainment features are being arranged for.

Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane, chairman Extension of the Order Committee, has appointed committees to handle the various details, the chairmen of which are: Joseph Rose (Marshall No. 202), finance; Arthur Poheim (Stanford No. 76), ways and means; Harry W. Gaetjen (Golden Gate No. 29), parade; Jesse H. Miller (Grand Trustee), Admission Day observance; Harmon D. Skillin (Grand Third Vice-president), accommodations; P. L. Schlesinger (Balboa No. 234), music; Frank Foss (Castro No. 232), publicity; Percy Marchant (Guadalupe No. 231), transportation; Ivo Monte (Stanford No. 76), grand ball; Lloyd J. Doering (N.S.G.W.) and Agnes Curry (N.D.G.W.), reception.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

Officers of Gabrielle Parlor No. 139 and Rincon Parlor No. 72 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed July 13, Carmelita Dieterichsen and Frank Sericano becoming the respective presidents. A large crowd witnessed the ceremonies, which were followed by dancing and refreshments.

Castro Parlor No. 178 observed its twenty-second institution anniversary July 6 at a banquet. The tables were decorated with flowers of bicentennial colors, red, white and yellow, and the favors were of the same hues. Supervising deputy Alice Lane and Deputy Myrtle Ross were honor-guests. After the feast the officers were installed, Ella Teeling becoming president. She was the recipient of many gifts, and Past President Mae Waring was presented with a hand-embroidered tablecloth in recognition of faithful services rendered the Parlor.

Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola has, at the invitation of the executive committee of the General Federation of Womens Clubs, become the vice-chairman of public welfare for that organization. Her work for the establishment of children's and maternity wards in county hospitals, known as the "California Plan," has been duplicated in other states and won national recognition.

NATIVE SON DOINGS.

Officers of Stanford Parlor No. 76 were installed July 9 by Deputy Robert B. Donohue, Dr. Vincent V. Hardeman becoming president. Municipal Judge George J. Steiger was master of ceremonies, and Superior Judge James G. Conlan greeted the new officers.

South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 will hold a picnic at Menlo Park, August 21.

Castro Parlor No. 232 July 5 absorbed James Lick Parlor No. 242.

Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin and family returned July 13 from a vacation trip to Alaska.

Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig and family, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and family, and Joseph Rose (Marshall No. 202) and wife have been vacationing together along the Redwood highway.

JOINT N.S. INSTALLATION.

Fort Bragg (Mendocino County)—At a joint meeting of Broderick Parlor No. 117 and Alder Glen Parlor No. 200 N.S.G.W., July 22, officers were installed by Deputy Ralph W. Todd, A. L. McCollum and Harold Bohn becoming the respective presidents. A banquet followed the ceremonies.

Alder Glen Parlor, in observance of Admission Day, will sponsor a dance September 3 and a committee has been appointed to make arrangements.

BANDIT RAID OF EARLY DAYS

(CHARLES F. EMERY.)

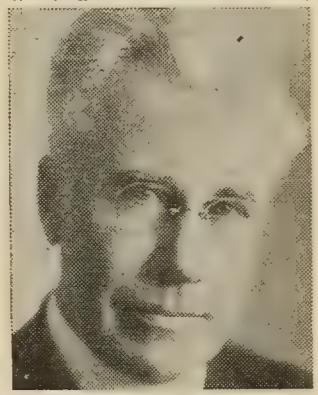
NESTLED AMONG THE OLD GRANITE mountains along and north of the Mexican border in San Diego County, is a chain of valleys named by Indians and Mexicans Jacumba, Milquatay (now Campo), Mattaquequat (now Cameron Valley), Morena (now Morena Lake), Los Alamos (now Buckman Springs Valley), La Posta, Laguna, Valle de los Pinos (Pine Valley), Cuyamaca, Quatay (now Descanso). The elevations vary from 2,000 to 6,000 feet.

Shortly after the Civil War a number of families from the Southern states, the majority from Texas, came overland, passing through the hot and dreary deserts of Arizona and New Mexico, and the Colorado Desert, now the Imperial Valley. When they arrived in the lower valleys next to the border, among the green meadows and groves of large oak trees, willows and manzanita, general settlements were established and homesteads were built on government land.

At the lower end of Milquatay Valley a little town was started by two brothers, Silas and Luman Gaskill, and named Campo. They were Western Pioneers, bear and deer hunters, and both were dead shots with firearms. Tiring of wild life, they came to Campo and started a general merchandise store, hotel, flourmill and blacksmith shop, and did a thriving business for many years.

One fine day six Mexican bandits, heavily armed, rode into the town from Mexico, prepared to rob the store and the town. Luman was the storekeeper and the millkeeper, and Silas was the blacksmith. Three of the bandits went into the store and opened fire on Luman, who fell behind the counter, shot through the upper part of a lung. The other three went into the blacksmith shop to kill Silas, but he saw them coming and dodged, receiving only a flesh wound in the arm. He immediately jumped behind the door and grabbed his old shotgun loaded with buckshot, and killed one of the bandits and wounded another.

Silas then ran across an orchard to a dwelling house to get more guns. In the meantime, all of the bandits in the store came out to shoot at Silas, firing at him as he ran to the house. It was reached safely, however, and, with his three-barreled rifle, he dropped one and wounded another bandit. The other two ran to their horses, but during the fight outside Luman had crawled out of the store and gone over to the hotel to get his rifle. As the two bandits were riding away he opened fire and hit one of them in the neck. It was reported the man was later found dead near Jacumba Valley.



News of the raid soon spread throughout the settlement, and that night a number of cowboys took the two wounded bandits and hung them to a large oak tree near the site of the new hotel. Thus ended a raid wherein two brave Americans dispatched five out of six Mexican bandits without any help.

At that time the military telegraph lines passed through Campo, from San Diego to Arizona. A young man who was stationed there was continually bragging to the cowboys about his new patented gun. But as Luman crawled under the store to get to the hotel he found the young fellow hiding there, without the gun. Luman and Silas both recovered from their wounds and lived to a ripe old age.

These valleys proved to be too cold and too frosty for farming, also too far away from the markets, so most of the early settlers sold out to the cattlemen and moved away. Now, the San Diego and Arizona railroad passes through the Campo Valley. A paved boulevard winds through the hills and valleys, and many beautiful resorts nestle among the large oaks and pines.

re banking laws, and the next to the last re enforcement of law are fine and timely. Only wish every man and woman in California and for that matter in the nation, could read your editorials, and then, if they would only think them over, what a difference in voting there would be. We are too prone to follow demagogic sayings. . . . More power to you, and more readers!"—OSCAR W. LORD, Eureka.

"Just read your fine 'growl,' 'The Sign of the Cross,' in July issue. I congratulate you. Yes, there is only one cause to which can be justly charged the depression—man's dollar godism, greed' Continue your good work."—FRED E. POTTER, Stockton.

"We are appreciative of your good advice on voting. All too often voters have gone to the polls with little thought,—but a lot of advice from doubtful friends ()—dropped in their ballots, and let it go at that. This year it may be different' Sincere best wishes for your work."—NELLIE H. DUNNING, Los Angeles.

"Was very glad to see in The Grizzly Bear for July 1932 your 'growl' referring to the initiative amendment [shifting public school support to the state] which is to be presented at the November election. This is the first definite step taken in several years for protection of the real estate tax payer. If it is favored by the voters it will, in turn spread the tax base and will result in a real and general demand for economy in governmental activities. This proposed amendment to the State Constitution, if passed, will be one of the best moves for the return of prosperity on this coast, as it will no doubt result in a building program which will, in some measure, relieve the unemployment situation."—EDWARD C. HALL, San Diego.

An example of present-day contempt for the law and the right was recently presented at Santa Cruz City. A councilman, charged with accepting a bribe, admitted the charge and offered no defense. The jury disagreed, and he was discharged. He must have known his townsmen!

"Strange that there should be a famine when there is an abundance of everything! Would it not be better," queries Philip Reilly in the "Free Press" of Oakland, "instead of stopping the growing of fruit and the plowing up of every third row of cotton and the killing of every third cow, that we eliminate every third corrupt politician and every third corrupt judge and give us instead honest men who can give this country an honest government?" Far better, by far. But why limit the eliminating to the "thirds?" Make it unanimous, and then conditions may improve.

The Federal Government's internal revenue collections fell from $2,428,228,754 for the 1930-31 fiscal year to $1,557,729,042 for the 1931-32 fiscal year. Every source of revenue showed a decreased tax yield, excepting grape brandy, and cigaret papers and tubes. And the "corner" is not yet in sight.

HILL FOLK

(LORI PETRI.)

I thought of greeting people who had sucked
The sturdy sap of pines into their veins,
Had dyed their dreams in mountain dawns, and plucked
A silver speech from lisping forest rains.
I thought to find the fair fruits of a pact
Between mankind and mountain, sire and son;
But battle was the blunt and bitter fact,
And always, everywhere, the hills had won.

The redwood roots had fattened on their flesh
Till it was withered bark on knotted boles.
The leaping streams had left a tangled mesh
Of broken drift and dark silt in their souls.
The wide-armed winds had whipped their brittle words
To earth, like shattered leaves or crumpled birds.

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

SEPTEMBER 9, 1850, MILLARD FILLmore, President of the United States of America, attached his signature to "An Act for the Admission of California into the Union," passed by the Senate and the House of Representatives during the first ession of the Thirty-first Congress, and Calirnia became one of the Sisterhood of States. nd so, Friday, September 9, 1932, will be the ghty-second anniversary of that momentous ent in the history of the State of California.

In California, the date, September 9, is known, d in the state statutes is referred to, as Adission Day. In 1888, the State Legislature deared the day one of holiday, when all public hools and all offices under state jurisdiction ust close. It is a day when, in memory of ose sturdy American Pioneers who made posble the California of today, every place of busiss should close and every building should be lorned with the Flag of the United States of merica and the California (State) Bear Flag. the history of California, Admission Day ocpies a like position to that of Independence ay in the history of these United States. It is sociated, exclusively, with the American era in e romantic and resourceful history of Califora, and not with either the Spanish or the Mexan eras. In any and every observance of the y true to history, the American Pioneers eir customs, songs and dances—alone will be atured.

Referring to the Eighteenth Amendment to e Constitution of the United States, the Presnt, in his address of acceptance of re-nominaon, said: "There has been a spread of disreect not only for this law, but for all laws, ave dangers of practical nullification of the onstitution, a degeneration in municipal govnment and an increase in subsidized crime and olence." He also said he "cannot consent to e continuation of this regime," and so, he vors giving the states the right to deal with e liquor problem, but contends there shall be return to the saloon system.

He neglected to say the "spread of disrespect" mainly the result of public officials violating eir oaths of office and openly ignoring the ighteenth Amendment, and, what is indeed sad, carefully avoided citing the manifold good ohibition has accomplished! The contention at there shall be no return of the saloon is aught but pre-election propaganda, for, when e Federal Government grants to the states the ght to regulate the liquor traffic, the states one will stipulate how, when and where liquor ay be dispensed, if at all, within their several oundaries!

The President practically expresses the opinn, therefore, that, because there "is in large ctions an increasing illegal traffic in liquor," e Federal Government should not choose to mpel respect for and compliance with the Coniitution, but that the Constitution should be nended to satisfy those who disrespect the onstitution and defy the Government. Ye ds! where is this nation drifting? Had Abram Lincoln been of that opinion, slavery would day be within the law in these United States America!

California has an enormous deficit, and so, llars are monthly rebated by state employes ceiving small paychecks and pennies by those ceiving larger ones. Yes, sir! To be consisnt and help clear away the red, every departent operates at a minimum of expense; in fact, penurious. And how! As proof, here's the st-sheet of furnishings for the executive offices the state building just recently opened in Los ngeles. The data, from the office of the state ntroller, was accompanied by this notation: Pursuant to your letter of August 5th I am enosing herewith such items of expense as are roperly to be allocated to the furnishing and uipment of the Governor's Office in the State uilding at Los Angeles."

One 18x32 Oriental rug, $1,615; 3 pairs blue lvet drapes, $325; Georgian walnut desk, 50; Georgian walnut swivel chair (upholered in silk and velvet), $170; two arm chairs ame), $306; oak hand-carved cabinet, $200; ecial oak hand-carved flagholder, $85; hand-carved walnut table, $132, waste basket, $17, solid walnut secretary's chair (silk and velvet upholstered), $22 75; walnut arm chair (same), $192.60; wall cabinet serving table, $51 40, davenport (down back and cushions), $192 80, club chair (same), $94 40; coffee table, $35; porcelain enamel refrigerator, $150 Total, a mere $4,138.95.

California paid the bill, of course, from tax funds. Commendably conservative, is it not, considering that the treasury is in the red and that thousands of citizens are unable to pay their taxes! Oh, yes, there's the bathroom, also, attached to those executive offices. The partitions and the plumbing just had to be changed, and suitable knickknacks had to be installed. While the state controller could give no definite figures, other reliable sources report this "extra" cost the taxpayers an additional small sum—$4,350.

Arthur Evans, writing from Kansas City, Missouri, to the San Francisco "Chronicle" anent investigation of the Federal Farm Board by a congressional committee, said: "As to farm relief, it appeared from the evidence that the farmer has been relieved of nearly everything but his shirt." That was written July 25. By now, the dirt-farmer should have been successfully separated from his shirt.

According to the Federal Census Director, the 1930 census showed California had 251,252 homemakers gainfully employed away from home. A homemaker is defined as that woman member of the family who is responsible for the care of the home and family. Does not that lamentable record account, in no small measure, for the constantly increasing number of divorces and juvenile delinquents, and the decreasing number of small-home owners and births? And, too, there is no denying the fact that those gainfully-employed homemakers keep thousands of able-bodied men, anxious to work, out of employment.

Once Yerba Buena Cove
A city built of tents
In forty-eight
A wind-blown mass of canvas huts
Conglomerate.
Quite lost in fog and sand
Yet fluttering with hope
And mad desire—
A cactus budding into bloom!
Thorny attire.

Chaparral, sage-brush
A wilderness of hills
Dense fogs at night
Queer sounds of foreign emigrants
In wretched plight.
Amazing, tattered town
Where conquering youth had come
With stoic eye
To work or scheme for glorious gold
In camps near by.

Commanding was the site
A natural harbor there
For ships to freight
Six hundred vessels that first year
Through Golden Gate.
Saloons, resorts, black crime
Grew with the shabby tents
A hideous dream
Until the Vigilantes formed
And held supreme.

Advancing with the years
Strong rock replaced the tents
Quite permanent
Important industries grew
And government.
Today metropolis
Surprising, beautiful stands
All bathed in light
The cactus flower is in full bloom
Tis man's delight.

(This contribution to The Grizzly Bear is from Betty L. Whitsell of Burlingame, San Mateo County.)

American rubber shoe manufacturers are howling because the Japs are dumping rubber shoes in this country at a price less than the cost of production here—and of course, they too want protection from the Federal Government. For more, more power to the Japs!

The manufacturers of this nation have, as a rule, opposed California every inch of the way in its campaign against the Japs. When their pocketbooks are affected, however, the yellow film is removed from their eyes. Eventually this nation will have a belly full—not a full dinner pail—of Japs, and the sooner the better.

The Governor of New York, writing recently in a magazine, criticises the President of the United States because the American public have been fleeced out of billions of dollars, and says: "These three forms of scandalously unsound speculation [watered stocks, unsound foreign loans, fake investments] could and should have been instantly suppressed by straightforward comment from Washington."

Most of the scandalously unsound speculation originates in New York State, where the financial highboys habitat and have their offices. Has Albany done anything to suppress the speculation or to control the operators? Criticism of the national by the Empire State administration is, in this instance and under existing conditions, a case of the pot calling the kettle black!

Charged with participation in a lottery, several officials of a nation-wide fraternal order have been indicted. The complained-of racket has been in unhindered operation for many moons, and it has been carried on through the United States mails.

How come the Government just now has discovered its operation, and why were the officials of another nation-wide fraternal order, which just recently most successfully conducted a similar lottery, not included in the indictment?

During the first six months of this year, there were 808 bank suspensions, involving a total of $524,354,000 in deposits, in the United States. In Canada, there was one bank failure in 1923, and none since. Draw your own conclusions.

The soldier-bonus agitation is waxing quite warm, and it appears the facts are ignored by those demanding immediate payment. In 1924, the Federal Congress authorized the issuance to World War veterans of adjusted service or "bonus" certificates, dated January 1, 1925, and payable January 1, 1945, or at death of the holder.

The demand for payment now, is being made twelve-and-more years before the certificates mature. And demand is made also that payment be on the basis of the face value, rather than the present value, of the certificates. The demand is unjust and unreasonable.

The revival of gold mining in California by jobless prospectors has made a new demand upon the Federal Power Commission, says a statement issued by the commission August 7. Placer deposits along the rivers in the old Gold Belt commonly come within the boundaries of power-site reservations, which makes action by the commission a necessary preliminary to the granting of mineral location or entry by the General Land Office.

Inasmuch as generally the use of the withdrawn land for power development cannot be expected in the near-future, and the proposed mining of these gold-bearing gravels is planned for the present season, there is no conflict between the two uses. On this basis, the commission can make a finding that will permit the gold-mining operation to begin without delay with full protection of the future value of the same area for power development.

An area of 620 acres of placer lands was thus recently restored to mineral entry by the commission, and another 110 acres will be acted upon this month. The localities mentioned in the orders restoring these lands to mineral entry—Yuba River and American River—bring to mind the stories of pioneer mining days.

Under the terms of the emergency relief and regular appropriation bills passed by the last Federal Congress, $3,584,615 will be spent during the 1932-33 fiscal year in the national forests of California for the construction and improvement of forest highways, roads, trails, bridges and fire prevention projects, according to report of S. B. Show, chief of the California Region, United States Forest Service. This is the largest sum ever received in one year by the local forest service for such work, and will furnish employment for large numbers of men.

"The United States Forest Service," says Show, "welcomes the opportunity to give sub-

CALIFORNIA'S STATE FAIR

THE $10,000,000 CALIFORNIA STATE Fair show, opening in Sacramento City September 3 and continuing through the 10th, with its fifteen centers of interest will surpass in interest any three-ring circus that ever appeared, according to Secretary-Manager Charles W. Paine, who announces that more than half the counties of the state will exhibit their products. Last year 350,000 passed through the turnstiles, an all-time record for the eight-day show, and this year's mark is expected to exceed even that record.

Directors of the fourteen departments report entries in larger number than ever before. The displays of livestock, horticultural and agricultural products will be of high class this year because of the banner year on the farms.

The national classic, the California horse show, heads the list of entertainment features in many ways. Thousands annually jam the huge arena each evening to see the thoroughbreds go through their paces and strive to carry off prizes aggregating $22,240.

The main Horticultural Building will house the county exhibits and many commercial displays. Ten counties will be awarded trophies for the best county and feature exhibits, and Director D. Eyman Huff of Orange, in charge of this department, believes the class this year will be of such excellence as to exceed those of previous years.

Twenty-five thousand square feet of floor space will be devoted to displays of farm equipment, implements and machinery, housed in the modern Machinery Building. Thomas E. Anderson of Calexico is director in charge.

Educational exhibits and displays will be entered by pupils from 1,000 California schools, and Director Ellis Franklin of Colfax predicts that the class of work shown by the youngsters will be higher than ever.

The best horse racing in twenty-five years is forecast by Manager Paine, a veteran fair official, with harness and running horses competing each afternoon for purses aggregating $34,000. There will be thirty-nine races, with two added stake races.

California artists will exhibit their paintings and drawings in the Womens Building for prizes totaling $1,350. These exhibits will be by invitation only. Housewives will be interested in the domestic arts and science displays, for which hundreds of prizes are offered. These will consist of articles made on the sewing machine, embroidery and kindred displays, and food.

Showing last year for the first time in the new building, the poultry and rabbit show, directed by Harold J. McCurry of Sacramento, scored one of the biggest successes. Satisfaction with the new, well-lighted quarters was so pronounced that he expects the show quarters to be overcrowded at this year's exposition.

An opportunity to view $2,000,000 worth of livestock at a glance, in a vista through the new Livestock Pavilions, will be afforded the visitors. Blooded horses and cattle, sheep and swine always attract major attention at the State Fair. Premiums and prizes for this department total nearly $40,000. Fred H. Bixby of Long Beach is director in charge.

The Sacramento Valley Retail Grocers Association has taken 15,000 square feet of space to display food products of the state and the valley. Everything which enters into the production and manufacture of food will be shown in this department.

Spectacular circus acts and features have been engaged by Secretary Paine and will be shown in front of the grandstand every afternoon and evening. Each evening, also, there will be a display of fireworks, many set pieces carrying out the idea of the Washington bicentennial. Concerts, dancing and vaudeville, in addition to "Midway" attractions, provide an extensive amusement program.

Boxing bouts, wrestling matches and a "rolleo" will add to the fun for those who enjoy sports of an athletic nature. The "rolleo" is a new feature this year and consists of log-rolling contests and stunts on wood balls and blocks in a huge plunge in front of the grandstand. Pete Hooper and Sam Harris, world champions, will challenge allcomers in log-rolling contests.

A huge farmer's picnic, to which Will Rogers has been invited as the special guest of Governor James Rolph, is expected to draw 50,000 farmers and their lunch baskets of fried chicken.

Popular features again this year will be the spelling contests for elementary and high school students and adults. The winner of the latter contest, which is open to all, will be eligible to contest in the national contest at the Chicago world's fair in 1933.

A contest for the honor of representing California at the Chicago fair as "Miss California" will be staged. The event is open to any girl or woman in California who has sufficient knowledge of the state, and the attractive personality necessary to successfully meet the public as California's official representative. Entries should visit their local chamber of commerce or grange, or write direct to Miss California Committee, State Fair Grounds, Sacramento, California.

INTERESTED IN STATE'S YOUTH

PETER T. CONMY

(Chairman N.S.G.W. Education Committee.)

AT THE 1932 GRAND PARLOR OF THE Order of Native Sons of the Golden West legislation was enacted committing the organization to an interest in public education in California. For many years back the National Education Association has been holding an annual observance of education, the second week of November, and asking patriotic and fraternal societies to hold suitable programs. In response to that movement Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 of San Francisco last year sponsored a program of education. Encouraged by the response, the Parlor's delegates presented two resolutions to the Grand Parlor and both were accepted. One endorsed the observance of National Education Week, and the other provided for establishment of a Grand Parlor Committee on Education, the duties of which are to encourage and supervise the holding of education week programs by Subordinate Parlors, to study educational affairs in the state and to report to the Grand Parlor on the state of public education in California.

The Order of Native Sons of the Golden West was founded to perpetuate the history and the traditions of the Pioneers; to remind future generations of the valor and virtue of the men and the women of long ago; to promote patriotism, love of country and good citizenship. An order with the broad foundation of the Native Sons, a society that is so linked with the destiny of California, must of its very nature be interested in the youth of the state. The schoolboy of today will be the applicant for admission to the fraternity tomorrow. More important than that, the child of today will be the citizen of tomorrow. Citizenship depends on training, and on guidance. In the days of our fathers, training and guidance were given in abundance in the homes, planted in all corners of the state by the Pioneers.

Today, the breakdown of the home,—especially in the cities, where there are numerous distractions interfering with the training that children should receive from their parents,—leaves thousands of the younger generation with no source of wholesome guidance, save that which they receive in school. The school is no longer an institution where the "three Rs" are taught. It has transcended the aims and the purposes of the "little red schoolhouse." It is today an institution entrusted with the imparting of the rudiments of knowledge, with the training of good citizenship, and with the stimulation of morality. To thousands of children, it takes the place of the old-fashioned home. Although lamentable, it is none the less true, that thousands of boys and girls who come from broken homes receive their only thought of higher things in the school.

For all of these reasons, the school of today is a tremendously important institution. It is an institution that, like the Order of Native Sons, is very closely linked to the welfare of California. We who guard California's past are also interested in her future, and therefore the Grand Parlor is attempting to direct the minds of the brethren toward solicitation for the welfare of the schools. Until the home is re-established upon a secure footing, we must look to the school as the leading social institution.

Today, the schools of California are facing a crisis. On the one hand, they are being asked to extend their activities, to do more and more for the people. On the other hand, there are those who begrudge them sufficiency of money to meet ever-increasing costs. There are also those who are fostering the expansion of the school, and those who would restrict its operations to the three fundamental subjects, reading, writing and arithmetic. There are those who would remove children with criminal tendencies, and those who believe that it would be better to let these misfits remain among the other children, to outgrow their viciousnes There are many conflicting opinions about t control and the management of our schools which we, as Native Sons of the Golden We and guardians of California's historic destin should be greatly interested.

To this end and purpose, the Grand Parl Committee on Education [Peter T. Conm Charles R. Boden, A. J. Cloud, George F. M Noble and Henry G. Bodkin] asks all Subord nate Parlors to hold, during the second week November, a celebration in honor of Nation Education Week. It is suggested that they e list the co-operation of the local Native Daug ter Parlor, and that they secure, as far as th are able to do so, musical talent from the schoo themselves. The committee will gladly furni information as to the type of speaker suitab to the occasion. It asks all members of t Order to lend their hearty co-operation to th movement for the welfare of the public school the boys and the girls of California.

DEDICATION SANTA BARBARA JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL MEMORABLE OCCASIO

Santa Barbara—Under the auspices of San Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W., the officers the Grand Parlor dedicated September 19 th city's splendid new junior high school. An e cellent program, arranged by the Parlor's dec cation committee, District Deputy A. C. Din more and Clifford F. Rizor, was presented the commodious school auditorium, which w filled to capacity. Officers and members of San Barbara and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 1 N.D.G.W. were present in force, and acted as reception committee. Seated upon the platfor were men and women prominently identifi with the civic and fraternal life of California Queen City.

C. Wesley McCormick, president Santa Ba bara Parlor, presided, and the program includ an invocation by Rev. Tom B. Clark; vocal sele tions by the B.P.O.E. SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO INVITES YOU

SAN FRANCISCO'S NATIVE SONS AND Native Daughters, aided by the citizens generally, have arranged an elaborate program for the statewide Admission Day Fiesta, Friday, September 9, in celebration of the eighty-second anniversary of California's admittance to the Union. The arrangements have been made by a committee officered by the following: Joseph J. McShane, general chairman; Lloyd J. Doering and Mrs. Agnes Curry, vice-chairmen; Harold J. Regan, secretary; Catharine H. Dolly, assistant secretary; Chas. A. Koenig, treasurer; Virgil Orengo, sergeant-at-arms. Honorary chairmen include Angelo J. Rossi, Mayor of San Francisco; Seth Millington, Grand President N.S.G.W., and Mrs. Anna Mixon Armstrongo, Grand President N.D.G.W. San Francisco invites you to join in the festivities.

THE PROGRAM.

The main event on the program is the Admission Day parade, at 10:30 a. m., detailed otherwheres in this number of The Grizzly Bear. Grandstands along the line of march provide 18,000 reserved seats, selling at fifty cents each. Reservations may be made at the office of the Grand Secretary N.S.G.W., 414 Mason street.

At 2 p.m., the $5,000,000 War Memorial Building, Van Ness avenue and Fulton street, will be dedicated by the San Francisco War Memorial Trustees.

At 8 p.m., a grand ball and pageant, free to all, will be held in the Civic Auditorium. During the first hour of the evening a fashion show and girl review will be featured.

JOSEPH J. McSHANE, Grand Trustee N.S.G.W., Chairman Admission Day Committee

To arouse interest in Admission Day and California history, Lewis F. Byington, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., has been broadcasting weekly, over NBC stations, a series of talks on "Romantic California." The evening of September 8, a script of California's history, interspersed with appropriate vocal and instrumental music, will be broadcast over the same stations.

"OPEN HOUSE" HOSPITALITY.

The evening of September 8 and throughout the afternoon and evening of Admission Day, Native Son and Native Daughter Parlors will maintain headquarters where dancing and entertainment will prevail for the enjoyment of all. One of the chief delights of an Admission Day celebration is to visit these "open houses," where true California hospitality holds sway. The list of headquarters follows:

Alameda County N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Parlors—Knights Columbus Hall, 150 Golden Gate avenue.

California Parlor No. 1 N.S.G.W.—Native Sons Building, 414 Mason street.

Pacific Parlor No. 10 N.S.G.W.—Bellevue Hotel, Geary and Taylor streets.

Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 N.S.G.W.—Scottish Rite Hall, Van Ness avenue and Sutter street.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

ADMISSION DAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1882, the thirty-second anniversary of California's admittance to statehood, was declared by proclamation of Governor George C. Perkins a legal holiday, and observed generally as such. At Sacramento City, the Society of California Pioneers and Sacramento Parlor No. 3 N.S.G.W. had a joint picnic at which I. N. Hoag of the Pioneers and Charles N. Post of the Natives delivered addresses, and Ed. F. Cohn and his Golden West quartet sang.

The San Francisco Society of California Pioneers had a picnic-barbecue, with orations and dancing, at San Rafael, Marin County. The Native Son Parlors of San Francisco and Alameda County joined forces at a largely attended picnic in Scheutzen Park, Alameda. M. A. Dorn was the orator. A number of minor celebrations were held in other places by Pioneers and Natives.

September was a political cleanup month, parties which had not completed nominations for county offices, and citizens whose isms had not been satisfactorily considered by the two dominant parties, holding conventions. The Greenbackers and the Prohibitionists met in San Francisco and put in the field state tickets headed, respectively, by T. J. McQuiddy of Mussel Slough fame and Dr. R. H. McDonald of "vinegar bitters" fame for governor. The farmers of the lowlands, incensed because neither of the major parties even mentioned "slickens" in their platforms, called a state convention, but the net results of the four-day gabfest were an anti-debris resolution and a $2.50 assessment levied on each of the many who attended.

The Republicans of San Francisco split, and each faction, one dubbed the "Duffers" and the other the "Bluffers," held a municipal convention. J. B. Campbell, Republican nominee for Sierra County sheriff, while on his campaign tour got into an argument at Randolph with Citizen Stubbs who, to terminate the words-battle, drew a pistol and killed Campbell. Wm. Whadden, Republican candidate for Alameda County sheriff, died suddenly September 10.

The annual California State Fair opened at Sacramento City September 11. Racing was the main attraction. Rain fell the fifth day of the exposition and reduced the attendance. The receipts were $17,097. The fair drew to the Capital City so many touts, gamblers, etc., who expected to make dishonest dollars, that the police force of a dozen men gave up the effort to have a "closed town," and vice was first endured and then embraced.

Other September fairs, all well attended and successful, were: Sonoma County, at Petaluma, 1st; Northern District, at Chico, Butte County, 4th; Golden Gate, at Oakland, Alameda County, 4th; San Joaquin Valley, at Stockton, 19th; Plumas County, at Greenville, 19th; Lake County, at Lakeport, 27th.

The 135,000-acre Foster rancho in south Los Angeles County and north San Diego County was bought by Daniel Murphy and O. Livermore of Santa Clara County for $500,000.

Fourteen steamboats were plying the Sacramento River, hauling the wheat crop to Port Costa, Contra Costa County; they handled an average of 100,000 sacks a week. Dr. Glenn harvested 400,000 centals of wheat valued at $640,000 on his Colusa County domain.

Statistics showed there were forty-four distilleries in Los Angeles County handling grapes. They made 200,000 gallons of brandy annually and paid a tax of $190,000 to the Federal Government.

Philander Bell, San Diego County homesteader, in his affidavit before the land commissioner stated he was the father of thirty-two children. Although a widower, he was willing to again marry and increase his brood.

The first was the hottest September day on record—140 degrees in the sun of the valleys. The first rain of the season came September 15, the precipitation being .61 of an inch.

Samuel Hoover, Cosumnes River rancher, September 8 drove through the streets of Sacramento City with his crop of hops loaded upon four wagons drawn by twelve belled mules. Atop the bales of each wagon was a ten-gallon keg of beer, and above that the Flag of the United States of America. He had sold his 30,000 pounds of hops at fifty cents per pound and was more than $10,000 ahead on the venture.

A boom in mining stocks started suddenly September 1 in California street, San Francisco, and the list advanced more than a hundred percent for several days. Finally the inevitable break came, and the rainbow chasers were sad.

The gold mining excitement in San Gabriel Canyon, Los Angeles County, continued and the influx of prospectors increased.

The committee to select the site for a state-owned soldiers home reported a 900-acre tract of land about nine miles from Napa City had been secured.

A lone highwayman September 17 held up the stage from Oregon State near Redding, Shasta County. He carried away three sacks of U.S. mail.

Mrs. Yuidora Forster, a sister of Pio Pico, former governor, died at Los Angeles City September 18, aged 71.

Lee On Law, grand master of California Chinese Masons, died September 16 at San Francisco. His funeral procession, over two miles in length and headed by a sixty-piece brass band was viewed by thousands as it passed up Market street.

William Clark, a Scotchman and pioneer Nevada County miner, was found dead near Yo Bet. In 1849 he set out afoot from Pike County, Missouri, trundling a wheelbarrow, which contained his effects. It took him two years t make the trip to California, and it is said h walked every inch of the way.

September was another month of disastrou fires. Great losses resulted from forest an brush blazes in Sacramento, Siskiyou, San Mateo Lake and Alameda Counties. Other conflagrations, with monetary losses, included:

Red Bluff, Tehama County, several stores an residences, $20,000; Chico, Butte County, hote and several houses, $50,000; Port Costa, Contr Costa County, tannery, $15,000; Merced City hotel and several houses, $20,000; Columbia Tuolumne County, Chinese theater and othe buildings, $10,000; Clipper Gap, Placer County smelting works, $150,000; San Francisco, sev eral buildings, $110,000; Sacramento City, Chi natown structures, $20,000; Susanville, Lasse County, fifty-seven buildings, $200,000; Gridley Butte County, seven buildings, $10,000.

A. J. Hughett came to California in February located in Farmington, San Joaquin County, an then sent for his fiancee, Miss Sarah Kelly, t come from Montgomery County, Missouri, an become his wife. She arrived at Sacrament City September 19 and was met at the depot b Hughett, who insisted they go to Farmington fo the ceremony, but she insisted it be performe there and then. The dispute continued unti Miss Kelly hired a hack, drove to the cour house to procure a marriage license, and re turned with a peace justice. She then hustle A. J. into the depot waitingroom and, in th presence of a gaping crowd of idlers, the kno was tied.

Derailment of a South Coast railroad trai near San Leandro, Alameda County, Septembe 11 took the lives of Fireman Driscoll and Brake man Daley.

Claude Raus, 12 years of age, was Septembe 11 dragged to his death through the streets o Santa Barbara City by a runaway horse.

Ten-year-old Ira Wilder was killed near Gras Valley, Nevada County, September 28 by th accidental discharge of a shotgun.

Assistant Fire Chief Wm. Brady of San Fran cisco was killed September 20 while driving t a fire.

At Tehachapi, Kern County, Wm. Fickert en tered the store of Henry Pauli September 30 t buy a pair of boots. Not liking the quality offered, he killed Pauli.

James W. Sharon, a prospector, started t hike across the desert from Calico, San Bernar dino County, to Kern County, September 20. A few days later his body was found, he having perished from thirst.

Robert Patterson, 9 years of age, Septembe 26 fell 200 feet down Telegraph Hill, San Fran cisco, and was killed.

W. L. Williams, a '49er formerly of Marys ville, Yuba County, but now a San Diego City businessman, was accidentally killed in his flour mill there September 27.

A SECOND MESSAGE TO GARCIA

Chester F. Gannon

(HISTORIOGRAPHER N.S.G.W.)

ELBERT HUBBARD IMMORTALIZED Lieutenant Rowan's exploit in the Spanish-American War when the lieutenant carried a message to General Garcia of the Cuban forces. Had no literary man like Elbert Hubbard taken note of the exploit and publicised it by an article entitled "A Message to Garcia," Rowan's feat would have merely been one of many performed by Americans in the Spanish-American War.

It was similar literary publicity which immortalized the fighting ability and valor of the Marines in the World War. Their exploits were given publicity by competent literary men. Infantry organizations, which accomplished just as much in the way of service and valor, are practically unknown today to the American people. All on account of a lack of publicity.

There was no publicity man in California in the year 1846. Therefore a performance equal, even superior, to that of Lieutenant Rowan appears to have passed unnoticed through the passing years. In the case of Rowan, whether or not he had found Garcia, perhaps would have made little difference in history.

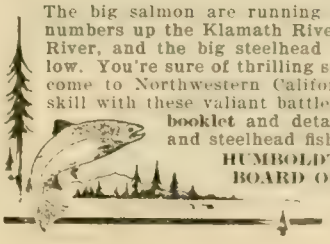
However, the case the writer wishes to call attention to was that of the exploit in 1846 of Lieutenant Archibald Gillespie of the Marine Corps. This young naval officer left Monterey to deliver a message to John C. Fremont "somewhere in the Sacramento Valley." Gillespie had never been in the West before. He had only a vague idea that Fremont was somewhere in the broad Sacramento Valley. His was a mission from the War Department at Washington to deliver a message to Fremont "somewhere in the Sacramento Valley."

With this scant information he set out in an unknown country beset by known and unknown dangers to deliver messages to Fremont. In addition to the written communication Gillespie carried, he had memorized verbal instructions to Fremont, and in substance and effect the verbal instructions were these:

"The time has come. England must not get a foothold. We must be first. Act discreetly but positively." In other words, Fremont was given semi-official instructions to seize California for the United States—if the opportunity presented itself. Not being at war with Mexico, official Washington did not want to commit an overt act with that country, and adroitly hit upon the scheme of having Fremont return to Sacramento, watch, and await developments.

This he did. The rest is history, but standing out in the background of that historical event is the exploit of this young marine officer, traveling his lonely way from Monterey up into Oregon and finding the object of his search, Captain John C. Fremont. Let Fremont, in his own biography, relate the circumstances of Gillespie's entrance into his camp:

"How fate pursues a man! Thinking and ruminating over these things, I was standing alone by my camp-fire, enjoying its warmth, for the night air of early spring is chill under the shadows of the high mountains. Suddenly my ear caught the faint sound of horses' feet, and while I was watching and listening as the sounds, so strange hereabout, came nearer, there emerged from the darkness—into the circle of the firelight—two horsemen, riding slowly as though horse and man were fatigued by long traveling. In the foremost I recognized the familiar face of Neal, with a companion whom I also knew. They had ridden nearly a hundred miles in the last two days, having been sent forward by a United States officer who was on my trail with despatches for me; but Neal doubted if he would get through. After their horses had been turned into the band and they were seated by my fire, refreshing themselves with good coffee while more solid food was being prepared, Neal told me his story. The officer who was trying to overtake me was named Gillespie. He had been sent to California by the Government and had letters for delivery to me. Neal knew the great danger from Indians in this country, and his party becoming alarmed and my trail being fresh, Mr. Gillespie had sent forward Neal and Sigler upon their best horses to overtake me and inform me of his situation. They had left him on the morning of the day before, and in the two days had ridden nearly a hundred miles, and this last day had severely tried the strength of their horses. When they parted from him they had not reached the lake, and for greater safety had not kept my trail quite to the outlet, but crossed to the right bank of the river, striking my trail again on the lake shore. They had discovered Indians on my trail after they had left Gillespie, and on the upper part of the lake the Indians had tried to cut them off, and they had escaped only by the speed and strength of their horses, which Neal had brought from his own rancho. He said that in his opinion I could not reach Gillespie in time to save him, as he had with him only three men and was traveling slow." Early the next morning, Gillespie came through in safety with his important messages.



Lieutenant Archibald Gillespie can rightfully claim a place in California history. He kept the faith. He ran the course. He performed his mission.

Has any recognition ever been accorded this young officer? As far as the writer knows, his name is historically unrecorded. A monument might well have been erected near Klamath Lake, Oregon, where Fremont and Gillespie met, for there history was made. Had Gillespie not reached Fremont, he, Fremont, who was then on his way into Oregon, would undoubtedly have proceeded on eastward to Washington, and what fate would have befallen California only conjecture can touch. The name of Gillespie is another pioneer name which should be saved to California history by a monument or similar recognition.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

"THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR MEMBERSHIP"

SETH MILLINGTON OF GRIDLEY, BUTTE County, Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, spent several days in Los Angeles last month talking over affairs of the Order with members in the southland interested in its welfare. The initial gathering was in the nature of a reception, under the auspices of Ramona Parlor No. 109, Friday, August 5.

The Grand President outlined his plans for the Order's advancement. They include, among others, a new ritual, and removal from the governing laws of obstacles which keep out a vast number who desire to be in. He believes the founders intended the Order should be a history society, and he favors its operation as such. He stressed the undeniable assertion, "There is no substitute for membership!" His forceful address won hearty applause, and approval of his suggestions was voiced by Past Grand President John T. Newell, Senator R. F. DelValle, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, William J. Hunsaker, Frank Adams and other speakers. Among the large number in attendance were Past Grand President William I. Traeger, Grand Organist Leslie Maloche, District Deputies Albert Cron, Walter Baskerville, Edwin Baldwin, Howard Bentley and Walter Hiskey, Grand Outside Sentinel William I. Reuter and Chairman Burrel D. Neighbours of the Grand Parlor Ritual Committee.

Saturday, Grand President Millington was guest at a luncheon. An unusual gathering, in that representatives were there from every southland Parlor—Santa Barbara No. 116, Los Angeles No. 45, Ramona No. 109, Hollywood No. 196, Sepulveda No. 263, Glendale No. 264, Long Beach No. 239, Santa Monica Bay No. 267, Santa Ana No. 265, Arrowhead No. 110 and San Diego No. 208. A wonderful opportunity for constructive discussion! The following day he was honor-guest of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 at a California barbecue.

Monday, the Grand President visited Hollywood Parlor No. 196. Several candidates were initiated. Henry G. Bodkin welcomed him, and there were brief addresses by Bernard G. Hiss, Municipal Judge Leo I. Aggeler, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer and others. The following night Glendale No. 264 was visited, and the Grand President spoke most interestingly on California history. The ritual was impressively exemplified by Glendale's officers, and there was a general discussion of various matters.

As a result of Grand President Millington's visit, the Los Angeles County Native Sons have organized for a membership campaign. Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer is the executive head Clinton E. Skinner has been engaged as fieldman, and may be reached by phoning VAndike 6891. The plan is to stage a monster class initiation and demonstration December 3. It is necessary, in order to achieve desired results, that the membership of the Parlors be at least doubled. And it can be done, if every member will, as he should, co-operate, for a more fertile field in which to cultivate Native Sonism nowhere exists. There are thousands upon thousands of most desirable eligibles, waiting for an invitation to affiliate. Every Native Son should be an invitation bearer!

SETH MILLINGTON,
Grand President N.S.G.W.

Remember, "There is no substitute for membership." Enroll now, Native Sons, in this campaign, for the good of the Order and the glory of California!—C.M.H.

ADMISSION DAY OBSERVANCE.

Admission Day, September 9, will be observed locally with a dance, under the auspices of the Native Sons and Native Daughters, in the Chateau ballroom of I.O.O.F. building, Oak and Washington streets. While admission will be by invitation, all Natives, their families and friends will be welcome. Good music has been provided for, and a program in keeping with the occasion will be presented during the dance intermission.

Mrs. Gertrude Allen, Past Grand President John T. Newell, Clinton E. Skinner and Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer constitute the committee of arrangements. Invitations of admission may be procured from the secretary of any Native Son or Native Daughter Parlor.

ATTRACTIVE SOCIAL CALENDAR.

Miss Margaret Search gave a splendid talk on "Social Welfare" at the August 17 meeting of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. Deputy Rita Smith was among the many visitors. Dolores Malin, in charge of history and landmarks for the Parlor, is doing fine work. The swimming club, headed by Irene Eden, meets every Monday evening. The sewing club met August 23 at the home of Mrs. D. Vuccovich. The beach party of August 24, staged in Santa Monica Canyon, was a wonderful success. Jennie Raymond, Irene Eden and Peggy Ambler were "mermaids" at the Olympic pool dedication. President Mattie Gara is promoting a building fund.

Los Angeles' September calendar includes: 7th, initiation. 14th, monthly card party; committee in charge, Irene Eden (chairman), Charlotte Gherke, Virginia Bell, Carmel Bregante, Edith Strain, Jennie Gilmer, Jean Clos. 21st, potluck dinner 6 o'clock, followed by an exhibition of desert slides by Kathryn Ronan at 8:15. 24th, noon luncheon, followed by cards, at the home of Ruth Traeger, 677 South Lorraine; menfolks, as well as womenfolks, welcome; Sophia Stewart chairman. During October the Parlor will have a rummage sale, the proceeds to be applied to homeless children work.

TRAVELERS CHEQUES

When I was young and full of wild ideas I used to carry cash with me on my trips . . . but not any more. I don't mind taking chances when they have to be taken; but when they don't—well, I just don't take them. I got the habit a long time ago of carrying Travelers Cheques. Or, if it's to be a long trip, I get a Letter of Credit. I've found them just as convenient as cash . . . a lot safer . . . and economical. If you take the advice of a seasoned traveler, before you leave you'll drop in and change your money into Travelers Cheques at

Native Sons of the Golden West

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of all Parlors of the Native Sons of the Golden West — Dear Sirs and Brothers: The City of San Francisco has been designated as the city in which the Native Sons of the Golden West will celebrate Admission Day. The Parlors of that city have arranged a magnificent celebration in which the natal day of our State will be properly presented not only to Native Californians, but to all who will be in that city on September 9. The Veterans' Memorial Building in San Francisco is being dedicated during that week and San Francisco will be the host to a great number of people from the East at that time in addition to those attracted by our Day.

"Our Order has complete charge of the Admission Day activities and nothing remains undone excepting the attendance of the members of the Parlors outside of the host city. This letter is sent to express my hope that all members of the Order who can possibly attend will be present in San Francisco to participate in the parade and other features incidental to the celebration of the day. It is the one day when our Order is presented to the public and the one day when we have an opportunity to make a public demonstration of our respect to the Pioneers who laid the foundation for this empire that we now enjoy.

"May I again express my hope that every Native Son who can possibly be there will attend the celebration in San Francisco, participate in the parade, and incidentally have the opportunity of seeing the Order in its annual display of historic floats and exhibits that again bring to our minds the fact that our forebears crossed the continent in order to establish the great State of California on the shores of the Pacific?

"Sincerely and Fraternally yours,
"SETH MILLINGTON.
"Grand President N.S.G.W.
"Gridley, August 6, 1932."

Observe Admission Day.

The Grand Parlor Admission Day Observance Committee—Edward E. Reese (chairman), William G. Muntz, Harry Romick, Eugene H. O'Donnell and Ray B. Felton—sent a letter to all Subordinate Parlors, August 10, urging them to promote a more general observance of Admission Day, September 9, in their respective localities by appointment of an observance committee. In conclusion, the letter states:

"The Grand Parlor general celebration will be at San Francisco this year, and every Parlor that can, should participate in this event. If that is not possible, then do everything you can to foster local observance and celebrate fittingly in your own locality. When our duty is done as it should be, the celebration of Admission Day will truly commemorate the birth of our State and keep alive the memory of the Pioneer Men and Women who made its beginning possible."

Alameda Enthusiastic.

Oakland—The Alameda County September Ninth Committee, made up of representatives from every Native Son and Native Daughter Parlor in the county, with Ray B. Felton (Fruitvale No. 252) as chairman, has about completed arrangements for Alameda's participation in the San Francisco Admission Day festivities. This year, probably for the first time in the Order's history, the county will have the place of honor in the parade, marching directly back of Grand Marshal W. Bernard O'Brien (Alameda No. 47). All the Parlors will have large marching units, and their bands, drum corps and drill teams will accompany. Claremont No. 240 will have an exceptionally big turnout, and its recently reorganized drum corps will appear in snappy new uniforms.

Grand Trustee Joseph McShane, chairman of the San Francisco committee, paid a visit to the Alameda County contingent and highly praised them for enthusiastic co-operation. Grand Secretary Sally R. Thaler gave an interesting talk, in the course of which she specially commended the Native Daughters for their wonderful support. September 2 the Booster Committee, under the direction of Grand Inside Sentinel Gam Hurst, will broadcast a program over station K.R.E. Competent speakers will outline the Admission Day program, several vocal selections will be rendered, and the band of Piedmont No. 120 will be heard. The Alameda County Parlors will jointly maintain headquarters the afternoon and evening of September 9 at Knights Columbus Hall, 150 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco. All Natives and their friends will be cordially welcomed.

Community Club Co-operates.

Ferndale—Ralph Jacobsen, representing Ferndale No. 93, appeared before the Community Club and requested its co-operation in having the business houses close Admission Day, September 9. The club voted its support. The Parlor is sponsoring a program in the high school auditorium and athletic events on the school grounds in observance of the day.

To Re-institute Old Parlor.

Visalia—Through the efforts of Deputy Grand President Al Lobree, Visalia No. 19, for several years defunct, will be re-instituted the early part of September by Grand President Seth Millington. Gareth W. Houk has been selected for president, and C. H. Wenn for secretary.

Past President Gets Ring.

Santa Ana—Raymond L. Marsile was the recipient of a past president ring at the August 1 meeting of Santa Ana No. 265. The presentation, on behalf of the Parlor, was made by District Deputy Walter E. Hiskey. August 15 a repast of icecream and cake was enjoyed after a brief meeting. Several members of the Parlor attended last month the meetings in Los Angeles at which Grand President Seth Millington appeared. Claude E. Agard has taken up his residence in Santa Barbara City.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures August 20, 1932:

Parlor.	Jan. 1	Aug 20	Gain	Loss
Ramona No. 109	1088	1085		3
South San Francisco No. 157	822	809		13
Castro No. 232	700	716	16
Stanford No 76	614	605		9
Arrowhead No. 110	609	583		26
Stockton No. 7	549	563	14
Twin Peaks No. 214	585	539		46
Piedmont No. 120	523	521		2
Rincon No. 72	448	434		14

Would Revive Fiesta Spirit.

San Rafael—District Deputy Monroe W. Label of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 accompanied Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann on his official visits last month to Santa Rosa, Petaluma and Sea Point Parlors. He is a strong believer in interparlor activities as a means of promoting increased membership and interest in the Order. Deputy Label is also interested in reviving the spirit of the old Spanish fiesta days, and hopes to secure the Parlor's co-operation in a movement, now on foot, to bring back the recollection of the city's colorful and romantic history. San Rafael is one of California's oldest towns. The mission, established here in 1817, was one of the last to be erected by the padres. Though the landmark long since disappeared, the spirit of the romantic days still lingers.

Mount Tamalpais' Admission Day committee has made extensive preparations for the Parlor's participation in the San Francisco festivities. An attractive uniform has been selected, and headquarters have been secured. Immediately after the parade the marchers will gather around the festive board.

Initiation at Sutter Fort.

Sacramento—Members of Sacramento No. 3 will appear in the San Francisco Admission Day parade in attractive uniforms. June Longshore is chairman of arrangements. Plans for the initiation of a large class of candidates at historic Sutter Fort October 1 are well under way. President Joseph Fitzhenry announces a movement is on foot to form a joint dancing club for the winter season.

Secretary Passes Suddenly.

San Jose—Henry William McComas, for thirty years the recording secretary of San Jose No. 22, died suddenly July 28 near Agnew. He was born here September 25, 1871, and for twelve years was chairman of the local N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. joint homeless children committee. At the August 15 meeting the Parlor elected Joseph Lawrence to fill the vacancy.

August 22, San Jose initiated a class of candidates, President Arthur Davison officiating. The Admission Day celebration committee includes B. T. LeGue, James Craig, Cliff Kelly, J. R. Sabatte, Charles Baldissini and Lawrence Hart.

Benefit Dance.

Monterey—Officers of Monterey No. 75 were installed by District Deputy John Thomsen, James W. Millington becoming president. L. P. Chavoya, an oldtime member, gave an interesting account of the Parlor's earlyday activities. A benefit dance will be given Admission Day, September 9, the arrangements being in charge of a committee composed of Dr. A. J. Hart (chairman), F. W. Hellam and E. H. Raymond.

Big Night at Crestline.

San Bernardino—Initiation in Arrowhead No. 110 August 10 was followed by a watermelon "feed." August 27 was another big night at the Parlor's Crestline clubhouse. A steak supper was served and then a class of candidates were initiated. A large delegation of Arrowheaders, led by President F. L. McGarvey and including Grand Organist Leslie Maloche, attended the reception to Grand President Seth Millington in Los Angeles August 5.

Charles Doyle, one of the mainstays of No. 110, died July 27, and the young daughter of Ben Harrison, former grand trustee, passed away August 4.

Infant Grows.

Los Banos—Los Banos No. 206, instituted in July, now has a membership of more than fifty, according to President R. L. Puccinelli. A class of sixteen candidates were recently initiated, the ritual being exemplified by the officers of Modesto No. 11. A banquet concluded the ceremonies.

Baseball Team Going Strong.

Santa Rosa—Sonoma County's Native Son and Native Daughter Parlors will march in the San Francisco Admission Day parade, headed by the drum and bugle corps of Napa No. 62. Wes Colgan, George Gilman and James Bertino made the arrangements.

Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann officially visited Santa Rosa No. 28 August 22, when four candidates were initiated. Twenty members of the Parlor paid a visit to Sonoma No. 111 August 15. Santa Rosa's baseball team is still going strong, having been defeated but once this season. A few dates are still open, and if any N.S. team wants a game get in touch with Wes Colgan, First and Main streets.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

CLOSE-FITTING HATS FOR FALL HAVE an international flare. The spanish sailor, the tricorne, the tiny turban, the close-fitting cloche and the small hats with varied brims are all worn far down over the right eye. Bows and a great many feather effects for trimmings are being shown. The skull-shaped and beret crowns are favored, with many folded, shirred, tucked and stitched effects.

Felts, new crepe-like wools, velour cloth and some dull silks are used in daytime hats. Velvets will lead for evening, with shirred transparent velvet and chenille favored. Soileil felt, satin and a number of feathered turbans are shown for formal wear. Black is the predominating color, with brown and red shading from a deep wine tone to a brilliant orange. The flippant veil is expected to find extreme favor with the new models.

Little by little the new fall clothes are making their way. Better be turning over in your mind which of the alluring models will suit your needs. Some of the newest are informal afternoon dresses, the kinds one wears very often and which are frequently hard to find.

Waistlines have been hoisted to two inches below the bust. Coats and dresses are cut on a diagonal line. Skirts are nine to ten inches from the floor.

New coats feature removable collars and bibs, making it possible to wear them with many costumes. The coats are generally belted, and are made of heavy diagonal-ribbed wools.

Velvet and velveteens and short fur wraps of astrakan and broadtail will be much in evidence, worn hip length. If you are in quest of a wrap that is smart, yet inexpensive, remember, first of all, that quality will be one of the distinguishing marks of the season. The little fur collarette that ties in front, of stenciled lapin, galyak or persian lamb, will add richness to an otherwise plain dress.

Maybe you will be interested in choosing a street outfit of navy with touches of red, a particularly smart and becoming style for almost any wearer. The material used is triple-sheer chiffon. The jacket is extremely smart, with short cape sleeves. Gauntlet gloves are worn with this outfit.

For the early fall formal gowns we will have fringe, and plenty of it. Velvet girdles for evening will be much worn in matching colors.

It is very smart to build up the shoulders of the formal frock with crestlike ruffles, ribbon bands or, what is newer still, huge velvet flowers.

Bordeaux red on a pink dress is very attractive. Artificial flowers are sweetpeas, flat climbing roses and gardenias.

Beige, an afternoon and evening color, is staging a comeback. It was deserted the last few seasons in favor of the brighter hues. Beige and wine-red are most popular to start the early fall season. Beige is worn under brown or green coats for formal suits. This year's beige is not in the wishy-washy tones of the past. The smart new beiges have a dash of yellow in their makeup, or perhaps they verge on light greenish tones. These are the tints which combine best with the dark green and warm browns of the coats that are being worn for afternoon, and they are most flattering. Blue is probably second only to beige as a favorite among afternoon colors.

Again we have fagoting. This time, in a chalky blue pastel frock. The skirt is perfectly plain, with diagonal lines of fagoting. The same idea is carried out on the smart coat, with capelet sleeves.

Furs will add a note of luxury to fall fashions. The new furs are beautifully supple. Many look like lustrous fabrics. Flat furs are by far the most widely used. Even in furs, we find the predominance of wide shoulders, interesting collars and intricate sleeve treatments. Caracul, galyak and leopard make lovely sports coats.

Very new is the three-quarters-length swagger coat, flaring from the shoulders, with full sleeves. It has a smart air. The intriguing little fur capes and capelets, the tricky scarfs and the throws of various descriptions will produce most becoming effects in their quaint, fascinating ways.

It is well to keep in mind that a small amount of fine fur is worth many times its chic value. A large quantity of cheap fur is not a necessity, and unless fur lays claim to quality one who wears it is likely to be judged as not having good taste. With the longing in a woman's heart to make herself look lovelier, to imagine herself in luxury, furs continue to be as intriguing and as flattering as ever. This season's furs are so much less expensive, we can all cherish the hope of actual possession.

The good old summertime is flying by, and school days approach. Sometimes the very little girl has her mind made up as to what she wants for school togs, and we find all the smart fall styles in school wear for misses, juniors and the wee tots. There are the swagger suits and jumper types. The fabrics are checked, diagonal and herringbone wools. Cotton tweeds, printed and striped cottons, and printed crepes are made exactly like mother's.

Misses' apparels are very swagger, made of beige wool in jacket suits or two-piece frocks. Blouses with suspenders are worn with pleated

Passing of the California Pioneer

(Confined to Brief Notices of the Demise of Those Men and Women Who Came to California Prior to 1870.)

JOHN BROWN JR., NATIVE OF COLORado, 84; crossed the plains to California in 1849 and since 1852 had resided in San Bernardino County; died at San Bernardino City; among the surviving relatives are a daughter, Mrs. Nell Wiggett, and a sister, Mrs. Sylvia Davenport (both Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W.); he was one of the organizers and for forty-four years the secretary of the San Bernardino Pioneer Society. Deceased was the son of John Brown Sr., Rocky Mountain explorer, hunter and trapper, born in Massachusetts in 1817; the junior was born in a log cabin on the bank of Greenhorn Creek, in the Territory of New Mexico, now Colorado, October 7, 1847; in 1849 the Brown family joined a caravan California-bound, and arrived at Sutter Fort September 15 of that year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Muncey, 88; came in 1851 and resided for many years in Nevada County; died at Los Angeles City, survived by three daughters.

Thomas Atkinson, native of Indiana, 93; crossed the plains in 1852 and resided in El Dorado and Mendocino Counties; died at Covelo.

Erwin Frost, native of Wisconsin, 82; came in 1853 and long resided in Santa Clara County; died at San Francisco, survived by a wife and six sons.

Mrs. Emma F. Reeves, native of Ohio, 82; came across the plains in 1855; died at South Pasadena, Los Angeles County.

William C. Penter, native of Arkansas, 79; came across the plains in 1856 and long resided in El Dorado County; died at Angels Camp, Calaveras County, survived by two children.

Frederick Moody Sterling, native of Canada, 87; came in 1858; died at Los Angeles City.

Mrs. Adelaide Isabella Wallace, native of Mississippi, 91; came in 1859 and long resided in Yolo County; died at Durham, Butte County, survived by four children.

Mrs. Harriet Alwilda Mayo-Coleman, native of Maine, 102; since 1859 resident San Francisco Bay district; died at Berkeley, Alameda County.

Mrs. Mary Luella Griffiths-Whiting, native of Iowa, 74; crossed the plains in 1860 and long resided in Nevada County; died at Richmond, Contra Costa County, survived by a daughter.

WESTWARD, HO!

(A. L. SMITH.)

In days of old, in the quest for gold
A one-way course was run,
And the wagon train, over hill and plain,
Went West with the setting sun
There was never a state, be it small or great,
That didn't feed that line;
California skies filled the whole world's eyes
In the days of forty-nine

As everyone knows, when the question rose
If the Union was supreme,
And the North and South, at the cannon's mouth,
Prepared to defend their dream,
All eyes turned west. California's test
Of her love for the flag had come;
To her final man, she led the van
In the days of sixty-one.

Now that wheels are clog'd and brains are fog'd,
Again does our nation turn
To the Western door, where Faith once more
Has caused Hope's fire to burn.
When the years have fled and depression's dead
In the pages of history,
They'll tell what was done, by the Native Son,
In thirty-two and three.

(The above came to The Grizzly Bear from A. L. Smith, at present with Arconaut Parlor No. 8 N.S.G.W. (Oroville), who now resides at Brookville, Pennsylvania. Accompanying was the note: "Contributed to our massacre with best wishes by the strolling minstrel of California." Editor.)

W. H. Lippincott, native of Illinois, 80; since 1860 resident Yolo County; died at Woodland, survived by a daughter.

Mrs. Nancy Newton-Malchi, native of Oregon, 74; came in 1861 and long resided in Solano County; died at San Anselmo, Marin County, survived by three daughters.

Mrs. Rachel A. Hills, native of Ohio, 95; came across the plains in 1862 and long resided in Riverside County; died at La Canada, Los Angeles County, survived by a daughter.

Mrs. Lucy Draper-Harlan, native of Ohio, 79; came across the plains in 1862 and settled in Fresno County; died at Laton, survived by four children.

Mrs. Abbie Hayden, native of Ireland, 94; came via the Isthmus of Panama in 1862; died at Sacramento City, survived by a son.

Mrs. Frances E. Ryder, native of Maine, 89; came via the Isthmus of Panama in 1865 and resided in Alameda and Placer Counties; died at Loomis.

Tom Scott Sr., native of Scotland, 81; came via the Isthmus of Panama in 1867; died at Sacramento City, survived by a wife and five children.

Mrs. Josephine Kueny-Bowman, native of Missouri, 85; since 1867 Shasta County resident; died at Cottonwood, survived by six children.

Mrs. Ida May Pratt, native of Ohio, 84; came in 1869 and long resided in Amador County; died at Sacramento City, survived by three children.

Mrs. Clotilde Maria Ventre-Abbott, native of Tahiti, 87; came in 1850 and resided some time in Sacramento City; for sixty years she made her home in Los Angeles County; died at Artesia, survived by a son.

Charles Hurt, native of Missouri, 82; came across the plains in 1852 and resided in Lake and Mendocino Counties; died at Covelo, survived by a wife and twelve children.

Mrs. Emma Fisher-Dopkins, native of Indiana, 82; came across the plains in 1852 and resided in Sacramento and Yolo Counties; died at Woodland, survived by two children.

Mrs. Amelia Nelk, native of Germany, 91; came in 1864 and resided a half-century in Colusa County; died at Oakland, Alameda County.

Right Rev. Monsignor Michael D. Connolly, native of Ireland, 81; came in 1869; died at San Francisco.

Mrs. Bertha Germeshausen, native of Germany, 86; since 1868 Yolo County resident; died near Woodland, survived by four children.

Harry Quinn, native of Ireland, 87; since 1868 Kern County resident, died near Delano, survived by a wife and seven children, among them Supervisor John R. Quinn (Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W.) of Los Angeles.

skirts, top coats and scarf collars. Pockets are fur trimmed.

If one could list the requirements of each girl who is to start on her school adventure, it would be easier to arrange for accessories to vary their frocks. A plaid scarf and different belts would effect one change. A bolero and a small fur neckpiece would be the second, and for the third, a military cape would change the entire effect of affairs.

The younger girl isn't quite satisfied with mother's conservative choice of a frock with leanings toward handwork and daintiness, rather than showiness. One of printed crepe should satisfy. This has a yoke extending over the shoulders, which carries out the popular wide-shoulder effect, and clever little puffed sleeves and pleats on both sides. Fagoting marks the yokeline and pipings of blue add a touch of decoration. A bit or trimming often makes the smallest of clothes the smartest. One can find excellent quality, now priced most inexpensively.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"TO THE SUBORDINATE PARLORS, Native Daughters of the Golden West —Dear Sisters: Eighty-two years ago on the coming ninth of September California sprang full-fledged into Statehood. This was made possible by the energy and the constructive genius of those hardy Pioneers who blazed the way across the continent, on a journey where they were beset with danger and hardship rarely overcome by men. This natal day of ours is set aside by the law of the State as a legal holiday, during which men and women, irrespective of their nativity, join in celebration of the accomplishments of the Pioneers who wrought so well and so lastingly.

"In equal co-operation with the Native Sons, our Order has a peculiar and loving interest in this event. We are pledged to bear the banner of State progress which has passed to us by our forebears. Make every effort to participate in the State celebration at San Francisco. If, for any reason, you are not able to do so, make some preparation to fittingly observe Admission Day in your respective localities by honoring the Pioneer Fathers and Mothers of this Western Empire.

"Let us nurture the Pioneer Spirit and hold high the lamp which has continually lighted the way down the space of time as our glorious State has progressed year by year. Thus shall we meet the full responsibility we have laid upon our shoulders and, in a measure, pay our debt of love to the Pioneers for their heroism, their devotion to duty and their undying loyalty to country.

"Sincerely yours in P.D.F.A.,
"ANNA MIXON ARMSTRONG,
"Grand President N.D.G.W.
"Woodland, August 20, 1932."

Bride Showered.

Alturas—At the August 4 meeting of Alturas No. 159 the Parlor's latest bride, Dorothy Dean Anklin, was the recipient of a kitchen shower. Many responded to Dorothy Gloster's appeal for a hundred percent fulfillment of Loyalty Pledges. The suggestion for a benefit bridge, during the autumn, to supplement the fund received enthusiastic approval. President Erma Elliott desires to make completion of the fund the outstanding project of her term.

Plans were laid and committees were appointed to take charge of the pioneer reception Admission Day, September 9, and the reception of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong September 21.

New Ritual Exemplified.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 26 was honored August 1 by the first official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong. A potluck supper, planned by Pearl Reid, Leona Geyer, Grace Reynolds and Elsie Sayre, was served. Other guests included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Organist Clara Gairaud, Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs, several deputies and supervising district deputies, and delegations from many Parlors. The July birthdays of members of the Parlor were observed, a birthday cake with lighted candles being a feature. Following the supper a program of dances was much enjoyed. Flowers on the tables and in the meetinghall were in the colors of the Order.

The new ritual was beautifully exemplified at the meeting, presided over by President Melba E. McKenna. Mrs. Armstrong's talk was unusually inspiring, and she told of the happy memories she will always carry of her first official visit. She and the other grand officers received gifts, and Past President Verel van Gorder was given an emblematic pin. The evening was a very happy one for the members of Santa Cruz.

Grand Marshal Honor-guest.

Sutter Creek—More than a hundred members of the Amador County Parlors were present by invitation at the meeting of Amapola No. 80 at which Grand Marshal Gladys Noce was honor-guest. Officers were installed by Deputy Harriett Clemens, Miss Marea Fontenrose becoming president. A past president emblem was presented Deputy Clemens, and Grand Marshal Noce was the recipient of a basket of beautiful flowers.

A feature of the evening was a program at which members of Amador No. 17 N.S.G.W. were guests: Vocal solo, "Amapola," Mrs. Riandi; remarks, Grand Marshal Noce, Past Grand Ella Caminetti, Supervising Deputy Emma B. Wright, Deputy Clemens and President Fontenrose. Refreshments followed the program.

Given Rising Vote Thanks.

Santa Ana—At the August 8 meeting of Santa Ana No. 235, with the new president, Mildred Gray, presiding, Chairman Muriel Bray and her ways and means committee were given a rising vote of thanks for bringing in a very neat sum of money from a newspaper contest. Both teams which tied in a recent membership contest provided a covered-dish dinner August 22. A public benefit card party August 29 was well attended.

Large Class Initiated.

Vallejo—On behalf of Vallejo No. 195, President Mabel Thompson welcomed Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong on her official visit August 17 and presented her with a gift of silver. Flowers were used effectively by Mabel Thompson, Nellie Reilly, Carrie Congrave and Anna Johnson in the decorations. A large class of candidates were initiated, and there were many visitors.

Interesting talks were given by Grand President Armstrong, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Past Grands Amy V. McAvoy, Dr. Louise C. Heilbron and Estelle M. Evans, Supervising Deputy Wilma Mitchell, Deputies Emma McGlumphy and Elvena Woodard. The meeting closed with an elaborate banquet, in charge of Julia Hill, Minerva Gold, Guilda Keller, Clara Berg, Anita McKenzie, Helen Segoria, Celia Barskey and Florence Metcalf.

Entertains Camp Fire Girls.

Calistoga—Calistoga No. 145 entertained the Camp Fire Girls August 8, and the guests had a royal time. The program, consisting of music, recitations, drills, games and dancing, was followed by a watermelon feast. In charge of the affair was a committee composed of Susie Tamagni, Lillie Decker, Irma Howard, Bretta Lundell, Evelyn Tamagni and Corina Falleri.

Officers of the Parlor were installed July 25 by Deputy Sadie Brooks, Bretta Lundell becoming president. There was a splendid attendance, and the hall was beautifully decorated. Past President Berenice Martin was the recipient of an emblematic pin and gifts were presented Deputy Brooks, Supervising Deputy Wilma Mitchell. The affair was a complete success, due to the energetic efforts of the several committees in charge.

Anticipate Happy Evening.

Berkeley—President Mary Briglia has appointed committees to carry out planned activities of Berkeley No. 151. August 10 Berkeley No. 210 N.S.G.W. was entertained, August 24 a class of candidates were initiated, and a happy evening is anticipated when Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visits Septem-

OUR PIONEERS

(SULENE M. COWAN.)

Time has hung a vivid painting,
Westward Bound, The Pioneers!
'Tis a priceless gift remaining,
Treasured still thru all the years.

Mighty painters, ease forsaking,
Formed this picture on the plains;
It was matchless in the making,
We, their children, share the gains.

'Tis an old and oft-told story
Heard by fireside's evening glow;
Let us live again and glory
In these tales of long ago.

From the wind-swept eastern shoreline,
From the cities by the sea,
From the valleys and the highline
Came the sires of you and me.

On the far and dim horizon,
A mere thread on distant plain,
Moved a civilization westward,
Sheltered in a wagon train.

Long and sinuous line slow moving,
Winding, climbing, creeping on,
Trackless wastes, the desert's vastness—
Moving westward each new dawn.

Mountains steep with rugged ranges,
Rivers that were torrents, crossed,
These they conquered, dared all dangers,—
Had they faltered, all was lost.

Often thru the long night watches
Came the Red men, bringing fear;
Terror reigned, and desolation
Left its mark of grief and tear.

Can we feel the mother's courage
Guarding helpless children's bed
In the calm and silent magic
Of the quiet stars o'erhead?

Drab and dusty canopies
For hearts so brave and strong.
Yet 'neath those canvas cov'rings
A new nation's soul was born.

We may search thru history's pages
Deeds of courage and of fame,
There are none in all the ages
Braver than our sires can claim.

They will live on in our memory
Down the fleeting years of time;
Courage, faith, and souls undaunted
Fill this masterpiece sublime!

(This tribute to the California Pioneers, written by Sulene M. Cowan, affiliated with Calida Parlor No. 22 N.D.G.W. (Sacramento), came to The Grizzly Bear from Past Grand President Dr. Louise C. Heilbron with a request that it be published in the Admission Day number.—Editor.)

DO YOU EAT ENOUGH SEAWEED? NATURE'S BODY VITALIZER!

A wealth of mineral substances essential to the health and happiness of mankind has been discovered in the lowly plants that adorn the ocean bed, is attested to by Prof. H. H. Barr, Los Angeles, Calif.

Rich in iron, iodine, calcium, phosphorus, manganese, magnesium, potassium, sulphur and 26 other important organic minerals properly proportioned by nature, seaweed brings to the body, and particularly to the tired, starved glands of the body, those vital elements that build robust health and drive out pain and disease.

That it has long been known as a food to people of far-off climes, endowing them with amazing strength, vitality and mentality, may come as surprising news to many.

It is destined to work wonders for those who are wise enough to include it in their daily diet and continue its use consistently.

At the present time (in Japan) perhaps six or seven different kinds of sea plants or seaweeds are used at a single meal. GOITRE, poor eyesight, decayed teeth, rheumatism, constipation, are unknown in Japan.

Prof. Barr, after years of research work, has discovered how to put his formula, consisting of sea plants, in tablet form. Organic minerals found in California, Japanese, Nova Scotia and Irish seaweed, has aided many who are suffering from physical exhaustion, nervousness, rheumatism, acidity, gas, indigestion, underweight, low blood pressure, anemia, kidney, stomach and bladder disorders, neuritis, low vitality, asthma, many female disorders, skin disorders, GOITRE and CONSTIPATION.

Sea-Tone tablets purify the blood stream, assist all of the glands to normal function (chiefly the thyroid, through the action of pure iodine), eliminate URIC ACID, and toxic poisons from the skin, kidneys, liver, stomach and BOWELS. Sea-Tone is a FOOD SUPPLEMENT. THEY DO NOT CONTAIN DRUGS.

Send for interesting literature or mail $1 for a bottle of Sea-Tone Tablets, to Sea-Tone Laboratories, 918 Chester Williams Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif. Mail orders promptly filled.—Adv.

Heilbron, light bearer; Grand President Anna M. Armstrong, Grand Trustee Anna Thuesen; the hostess, Past Grand Genevieve Baker, the home committee, Past Grand Emma Foley, secretary, Millie Tietjen, treasurer, Past Grands Mary Bell, Evelyn Carlson and Carrie Durham, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Agnes Curry, Alice Lane, Elizabeth Douglass; Past Grands Eliza Keith, Margaret Hill and Mattie Stein, Grand Treasurer Susie Christ, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini.

The ceremony—Grand President Armstrong, Grand Trustee Thuesen and Past Grand Heilbron advance to the altar. Dr. Heilbron: "Worthy Grand President, I present to you this light." (Hands over candle.) Mrs. Armstrong: "I accept it as symbolic of the spirit of our Order, and I hold it for you, Worthy Grand Trustee, that you may use it to burn the mortgage." (Holds the candle over the bowl.) Mrs. Thuesen: "Sisters of our Order, it is with pleasure, and at the same time with a feeling of solemnity, that I burn this mortgage." (Touches the document to the candle held by the Grand President and the ashes fall into the bowl.) The glee club then sang "How Firm a Foundation."

Annette A. Adams congratulated the Order, saying the achievement was not only for the Order of Native Daughters but for the honor of all women in the world in their power of advancement. Judge Fletcher A. Cutler, Past Grand N.S.G.W., spoke most eloquently on the Home and what it has done, and on what the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters can do for the state. Chairman Bertola spoke of Past Grand Pearl Lamb, in whose Grand Parlor was passed the resolution to build the Home. Also, of Mrs. Estelle Evans, Mrs. Evelyn Carlson and Miss Esther Sullivan who, as Grand Presidents, had done a big work for the Home, and of the valiant Board of Trustees—Estelle Evans, Marvel Thomas, Evelyn Carlson, Irma Laird, May Givens, Eldora McCarty and Vida Vollers—who had the courage to go forward with arrangements for the mortgage.

Past Grand Baker, as hostess, closed the meeting in her usual pleasing manner, reminding those assembled that considerate affection for one another made for happiness, and progress for the Order. Beautiful flowers, contributed by Judge Cutler, Mms. Dieckoff, Baker and Foley, adorned the lounge, the auditorium and the diningroom. Parlors represented were: Californiana, Los Angeles, the first to pay its Loyalty Pledge; Orinda, Buena Vista, Alta, Gabrielle, Mission, Dolores, Golden State, Minerva, Yosemite, La Estrella, Twin Peaks, Castro, El Vespero, all San Francisco; Laurel, Nevada City; Califia, Sacramento; El Carmelo, Daly City; Woodland; Piedmont and Aloha, Oakland; Ivy, Lodi; Joaquin, Stockton; San Diego; Santa Cruz.

portant meeting August 24, when President Nola Fogler appointed committees to carry on various activities. One candidate was initiated. Past President Lois Aldridge Johnson has been selected to direct the community singing at the next Grand Parlor. Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen was a recent visitor.

August 17 members of Lugonia joined those of Arrowhead No. 110 N.S.G.W. at a basket picnic. Swimming and various games were the attractions.

Seven Initiated.

Petaluma—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Petaluma No. 222 August 16, and was accompanied by a large delegation from her home-Parlor, Woodland No. 90. Golden blossoms were used profusely in decorating the meetingroom and the banquethall. Seven candidates were initiated, and the perfect rendition of the ritual reflected much credit on the officers and the drillteam. Gifts were presented various grand officers, and speechmaking and merriment prevailed at an elaborate banquet.

Among the large number assembled were Grand Trustee Willow Borba, Past Grands Emma G. Foley, Amy V. McAvoy and Estelle M. Evans, Supervising Deputy Hazel Brown, Deputies Gertrude Grauskopf and Mae Rose Barry, and delegations from many surrounding Parlors.

Awarded Scholarship.

Saint Helena—Miss Phyllis Thompson of La Junta No. 203 has been awarded a Grand Parlor scholarship at Mills College. Her mother, Mrs. O. C. Thompson, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Palmer, are also affiliated with the Parlor.

Installation Functions.

Jackson—Officers of Ursula No. 1 were installed by Deputy Margaret Molfino, Lucy Lorenson becoming president. Two candidates were initiated, and a past president emblem was presented to Deputy Molfino. Among the many in attendance were Grand Marshal Gladys E. Noce, Past Grand Ella E. Caminetti, Supervising Deputy Emma B. Wright and Deputy Harriett Clemens.

Eureka—Officers of Occident No. 28 were installed by Deputy Myra Rumrill, Mary McPherson becoming president. The hall was a gorgeous bower of summer flowers, with yellow blooms predominating. Supervising Deputy Hattie Roberts was among the many present. Whist was played and refreshments were served. Sadie Barry, Anna Fulton and Louise Hogan had charge of the decorations, and Stella Locke, Elma Long, Margaret McNeil, Lela McDonald and Ione McCarthy constituted the entertainment committee.

San Jose—Officers of San Jose No. 81 were installed by Deputy Fay Wythecomb, Miss Iola Shannon becoming president. The attendance was large. Refreshments were served at prettily decorated tables, and lovely gifts were presented Elva Dee, Deputy Wythecomb, President Shannon, Supervising Deputy Kathryn Nelson, Deputy Elsie Fisher and Ruby King. Julia Domenici was the recipient of a past president emblem. The Parlor will participate in the San Francisco Admission Day parade. Afternoon card parties are held fortnightly, and the monthly card parties continue interesting features. Much grief is felt over the tragic death of Mrs. Anna Dougherty, instantly killed in an auto accident August 9.

Lodi—Officers of Ivy No. 88 were installed by Deputy Catherine Tully, Thirsa E. Hunt becoming president. Two candidates were initiated, many interesting addresses were made and refreshments were served. Among those present were Past Grands Carrie Roesch-Durham, Mamie G. Peyton and Mattie M. Stein.

Oakdale—Officers of Oakdale No. 125 were installed by Deputy Alice Dorroh, Theresa Panetto becoming president. Summer flowers decorated the lodgeroom. Gifts were presented Supervising Deputy Katherine Kopf, Eva Fogarty and Deputy Dorroh. Refreshments were served by Mmes. Jessie Acker, Hattie Hover and Esther Marty.

Sausalito—Officers of Sea Point No. 196 were installed by Deputy Anna Loser, Lillian Azavedo becoming president. Visitors included Past Grand Emma G. Foley, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini and representatives of several Parlors. Refreshments were served at prettily decorated tables. The committee in charge of the affair—Emma Young, Helen Wetzler, Helen Sullivan, Alice McGowan and Mary B. Smith—was given many compliments.

San Diego—Officers of San Diego No. 208 were installed by Deputy Carrie Northway, Isabel Young becoming president. All officers carried arm boquets of gladioli and fern, and the hall was a bower of flowers. Gifts were presented retiring and incoming officers, Deputy Northway and Nellie Cline (Grace No. 242), who for three years served the Parlor as deputy.

Fullerton—Officers of Grace No. 242 were installed by Deputy Mary Noerenberg, Lena Aspden becoming president. Many guests, among them Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, were in attendance. Mattie Edwards, retiring president, was the recipient of an emblematic pin, and in appreciation for generous service rendered Ora

ANGIE BONES.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has seen fit to enter our Parlor and take from our midst, to the Grand Parlor above, our honored and beloved sister, Angie Bones; whereas, in view of the loss we have sustained and of the greater loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to her, be it

Resolved, That though we bow in humble submission to the divine will, we deeply feel our loss in being deprived of her presence and loving friendship, and may the memory of her noble life be an inspiration and help to us for all time.

"And at home, in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we shall meet her there."

To the bereaved family we extend our loving and heartfelt sympathy, and commend them for consolation to Him who doeth all things well. Resolved, that the charter of our Parlor be draped for a period of thirty days, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the family of our late sister, that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of El Dorado Parlor No. 186 N.D.G.W.

ALTA L. DOUGLAS,
ELLA C. STANTON,
IRENE M. IRISH,
Committee.

Georgetown, July 23, 1932

MARY BATHURST.

To the Officers and Members of Marguerite Parlor No. 12 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of love and respect in memory of our departed sister, Mary Bathurst, do submit the following:

Once again we bow to the will of Almighty God, who has seen fit to claim His own from amongst our membership and taken to His Heavenly Home our esteemed sister and Pioneer. The vacancy caused by the loss of our devoted sister will never be filled. Not dead to those who loved her, not lost but gone before, she lives with us in memory and will for evermore.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and commend them for consolation to Him who doeth all things well, and be it further resolved, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the family and a copy be spread upon the minutes.

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,
ESTHER F. DUGAN
LILLA M. ZEISS,
BERTHA REEG,
Committee.

NATIVE DAUGHTER NEWS

Edwards was presented with a gift. Refreshments were served. Activities of the Parlor will be resumed September 15, when a 6:30 dinner will be served by Dora Trendle and associates, losers in a recent membership contest.

Ontario—Officers of Ontario No. 251 were installed by Past President Genevieve Hiskey (Santa Ana No. 235), Mrs. Ethel Baxter becoming president. During the ceremonies Mrs. Lois Johnson favored with several vocal numbers. Mrs. Adele Frankish, retiring president, was the recipient of a beautiful emblematic pin, and in appreciation for services rendered Mrs. Hiskey was presented with a silver set. Flowers were presented Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, organizer of the Parlor, President Betty Saunders of Verdugo No. 240 and President Mattie Edwards of Grace No. 242. Many visitors were in attendance. Cards followed the installation, and the evening concluded with the serving of a bountiful spanish supper prepared by a committee headed by Beatrice Herzberg. Flowers in abundance and of every hue were used in decorating the meetingroom and the banquetroom.

Bar Meet—The Fifth annual meeting of the California State Bar Association will be held at Coronado, San Diego County, September 29 to October 1.

Rodeo and Stock Show—Merced City will feature a rodeo and stock show, September 17 and 18.

Grape Day—Escondido, San Diego County, will have its annual Grape Day celebration, September 9, which also is Admission Day.

In Memoriam

SUSIE AMICK.

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me.
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark,
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark;

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place,
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar."

Again our Golden Chain of Fraternity has been severed by the angel of death, who once more has entered the portals of Chispa Parlor No. 40 N.D.G.W.

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call our dearly beloved sister Susie Amick, to the Eternal Parlor above, let us always cherish the fond memory of her noble character, her loving ways and kindly deeds

Not dead to those who loved her,
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory,
And will for ever more.

The trials, the sorrows and disappointments that must enter every life, however sheltered, are ended and our sister peacefully sleeps. Reverently then would we say, "Thy will be done." We now record our tribute of love and affection to one whose thoughtfulness endeared her to all.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family our sincere sympathy. It is our earnest prayer that God, in His infinite mercy, assuage their deep grief and send peace into their hearts. Be it further resolved that our charter be draped in mourning in due respect for our late sister, that a copy be sent to her family, and one to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

EDITH L. CAMPBELL,
ESTHER M. GEBHARDT,
IDA ALLEN,
Committee.

BENEFIT FOR WORTHY CAUSE.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. will stage a '49 camp at the Malibu ranch of William D. Newell, September 24 and 25. The charge is one dollar. This is a benefit, for the relief of needy members and their families, and the response should be liberal. A rousing good time is assured. Tickets, and information as to how to reach the scene of action, may be procured from any member of the committee of arrangements: Leslie A. Packard (chairman), Earl H. LeMoine, Howard G. Bentley, Past Grand President John T. Newell, Charles E. Lloyd and Walter Fisher.

THIMBLE CLUB HAS PARK SESSION.

Long Beach—Officers of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. were installed August 4 by Deputy Nellie Cline, Zella L. Hodgedon becoming president. Officers-elect and acting grand officers wore corsages of gladioli. Gifts were presented Violet T. Henshilwood, retiring president, and Daisy T. Hansen, retiring past president, and a corsage was given Kate McFadyen, "mother" of the Parlor. A musical program was presented by Chairman Claudia Miller. Eight Parlors were represented among the guests.

Long Beach's thimble club had an allday session at Bixby Park August 11, with Chairman Lucretia Coates presiding. August 18 a card party was held, with Eleanor Johnson as chairman.

TRAVELOGUE MOVIE.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. will initiate a class of candidates September 16. Following a brief business session September 23 an address on "Fencing and Duelling" will be given. Those who witnessed the fencing and pistol-shooting contests during the Olympics should be interested. A light lunch will be served. September 30 an interesting and instructive travelogue movie will be the entertainment feature.

BEAR FLAG GIVEN STATE BUILDING.

Glendale—For use in the assemblyroom of the state building in Los Angeles, Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. August 9 presented to California a 6x10-foot State (Bear) Flag. President Elizabeth Sanders introduced Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, who made the presentation address, which was responded to by Governor James Rolph. That evening, Grand President Seth Millington visited Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W., and President Sanders, on behalf of Verdugo, presented him with a gift.

Officers of the Parlor were installed by Deputy Gertrude Allen July 27, and there was a large attendance. Miss Ruth Ruiz, former deputy, was given a surprise shower, and a banquet was served. August 12, Verdugo sponsored an evening beach party at Castle Rock.

OFFICIAL TO VISIT.

The September 12 meeting of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. will be in honor of Grand First Vice-president Emmet Seawell, justice of the California Supreme Court, who will be a visitor. A large class of candidates will be initiated, a program of entertainment will be presented and refreshments will be served. September 5 being Labor Day, the Parlor will hold no meeting.

DELEGATION FOR S. F. CELEBRATION.

At the August 12 meeting of the Interparlor N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Committee, a committee —Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William I. Reuter, William J. Bright and Clinton E. Skinner of the Native Sons, and Mms. Olinda Kerby, Hazel Clinger, Mary Meyer and Walter Hiskey of the Native Daughters—was appointed to endeavor to arrange for participation of a Los Angeles County delegation in the San Francisco Admission Day parade. Any Native desiring to make the trip should get in touch with Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer.

The Interparlor Committee also voted to sponsor in November a suitable program in observance of National Education Week.

fornia State Fair in Sacramento. The one selling the most theater tickets will have its candidate sent as "Miss San Pedro" to the fair. Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. is sponsoring Miss Thelma Ross, and the members are working hard to win success for her.

The Parlor's Florencita thimble club is growing, and accomplishing more, each meeting. The members are now engaged in embroidering, in preparation for the Christmas holidays.

THANKSGIVING APPEAL.

The N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Homeless Children Committee elected officers August 5, the following being selected: Irving Baxter, chairman; Miss Grace Norton, vice-chairman; Mrs. Annie L. Adair, secretary; Mrs. Calista Stefan, treasurer. There was a large attendance, Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. and Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. of San Bernardino being well represented.

A Thanksgiving letter will be sent in November by the committee to the membership of the Orders, appealing for funds for carrying on this splendid work in behalf of homeless children of all races, colors and creeds.

SURPRISE VISITOR.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. had a surprise, but most welcome, visitor August 22, Grand President Seth Millington. He stressed the necessity for increased membership, and was assured that the Parlor will make a good showing during his term. Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer outlined the Admission Day plans, and Arthur Giroux, wreathed in smiles, announced that he is a granddaddy. Other speakers were Secretary John Smith, Howard Bentley, Roger Johnson and Dr. Harry L. Coffman.

The Parlor now has an orchestra, and has under way the organization of a glee club and an athletic team. During August four new names were added to the membership roll, the candidates being initiated at Hollywood and Glendale. The outing in Santa Monica Canyon August 7 was a complete success.

PRESENTATIONS.

San Pedro—The State (Bear) Flag of California now flies from the "Aldoran," new cruising yacht of Bernard B. Lippman of Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. Presentation of the banner was carried out with ceremony August 5, at the time when the yachtsman had a number of Natives aboard to witness opening events in the Olympic sailing regatta off Point Fermin. Past President Clyde H. Foot made the presentation address, and following a gracious word of acceptance, Captain Lippman hoisted the California flag to the same breeze that was sending racing sloops of eleven nations through the waters of historic San Pedro Channel.

A silver plaque, properly inscribed, was presented the giant tank steamer "California" in Los Angeles Harbor August 13. It was attached to a framed silk flag of the State of California which had previously been placed in the officers' quarters of the ship by Sepulveda. Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter and Past President John T. Gower presented the plaque, which was accepted by Captain A. H. Atkins and Chief Engineer Clarence Petersen. State Senator Henry E. Carter was the guest-speaker at the Parlor August 12. Frank I. Markey, who retired as secretary of No. 263 after five years of faithful service, was presented with an emblematic ring; Harry E. Fairall is his successor. Members of Sepulveda plan a dance at Cabrillo Beach the evening of September 3.

OPPORTUNITY TO HELP DESERVING LAD.

If you know of a farm or ranch where a 17-year-old boy might find work, notify Scoutmaster Robert E. Dunn or Secretary John V. Scott of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. The lad is a Boy Scout of America. Recently his mother was burned seriously, leaving him homeless. He has been unable to find a steady position. He has had a good deal of experience with stock and farm products.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Ed. F. Cohn (Sacramento N.S.) is now residing at 804 Strand, Redondo Beach.

Mrs. Susan Kennedy (Los Angeles N.D.) is visiting in San Francisco and Grass Valley.

Mrs. Adelaide Hickman (Los Angeles N.D.) of San Francisco is visiting her mother, Mrs. Edith B. Schallmo.

Mrs. Ramona Block-Thoroughgood (Los Angeles N.D.) departed August 20 on a visit to British Columbia.

Leon J. Leonard (Ramona N.S.) is seeking the precious, and elusive, metal, gold, near Weaverville, Trinity County.

Mrs. Margaret Carter (Los Angeles N.D.) enjoyed a vacation at Lake Tahoe and other places of interest in the northern part of the state.

Native Son visitors last month included Joseph J. McShane (Grand Trustee) of San Francisco, Barney G. Barry (Silver Star) of Lincoln.

Miss Cornelia Nibs (Californiana N.D.) was guest-artist at the history pageant featured in Santa Barbara's Old Spanish Days Fiesta last month.

Miss Virginia Bird, daughter of Mrs. Clara Bird (Los Angeles N.D.), was wedded August 17 to C. Wagner Johnston. The couple will reside in Newark, New Jersey.

Mrs. Rosalie F. Hyde (Santa Monica Bay N.D.), accompanied by her daughter, Dorothy, visited last month in San Francisco, where Mrs. Hyde resided for many years.

A native daughter arrived August 1 at the Beverly Hills home of John A. Bullard (Ramona N.S.) and wife (Los Angeles N.D.)—the third grandchild of Clarence M. Hunt (Sacramento N.S.).

Native Daughter visitors last month included Mrs. Bertha A. Briggs (Past Grand) of Hollister, Mrs. Grace Bessac (Joaquin) of Stockton, Mrs. Ariana W. Stirling (Past Grand) of Berkeley.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Charles Augustus Gunther, affiliated with Watsonville Parlor No. 65 N.S.G.W., died July 25 survived by three children. He was born at San Francisco, May 21, 1873.

Mrs. Angele Taix, mother of Marius Taix (Ramona N.S.), died July 29.

Joseph Spear, father of Dr. Edgar and Erwin Spear (both Los Angeles N.S.), died August 1 at the age of 72.

Mrs. Juana Espelet, mother of Domingo Pilaria (Ramona N.S.), died August 14.

Mrs. Mary McDowell, mother of Alfred A. McDowell (Ramona N.S.), died August 22.

Mrs. Isabelle Norton, mother of Miss Grace J. Norton and Mrs. Lloyd A. Duncan (both Los Angeles N.D.), Thomas J. and Walter W. Norton (both Ramona N.S.), died August 23. She was a native of Illinois, aged 67.

James Albert Ford, father of Fletcher Ford (Ramona N.S.), died August 23. He was a native of Ohio, aged 89, and came to California in 1869; for many years he resided in Sierra and San Luis Obispo Counties, where he was well known as an educator and publisher.

GOOD NEWS.

Readers of The Grizzly Bear will be pleased to hear that Fred Miller, builder of the beautiful Carthay Circle theater, Los Angeles, has again re-leased this famous showplace of the Golden West and re-established old policies of the cream of super motion-picture productions, surrounded with elaborate shows, including colorful prologues, and a great concert orchestra.

Carthay Circle is known to thousands of Native Sons and Native Daughters by reason of its fascinating historical atmosphere, perpetuating the great pioneer episodes of California by a series of especially commissioned oil paintings executed by noted Western painters. Many relics of the '49ers, as well as statues erected in its beautiful parks, keep fresh the memory of stalwart figures in the early history of California.

"In the interest of a clean judicial system," says the "News" of Van Nuys, Los Angeles County, "the Los Angeles Bar Association is sponsoring the recall of three [superior court] judges. Jurists who accept gifts of clothing or permit other people to pay their bills, cannot ethically pass judgment on the weaknesses of their fellowmen."

Why single out jurists? They are not, by a jugfull, the only public officials who carry on likewise. In the interest of impartial, quick and genuine justice, any and every public official who accepts a gratuity of any nature from any source should be removed from office!

President Henry J. Haas of the American Bankers Association suggested in a recent address better qualifications for those engaged in the banking business. Consider these: first and foremost, they should be honest financiers, not dishonest gamblers; and they should be compelled to engage exclusively in the banking business, not flimflam schemes.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

President May L. McDonald of Alta Parlor No. 3 has launched a program of exceptional interest. August 27 the semi-annual card party was held at the Home. Elaborate plans are being made to honor Mms. Isabel Pomeroy and Otilla McLaughlin on the occasion of thier golden wedding anniversaries. In the late fall a tour will be made through a bakery to observe the intricacies of the baking art. Four candidates were recently initiated.

Officers of Keith Parlor No. 137 were installed August 11 by Deputy Helen McMahon, Gladys Cruiss becoming president. The ceremonies were followed by dancing, entertainment features and refreshments.

Presidio Parlor No. 148's officers were publicly installed August 9 by Deputy Anna Dibble, with Elba Mascarella as president. The drill team participated in the ceremonies, which were followed by dancing and refreshments. There was a large attendance.

Officers of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 were publicly installed by Deputy Maud Daly, Helen Lewis being elevated to the presidency. On the Parlor's behalf Past President Sophie Siebe presented an electric clock to Junior Past President Bessie Ducray. Entertainment was provided by Sara Ella Bennett and Lorraine Young. Ice-cream and cake concluded the pleasant occasion.

Members of Linda Rosa Parlor No. 170 met August 10 in compliment to Gertrude LaFortune, former deputy who showed the Parlor many kindnesses and was untiring in efforts to assist in every possible manner. The evening was pleasantly spent. Delicious refreshments were served at beautifully decorated tables.

NATIVE SON DOINGS.

Stanford Parlor No. 76 has embarked on a new era in fraternal history. During the term of President Dr. Vincent H. Hardeman the Parlor is endeavoring to carry out a program which will surpass all past records. It includes hikes, whist parties, boxing matches, past presidents night, dinner dances, theater parties, Christmas tree, etc. In addition, a membership drive is under way, and meeting with great success. The Parlor will hold an elaborate ball the night of Admission Day.

Officers of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 and Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed by District Deputy Thomas Dillon and Deputy Elizabeth Mueller, Cliff Roberts and Alice Johnson becoming the respective presidents. More than 300 guests assembled in the large auditorium, beautifully decorated with flags. Past president emblems were presented Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane and Gladys McCarthy, the presentation addresses being delivered by Edward P. McAuliffe and Deputy Hannah Sandell. In responding, Grand Trustee McShane paid eloquent tribute to George Washington. Dancing concluded the ceremonies, and at midnight an appetizing buffet supper was served.

It is possible, according to report, that it will be necessary to form additional divisions.—Editor.)

SECOND CROP OF PINE CONES INDICATES SEVERE WINTER AHEAD.

Dame Nature cares for all her children, and by devious means provides food and shelter, besides giving warning of impending weather changes. The Indians knew these signs and the Pioneers learned to watch for such indications. And now, the pioneer residents and oldtimers here are predicting a hard winter, basing their predictions on a phenomena of nature.

Bill Herbert, one of our county's well-known residents and former ranger, tells us that a severe winter is ahead of us. He points to the fact that the sugar-pine trees have two crops of pine cones this year, and that the squirrels are extremely busy gathering an extra supply of nuts for winter consumption. And Bill says, "The second crop of pine cones is a sure sign and very seldom fails."—Amador Ledge, Jackson.

"HOW CAN I KEEP MY DENTURE CLEAN?"

That question, so often put to dentists by wearers of artificial plates, was the beginning of a new San Francisco industry. After months of chemical experimentation and practical application, F. B. Roche and two associates perfected a powder, easily soluble in water, that thoroughly cleans dentures without scrubbing or brushing.

This product, "Denalan," is highly recommended for dentures of platinum, gold, stainless steel, vulcanite, and cellulose base plates, such as rubber, hecolite, parfait, etc. It is a distinctive departure from all previous methods of brushing and scouring. A small quantity of "Denalan" powder is placed in a half-cup of cold water. The plates are submerged in this solution a few minutes and when taken out they are clean, sweet and wholesome.

Because "Denalan" fills an important need in the lives of many persons so efficiently, it is being constantly recommended by dentists. Druggists assert a public demand already exists for the powder, although it was only placed on the market in January of this year.

"The man who tries and succeeds is one degree less a hero than the man who fails and yet goes on trying."—Fowler.

In Memoriam

RUTH SPOHN.

To the Officers and Members of Aloha Parlor No. 106 N.D.G.W.—Again the Angel of Death has entered our Parlor, and taken from our midst our beloved sister, Ruth Spohn. We tenderly condole with her bereaved family in this, their hour of trial and affliction, and commend them for consolation to Him who doeth all things well. Let us not think of her as dead, but of having preceded us to the Golden Shore where she now dwells as one of the daughters of that better land, and where she waits to welcome us as we, too, pass through the Golden Gate. By her death, the members of Aloha Parlor No. 106 N D G W have been deprived of a loving and devoted sister, whose noble character and kind disposition endeared her to all.

Resolved, That our deep sympathy be extended to her sorrowing family; may God bless those that are near and dear to her. Furthermore be it resolved, that our charter be draped for thirty days, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes, that copies be sent to the bereaved family, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Sincerely and fraternally in P.D.E.A.,
GRACE DUPONT.

Oakland, August 18, 1932.

MILTON L. MAYFIELD.

To the Officers and Members of Cambria Parlor No. 152 N S G.W.:

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler to call from his sphere of usefulness to his eternal rest our well beloved brother, Milton L. Mayfield; and whereas, Brother Mayfield was a kind and good neighbor, a charter member of this Parlor, and a useful member of the society in which he moved; one whose passing is sincerely mourned, who had endeared himself to all who knew him, because of his readiness to respond at all times to the cry of distress, and because of his unselfish devotion to the principles of this Order; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Parlor stand in silence in respect to his memory that its charter be draped for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, that a copy be forwarded to each of his heirs, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully submitted in Friendship, Loyalty and Charity,
A. S. GAY,
GEO. W. GILLESPIE,
J. F. STEWART,

GRIZZLY GROWLS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

DELEGATES TO THE NATIONAL CONvention of the American Legion, in Portland, Oregon, much to the disappointment of hordes of the organization's best friends, both within and without the Legion, passed by an overwhelming majority vote a resolution demanding full payment now by the Federal Government of the adjusted compensation (bonus) certificates, not due for more than twelve years. This question, prominently before the people of this country for some time, has, therefore, progressed to a very serious stage, for the government is not in a financial position to meet the demand, even if acceded to by the Congress. As remarked last month, the demand is unjust and unreasonable!

This question is of such vital importance to the Nation's wellbeing, voters should give it the most careful consideration. It has become a paramount issue in the national election campaign. Following the convention's action, United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, one of the nation's outstanding citizens, recognized internationally as a sound and conservative thinker, declared: "I am sorry the Legion thought it expedient and just to pass the resolution for the payment of the bonus at this time. I am sure it would have been far more satisfactory to the Legion hereafter if they had taken into consideration the condition of the country and awaited its recovery to some extent at least before acting.

"When 10,000,000 men and women face the winter without work; when homes are being lost and farms are being abandoned because of taxes and debts; when it is a very serious question of how the Government is going to get through the winter with its terrific load to carry, it would have been far better for the standing and reputation of the Legion if it had postponed action.

"If the Congress is made up of men worthy to represent a great people in an hour of trouble, it will respectfully, but firmly, say that the taxpayers of this country are carrying all the burden they can carry at this time and that these veterans must share the common load with the people and wait.

"But Congress ought not to be compelled to bear the brunt of this affair alone. Both political parties are now out asking the taxpayers for their votes. Now is the time the taxpayers can pass their resolution by their votes and protect their homes and their businesses."

President Herbert Hoover has steadfastly opposed payment now of this not-due bonus. He has been severely condemned by some, whereas he should be applauded by all for his courage. He has demonstrated in this instance that he has the "guts" to do that which he believes to be right, and for the best interest of the majority. He is a candidate for re-election to the presidency, and despite the fact that he knew that he would be further displeasing the powerful bonus advocates, he issued, during the Legion convention, a frank statement which should be digested by every voter. Quoting therefrom: "It is due to the country and to the veterans that there should be no misunderstanding of my position upon payment of the face value of the adjusted service certificates prior to maturity. . . . I have consistently opposed it. In public interest I must continue to oppose it. I have the duty not alone to see that justice and a sympathetic attitude is taken by this Nation toward the 4,000,000 veterans and their families, but also to exert myself for justice to the other 21,000,000 families to whom consummation of this proposal at this time would be a calamity.

"Cash payment of face value of certificates today would require an appropriation from the Treasury of about $2,300,000,000. No matter how or in what form the payment to the veterans is imposed, it will come out of all these families, but, of more importance, it will indefinitely set back any hope of recovery for employment, agriculture or business and will impose infinite distress upon the whole country.

"We owe justice and generosity to the men who have served under our Flag. Our people have tried to discharge that obligation. Regular expenditures on account of the veterans already constitute nearly a billion a year, or almost one-fourth of our whole Federal budget. Every right-thinking man has the deepest sympathy for the veteran suffering from disability, for those out of work or for veterans on farms struggling with the adversities of the depression . . . But there are many million others in the same circumstances. They, too, must be entitled to consideration. Their employment and their farm recovery, as well as that of the veterans, can be secured only by the restoration of the normal economic life of the Nation. . . . Anything that stands in the way must be opposed. The welfare of the Nation as a whole must take precedence over the demands of any particular group.

"I do not believe that the veterans generally really understand the adjusted service certificate law (so-called bonus law) which was proposed by themselves. In its simplest terms that law provides that an annual sum of about $112,000,000 is to be paid into a fund which, with compound interest, is calculated to amount to a total of $3,500,000,000, the face value of certificates to be distributed in 1945. Approximately $1,300,000,000 has been paid into this fund. Under the law of last year authorizing loans up to 50 percent of the face amount of the certificates, if we take into consideration loans made through the veterans' life insurance fund which will have to be repaid, all this accumulated sum and more has already been distributed. If the Government distributed to the veterans the $112,000,000 annually from now on it would represent the Government's obligation. If these sums be kept in the fund the Government adds compound interest on each installment and gives a life insurance right.

"By paying the adjusted service certificates at their 1945 face value now the Government would not only be paying all remaining thirteen annual installments in advance, but would be paying the compound interest upon them in advance. This would, I am advised, add about $2,250,000,000 to the amount which the people of the United States, acting through Congress, undertook to pay when they gave the certificates.

"No such sum is available. It cannot be raised by adding to the crushing burden of taxes which drain every family budget in our country today and weigh heavily on business struggling in the midst of depression. It cannot be borrowed without impairment of the credit of the National Government and thus destroy that confidence upon which our whole system depends. It is unthinkable that the Government of the United States should resort to the printing press and the issuance of fiat currency as provided in the bill which passed the House at the last session of Congress. . . .

"Such an act of moral bankruptcy would depreciate and might ultimately destroy the value of every dollar in the United States. It would cause the collapse of all confidence in our Government and would bring widespread ruin to the entire country and to every one of our citizens. Daniel Webster, 100 years ago, stated: 'He who tampers with the currency robs labor of its bread. He panders, indeed, to greedy capital, which is keen sighted, and may shift for itself; but he beggars labor, which is honest, unsuspecting and too busy with the present to calculate for the future. The prosperity of the working classes lives, moves and has its being in established credit, and a steady medium of payment.' And the experience of every government in the world since that day has confirmed Webster's statement.

"Let us not forget that while we have lost much in this depression, we still have much more to lose. And our whole future may be said to depend upon early recovery. . . . . The proposal to levy over $2,000,000,000 and to pay it to a particular group constitutes a fatal threat to the entire program of recovery to the success of which all must look for their wellbeing, security and happiness. In my judgment the enactment of any such proposal into legislation would be a deadly blow at the welfare of the Nation."

Speaking in the House of Representatives, July 6, on the bonus, Representative William A. Ayres of Kansas said, "I am not finding fault with those of the World War veterans who are making their demand at this time for the cash payment of their adjusted-compensation certificates, even though they are not due until 1945. I believe they have been misinformed. They have been misguided, used, and misused. They have been badly advised. No language of my own could as effectively demonstrate this as that used by a World War veteran Congressman, Representative Simmons, of Nebraska, who said:

" 'Demagogues on the floor of this House and elsewhere have repeatedly told the veteran he is not being well treated; that the Government owes him money; and that he should have it. Here are the figures, authenticated, based on facts, that our Government now is doing more for its veterans than all of the nations named in that list combined. Gentlemen, when you go back to your veterans and to your taxpayers, take these figures with you. Tell them the facts of the loyalty, the generosity, and the fairness of your Government and mine toward the veteran. Then, again, may I say to my comrades among the veterans, as I did briefly yesterday, that this table ought to tell the veterans themselves to stop in their demands upon the Treasury. When the taxpayers of the country find out the sums that Congress has paid and the amount that is being incessantly and constantly demanded by minority groups within the veterans, and by those nonveterans who curry political favor from veterans, the situation may develop in this country again that developed following the Revolutionary and Civil Wars, when the Nation demanded and secured a purging of

(DELMAR H. WILLIAMS.)

I'm settled in a peaceful spot—
I'm basking on the sand
To watch the tide that upward creeps
On old Pacific's strand.
Between the weaker waves that start
From out the halting sea,
By mighty combers sent, the foam
Is coming nearer me.

And even so the rising power
Of upward climbing men,
For it must backward fall before
It surges forth again.
The bravest souls retreat to crush
The fear of ages down
Before they make the bold advance
That earns a just renown.

CALEB DEVINE'S RETRIBUTION

Frances Fairchild

FOLLOWING THE ROUTE OF THE PIONEERS of 1849, east from Auburn or west from Placerville a distance of about an hour's ride, the traveler comes upon one of the prettiest towns in the mountains—Georgetown, El Dorado County. Like all her sister towns founded at that time, it was started and settled by men of all nationalities and creeds—intelligent, ignorant, influential in their native spheres, but swung loose from former habits, home memories, sentiments of morality. Outlaws and gamblers were trying their luck in a new land and all were plunging feverishly into the whirling tide that swept before and about them to delve for fabulous riches in the mines. Some wished to forget their past, others were just at the beginning of a career which seemed to have a golden outlook.

At this early period of history the nucleus of the present town was built in Georgetown Canyon, south of the main and business street of today, the dwellings and business houses in close proximity on either side of the sloping hills. Near the center of the town loomed the famous "Round Tent," looking like a huge circus canvas, and such a place as Placerville boasted of in the "Hangtown" days where the mixed element of humanity was wont to congregate, gamble, steal from each other, fight, and glean their wealth at any hazard. There was always someone in these tents from sunrise until sunset and from then until another day dawned for new adventure.

At the time the following tragedy was enacted there was not a house of worship or even a school for the boys and girls. The former ran about bareheaded and barefooted; the girls were more closely guarded by their mothers to keep them from hearing profanity and seeing an element of lawlessness which was rampant at most any time. Every house had its firearms polished and ready for use in case of a surprise at any moment, for who could tell at what time a drunken revel might end in bloodshed? This was a new country, peopled by classes from all walks of life.

There was gold aplenty then—on the banks of the clear streams, under the flowers and rocks and ferns; all that was needed was persistence of the quest. Shrubbery that cast reflections in the clear pools and crystal streams had roots fastened in pockets of the golden ore.

The primeval forests had not been subjected to the woodman's ax—the songs of the wild birds as they sat on the swaying branches of the trees echoed triumphantly through dells and canyons. The meadows and sloping hillsides were carpeted with hues of green and delicate tints of wild flowers, their perfume permeating the balmy spring air. The woodpeckers hammered the bark on the tree trunks, happy in their native element. Some of the wandering hunters were inspired by the voiceless stillness and the beauty of nature—others passed through the glades unheeding.

Among the inhabitants of this frontier town in 1850 were Caleb Devine and his wife, Mary. They came from the State of New York via the Isthmus of Panama. Their principal reason for leaving the East was that Caleb wished to begin life anew in a country of different environment. He was a sailor—an English sea captain and a deserter from the English army. Gray-headed, short, thick-set, broad-shouldered, and with piercing black eyes that twinkled from under long, shaggy eyebrows, one would turn about to look at him a second time. Like many a man who is his worst enemy, he loved old John Barleycorn. His wife, in hopes of reforming him, left her only child, a daughter, in the East while they sought refuge in this new land. The move proved a good one for a time. It had been a year now since Caleb had tasted the luring beverage. In the meantime he worked hard and steadily and accumulated quite a "stake." Seemingly they were a devoted and loving couple. Many there were who would sit in the waning light of the evening's glow beside his cottage door and listen to Caleb spin yarns of the land and briny deep as all old sailors love to do.

Mrs. Devine was just the opposite of her husband—gentle, refined, dignified, reserved, and always thoughtful for those about her and shrinking from the coarse and rude. In her deep blue eyes gleamed the spirit of "long ago." It may have been something from the deepest recesses of her soul, beyond the reach of the great action-throbbing hand of the present, which enveloped her; it may have been a memory standing sentinel to guard the gate through which a shadowy spirit might come again; it may have been love, for love outlives memory and lends a delucive rose-tint to life; it may have been that she sensed the coming of the unbidden guest with prophetic finger pointing to the portals of some distant star. At any rate, her inmost thoughts were stamped upon her sensitive features.

In the corner of their modest diningroom stood the firearms. Caleb had many of these, loaded and ready for action—one a double-barrelled shotgun. Of course, every one had these wicked harbingers, but to Mary Devine they were ill-omened; she never let her gaze fall upon them without a convulsive shiver. For, hadn't Caleb threatened her at times when filled with liquor?

There came a day when Caleb was feeling unusually genial. He entertained his friends within the portals of the "Round Tent" with story after story of the briny deep, interwoven with hair-breadth 'scapes—blood and thunder.

At last the loungers became fed up on salt-water tales, and Jim Davis proposed a game of cards. Within less time than it would take to tell it, stools were drawn up to the rude table, and the stakes, amounting to several thousand dollars, were piled in the center.

The tent was filled with dense tobacco smoke and each one in the crowd showed the excitement aroused by Caleb's bloodthirsty narratives. The game was in progress. Caleb was calm, fascinated, fixed to the spot. All the money he had with him was on that pile and it looked good to him.

"O, if I can only rake that into my jeans," he said to himself. He had been lucky at times; why not now? The thought fascinated him.

Among the gamblers was a tall, swarthy-looking individual with shifting, coal-black eyes, a long nose, firm thin lips, slick black hair. His hands were small, with long tapering fingers. During Caleb's story telling he sat studying each of the men. When Jim Davis said cards, his expression changed to one of furtive expectancy, and he lost no time in drawing his stool up to the table. He was cool; uninterested, seemingly.

The cards were dealt and the ones he held absorbed him. They played in silence and it was soon observed he was winning the game with amazing rapidity. His fellow players began to realize he was an old hand at the business and they might lose their all. Betting ran high and Caleb played like a madman. At length the pile of money was turned over to the stranger; he had played calmly. The expression of his face had not changed since the game began.

Caleb was not satisfied with the finish and wanted to play another game. He searched his pockets for more money, but they were empty. The moustached stranger sauntered to the bar and ordered liquor for the crowd. The glasses tinkled.

"Devine, old shipmate, have one with us to the luck of the 'Round Tent.' Your wife has you on parole in this new country, I am told, but have a nip with us for better times later on."

Caleb looked upon it, longed for it, but shook his grizzled head. "No, no, I've made a solemn promise to the missus, never agin."

The stranger put his hand on Caleb's shoulde and said: "Why let a woman rule you? Yo are old enough to do as you please. She wi never be the wiser."

At this, the stranger picked up the glass an pressed it upon him. "Drink, drink, old sal Drink to Californy and her gold." Caleb too it with trembling fingers, with misgivings crowd ing his consciousness, and drained the content

"Just that much—no more—a little will no hurt you—just this one—Mary will never know, the tempter whispered. "Then, never again, his consciousness replied. That one cup was th forerunner of many more. The promises h made were broken, forgotten. That night Mar watched beside the sotted man, while the odo of his breath, laden with the poisoned stil worm's fumes, filled the air about her.

From that time on the tempter lay coiled b the wayside. Caleb's mastery over self was los and he would go on protracted sprees, to th terror of his wife and the neighborhood. Whe sober, he was kind and considerate—a devote mate—a desirable neighbor. At such times h would implore Mary to keep the firearms out o sight, as he was irresponsible when drinking Then his one possessive thought was to kill hi wife. After that first drink out West, he san deeper and deeper into the slough of dissipation He was nearing the end of the trail. For month he had not threatened Mary. She became les wary.

Late one balmy June night the report of gun was heard. The first impression was o trouble at the "Round Tent." Few paid hee to it. The denizens of night life were soon scur rying about telling the startling news: "Cale Devine had shot his wife!" He had demande money several times during the evening. Sh had refused. He threatened her. Knowing hi insane desires she poured water in the gun bar rels to prevent discharge, but had neglected on of the barrels of the double-barrelled gun. Lat at night he again demanded money. Again sh refused. He became infuriated and grabbed th gun. Mary quickly extinguished the candlelight ran into the woodshed, closed the door an stepped to one side. Caleb pointed the gun t the spot where he saw his wife disappear an pulled the trigger. The one good charge wen through the door casing, striking Mary Devin between the shoulders and passing through th chest. The bullet was so close to the skin th doctor had no trouble in taking it out with hi penknife. Ready hands seized Caleb. The hurried him to the "Round Tent," where he wa tied hand and foot.

In the early morning Mary, in her suffering—the life blood oozing from her chest—calle shrilly for Caleb to come. Her wailing cr pierced his dazed senses. It seemed to sobe him; he gazed at his hands and feet, demandin to know "Where he was, what he had done."

"You shot your wife," they answered wit oaths. "It can't be so, it can't be so," h groaned. "Mary, my dear, come, tell me the lie—lie—lie. Tell me you are safe—that thi is an ugly dream—that I have lost my senses O, I wouldn't kill her, I'd die for her, my swee lassie."

"Yes, you have done just that cowardly thing, You do not deserve pity, and be sure you don' ask for it or we will take you to the nearest tre and hang you now." "O, God! Take me to her let me go," he shrieked. He became palsied—his lips bloodless. His entreaty was so pitifu they took him to her bedside, placed him in a chair and took the rawhide from his wrists.

Kindly hands were administering to Mrs. De vine's suffering. Gently they raised her an placed her in poor old Caleb's arms, so that he snowy head could rest upon his heaving breast As long as strength lasted she talked and prayed to him while her almost lifeless fingers tried to caress his rugged visage. They talked of the days when first they met—of their early married life—of the daughter so far away—of the strength of their love that brought them to Cali fornia. And she gave him many fond messages to carry to their only child.

"No, no, dear one, I shall never see our sweet Joan. Don't you know that I, too, shall soon be with you in a better land? They will lose no time to hang me as soon as you are sleeping." "I have left a message for them not to harm you. O, they will not, they will not," she gasped.

And while they bade each other a last earthly farewell, men surrounded the house ready to grab him the moment Mary Devine had closed her eyes in death, and mete out to him the punishment he so richly deserved. Mary's voice grew fainter and fainter; her fluttering gasps were no longer intelligible. Soon after, those in

(ETHEL BRODT WILSON.)

I wander in my garden of hills
As a child wanders in a garden of flowers.
My nostrils quiver to their scent,
Their touch is upon my heart.
Their color is a narcotic
That quiets my rebellious longing
And brings forgetfulness—
From my heart the years slip away.

I would not change the mountain-roofs
For shelter of a town—
Let me stay
An humble tenant
Where I have wakened
To hear the orioles singing
Along the rim of morning,
The stars and moon still shining.

I have learned the beauty of the mountains,
And their rhythm,
I have seen them from the mists of dawn
Emerging—
They move me and leave me shaken.
Here my soul has had preparation for immortality,
Here is the blue of eternity—
Here let me stay.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

AT THE CLOSE OF OCTOBER 1882 THE political situation in California was badly mixed. In fact, so many complications had arisen, wagering on the result of the November election was considered inadvisable by the wise ones. Both the Republican and the Democratic candidates for governor were wine makers. Chilo Estes made speeches, he did not satisfy an discontented; Stoneman made no speeches, and no one knew where he stood on controversial issues.

With delegates from twenty eight counties in attendance, a Farmers Anti-monopoly party convention was held at Stockton, San Joaquin County, October 7. Attempting to name a ticket for the guidance of farmers, by the selection of candidates from among Republican and Democratic nominees, the gathering disbanded in a rumpus. As a majority of the delegates proved to be extreme partisans.

The Negro voters, disgruntled because they had not received political recognition by the major parties, had a state convention October 1, attended by 250 delegates. It split in two then, by a small majority, the Democratic ticket was endorsed.

The split in the Republican party in San Francisco over the municipal ticket was bridged through the efforts of party leaders, and the "Buffers" and the "Bluffers" united forces. This union was followed by the coming into being of the "Taxpayers," and so, another opposition ticket entered the field.

"Unusual" weather, for a fortnight, ushered in October. Rain began falling the 1st and continued at intervals to the 16th, the precipitation totaling 2.59 inches. There was a heavy frost the 4th. The "oldest inhabitant" had no recollection of a parallel season. The inclement weather did no good. In fact, it damaged the grape and the grain crops to the extent of many thousands of dollars.

The Los Angeles County Fair opened October 7 at Los Angeles City. Prominent among the exhibits were 200 varieties of grapes, and a large array of bottled wines and brandies. The Siskiyou County Fair opened at Yreka, October 11.

The apple crop of the Llewelling orchard at San Lorenzo, Alameda County, was sold at a dollar a box and shipped to China.

At Sacramento, October 17, 700 bales of hops were sold for $85,000, and they went to England. Owing to a short crop in Europe, buyers had boosted the price for California-grown hops to more than fifty cents a pound. In consequence, state brewers raised the price of lager beer to eight dollars for a ten-gallon keg.

In Mendocino County, so many schoolchildren went to work picking hopes at seventy-five cents a day the public schools in several districts were closed until the season ended.

During the spring months of 1882, 4,600,000 grape vines were set out in Los Angeles County, which now had a total of 13,370,000 vines. Plans were being made to plant a few million additional vines in 1883.

The San Francisco Board of Trade, at a meeting October 21, passed a resolution urging the Federal Congress to build a Nicaragua canal.

A disastrous forest fire swept down Mission Canyon, Santa Barbara County, October 16, destroying seven farmhouses, a schoolhouse, several barns and other property, and causing a $50,000 loss. Other conflagrations during the month were:

Star brewery, Eureka, Humboldt County, 1st, $15,000 loss; Kelly & Co. paint store, San Francisco, 4th, $20,000 loss; J. Riley's farmhouse and buildings near Chico, Butte County, 4th, $10,000 loss; Hoen winery, Windsor, Sonoma County, 4th, $50,000 loss; armory hall and several businesshouses at Woodland, Yolo County, 15th, $25,000 loss; Livermore, Alameda County, flourmill, 17th, $20,000 loss; several business blocks at Truckee, Nevada County, 27th, $100,000 loss.

Two 13-year-old lads were arrested for committing a highway robbery near Wheatland, Yuba County, October 1. Armed with four revolvers, they stopped a Chinaman. When he saw a gun directed toward him from every point of the compass, the Chink dropped upon his kneees and handed over seven dollars.

Deer, grouse and quail were so plentiful in the Sierra foothills the lumberjacks of mills in Placer and Nevada Counties notified their employers that unless beef and pork were served them at meals, in place of so much wild game, they would quit.

Los Angeles County was shaken by an earthquake at 2 a. m. of October 8, and Merced the County had a shake at 7 12 p. m. of October 11.

The Bald Mountain mine at Forest City, Sierra County, October 10 unearthed a six pound gold nugget worth $1,200.

The North Bloomfield, Nevada County, hydraulic mine cleaned up its sluice after a twenty day run. The gold dust, weighing 150 pounds, was valued at $41,000.

A call was issued for a convention of farmers to meet November 1 at Santa Cruz City to form a protective organization against the manufacture and the sale of oleomargarine.

Frank Ledden, aged 17, and another lad, skylarking with shotguns near Alviso, Santa Clara County, October 8, was accidentally killed.

N. Lauridsen, attempting to lasso an infuriated bull on Wood Island, was gored to death.

Bright N. Noll, aged 18, was thrown from a horse at Bakersfield, Kern County, and killed.

George Crandall, a miner at Dogtown, Nevada County, at a ball October 26 was married to Miss Mary Atkins of Nimshew. After dancing all night he took the bride to her home in a buggy. Returning with the rig to Dogtown, he fell asleep, the team went over an embankment, and he was killed.

Charles Addington of Auburn, Placer County, early in the summer bought a bunch of bananas in which he found an egg. He placed it in a dish, which was covered and put in a cupboard. This month he accidentally uncovered the dish and found in it a three inch-long live alligator.

October 21, the San Francisco police arrested seventy-seven intoxicated persons, among them nine females, for minor law infractions. Most of them were unable to navigate.

Fourteen-year-old Willie Keen, as sharp as his name, boarded an east-bound train at Sacramento City, October 16, with a New York ticket. A policeman, suspicioning him, took him in charge and a search of his clothing produced $2,885, which he acknowledged picking up the previous day on a west bound train. Willie was taken to Oakland, Alameda County, where he was identified as the lad who had relieved a peddlar of his horse and wagonload of watermelons.

"HISTORIC SPOTS IN CALIFORNIA"—THE SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

By Hero Eugene and Ethel Grace Rensch; Stanford University Press, Stanford University, California, Publisher; Price, $2.50.

This work, sponsored by the California State Conference of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is the first of a series calling attention to historic spots in California, the southern counties being featured. "The purpose," as set forth in the preface, "is threefold: to create interest in the local history of California among its citizens, both juvenile and adult; to make knowledge of the historic spots of the different localities available, . . . and to arouse a statewide interest in the preservation of those vanishing historic landmarks which still survive." Truly, a most commendable purpose!

An introduction, by Dr. Robert G. Cleland of Occidental College, Los Angeles, summarizes the history of California to the completion of the first transcontinental railway, in 1869. "On this voyage [1542] Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo and his companion, [Bartolome] Ferrelo, in two tiny ships, the 'San Salvador' and the 'Victoria,' sailed the full length of the California coast and for the first time made known to Europeans the characteristics and vast extent of the land which stretched away to the north above the peninsula of Lower California," he says. "The leader of the first overland expedition to California [1826] was Jedediah Strong Smith, . . . one of the greatest explorers in the annals of Western America, an outstanding contributor to the history of California and the true pathfinder of the Sierra. . . . The formal transfer [by Mexico] of the territory [California] to the United States did not take place until the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo on February 2, 1848."

"With the coming of the railways," concludes Dr. Cleland, "California entered upon its present-day development. . . . Looking on toward the future one's imagination is scarcely bold enough to visualize the destiny which awaits California. Looking to the past one [illegible], realizing [illegible], comparing a [illegible] of the great drama of international affairs and of the development of the United States, made possible by the acts of Spain which were done [illegible] and touched everywhere by a moment of true greatness. To identify and preserve the landmarks where so many of the stirring episodes of the history centered is surely to render a lasting service to the state." A laudable purpose, indeed, which can be in no manner better fulfilled than by the Order of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West.

In describing several of the most important historic spots in Imperial, Inyo, Los Angeles, Mono, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties much authentic history to date is presented. Practically all of the data has been heretofore presented in The Grizzly Bear during its quarter-century-and-more of publication. Referring to Imperial County, the authors say: "Probably the first White man to touch California soil was Hernando de Alarcon," who "reached the mouth of the Colorado River on August 17 or 18 [1540]; . . . It can hardly be doubted that he landed at various times on the California side of the river." Quoting further from "Historic Spots in California":

In San Diego County, "Padre Junipero Serra, on July 16, [1769], founded Mission San Diego de Alcala, mother of the Alta California missions." Referring to Santa Barbara County, "The land expedition from Mision San Diego to Monterey Bay, under direct command of Gaspar de Portola, left San Diego on July 14, 1769. . . . On August 18, Portola reached a very large native town on the site of the modern city of Santa Barbara." "As early as 1772, Pedro Fages traversed the region of the Cajon Pass," in San Bernardino County, "while on his way north into the San Joaquin Valley." In Riverside County is "San Carlos Pass, the first inland gateway to the coast of California, discovered by Captain Juan Bautista de Anza in 1774 on the first continuous overland journey into the state."

"The first Spanish grant made in Alta California was the great Rancho San Rafael,"—comprising 36,000 acres in Los Angeles County now the sites of Glendale, Eagle Rock and other modern towns—"granted to Jose Maria Verdugo on October 20, 1784." In Ventura County "is one of the most famous adobes in California. Located on Rancho Camulos, . . . and famous as the setting for part of 'Ramona'." In Orange County is "Anaheim, . . . one of the oldest colony experiments in the state, started in 1857 by some Germans, chiefly from San Francisco." Aurora, the first county seat of Mono County, in 1864 was found to be in Nevada State, so Bridgeport became the government-seat. "Monoville," in that county, "the first settlement of any consequence east of the Sierra and south of Lake Tahoe, was different from the majority of mining camps in that it 'left no notable record of crime'." Inyo County "contains within its borders a more varied topography [Mount Whitney and Death Valley] than any other equal territory on this continent, probably than any other in the world."

"Historic Spots in California" is most interesting, throughout. It should be possessed, and its contents digested, by every lover of California. Its sponsors are deserving of unstinted commendation.

"LEATHER DOLLARS."

By Ana Begue Packman; The Times-Mirror Press, Los Angeles, Publisher; Price, $1.00.

This is a collection, quoting the author, of "The simple stories of the neighboring ranchos and rancheros of El Pueblo de Los Angeles, told me by my grandaunt and my mother: folktales, legends, songs, customs and the intimacies of a Hispano-California household, handed down throughout the generations. My grandaunt, Estefana Reyes Olivera, daughter of Spanish founders, was born in 1836; . . . My mother, Louisa Reyes Alaniz, was born on February 17, 1854. Both were born in El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles." A small book that affords much enjoyment.

EARLY HISTORY OF MARYSVILLE

Esther R. Sullivan

(Past Grand President N.D.G.W.)

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start,
When memory plays an old tune on the heart."

ONE OF THE PRIMAL OBJECTS OF the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West is to perpetuate in memory the glorious deeds of the pioneer men and women of California. So today, Marysville Parlor No. 162 is very happy to participate in placing this tablet in this historic park in memory of the pioneer men and women who made Marysville possible.

John A. Sutter, the pioneer of pioneers, secured a grant of land from the Mexican governor in 1839. It included parts of Sacramento and Placer Counties, the valley portion of Yuba County, all of Sutter County, and a small portion of Colusa County.

Theodore Cordua obtained in 1842 from Sutter a lease of the land on which Marysville is located. Cordua erected at the foot of "D" street an adobe building which was later used as a trading post. Captain Sutter called the new settlement New Mecklenburg. This name was never popular, so the names Yuba River, Nye's Ranch and Yubaville were given to this settlement.

In 1846, Charley Covillaud and Michael Nye arrived and secured employment from Cordua. During the spring of 1847, the Murphy family, survivors of the Donner Party, came to the new settlement on the Yuba River. The family consisted of William G. Murphy, one of our honored pioneers; a sister, Mrs. Foster; her husband, William Foster; another sister, Mrs. Pike, and her 3-year-old daughter, Naomi, and an unmarried sister, Mary Murphy.

During 1847, Covillaud became a partner of Cordua. Another adobe building was erected at the foot of "D" street. One building was used as a lodginghouse and the other as a boardinghouse. In 1848, Foster became a member of the firm, which was known as Nye, Foster & Covillaud. Covillaud married Mary Murphy, and Nye married Mrs. Pike.

After the discovery of gold, Yubaville became a thriving settlement. When the great influx of goldseekers came to California in 1849, Stockton, Sacramento and Marysville were the important towns for access to the mines. They were easily contacted by river boats. Forty thousand men stayed in Marysville overnight on their way to the mines. They could secure a place to sleep, but had to provide their blankets.

Stephen J. Field arrived in January 1850. He was a welcome addition, for his services as a lawyer were needed. Covillaud had purchased the land which previously had been leased, and was selling lots. Field immediately began preparing deeds for the purchasers. After three days' residence here an election was held and Field was elected alcalde. Shortly thereafter he called the people of the vicinity into conference to discuss many necessary details for the development of the new town.

It was decided that Yubaville was too similar to Yuba City, so Rev. Wadsworth proposed calling the new town Marysville, in honor of Mrs. Mary Murphy-Covillaud, the wife of Charley Covillaud and a survivor of the ill-fated Donner Party. The new name met with the approval of all present. Mrs. Covillaud was loved for her many acts of kindness. Covillaud many times reported at his home that a young man was ill at the lodginghouse; Mrs. Covillaud immediately went to see him and, if necessary, stayed and nursed him back to health; if financial aid was needed for him to resume his journey to the mines, she gave that assistance. So the name Marysville was given in honor of a woman whose beauty of character and deeds of kindness made the way easier for those far from home and friends.

Stephen J. Field wrote the city charter adopted in 1850. S. M. Miles was elected the first mayor. His grave in the old City Cemetery is appropriately marked.

All the business houses fronted on the Yuba River, as all freight was delivered by boats. In 1850 the U. S. Hotel, a canvas structure, was on the east side of "D" street, between First and Second streets. The City Hotel, another canvas structure, was at First and "D" streets. All resident tents were scattered between Second street and the river. Old drygoods and grocery boxes were sold for two and three dollars. When torn apart, they formed excellent floors for the canvas tents.

In the state superintendent of public instruction's first report, in 1852, Marysville is reported as having thirty pupils, taught by Tyler Thatcher and wife. D. A. Stone became principal of the Marysville school in 1854, and served until 1868; he later became deputy city school superintendent of San Francisco. The "B" street school building was erected in 1858. The Convent of Notre Dame was built in 1856, and opened for pupils as soon as completed.

Father Peter Magganotta began the erection of the first Catholic church in September 1852 on the site of the present parochial residence. The cornerstone of St. Joseph's church was laid September 10, 1855, by Archbishop J. S. Alemany. Covillaud gave the land where St. Joseph's church and the College of Notre Dame are located. The cornerstone for St. John's Episcopal church was laid in 1854; it is the oldest Episcopalian church in Northern California, and is admired for its architectural beauty and simplicity of interior decoration. The Presbyterian Church was erected in 1861; it is a beautiful edifice in English Gothic, built after the mode of the fourteenth century, and is considered one of the beauty spots of Marysville.

The lack of roads in the mountains made packing by mules a necessity. In 1852, 100 packmules left here daily for the mines. W. H. Parks, another prominent pioneer who represented this vicinity in the State Legislature, ran a pack train to Foster's Bar. He proposed the name of Downieville for that thriving mountain settlement. Later wagons were employed in transporting supplies to the mines. Over 400 of them were used in freighting out of Marysville. Pack animals, and teams that pulled the wagons, totaled about 6,000, a great number to be fed and cared for in a small settlement. The California Stage Company was located on "B" street, between First and Second streets, the site of the old woolen mills. The company had a capitalization of $1,000,000. It carried passengers from Sacramento to Portland, and from Marysville to the various mining districts.

The prominent members of the bar associated with Stephen J. Field were Judge I. S. Belcher, William Belcher, Gabriel Sweezy and Charles DeLong. The latter became Minister to Japan. Field spent many years as a chief justice of the Supreme Court in Washington.

In this park in which we are assembled, known as Cortez Square, the State Agricultural Society erected a pavilion in 1858. The building was in the form of a cross, and surmounting the center of the roof was a large glass dome. French doors and windows were on every side. The Fifth State Fair was held here in 1858. It began August 23 and continued for five days. Among the exhibitors were Sutter, Bidwell, Lassen and Kit Carson. The latter had an interesting collection of relics and souvenirs of his eventful career. The building was later destroyed by fire.

Many excellent pioneer women came to Marysville. Through their influence followed the church and the school, to prepare for our future citizens. "The pioneer mother went forth with courage as her loadstone, with love as her guide, with a song on her lips, and a lantern in her hand to light the way for future generations."

To these pioneer men and women of Marysville we owe a debt of gratitude for their courage, their self-sacrifices, and their great vision in creating the possibilities which are the realities of today. "We love the dear old pioneers who made us what we are, and gave to us our glorious State, the Nation's brightest star."

(This is the address delivered at Marysville, Yuba County, by Miss Esther R. Sullivan, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., at the dedication of the fountain erected in memory of the men and women who founded that city. An account of the dedication appeared in The Grizzly Bear for August 1932.—Editor.)

SPIRIT OF OUTLAWRY MILITATES AGAINST DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Let me express my appreciation of the "Grizzly Growl" on the Eighteenth Amendment, which appears in the first column of your September issue. You are quite right in the suggestion that the Federal Government is under solemn obligation to "compel respect for and compliance with our Constitution," and that it is no part of this obligation to seek to amend the Constitution merely to satisfy those who defy the Government and hold it in disrespect.

The amendments to our Federal Constitution, being part and parcel of the Constitution itself, must be secure and safe from the clamor of noisy minorities. It is a plain dictate of good citizenship that those who hold the law in cor tempt shall themselves be answerable to th law; theirs is the spirit of outlawry, a spirit tha militates against democratic government an tends to breed anarchy.

The way to see the Eighteenth Amendmer more perfectly enforced is clear—that is, for th people to refuse absolutely to participate in th liquor traffic, which means that they shall al stain from alcoholic drink. If all the men wh have been lifting up their voices in complair about the non-enforcement of the prohibitio laws would themselves consistently practice pe sonal prohibition, there would be no prohibitio problem, and the nation would be vastly bette off. Incidentally, the "spread of disrespect" o account of the Eighteenth Amendment woul immediately disappear from the land.

I am as thoroughly opposed to the liquor tra fic in the United States as I was when strivin for the enactment of the Eighteenth Amen ment, and for the same reasons. I believe th Amendment to be sound and salutary; and conceive it to be my duty as well as my privileg as a citizen to obey and uphold it with all goo citizens, to "promote the general welfare and s cure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves an our posterity."

CONDITION MUST BE CHANGED, OTHERWISE DIRE RESULTS FOLLOW

Editor Grizzly Bear—I am one of the "Nativ Sons," born at Indian Diggings, El Dorado Cou ty, in 1856, so you see I am one of the veteran

My personal history does not matter, but wish to offer a word of praise for the "Grizzl Growls" that you are publishing in the mag zine. I hope you will continue till the Nativ Sons of California are aroused to their respons bilities and impressed with the duty of correc ing many of the evils that congest state, coun and city government, to say nothing of th nation.

The evils all center around too numerou functions of government that do not benefit th people in general, or at least are not necessar These are in the form of commissions, bureau and useless individual appointees at a tremen dous public expense.

If the condition cannot be changed or im proved, I really believe that the final result wi be the abandonment of private property and drift into a form of socialism, or else the estal lishment of a dictator as Italy was forced to d in order to prevent socialism.

ANAHEIM FOUNDED BY GERMANS TO SUPPLY WINE SHORTAGI

Anaheim, Orange County, was originall founded in 1858—by fifty German settlers wh came to California during the gold rush—as co-operative project for the cultivation of win grapes. Such is the story told by Hallock R Raup in a booklet entitled "The German Colon zation of Anaheim." Two names for the colon were proposed, "Anaheim"—home on the Sant Ana—and "Anagua," and the former won out b a single vote. From Juan Pacifico Ordivera owner of Rancho de los Coyotes, about 1,00 acres were purchased at $2 per acre.

Raup says the idea of establishing Anahei apparently arose from San Francisco's need fo an augmented wine supply in the '50s. Lack o harmony dissolved the co-operative organizatio in September 1859, and each of the shareholo ers was given twenty acres and a business lot o Main street. The Germans, however, continue their efforts, and the wine output increased an nually from 75,000 gallons in 1861 to 1,250, 000 gallons in 1884. The size of the townshi was also increased, to 3,200 acres. The chang from grape growing to citrus culture starte about 1884, following an epidemic of some vin disease which killed off the vineyards and threa ened the Anaheim colony with economic disaste

WILL STRENGTHEN FAITH

AT SUNRISE THE MORNING OF SUNDAY, September 11, Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West and Grand President Seth Millington of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West moved earth atop Mount Davidson, in the City of San Francisco, thereby participating in an event destined to hold forth particular significance in the history not only of California, but also of both illustrious Orders. Upon this spot, the highest in the city, 938 feet above sea level, there is to be erected a giant structure, designated as the "Sunrise Easter Cross," one hundred feet in hight, its top to stand 1,038 feet above the heaving surface of the Pacific, and to remain for all time as an emblem and shrine for the adherents of all Christian religions.

Originally, The Cross was left as a heritage to mankind by The Savior of civilization. For more than two thousand years it has beckoned humans on towards the achievement of better things through the medium of its inspiration, to emulate the example of The Christ, and wherever there has been an advance of civilization, there The Cross has been planted. The vanguard of civilization came here through the Spaniards, and as the padres conquered the wilderness and inculcated the doctrines of their church in the heart of the Indian they established in each spot the emblem of faith —The Cross.

James G. Decatur was inspired to construct the first cross upon Mount Davidson, and the first sunrise Easter service was held there in 1923. He rallied many friends and associates to support the project, and the San Francisco district immediately adopted the cross and services as an institution. The first cross was a wooden one, forty feet in hight; it was replaced by another, eighty feet high. Unknown persons proceeded to burn the second structure, as they did the one that followed, the latter being seventy feet high.

Decatur, Clarence F. Pratt and the local group of San Franciscans who were interested then decided to have a permanent cross built with materials that would endure and which could not be destroyed. This time it will be made of concrete and steel. The grand officers of both the Native Sons and Native Daughters graciously agreed not only that the new and permanent cross should be constructed, but also gladly cooperated, and the result was that when ground was broken it was done under their auspices.

The hard rock and earth were loosened by Grand President Millington, who wielded a pick. Grand President Armstrong plied a shovel. The first earth removed was placed in a metal box held by Decatur, and it will be placed in the cornerstone, together with other important souvenirs and documents, in the not-distant future.

The sunrise dedicatory speech was delivered by Lewis F. Byington, Past Grand President N.S.G.W. Other prominent officers of the two Orders present and participating included: Junior Past Grand President Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Trustees Jesse H. Miller, Horace J. Leavitt, Joseph J. McShane and Charles H. Spengemann of the Native Sons, Grand Trustee Ethel Begley and Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini of the Native Daughters. In their addresses they stressed what this, the highest cross in the world, stands for and will accomplish.

"It is fitting," said Grand President Millington, "that we should today initiate an event which will add greater honor to our Order in the great city located on the peninsula between the great Pacific and San Francisco Bay. We shall be happy when it shall be completed and the eyes of the millions may daily note this pure-white emblem pointing upward as a true inspiration of truth and faith."

"This cross will strengthen our faith in God," commented Grand President Armstrong. "It will strengthen church attendance. Next spring there may be 100,000 pilgrims of faith attending the Easter service here at sunrise, and there will be millions listening in as the services are broadcast over the radio. This cross will be the greatest of its kind in the world, and will serve to remind us that from the high places have come the dearest precepts of religion. Here, then, in San Francisco, this wonder city, we, the Daughters of the Golden West, feel a pride in offering our small help in dedicating another shrine which will lift the minds of women and men from worrying about material things to those consoling reflections which tend to sooth troubled minds. May the gleam from the lights of this cross remind us that the brotherhood of man is a religious tenent." At the conclusion of the ground-breaking ceremony the grand officers of the Orders, together with members of the Sunrise Easter Service Committee, were breakfast guests of Ernest Drury.

PASTORAL

(GERTRUDE MOORE.)

So cool, so quietly it came,
Like a river flowing,
I only knew that love was here
And it would not be going.

So sure, so even was his step,
So quietly he came,
I looked up once and saw him there
And Heaven was his name.

He didn't speak; I didn't smile;
The day was all around us;
We sat among the singing flowers
And gentle beauty found us.

CENTURY-OLD PEAR TREES PRODUCE.

Pear trees 126 years old are bearing fruit in an orchard at Mission San Juan Bautista, San Benito County. Evidently, says Dr. W. P. Tufts of the University of California pomology division, these pears were planted by the padres during the mission days of California, for they are growing in orchards at several other missions. The variety is similar to some that are grown today, but is identical with none of the present-day pears.

TARNISHED GOLD

Ruth Parle

"And my knife shall never rust from the want of blood!"

THE SHADOWS OF APPROACHING twilight were playing hide and seek behind huge moss-covered rocks. How long had those rocks been there? Parts of them were now blasted away, making a site for a thriving town, "the gem of the Southern mines," and its ever-increasing populous.

Saturday night always brought the people to the hight of excitement, it seemed; there was invariably a murder, holdup, robbery, street brawl, or something. The Fandango House on one side of the street with the men in high heels, front shirts ruffled, lace in their sleeves, wide-brimmed hats with ball fringes dangling, and sash at the waist—was a center of attraction.

Down the street, on the other side, lived old Dr Sharno and his pet lion. Fun the women had when that pet went for a walk. And then, there was old Mr. Ghen, who rented the barracks and lived there with "French Mary," she who went out riding mounted upon a gay nag, with a long sweeping black skirt habit and a white plume in her hat.

The tumult hightened as the throng of over 15,000 men crowded the streets and stores to sell their gold dust. Saturday night the successful miner made merry, while the unlucky one drowned his sorrows in wine. Even down in Chinatown and in the Chinese theatre there was much noise to make the evening hideous. Even on rainy nights this town could not be stopped.

A native village was an adjunct of the town -Diggers they were called—and John Cook, a White man with a squaw wife, took charge of the place, very dirty with many dogs and fleas. These Indians turned out enmasse after a rain, each armed with a goose quill, and patiently gathered the gold particles left in the street.

On this particular night everything was in commotion. It seemed to have been a prosperous week for everyone. Strangers were going in and out of the old town continuously. Over by the Broadway House stood a dark young man who had come into the town at noon. His sombrero, slouched down over his forehead, failed to hide entirely the sparkling Spanish eyes and the handsome face. His zarrape, of bright colors, swung over his shoulder, betrayed his fatherland. He had been wandering up and down the crooked streets with an air which told of nobility and wealth. He was a true caballero, and a vaquero too. "I saw him ride in, 'twas in the heat of the day, and that lad rode with never a thought about it. Strange, he was; his quietness got on my nerves. You know, those were the days when men walked around with their hands upon their holsters. If this muchacho had not been Don Murietta, many a man would have walked past him with an eye to their guns."

The night had worn on midst the noises and colors of the pioneer town, and lights were going out, one by one, as the early hours of the morning came on. The streets were practically deserted as Old Tom, the only representative of the government and the man who weighed all men's gold, walked on his way home after closing the postoffice. Yes, the old town is wealthy tonight, mused the old fellow; he had weighed $20,000 worth of gold since seven o'clock that morning. Quite a day's work!

Thus he walked along, but suddenly stopped. Was someone calling him? He looked around; no, no one was there. Tom was not a nervous fellow, but he actually jumped a little when he heard someone call his name softly. Turning, he saw no one. Too much work for his nerves that day, he consoled himself as he continued on his way. By this time the full summer moon hid behind a cloud, and as things darkened he again heard his name whispered softly. This time he turned not around; in his back he felt the hard iron of a revolver. The voice asked for the key to the office, but Old Tom was not a coward, and he turned on his man. A look of surprise, then full recognition, came over his face.

The neighbors came running out as they heard the report of a revolver. Old Tom was lying upon his face in the street, a pool of blood on the ground. Someone had worked fast and thoroughly. The next day Tom was laid away in the old churchyard on the hill. As the old keeper went, so the keepings; they found the rusty iron box open and empty.

As days went on the puzzle grew deeper, and finally folks began to shake their grey heads and sigh. Saturday night had come again, and the streets had barely a soul in them. A few drank their wine and felt gay. But a man makes not merry when his life blood is gone; his gold is his life blood.

All week Don Murietta—that was the dark stranger of the previous week who had now become quite the favorite of the town—had been lazying in the hot summer sun. The belles of the town were often favored by the presence of the dark-clad Spaniard. He was liberal with his gold, and many a man became his friend over the bar.

The ground had barely hardened on the grave of Old Tom when, in the cool of the evening, shots disturbed the quietude. With the first outbreak men came running to the old Fandango, where the shots had evidently originated. The lamps were out, all except one, which had come blazing to the dance floor from its hanging wire attached to the ceiling. The dancers had rushed to the door, while men fought with fists and chairs or tables, which they flung at any onrushing assailant. The oil from the old lamps ran in streams over the floor, leaving tongues of flame in all directions. The dried wood burned quickly, and flames broke out everywhere. Other fallen lamps brought blazes of brilliant red to dark corners, betraying terrified faces of occupants of the doomed place. Buildings caught fire, one by one, and soon most of the town was ablaze. Men with leaking buckets ran to the scene of disaster, finding to their greatest dismay that all their effort was of no avail.

In every pioneer town there was a place much favored in time of war, but much terrifying in time of fire, the ammunition house. If those snaky tongues of fire were to make their lightning-like way to that horrible spot the town would be no more—years of endless toil vanishing to bits of wood scattered here and there, and the site, perhaps, a giant hole left as an only landmark.

In one last desperate attempt at saving the pot of Midas gold all horses and wagons available had been loaded with ammunition, which was then conveyed to a place outside the range of fire. The smoke was so dense one could not see. The horses were blindfolded and driven through the street to safety. That white heat scorched the hair from their hides, but the ammunition went through. Don Murietta, at the head of these horses, raced them through for fear the flying sparks might light the ammunition. Time and again he ran fearlessly into a flaming house, bringing out in his arms an unconscious girl or her mother.

It was during this fury of excitement that Dr. Sharno's lion broke loose. Its yellow body could be seen flying at the back of some man or showing its fangs to some fainting woman. It was crazed by the flames and ran through the streets at lightning speed. In the center of the roadway lay French Mary, prostrate. The onrushing lion stopped short as it came upon her. It would have been a work of but a few minutes had not the dashing caballero leaned down from his horse and picked up the fainting woman. Murietta showed all his skill as he worked that night fighting against the fire-god. A fire is bad enough, without having a crazed pet lion running loose, so the jungle beast was a good target for the vaquero's good marksmanship.

Jim, the new man in Old Tom's place, had rushed up into the blanket of flames toward the Mill Bank. The people had lost their money, and they would not lose it again, if he could help it. As he rounded the corner of a wall he heard the pound of a hammer upon iron. Had someone beat him to it? He would sneak up on the intruder and see if it be friend or enemy. The hammering ceased as he entered the building. A black shadow moved swiftly out of sight. There was the iron box, open. He clenched his fists as he stood over the empty box. What was this? A black glove lay beside the iron container. He leaned over to pick it up. Soft footsteps came from behind. It must be the crackling of the flames close by. Was someone calling him? He was sure he heard his name called softly this time. There was someone behind him! He clenched the glove in his hand. The owner of that glove was near. Yes, he saw the initials, and he knew them. He reached for his gun. He had his man. He turned around and drew his weapon. His face showed surprise, then recognition, as he slumped to the floor, the unfired gun clutched limply in his dead fingers.

As the first stray ray of sun pierced through dawn's grey mantel and the wavering spirals of smoke wound their way up from the ruins, homeless wanderers could be seen searching the ruins of the part of the town which had been burned. They came to the bank, which had fortunately been untouched by the flames. They looked through the windows of broken glass, and started back with amazement. Was that a fallen fixture? The door was open, and the men thronged in. On closer investigation they found Jim lying upon his face, a bullet hole in his heart.

Their gold was gone again! Would that golden gem dazzle for them once more in this apparently God-forsaken town? There were two new graves on the hillside now, and people concluded that the last straw had been pulled. Every eye searched for the burglar-murderer.

One day the town felt the thrill of excitement once again. A horseman had ridden in, telling the town that a gang of thieves and cut-throats were hiding in the hills. He told of their leader, a blood-thirsty young man whose adventures were now spreading like wildfire over Northern and Central California. "And who do ye think he be?" asked one excited miner of the breathless messenger.

"Wal, this is the story from what I've gathered on my way up heer. I heerd that you folks was havin' some trouble with a gold bug. He was born in Sonora, Mexico, of a wealthy family. And he was edjicated, too. 'Magine a edjicated man turnin' cut-throat—wal that's what he done. Edjication never did nobody no good.

"Wal, enyhow, his older brother, Carlos, goes up in ter California and gits married and sech. Wal, up comes some horse stealing and, as usual, a Mexican hangs fer it. Meanwhile this heer gang leader, he was a good feller then, he comes huntin' fer his brother. On his way up heer he falls in love with Carmen, a black-eyed senorita, and they marries. Enyway, when they finds out that Carlos is dead they moves up ter Hangtown, where he staked a claim. Them miners up thar is awful upish and they orders him ta git. He won't do it, and they revolt and kill Carmen."

The men had now walked with the storyteller to the old hotel. There he told them of how, out of the torture of nightmare, the boy awoke a bitter enemy of all men and vowing that revenge would be his until the last bit of strength had faded from his being. Thus he went, wandering over the hills, to strange places, becoming at the age of nineteen a man-beast terror bandit of California.

Months and years passed while Mexican outcasts, riff-raff of the mining camps, joined the boy-terror. His band grew from a few to hundreds. Here his word was law; he was respected by them all. He was a tyrant in his rule. In a virgin canyon just east of Pachecho Pass the gang built their camp. There were three lieutenants, Rinaldo Felix, the brother of Carmen; Joaquin Valenzuela, and a wild beast named Manuel Garcia who, having lost a finger, was called "Jack Three Fingers."

Through campaigns of horror went the gentle eyed boy-leader, yet wielding always his bloody knife. He appeared in a thousand different disguises—once a monk, again a gambler, but always a good sport. He killed in fair battles, but he struck quickly and accurately, giving his opposer hardly a chance.

As the messenger finished his tale a long hearty laugh rang out over the group of silent listening men. "And what is hees name, senor?" laughed the joyful Murietta, one of the most earnest listeners. "Joaquin Murietta," replied the messenger, pronouncing each syllable slowly and looking Murietta full in the eye.

Murietta, stepping back a few feet, drew from his sash belt a blood-stained knife. Flinging his arm high over his head, he cried: "I have given my word, my knife shall never rust from the want of blood!" With that, the man leaped upon his horse and rode, as he had ridden in like lightning away down the old crooked streets to the hills.

Joaquin Murietta rode over the hill at sunset, was shot down on the hill at sunset, went "out west" at sunset. From east to west, north to south, Joaquin Murietta rode, the blood on his knife never dry. Many Pioneers felt the heartless revenge of the most sorrowful, yet the most terrible, outlaw in the history of California

CAPTIVE AMONG THE INDIANS

Peter T. Conmy

(Historian Golden Gate Parlor N.S.G.W.)

AUGUST 10, 1850, A PARTY OF IMMIgrants set out from Independence, Missouri, to settle in lands between the mouth of the Colorado River and the Gila River. Among the groups of settlers in the party was a family by the name of Oatman, consisting of the father, the mother and five minor children. The oldest of the children was Lorenzo, a boy 16 years of age; the next in line of age was Olive, aged 15; the others were of more tender years, the youngest being but 2. This party, like many other immigrant parties of the time, had hard luck in crossing the continent. In this particular case storms, lack of funds and quarrels between the various factions weakened the morale and as a consequence many of the families dropped out along the route.

At the end of the first six months but three families, the Wilders, the Kellys and the Oatmans, remained. February 16, 1851, these three families, worn out by winter travel, arrived at the Indian village of Pimole in eastern New Mexico. During the trip the party had been menaced by the Apaches, who preyed on them along the route. Other Indians were friendly to the White people, and were deadly enemies of the Apaches. Consequently the party found green pastures of rest and welcome at Pimole. The Wilders and the Kellys decided to remain there indefinitely.

Oatman deemed it best to move on to Fort Yuma, 190 miles distant and in California, just across the Colorado River. Accordingly, the Oatman family pressed on, alone. They had the usual immigrant, or Conestoga, wagon, two yoke of cows and one yoke of oxen. March 18 they reached the waters of the Gila River and camped upon a sandbar island in the middle of the stream. The next day they completed their crossing of the Gila, and also removed everything from the wagon in order to get it over a hill beyond. The belongings were carried up the hill by hand and again placed in the wagon.

The family then decided to rest during the remainder of the day and to proceed during the moonlight of the night. At dusk, as they were preparing to move on, a group of Indians approached and simulated friendliness. They even went so far as to smoke the pipe of peace with Oatman. After this they gathered in council at one side and suddenly let out war whoops and brandished clubs which had been concealed under their buckskins. They killed all except three. Lorenzo, the 16-year-old boy, was hit on the head and left for dead. Mary Ann, aged 7, and Olive, aged 15, were not attacked but taken prisoners. After raiding the provisions the Indians took the two girls and returned east to their own habitation.

Lorenzo Oatman regained consciousness after many hours. He wandered in the wilderness for several days and was attacked by wolves. Finally he was met by two Indians from Pimole who took him in charge and cared for him until they met the Wilders, who were now pressing west. Wilder visited the scene of the massacre and reported he was able to identify the body of each member of the family, save Olive and Mary Ann. This confirmed Lorenzo's suspicion that they had been taken captives, for in his delirium he had heard the cries of his sisters as the Indians were leading them away. Lorenzo came on to California. He worked in San Francisco and in the mining region for three years, but his thoughts were constantly of his sisters. In 1854 he moved to Los Angeles, in order to keep in touch with doings in the Fort Yuma region.

In the meantime, the girls had been taken eastward by their cruel captors, to the home of the tribe. They were put to work under the women of the tribe who, in customary Indian fashion, did all of the work. At first the Apaches were harsh to the girls, but after a time became lenient. In the fall of 1851 Indians from the Mojave region of California visited the Apaches and in the transactions that followed the two girls were sold to them. Then followed a trying journey of 350 miles into California where they took up their abode among the Mojave tribe. The winter of 1851-52 was a severe one, even in the mild climate of the Mojave district of California. Worn out from constant exposure, shocked from the terrible sight of the massacre of her family the year before, without the proper nourishment that a child of 8 must have, Mary Ann sickened and died in the early spring of 1852. Her last words were, "I am willing to die. Oh, I shall be so better off there."

Lorenzo Oatman caused investigations to be made. Word came that there was a White girl captive among the Mojaves and that there had been two of them, but that one had died. Spurred on with this information, the Government of the United States became interested and finally, in 1856, Olive Oatman was found by a friendly Indian and, through his strategy, was released by the chief who owned her. Then fol

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

GONE ARE THE DAYS WHEN THE spell of that magic label, "imported creation," suffices to force unbecoming freaks of fashion upon the American women. Good taste and independence of thought are triumphing now, as never before, in the selection of feminine wardrobes. The women of this country realize, at last, that ugly or impractical fashions need not be accepted blindly, merely because they are sponsored by foreign designers.

Unless all fashion signs fail, we are about to embark upon an era of victorian elegance of dress, the like of which has not been seen in many a day. The victorian influence extends throughout the length and breadth of the mode.

Fashion interest is centered in the bodice of the autumn coat. Collar, sleeves and shoulder details become important. The variety achieved in collars is remarkable. They are high, wide, voluminous and adjustable.

The cape is by far the most important style note. Capes and capelets appearing in both furs and fabrics on a large proportion of coat types are worn fastened at center-front, center-back or over the left shoulder by buttons, buckles or snappy forms. In most cases they are detachable.

The winter ensemble is less likely to be a dress-and-coat combination than an alliance of a suit and coat. Suits do not, in these cases, take the place of dresses. One of the smartest ensembles is a striking purple wool suit with a gilet and scarf of louis blue and a slightly lowered waistline. A coat of black and white rodier material boasts of a cravat in place of the customary fur at the throat.

The tweed suit dress follows classic double-breasted lines, with variations in the belt, which does not cross the front, and double lapels on the collar. There is also a noticeable absence of belts on the more dressy coat models. Other distinguishing features are the increased luxury of the fabrics and the regal use of furs.

Gray is prophesied as one of the outstanding color fashions. It appears in many variations, such as putty, dove breast, asbestos, pumice-stone, slate and oxford. One of the interesting phases of this new color range is in its combination with other colors, such as chocolate brown, yellow, orange, dark and light reds, navy blue, black, and all pastels and dark rich flower colors.

Knitted fabrics in two of the darker variations of gray are used to make a coat-dress and topcoat which may be worn together. The coat is made of coarser weave than the dress, but both are of a stout quality which will stand the rigors of travel and general knockabout wear. The dress has raglan shoulders, and the coat has classic sleeves and shoulder lines. Both are fastened at the front in a side V-fastening marked with your initials. Both make clever use of a cravat scarf in brilliant shades of orange and yellow.

Another frock, of black rough crepe, rather long and yet of the approved street length, is made with well-fitting skirt lines, broken at the knees with insets of tiny pleats. The feature, however, is a scarf collar of heavy ivory satin, its widely-spread ends fastened with ornaments. Long sleeves are finished at the wrists with narrow bands of white satin, fastened with brilliant buttons. Capelets over the shoulders follow the mode for wide shoulder effects. A tiny black turban is worn at a smart tip-tilted angle and decorated by a still smaller veil. Black suede oxfords and purse, white gloves and a silver fox fur complete this very attractive costume.

One could go on indefinitely talking about the new lovely and unusual fashions, but one has to see for herself to appreciate them, since shopping or even "window shopping" is not satisfactory by remote control.

Elegance is the keynote of the evening, and is expressed in luxurious fabrics. Fur is used as trimming. Feathers, beads and sequins embellish many beaded boleros and strike a new note in formal fashions.

Velvet holds first place. Transpartent and chiffon are closely followed by the new satins, crinkled crepes, lames, lace and taffeta. Some of the two-fabric combinations are chic in satin and velvet. Velvet is used as trimmings. Quaint shoulder capes are made of the velvet in darker tones. A burgundy velvet dress has a bodice top of printed lame.

The new shoulder cape of velvet, trimmed with fur, is just big enough to cover the shoulders and ties like a scarf at the front. It is adorable, and just enough wrap for dashing from theater or hotel entrance to the waiting car, or to wear indoors when a shoulder wrap is needed.

Taffeta, faille and other silk fabrics that rustle and swish may possibly be one of the big winter fashions. At present the rustling silks are used in one form or another, such as sash trimmings, dresses to be worn under autumn coats, slips under lace dresses, entire dresses, matching jackets, and petticoats under lace-and-net dresses with unhemmed pinked edges that are reminders of fashions of the late '90s.

The change that has come over women's clothes within the last few seasons is tangible proof of the fact that, in general, they are growing more and more practical, more comfortable, and more economical in price, without losing any of their smartness.

Fur trimmings are much in evidence, not only on suits and coats, but on dresses as well. Strips of black astrakan are incrusted into wool dresses in the little stripes and squares that formerly were made of satin. There probably is more of a variety of furs used on clothes this year than ever before, but there is no parade of heavy fox bands. Gray astrakan, with white and gray squirrel and shaved lamb, are used most for dress trimmings. Bands of fur placed high on the sleeves serve two purposes: to add to the wide-shouldered line and to effect a narrowing hip. This also makes the suit more formal.

The newest evening wrap is a classic cape.

SAN FRANCISCO—WITH GRAND PRESIdent Seth Millington presiding, the Board of Grand Officers met September 10. Others in attendance were Junior Past Grand President Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell, Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Jesse H. Miller, Eldred L. Meyer, John M. Burnett, Joseph J. McShane, Horace J. Leavitt and Charles H. Spengemann.

The Riverside Commerce Chamber, in a letter to Past Grand William I. Traeger requested that the next Grand Parlor be held in that city. The Grand Secretary was directed to advise the Riverside organization that Grass Valley, Nevada County, had previously been selected as the 1933 meeting place.

It was ordered that Resolution No. 39—concerning Filipino employment—submitted to the Stockton Grand Parlor and referred to the California Joint Immigration Committee, be given further consideration.

To save Subordinate Parlors a considerable increase in the cost of surety bonds for their officers, "Condition No. 3" in the schedule bond was ordered eliminated; it provides: "The surety shall be liable for loss by reason of any officer or officers hereunder making unauthorized advances to delinquent members for dues or assessments, causing a shortage in the accounts of officer or officers."

Charters were ordered granted Visalia No. 19 and Alturas No. 134, now in course of formation, "providing that the petitions received in the office of the Grand Secretary shall have fifty or more names attached to each."

Los Banos No. 206, recently instituted, having initiated more than fifty charter members, was voted a supplies credit of $150.

On motion Grand President Millington, a vote of thanks was given Grand Trustee McShane, the chairman, and other members of the San Francisco Admission Day Celebration Committee for making possible the wonderful celebration held September 9.

Following the transaction of much additional business of a routine nature the Board adjourned, late in the afternoon, to the call of the Grand President.

Deputy Grand President Busy.

Deputy Grand President Al Lobree spent three days in Suisun, Solano County, last month and signed up several candidates for Solano No. 39. They will be initiated October 4 by the officers of Napa No. 62.

September 15, Deputy Lobree returned to Visalia, Tulare County, and completed the charter list for a new parlor there, having over fifty signatures. The parlor will be instituted by Grand President Seth Millington some time this month (October), according to reports, and the ritual will be exemplified by officers of Fresno No. 25 and Bakersfield No. 42.

September 20, Deputy Lobree departed for Alturas, Modoc County, where he hopes to secure a sufficient number of charter petitioners to warrant the institution of a parlor in the near-future.

Married Men Outrun Single Boys.

Ferndale—Ferndale No. 93 sponsored an Admission Day program at the Ferndale high school which was largely attended. Dr. Joseph Hindley was chairman of the day. The Sea Scouts and the Boy Scouts presented the colors; Raymond Grinsell, accompanied at the piano by Ross Ring, sang "California, the Land of My Dreams," and "I Love You, California;" John Lund gave a splendid talk on "The Early History of California."

The assemblage then adjourned to the high school track, where many interesting sports events were held. In a 440-yard relay race the married men outran the single boys; John Trigg was the star performer, taking up so much room the other runners were forced from the track. In a fast game of Olympic baseball the Native Sons defeated the Community Club by a 26-to-6 score. Ferndale's Admission Day committee was composed of Ralph C. Jacobsen (chairman), V. O. Givins, E. H. Lanini, Dr. J. N. D. Hindley and O. A. Bartlett.

"Day of Reminiscing."

Santa Barbara—Many oldtimers assembled September 9 at Rockwood, in Mission Canyon, as guests of Santa Barbara No. 116 and Reina del Mar No. 126 N.D.G.W. at the seventh annual "day of reminiscing." Weston E. Learned presided at the co-ordinated Admission Day and Washington bicentennial program, and Fred H. Schauer was the main speaker. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Daisy L. Prideaux, and there were brief addresses by Mrs. George McCrea and Wesley McCormick, president, respectively of Reina del Mar and Santa Barbara, and Supervising Deputy Anna E. McCaughey.

County Surveyor Owen O'Neill was master of ceremonies for the informal hour, following the program, during which the oldtimers were called on for reminiscences. Light refreshments were served. In the evening the Native Daughters were hostesses at their annual Admission Day ball.

Anniversary Banquet.

Menlo Park—Menlo No. 185 celebrated its fortieth institution anniversary at a banquet September 17. Among the many in attendance were three charter members, Past President Jas. Anderson, President D. E. O'Keefe and Outside Sentinel Billy Casey. C. T. Maloney presided, and introduced as the toastmaster Mayor Harry Weeden. Inspiring talks were given by Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees John M. Burnett and Joseph J. McShane, and District Deputy Phil Blanchard. A most enjoyable evening concluded with all joining in singing "I Love You, California."

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures September 20, 1932:

Parlor.	Jan. 1	Sept. 20	Gain	Loss
Ramona No. 109	1088	1085	....	3
South San Francisco No. 157	822	808	..	14
Castro No. 232	700	797	97	.
Stanford No. 76	614	609	...	5
Arrowhead No. 110	609	583	..	26
Stockton No. 7	549	563	14	.
Twin Peaks No. 214	585	538	....	47
Piedmont No. 120	523	523	..
Rincon No. 72	448	436	..	12

Ritual Contest.

San Rafael—All the Marin County Parlors made big showings in the San Francisco Admission Day parade. Notwithstanding the excessive heat, the drum and bugle corps of Mount Tamalpais performed splendidly and carried away first prize. Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W. turned out with its newly-organized drill corps, in brilliant cossack uniforms, and made a fine appearance. Tamelpa No. 231 N.D.G.W. (Mill Valley), with its drum corps, helped put Marin on the map. No. 64 maintained headquarters, where folks of the county were hospitably entertained after the parade.

District Deputy Monroe Label, who is promoting interparlor visits and ritual contests because he believes they promote a necessary fraternal spirit among members, accompanied Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann on his official visit to Petaluma No. 27, September 26. October 19, Mount Tamalpais will conduct a class initiation, and the Sonoma County Parlors have been invited to attend. Deputy Label declares this will be another red-letter night in No. 64 history.

The ritual officers of Mount Tamalpais have accepted a challenge to a ritual contest from National No. 118 (San Francisco), to be held in San Francisco, probably some time in November. The San Rafael boys have earned quite a reputation for faultless ritual work and a number of Parlors have contemplated issuing challenges, but this is the first received. Many grand officers look with a great deal of favor on these contests, as a means of stimulating interest in Parlor activities.—L.J.P.

Historic Site Setting for Initiation.

Sacramento—General John A. Sutter Past Presidents Assembly No. 10 will hold its annual outdoor Sacramento County class initiation at historic Sutter Fort, October 1. Candidates for all the Subordinate Parlors of the county will be presented, and the past presidents perpetual membership trophy will be awarded the Parlor having the most initiates.

The past presidents will exemplify the ritual, and the ceremonies will be witnessed by Grand President Seth Millington and most of the grand officers. The noteworthy occasion promises to attract a large number of Native Sons from the Sacramento Valley.

Historic Bear Flag Presented.

Modesto—A short talk on the wanderings of Stanislaus County's government seat was given by Past President L. E. Bither at the September 7 meeting of Modesto No. 11. The speaker's source of information was "Stories of Stanislaus," by Sol P. Elias, a member of the Parlor. First Vice-president Benjamin Munson presided.

A California State (Bear) Flag with a historical background floated September 9 from the mast atop Modesto's meetingplace. It is one of the flags used in the California building at the Columbia World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. J. M. Cross presented it to the Parlor, and it was accepted by President Charles D. Blaine. The flag was flown here for the first time Admission Day, and will be displayed on special occasions.

"Krazy" Party for Children Benefit.

Fort Bragg—In recognition of Labor Day and Admission Day, Alder Glen No. 200 sponsored a dance September 3 and a large crowd attended. Officers of Alder Glen and Broderick No. 117 (Point Arena) were jointly installed here by District Deputy Ralph Todd. A fine banquet was enjoyed after the meeting.

Alder Glen has appointed a committee of five to put on, in conjunction with Fort Bragg No. 210 N.D.G.W., a "krazy" party for the benefit of the homeless children some time in October.

Admission Day Party.

San Bernardino—In observance of the eighty-second anniversary of California's admission to statehood Arrowhead No. 110 had an Admission Day party at its Crestline clubhouse September 9. A steak supper was followed by dancing and speechmaking. Members of Lugonia No. 241 N.D.G.W. were among the many in attendance. The arrangements committee included Leslie Case (chairman), Henry Peake, John Andreson Jr., Eugene W. Lee, Ed Poppett, Gordon Lee, Hal Davies, Don VanLeuven, Jean Ward, Lamar McGarvey, Grand Organist Leslie Maloche, Walter Harris, John Cadd, Lynn Reed, Jeff Sawyer, Ralph Frederickson.

September 21 several candidates were initiated, the ceremonies being followed by a buffet lunch and entertainment.

Drum Corps' Initial Appearance.

Sausalito—Sea Point No. 158 and Sea Point No. 196 N.D.G.W. were well represented in the San Francisco Admission Day parade. Police

"MARK OUR LANDMARKS"

"THE PATHS OF GLORY"

THE BONES OF THE GREAT EDWARD D. Baker lie in a forgotten and forsaken grave! In life, was there ever a more talented, brilliant man than Baker? What a many-sided man he was! What heights did he reach! Had he lived in the golden age of oratory he would have spoken from the same platform with the peerless Demosthenes and the immortal Cicero.

America, with the possible exception of Webster and Ingersoll, has had none before or since his time to compare with him. The few brilliant flashes of Patrick Henry pale before his flood of word pictures and heart-stirring flashes. Lawyer, statesman, orator, soldier. What a gamut of human emotion did he run! And to crown a life of talented endeavor, he died at the head of Union forces in one of the first engagements of the Civil War.

Why has he never received the tribute from posterity which is his? Why is his grave neglected and his name practically unhonored? Why is not his bust in California's Hall of Fame at Washington, D. C.? Why was that of a lesser light, Thomas Starr King, given the honor? These are but a few of the unanswered questions for the Native Sons to ponder over and remedy some of their shortcomings.

During the past Admission Day celebration your historian journeyed to Laurel Hill Cemetery (formerly Lone Mountain) in San Francisco. A sign at the gateway denotes it a "Pioneer Cemetery." The main purpose of the trip was to visit the graves of Broderick and Baker. It was not difficult to find the grave of Broderick. Although forgotten, also, yet another generation of men, long gone, erected over his heroic bones a pile of granite which readily points out his bier to the passerby.

But the grave of Baker has no such marker. Search did not reveal its site, and finally a caretaker was appealed to. He led the way to a spot which had been passed without a thought that one so noble could be lying in such humble surroundings. When the guide did point out the simple monument, and the weed-grown plot where no hand has been raised for years to arrest the erosions of the elements and Time itself, then the utter abandonment of California greatness became unhappily apparent. Among the weeds were two empty bottles, long since drained of the "cup that clears of past regrets and future fears."

Over the grave of Baker and the bier of Broderick should float the Bear Flag of the State for which they gave so much. That flag would be a tribute to the past. It would direct admirers to these shrines. A small flagpole would serve the purpose, and in fair weather the flags, at a small expense, could be thrown to the breeze.

A few hundred dollars would remedy the defects and plant shrubs and lawn. If the Grand Parlor cannot do it, then some progressive San Francisco Parlor like Twin Peaks, Castro or Pacific could go out with a few tools and a few dollars and do the work. However, it should be done, and done at once, by some agency or the Native Sons admit that their interests are mostly contemporary and that our allegiance to the Past only secondary, if at all.

Your historian believes that our obligation is to the Pioneers first, and that that duty must never cease until we have fully paid that obligation, and then present-day endeavors may encompass our efforts and our fraternal life. That is the purpose of our fraternal existence, as I view our Fraternity.

Why not a memorial at the graves aforesaid? They are close together. Why not assemble

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

FOR SOME TIME, PRIOR TO AUGUST 30, the local daily papers devoted much space to informing taxbearers that, because of great reductions being made in the cost of government by governing officials of Los Angeles, city and county, the tax rate for 1932-33 would be materially reduced. That was being brought about, so it was said, by cutting out needless expenditures, reducing personnel and salaries, etc., etc. The publicity was pre-primary propaganda!

The promised tax-reducing program has not been carried out, for the total tax will not be lowered! On the contrary, it has been raised, considerably! But election day in November is ahead, and so, to ease the tax situation, the clique now contend the actual amount of tax to be paid will be lessened, through reduction in assessment. The "prominent boys" probably will have to pay less taxes on their holdings, but it is a near-safe bet ordinary householders will this year pay equally as much, if not more, than last year. Tax bills should be presented prior to election dates!

It is very doubtful if the numbers on the taxpayers' payrolls and the salaries of public officials, elective and appointive, have actually been reduced to any appreciable extent. Certainly, the services of hundreds could be dispensed with and the pay of thousands considerably decreased without in the least endangering governmental "efficiency." Of course, to do that would seriously affect the power and the influence of "the courthouse, the city hall, the departments and the bureaus gangs," whose watchword is "perpetuation in office." Other millions could be saved by rectifying the "family racket," whereby husband and wife, and in some instances the whole damn family, suck at the public teat; by eliminating the part-time-service vogue, particularly in the courts, with full-time pay; by ceasing to purchase and to operate with tax funds autos for the personal use and pleasure of public employes and their families; by directing less attention to and spending less money on Mexican cholos and other non-citizens, while thousands of White citizens and their families are in tax-distress; by doing away with fads and frills carried on, mainly for the benefit of Mexican cholos and their like, in the guise of education; by abolishing numerous other notoriously unsound tax-gormandizing customs which result in a stupendous waste of public funds!

Both the assessed value and the tax rate should come down, and the ballotbox, if resorted to by the tax-suffering majority, will force them down. Public officials of today are, as a rule, afflicted with "spenditis," an uncontrollable desire to be extremely lavish in the expenditure of other people's money. The services of all so afflicted should be dispensed with! The Realty Board, which has been waging a battle for tax reduction, could render no better service to Los Angeles than to head a movement to clean up the local governmental-swamp, via the recall. Let it be a thorough cleanup, too, by including the city and the county systems. Now's the time!—C.M.H.

ADMISSION DAY OBSERVED.

There was a large attendance at the Admission Day celebration arranged by a joint committee of Native Sons and Native Daughters, with Mrs. Gertrude Allen as chairman. Dancing was the main entertainment feature, and during an intermission a program was presented.

Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer spoke on "California's Admission to Statehood." He recalled to the minds of his hearers numerous historic anecdotes concerning the early history of the state, and referred to the courage and ambition that have always characterized the people of California. Mrs. Sophia Stewart sang "To California," a composition of Mrs. Louise Graeser, who accompanied at the piano, and the Edward LeVitt trio rendered several vocal numbers.

STORY ENMESHED IN FLAG'S FOLDS.

A beautiful flag of the immortal colors, the red, the white and the blue, was presented as a gift to Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. by two most earnest members, Mrs. Edith Shallmo and her daughter, Mrs. Adelaide Hickman. Numerous were the expressions of delight by the members as this large flag was unfurled. There is quite a history to this well-appreciated gift, the following story being enmeshed in its folds:

Among the many splendid American youths who enlisted in the World War was a fine, manly young fellow named Joseph Rogon. Handsome of face and form was he, and joyous of disposition, with a merry twinkle in his Irish blue eyes. Bravely he left his Eastern home and loving parents, to go to "No Man's Land" to fight, under the Stars and Stripes, to make this world safe for women and little children. Courageously he went "over the top," and won his medal for valor. But alas! the poisonous gas thrown by the enemy came his way and this splendid specimen of young manhood came home a victim of gassed lungs. His parents had passed on during his absence, and the lonely, sick lad was without any kin.

Uncle Sam thought to benefit him, and to try, if possible, to restore his health. So he was sent to our beloved California to recuperate, and become the splendid man that God intended him to be. With his slender pension he secured a modest room, and he boarded with his kindly landlady; among the neighbors were Mms. Shallmo and Hickman, who took a deep interest in the lonely afflicted soldier. They made him welcome in their home, and cooked dainty meals to tempt his appetite. How grateful was he for all these wonderful attentions, kindnesses and comforts.

This lonely soldier lad loved a home atmosphere, and he became very happy. How he loved our wonderful California, with its sunshine, fruits and flowers, and its beauty of sea and mountain. He longed to grow strong and well under its azure skies. His new friends did all in their power to help him, but alas! it was not his fate to have good health again, so he went to the U. S. Veteran Hospital at San Fernando, and Mms. Shallmo and Hickman took the keenest interest in making his room there cheerful and bright. Deeply this lonely soldier appreciated these two good Daughters of California who did so much for his comfort.

There shortly came a day when Joseph Rogon answered his final roll-call, and his soul went forth to greet the Great Commander in his heavenly home. They laid his brave body away with military honors, and as the final taps sounded the commanding officer presented the flag that adorned the casket of this splendid soldier to Mrs. Hickman. So, in memory of Joseph Rogon, this Flag of the United States of America was presented to Los Angeles Parlor. It will float over the new clubhouse, when the roseate dream of the Parlor becomes a reality.—A.L.A.

rated by Grand President Seth Millington, the Native Sons of Los Angeles County have formed a central committee composed of representatives from all the Parlors. Bernard J. Hess of Hollywood No. 196 is the chairman, Clinton E. Skinner of Glendale No. 264 secretary, and Walter E. Baskerville of Ramona No. 109 treasurer.

The committee was organized mainly to get the individual Native Sons into action, for "There is no substitute for membership." Accordingly, its meetings will be held with the several Parlors. Los Angeles No. 45 was visited September 15, and Santa Monica Bay No. 267 September 26. Reports were to the effect that new parlors will be instituted in the southwest section of Los Angeles City and at Compton, and that many applications are being secured for the Parlors now in existence.

"It is our aim and hope to initiate a thousand members before the campaign ends," says Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer. "And that can be done, if every Native Son will do his duty."

PIONEER NATIVE AFFILIATES.

Long Beach Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. had an all-day picnic in Bixby Park September 9. Mrs. Lucretia Coates was chairman of arrangements. This picnic, in observance of Admission Day, has been a custom with the Parlor for many years.

Mrs. Alice Lyall Borden affiliated with No. 154 September 15. She was born at Hangtown, now Placerville, El Dorado County, in 1857, and related some very interesting family history.

DANCE AT GLENDALE.

Glendale—The officers of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W., assisted by Ralph I. Harbison (Ramona No. 109) as third vice-president and Roger Johnson (Los Angeles No. 45) as organist, September 20 initiated two candidates. All the neighboring Parlors were well represented, Hollywood No. 196 having a big delegation. Among the speakers were District Deputies Walter E. Baskerville, Edward E. Baldwin and Howard E. Bentley, Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter, Lee Owen, Ralph Harbison, Alfred Boeckman and Clinton E. Skinner. The Parlor has appointed committees to promote athletics and other activities. After the meeting refreshments, prepared by members of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W., were served, and the girls were given three rousing cheers.

During October, Glendale and Verdugo will resume their monthly dances. Last season these proved most popular, and the committee promises the same excellent music for the new series. Patrons are assured a good time at these dances. The initial dance will be held at Masonic Hall, Saturday, October 22.

OCTOBER BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Some forty past presidents of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. met September 16 and outlined a campaign of activity to promote the wellbeing of the Parlor. Organization was perfected by the election of Walter Baskerville as the chairman, and Seth Williams as the secretary. During October Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger will entertain all the past presidents of No. 109 at his South Pasadena home.

September 23 the Parlor featured an instructive debate on the trust-deed initiative measure which will be presented to the voters in November. The speakers, Marion P. Betty and George A. Schneider, were introduced by Abbott C. Bernay. September 30, Captain Tommy Lafthouse and his motorcycle police entertained the Parlor.

Ramona's October program includes: 14th, initiation. 21st, birthday party for all members born in October; at 6:30 a tamale supper will be served. 28th, a speaker on a subject of national importance will be presented by Outside Sentinel Clarence S. Hunt.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. initiated two candidates September 7, when President Mattie Gara and her corps of officers exemplified the new ritual for the first time. Splendid talks were given by Lucy Malin, Annie L. Adair, Dolores Malin, Ann Schiebusch, Flora Holy, Gertrude Allen and Marvel Thomas. The opening party, September 14, in a bridge tourney drew a large crowd. Irene Eden, the chairman, was assisted by Charlotte Gehrke, Virginia

SAN ANDREAS—THE HISTORIC MOUNtain town of Murphys was the setting for a representative gathering of the members of Calaveras County Parlors—Ruby No. 46 (Murphys), Princess No. 84 (Angels Camp), San Andreas No. 113—to welcome Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong on her official visit September 2. Presidents Evalyn Stephens of Ruby, the hostess Parlor, presided in a capable manner, and the ritual was commendably exemplified in sections by officers of the three Parlors.

In her address, Grand President Armstrong expressed appreciation for the hearty welcome accorded, making her first trip into the Mother Lode interesting and memorable. She complimented the officers on their sincere endeavors and accomplishments for the benefit of the Order, and brought an inspiring message for cooperation in the worthy projects sponsored by the organization. Deputy Lemue responded briefly on behalf of the Calaveras County Parlors, and Mrs. L. A. Mills of Stockton delighted with three recitations. A banquet, prepared by Mrs. Belle Segale of Ruby was served at tables in "U" formation. Decorations were boquets of flowers from the Mercer garden, surrounded by candles in colors of the Order.

Sons Guests at Admission Day Program.

Salinas—Aleli No. 102 celebrated Admission Day with an appropriate program September 8. Members of Santa Lucia No. 97 (Salinas) and Gabilan No. 132 (Castroville) N.S.G.W., and friends and relatives of the members of Aleli made up the audience. The program follows: Solo, "I Love You, California," Mrs. Sam Black, assisted by her daughter, Bertha, as "California;" talk, "Admission Day," Mrs. J. T. Riley; modeling early-day California costumes, Miss Doris Tavernetti; Mrs. Addie Fowler, aged 87, talked of her life as a girl in the mining towns of California; solo, "California Lullaby," Miss Etta Juhler; Mrs. Nathan Clark sketched recollections of her arrival in California in 1850; Senator C. C. Baker sang "Asleep in the Deep;" the Native Daughter glee club sang "When Honey Sings an Old-time Song;" Mrs. Frances Leidig, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Lingley, sang a group of Spanish songs; Mrs. Mabel Baker told of early Salinas, when twelve houses constituted the town; the glee club sang "Out Where the West Begins;" chorus, "America," assembly.

The entertainment committee was composed of Miss Rose Rhyner, Mrs. W. J. Larkin, Mrs. William Hatton. Refreshments were served at prettily decorated tables by a committee headed by Mrs. R. Paulsen. Dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

Children Present Play.

Byron—Admission Day was commemorated by Donner No. 193 with a special program September 7. A children's play, "California, Bit by Bit," was given, in which the following, all children of members of the Parlor, took part: Oliver Richardson, Charlotte and Georgia Peterson, Thelma and Barbara Reynolds, Virginia, Donald and Henry Boltzen, Harold Houston. During the play Trustee Clara Houston sang several songs, accompanied by Organist Mae Lewis. Stories of interesting occurrences in early California history were related: Past President Josephine Pimentel told of the early legends of Mount Diablo; Marshal Ruby Lawrence, the duel between Broderick and Terry; First Vice-president Virginia Boltzen, the history of James Lick; Trustee Edna Hill, the discovery and naming of Yosemite Valley. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Josephine Pimentel. Ice cream, made by Third Vice-president Evelyn Christenson, was served at the conclusion of the program.

President Entertains at Home.

Modesto—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Morada No. 199 September 14. One hundred members of the Order were in attendance, including Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, Supervising Deputies Mae Givens and Katherine Kopf, Deputies Alice Dorroh, Hazel Laverty and Ethel Mathiasen, and delegations from Woodland, Sacramento, Oakdale, Merced, Manteca, Turlock and Sonora. Spanish decorations were featured in the meetingroom. Three candidates were initiated.

Mrs. Armstrong delivered an inspiring address and paid high tribute to the floor work of the Parlor officials. Past Grand Heilbron announced a plaque would be placed at the Home October 9. Refreshments followed the meeting, the tables being adorned with autumn leaves and horns-of-plenty filled with fruit. Members of Morada were guests of President Violet Vierra at her home September 23; Lillian Stammerjohan was joint hostess. All members having birthdays in July, August and September were special guests of the Parlor September 28.

Plans are under way for the first of a series of whist parties to be given jointly by No. 199 and Modesto No. 11 N.S.G.W. October 19. Several members of Morada plan to attend the Sunday breakfast at the Home, San Francisco, October 9.

Dinner Marks Close of Recess.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105 marked the close of the usual summer recess with a potluck dinner September 8. The tables were prettily decorated with baskets of seasonal fruits, golden-hued blossoms, autumn foliage, and Bear Flags commemorative of Admission Day. Myrtle Palmtag sang "I Love You, California," and led in community singing. Dee Briggs gave a short talk on "Historic Landmarks of San Benito County," and Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs outlined events immediately preceding California's admission into the Union.

At the close of the dinner, Deputy Edna Butterfield installed officers. Gifts and flowers were presented to the retiring president, Elma Chandler, the newly-installed president, Rose Guilhamet, and Deputy Butterfield. Interesting talks were given by Catherine Hooton, Dee Briggs, Mrs. Butterfield and Past Grand Briggs. President Alma Nyland of San Juan Bautista No. 179 built a pyramid of yellow blooms with a tribute to each installed officer. Plans were formulated for the annual district meeting and the usual benefit for the homeless kiddies. Both dinner and meeting were decided social successes.

"California Becomes a State."

Oroville—The September 7 meeting of Gold of Ophir No. 190 was in a floral-bower setting arranged by Mms. J. H. Bowers, Anna Bernhard and Alta B. Baldwin. In recognition of Admission Day a program, including a pageant, "California Becomes a State," was presented. Those participating were Grand Trustee Florence Boyle, Evelyn Joslyn, Pauline Ware, Alta Baldwin, Edith Reece Westwood, Alma Crum, Rachel Martin, Elza Wirth, Georgia Karageris, Betty Gould, Alice Frazier, Helen Fletcher, Cyril Macdonald, George Tegrunde, June Scott, Will Hibbard, Corinne Gregory, Betty Boyle, Hazel Scott, Jake Bump, Gordon Nisbet, Frank Boyle, Romilda Ralph, Eleanor Ross, Mae Mitchell. Refreshments, in charge of Anna Bernhard, Mary Woodall, Emma Danforth, Florence Boyle and Margaret Gilbert, were served at tables carrying out a color scheme of red, white and blue.

Open house was maintained at Relics Hall the afternoon of Admission Day, September 9, and scores of local and out-of-town people visited and enjoyed inspecting the numerous relics. Committees from Gold of Ophir and Argonaut No. 8 N.S.G.W. extended a welcome to all and served light refreshments. Since the building was formally opened May 12, more than nine hundred people have visited the hall.

Past Presidents Showered.

San Bernardino—Members of Lugonia No. 241 were entertained with a supper and card party at the Crestline mountain home of Lucy Meecham August 31. September 4 the Parlor assisted Mrs. Laura Clark, charter member, and her husband in celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary. An informal reception was held and refreshments were served.

September 14 a miscellaneous shower was given Past President Lily Tompkins-McKray, a recent bride, and a baby shower was given Past President Frances Wixom-Wynkoop of Los Angeles. One candidate was initiated. Special guests were Deputy Marion Crumm and Mrs. Walter Hiskey of Santa Ana. Plans for a miniature carnival for October were discussed; Miss Clara Barton is the chairman.

History Reviewed.

Sonoma—Sonoma No. 209 welcomed Grand President Anna Armstrong August 22. A dinner, attended by sixty-two guests, including many grand officers, was served. With Josephine Andrieux presiding, four candidates were initiated, and much praise was bestowed on the officers for the splendid manner in which they exemplified the ritual. Mrs. Armstrong discoursed on the history of Sonoma and California, and held the assemblage at close attention.

Refreshments concluded the meeting. Adorning the center of the table was a large birthday cake with seventeen lighted candles, signifying the seventeenth institution anniversary of the Parlor. Huge boquets of beautiful flowers resembled an old-fashioned garden. The committee in charge included Gertrude Groskopf, Dorothy Bosch, Carola Picetti and Wanda Kearney.

Admission Day Program.

Ferndale—In observance of Admission Day, the following program was presented at the September 9 meeting of Oneonta No. 71: Reading, "Discovery of Gold in California," Verna Peers; piano solo, "Country Gardens," Lillie Petersen; vocal solo, "Going Back to California," Bernice Mills, accompanied by Emma Becker; reading, "Mother's Wedding," Annie Blanks; reading, "General Vallejo and the Bear Flag," Hattie Roberts; vocal solo, "My California Home," Grace LeMar, accompanied by Miss Becker; reading, "California, Golden Empire," Myra Rumrill; piano solo, "Meditation," Emma Becker; address, "The Flag," Lena Kausen.

Scholarship Winner Surprised.

Saint Helena—Miss Phyllis Thompson of La Junta No. 243 was awarded the N.D.G.W. scholarship at Mills College, and to assist in furnishing her room there the Parlor tendered her a surprise shower. After delightful refreshments Mrs. John A. Mitchell presented her with a box containing many useful articles. The appropriate table decorations included a miniature college, and a birthday cake in recognition of No. 203's nineteenth institution anniversary.

Miss Edna Thompson and her niece, Miss Phyllis Thompson, were honor-guests at a surprise party at the former's home in celebration of their birthday anniversaries. Dutch whist was played, tempting refreshments were served and the Misses Thompson were presented with many gifts. Those who enjoyed the delightful evening were: Mms. Lowell Palmer, N. Thor-

Versatility Proven.

Richmond California day was fittingly celebrated at the September 6 meeting of the Richmond Lions. Dr. C. R. Blake presided. Past Grand Estelle M. Evans, as speaker and soloist, proved her versatility by delivering a most interesting talk on the history of California and the rendition of two vocal solos. President Maud Arnold of Richmond No. 147 was also a guest of the occasion.

Grand President's Official Itinerary.

Evolution American Dance.

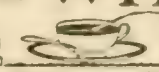
Alturas—The annual dinner of Alturas No. 159 in honor of Modoc County Pioneers September 9 was a most enjoyable social event, and more than eighty guests were entertained. Grand Vice-president Irma Laird delivered an eloquent welcome address, and other speakers were Pioneer J. E. Niles, Past Grand Catherine E. Gloster and President Erma Elliott. Miss Elizabeth Gloster rendered a group of memory songs. An original drama, "The Evolution of the American Dance," was presented.

Miss Dorothy Gloster was the reader, and Mrs. Eva Williams and Miss Catherine Gloster were aristocratic colonial dames of old Virginia. Through the agencies of a love apple, a rabbit foot and a magic potion their little black slave girl cast a spell over them, after which they viewed the dances of the past and the present. Groups of members and friends interpreted the various dances, beginning with the minuet and concluding with most exaggerated versions of dances of today. Mrs. Irene Cummings, violinist, and Mrs. Irma Laird, pianist, provided the musical background for the skit.

Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited the Parlor September 21, and in the afternoon dedicated to the memory of the Modoc County Pioneers at Chimney Rock, near Alturas, a bronze marker donated by Mrs. Sadie Winn Brainard (Califia No. 22). That the pupils might attend the ceremonies, the public schools were closed.

Drill Team Makes Hit.

Petaluma—There was a large attendance at the September 6 meeting of Petaluma No. 222, President Pearl Lopus presiding. Following the transaction of much business a public card party was held under the auspices of the drill team, Captain Annie Dickson presiding. As usual, the team made a big hit in the San Francisco Admission Day parade.



A sociable for members and friends was featured September 20. Elsie DeLoca and Elmira DeCarli had charge of the entertainment.

State Flag Given School.

Woodland—Officers of Woodland No. 90 were installed by Deputy Maude Heaton, Mrs. Florice White becoming president. Among the many in attendance were Grand President Anna M. Armstrong and Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron. Addresses were delivered and refreshments were served. October 1, as a benefit for the Home, the Parlor will have its annual dance and card party at the Yolo Fliers Club. The arrangements committee includes Ruth Hickey (chairman), Nellie Hebner, Henrietta Toothaker, Hilda Richie, Leona Sachs and Ramona Roth.

September 6, on behalf of No. 90, Grand President Armstrong presented the Monument school with a California State (Bear) Flag. Edna Richter and Wanda Ahlf accompanied Mrs. Armstrong.

Pioneer Day Observed.

Sutter City—Officers of South Butte No. 226 were installed by Deputy Eisle Schofield, Mrs. Wilhelmina Beecroft becoming president. Numerous presentations were made, including an emblematic pin to Past President Anthaiena McPherrin. Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan was among the visitors. The hall and banquetroom were artistically decorated, and delicious refreshments were served.

Admission Day, September 9, South Butte joined with Marysville No. 162, Colus No. 194 (Colusa) and Camp Far West No. 218 (Wheatland) in observing pioneer day in Cortez Square, Marysville. Mrs. Gertrude Cable presided, and refreshments were provided by Marysville No. 6 N.S.G.W.

Tri Counties Annual Meet.

Santa Cruz—The six Parlors of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties will hold their annual district meeting and overnite party October 1 and 2 at Happy Valley, near Santa Cruz. Saturday evening a Washington bicentennial dinner will be served. Short talks on six periods of Washington's life will be given by the presidents of the participating Parlors, and community singing will feature songs that Washington knew.

A pageant, "Pioneer California History," will follow the supper, each Parlor presenting a feature, as follows: "The Raising of the Bear Flag," Copa de Oro No. 105 (Hollister); "The Legend of the Sherman Rose," Junipero No. 141 (Monterey); "The Discovery of Gold," Santa Cruz No. 26; "The Donner Party," San Juan Bautista No. 179; "The Vigilantes," El Pajaro No. 35 (Watsonville); "Driving the Last Spike," Alell No. 102 (Salinas). Sunday will be given over to a paper chase, nature talks, hiking, swimming, etc.

Pioneers Honored.

Chico—Honoring eighty Pioneers of this district, Annie K. Bidwell No. 168 gave a Washington bicentennial program September 9. On the stage were a large portrait of George Washington and United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags. An interesting program included musical selections and a paper on "The Mother of George Washington." At the festive board the guests were entertained with songs and guitar selections. President Laura Anderson headed the entertainment committee.

Quaint County Seat Visited.

Sierraville—September 17, sixteen members of Imogen No. 134 motored to the quaint Sierra County government-seat, Downieville, to hold a joint meeting with Naomi No. 36 in honor of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong. Naomi opened the meeting and exemplified the ritual, while Imogen exemplified the balloting. After a chicken supper the members retired to the lodgeroom and finished the work. Inspiring talks were given by the Grand President, Past Grand Emma Humphrey and Deputies McMahon and Merrill. It was a meeting that will long be remembered. Other visitors were Mrs. Miller of Woodland and Mrs. Sadie Brainard of Sacramento.

Past Presidents Doings.

Oroville—Association No. 5 met at the home of Mrs. H. A. Baldwin September 2. Flags and boquets of beautiful flowers were used in the decorations. Miss Elice LaVoy, Verna Parker and Mae Belle Bills were appointed a committee to arrange for the annual banquet, to be held in November.

Petaluma—Association No. 7 met at the home of President Violet Mastrup September 13 and there was a large attendance. Following the transaction of much business there was an enjoyable social time, and refreshments were served at flower-bedecked tables. At the next meeting, October 11, several new members will be received.

CAPTIVE

lowed the meeting with her brother and her removal to Oregon. The Oatman girls remained hopeful during their captivity. "It was our custom," says Olive, "to go by ourselves and commit ourselves to God in faithful prayer every day, and this we would do after we had laid our weary frames to rest on our sand bed, if no other opportunity offered."

The Mojave Indians, among whom Olive Oatman spent five years as a captive, belong to that larger group of Indians known by the anthropological name Shoshoneans. They are generally called the Colorado River tribes. Luckily for Mary Ann and Olive Oatman, these Indians lacked many of the barbarous traits of other tribes. On the death of little Mary Ann, the regular procedure would have been to cremate the body. The chief's wife interceded, however, and secured permission for Olive to inter her sister's remains. The Mojaves were an agricultural people. They wore few clothes at any time, and none in summer. Unlike the other tribes of California, the Colorado River Indians were good warriors. They were darker skinned than most California Indians and represent a branch of Aztec civilization.

PATHS OF GLORY

there and have Lewis Byington or Fletcher Cutler speak of the dead in a way that the new generation will not forget the greatness and the glories of the Pioneer Past?

Time has not dimmed that scene at the old American Theatre in San Francisco when the great Baker, on his way, as Senator, from Oregon to Washington, visited the city he loved and, to an overflowing audience, when the war clouds of the Civil War hung dark and ominous, when the tomtoms of war were in the air, and when the roar of artillery, the crash of musketry and the shock and the recoil of armed bodies could already be heard by those who understood,- said:

"We are a city set on a hill. Our light cannot be hid. As for me, I dare not, I will not, be false to freedom! [Applause] Where in youth my feet were planted, there my manhood and my age shall march. I will walk beneath her banner. I will glory in her strength. I have seen her, in history, struck down on a hundred chosen fields of battle. I have seen her friends fly from her; I have seen them bind her to the stake; I have seen them give her ashes to the winds, regathering them that they might scatter them yet more widely. But when they turned to exult, I have seen her again meet them face to face, clad in complete steel, and brandishing in her strong right hand a flaming sword red with insufferable light! [Vehement cheering] And I take courage. The Genius of America will at last lead her sons to freedom! [Great applause]"

In Memoriam

HENRY W. McCOMAS

The undersigned committee appointed by ... Parlor No. 22 of the Native Sons of the ... for the purpose of drafting resolutions of respect to the memory of our deceased brother, Henry W. McComas, beg leave to report as follows:

That Henry W. McComas was born in Santa Clara County, ... of the pioneer families who were early settlers of California, having come to this state from the ... scaboard by way of the Isthmus of Panama in the year 1851. ... served the County of Santa Clara in the capacity of Deputy County Assessor under ... in the years ... and D. W. Burns, and was ... in 1894. From the time of his admission to the bar ... he was continuously engaged in the practice of his profession in the city of Cupertino and ... San Jose and he ... at the bar has been ... and has been marked by such high character ... of purpose that ... during his long professional career there has been the slightest stain or blemish ... upon his name.

He was active in community and ... affairs having been one of the organizers of ... of the National Guard, which company ... the service of the United States during our war with Spain in 1898. During the World War he also gave of his time and energy to the service of his country in the capacity of ... Chairman of the Four Minute Men of Santa Clara County.

He was also a most active and loyal member of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. ... Palo Alto Parlor No. 87 on August 22, 1895, he became its recording and financial secretary in 1900 and served continuously in that capacity until Palo Alto, whose name in the meantime had been changed to Garden City Parlor, was merged with San Jose Parlor No. 22 in the year 1922 when he became the Recording Secretary of the consolidated Parlor and served in that capacity until the date of his death.

He also served the Parlor and the Order as Chairman of San Jose Native Sons and Daughters Joint Homeless Children Committee for the last twelve years, and in his zealous and untiring work as chairman of that committee he was responsible for placing many homeless children in childless homes in this vicinity. Now, therefore, we respectfully submit the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Parlor sincerely deplores and regrets the loss of our brother Henry W. McComas; be it further resolved that this resolution and testimonial be spread upon the minutes of this Parlor and that a copy thereof be transmitted by the Secretary of this Parlor, under the seal thereof, to each of the three sisters of Henry W. McComas and to The Grizzly Bear.

JOHN M. BURNETT,
JOHN R. SULLIVAN
CHAS. M. BALDASINI

The foregoing resolution was regularly adopted by San Jose Parlor No. 22 N.S.G.W. on August 15, 1932. Attest: ARTHUR DAVISON, President. JOSEPH LAWRENCE, Secretary.

Whereas, In the wisdom of our Heavenly Father, the father of Charles D. Blaine, president of Modesto Parlor No. 11 N.S.G.W., has been called to his eternal rest, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of Modesto Parlor No. 11 Native Sons of the Golden West extend their most heartfelt sympathy to our president, Charles D. Blaine, and his family in this, their sad hour of bereavement, and sincerely pray that their sorrow may be tempered in the thought that God, in His infinite mercy knows best, and be it further resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor in respect to Brother Blaine, and that a copy thereof be sent to him.

The foregoing is a copy of a resolution adopted by Modesto Parlor No. 11 N.S.G.W. at their regular meeting September 7, 1932. Attest: C. C. EASTIN, Recording Secretary.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO'S NATIVE SONS AND Native Daughters staged a wonderful Admission Day program September 9 in celebration of the eighty-second anniversary of California's becoming one, the thirty-first, of the sovereign states of the United States of America. Old Sol was there in breezeless splendor, so there was a hot time in the old town, weatherically speaking. Arrangements for the celebration were made by a joint committee chairmaned by Joseph J. McShane, Grand Trustee N.S.G.W. The program, as presented in detail in The Grizzly Bear for September 1932, was admirably carried out, and there was not a single incident that could cause unfavorable comment. A perfect day, from every viewpoint.

The morning parade, in which thousands of Native Sons and Native Daughters appeared, was most colorful, and won hearty plaudits from the immense viewing throngs. Every participating Parlor is deserving of commendation for the splendid showing made. Of the "outside" delegations, those of Alameda and Marin Counties are deserving of special mention. San Francisco's Natives, as always no matter where the Admission Day celebration is held, were in line in large numbers. Winners of parade awards were:

Best decorated float, City of Oakland; best decorated Native Son or Native Daughter float, Alta Parlor No. 3 N.D.G.W. (San Francisco); best Native Son playing and marching drum corps with field music, Mount Tamalpais Parlor No. 64 (San Rafael); best Native Daughter drill team, Presidio Parlor No. 148 (San Francisco); best appearing Native Daughter marching unit, Joaquin Parlor No. 5 (Stockton); best appearing Native Son marching unit, Guadalupe Parlor No. 231 (San Francisco); largest marching Native Daughter unit, Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185 (San Francisco); largest marching Native Son unit, South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 (San Francisco); best Native Daughter drum corps, Tamelpa Parlor No. 231 (Mill Valley); best Native Son drum corps only, California Parlor No. 1 (San Francisco); best decorated auto, Mission Parlor No. 227 N.D.G.W. (San Francisco); Native Son or Native Daughter drum corps receiving least points in competition, Claremont Parlor No. 240 N.S.G.W. (Oakland).

Twenty thousand people crowded into the Civic Auditorium in the evening for the grand ball and prosperity pageant. Wilhelmina von Bremen, selected as the Admission Day queen, was there, and music was supplied by the San Francisco Municipal Orchestra. A fashion revue held the attention of the assemblage for more than an hour. Brief addresses were made by Governor James Rolph; Mrs. Anna Mixon-Armstrong, Grand President N.D.G.W.; Seth Millington, Grand President N.S.G.W., and Joseph J. McShane, Grand Trustee N.S.G.W. Captain Hugh Barrett Dobbs was the master of ceremonies. Ivo R. Monti was chairman of the committee which arranged this excellent feature of the celebration.—C.M.H.

BALL FOR CHILDREN BENEFIT.

The San Francisco N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Homeless Children Committee has been organized to conduct a costume ball in the Civic Auditorium, Thanksgiving Eve, November 23. Officers of the committee are: James L. Foley, Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 N.S.G.W., chairman; Kittie Mullaney, Dolores Parlor No. 169 N.D.G.W., vice-chairman; Edna Urmy, Buena Vista Parlor No. 68 N.D.G.W., recording secretary; Bertha Mauser, Keith Parlor No. 137 N.D.G.W., financial secretary; Chas. A. Koenig, Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 N.S.G.W., treasurer; P. L. Schlesinger, Balboa Parlor No. 234 N.S.G.W., sergeant-at-arms.

Proceeds of the ball will be used to carry on the splendid work of the Native Sons and Native Daughters in behalf of California's homeless children—a most worthy endeavor deserving of wholehearted support and encouragement.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

An event of unusual interest was the celebration by Alta Parlor No. 3 of the golden wedding anniversaries of Mms. Isabel Pomeroy and Otille McLaughlin. A mock wedding ceremony was arranged by President May L. MacDonald, Mrs. Mary Warren acting as the minister. Each bride was the recipient of a sandwich tray ornamented in gold, the gift of the Parlor. Supper followed the ceremony, and the evening of rejoicing concluded with the rendition of songs, Mrs. Sadie Blake presiding at the piano. The committee in charge of the barn dance to be held October 8 is working hard to make it an outstanding social and financial success; Mrs. Agnes Hughes is the chairman.

Orinda Parlor No. 56 had a reception and dance in honor of Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, who was escorted into the hall by Past Grand Emma Foley and presented with a silver gift. Deputy Mae Waring was among the many in attendance. Dancing helped to make the evening a wonderful success. September 23, all members born in September were given a birthday party and presented with gifts by the Parlor.

Genevieve Parlor No. 132 has planned a monster whist for the benefit of the Home Loyalty Pledge fund October 18. Miss Rena Taube is chairman of the arrangements committee, which is working hard to make the affair a huge success. The Parlor has outlined many activities for the fall and winter months.

Miss Vera Pander, whose marriage to Charles Thompson took place in September, was tendered a shower August 25 by Keith Parlor No. 137. A mock marriage was the entertainment feature. Refreshments were served at tables decorated in pastel shades, and around the festive board best wishes for health, wealth and prosperity were extended.

Dolores Parlor No. 169 set aside September 14 as "german night." The following, in costume, sang appropriate songs that added to the evening's entertainment: Ida Carrigan (chairman), Betty Both, Mae Baumeister, Evelyn Carlson, Mary Elb, Alma Hall, Kittie Mullaney, Emma O'Meara, Myrtle Ross, Rose Spaelti. Ann Dippel was the schoolteacher and kept everyone laughing. Past Grand Mae C. Boldemann was among the guests. German food was served at beautifully decorated tables. Plans are under way for a monster whist party October 27; Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson is the chairman.

Castro Parlor No. 178 is featuring a series of whist luncheons, and they are proving very successful. Alice Lane was the August hostess and Mae Warring the September hostess. The Parlor is making a monthly donation toward the support of a homeless child at the Aid Society; Margaret Lou Shirk is the lucky baby chosen.

San Francisco Past Presidents Association No. 1 had an enjoyable banquet August 29, ninety members attending. Instructive and entertaining talks added zest to the evening's entertainment.

POETRY TRIED ON POOR DRIVERS.

The following parody on Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees," author unknown, is a new line of attack on careless auto drivers:

"I think that I shall never see
Along the road an unscraped tree
With bark intact, and painted white,
That no car ever hit at night.
For every tree that's near the road
Has caused some auto to be towed.
Sideswiping trees is done a lot
By drivers who are not so hot.
God gave them eyes so they could see
Yet any fool can hit a tree."

Millions for Schools—For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, California apportioned September 12 to the several counties for public schools $19,796,785.56—$16,774,498.78 to elementary schools, $1,620,165.45 to high schools and $1,402,121.33 to junior colleges.

Grape Festival—Kentfield, Marin County, will have its twenty-ninth annual Grape Festival, October 8.

Not one held closely about the hip, but which flares and has an added shoulder cape of the same material and a little upstanding collar finished at the front with two cut-steel buttons. This new kind of wrap is made for purely practical reasons. Its length is such as to keep a frock from being crushed, and it lacks the heaviness of a long wrap. Its ample width is designed with full-puffed sleeves and frequent ruffles and flares, with this year's evening dresses in mind.

"Adjust Your Brake for Safety's Sake," is the October slogan of the California Public Safety Committee in its campaign to lessen the constantly increasing auto death-toll.

Bell, Edith Strain, Jean Clos, Carmel Brigante and Jennie Gilmer.

The potluck dinner September 21 was well attended and justice was done the tempting viands prepared by the members. Following the feast Miss Kathryn Ronan entertained with an illustrated talk on "The Desert." September 28 a reception was tendered returned travelers—Mrs. Lillian Carey, Mrs. Ramona Thoroughgood, Misses Leona and Jean Clos, Mrs. Grace Haven. All gave interesting accounts of their travels. Mrs. Mary McAnany was chairman of the evening. Delicious refreshments were served. "Mermaids" Irene Eden and Jennie Raymond want more recruits for the life-saving class. The bridge luncheon September 24 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Traeger was largely attended, and netted a goodly sum for the Parlor's clubhouse fund. Among those members who assisted Hostess Traeger were Sophia Stewart, Dolores Malin, Sali Joseph, Florence Nolte, Effie Walters, Emma Kaiser and Peggy Ambler.

The Parlor's program for October includes: 12th, card party, Mrs. Olinda Kerby chairman; 15th, beach party at the Hermosa home of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones; 21st and 22nd, rummage sale for the benefit of the homeless children fund; 26th, Hallowe'en dance.

COUNCILMEN LOOK OUT FOR SELVES.

The Los Angeles City Council has voted to further burden the November ballot by presenting twenty proposed charter amendments for consideration by the electorate. It is outrageous that these propositions should be submitted at a presidential election, and at a time when several state legislative propositions will be presented. The California election law should be amended to prohibit submission of local questions at a general election.

The Council voted down submission of a proposal to decrease the salaries of councilmen, but it will submit one to increase the term of councilmanic office from two to four years. The former would certainly have been approved, and the latter should be rejected.—C.M.H.

TO HAVE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM.

San Pedro—Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. is now meeting in a new home, the Redman building at historic Point Fermin. The Parlor will observe national educational week in November, President Joseph A. Pia having appointed a committee, composed of Past Presidents John T. Gower, Stanley A. Wheeler and Vincent E. Hopkins, to arrange a suitable program.

WELFARE WORK BENEFIT.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. is sponsoring a night at the Culver City Kennel Club Friday, October 7. The Interparlor N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Committee has endorsed the project, and all the Parlors of both Orders in Los Angeles, Orange and San Bernardino Counties will benefit. Tickets are forty cents each, and through the generosity of the club the Parlors will retain the entire amount of their ticket sales for welfare work. Among the many patrons and patronesses are Messrs. and Mesdames Freeman, Nesa, Conterno, Burke, Sunquist, Pierce, Noerenberg, Chappman, Meyer, Tuttle, Newell, Price, McCurdy, Badia, McCreery, Koster.

The Parlor had a rousing good meeting September 26, the occasion being the official visit of Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell. Every nearby Parlor was largely represented, and there was enthusiasm aplenty. Three candidates were initiated. In welcoming the visitor, Municipal Judge Joseph L. Call said, "We have with us tonight in Brother Seawell one whose name, fame, and deeds of accomplishment have reached from one end of the state to the other."

Justice Seawell delivered a delightful address, which thoroughly impressed his auditors; he pointed out that the Order is deserving of the best effort of every affiliate, and urged united action for increased membership. Among the many other speakers were Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Dr. George Sabichi, Grand Outside Sentinel William Reuter, Municipal Judge Leo Aggeler, Bernard J. Hiss, Clinton E. Skinner and Past Grand President John T. Newell. Pleasing entertainment numbers were presented by Santa Monica's own, refreshments were served, and Undersheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, the modern Jesse James, relieved many of their spare change, and through his successful extracting the charity fund of No. 267 was considerably enriched.

ORDER NATIVE SONS LOSES TWO MOST PROMINENT MEMBERS.

Just as the final pages of this issue of The Grizzly Bear were being printed, this sad news was received:

Dr. Charles W. Decker of Palo Alto, Santa Clara County, Past Grand President, died September 25. He was born at Sutterville, Sacramento County, in 1855, and was affiliated with California Parlor No. 1 (San Francisco).

William J. Hayes of Oakland, Alameda County, Past Grand President, died September 27. He was born at Havilah, Kern County, in 1885, and was affiliated with Berkeley Parlor No. 210.

PIONEER NATIVES DEAD

(Brief Notices of the Demise of Men and Women born in California Prior to 1860.)

Mrs. Columbia Ellen Rupley-Holliday, born in El Dorado County in 1858, died August 23 at Placerville survived by two children.

Mrs. Noonie Briggs-Boulon, born in Sonoma County in 1853, died August 24 at Vallejo, Solano County. She was affiliated with Alta Parlor No. 3 N.D.G.W. (San Francisco).

RETRIBUTION

the adjoining room heard Caleb crooning to the lifeless body between fits of violent sobbing.

The mob was not informed of her passing until she was dressed for burial and her erring husband had pressed his bloodless lips to those of his lost and loved one. Dry-eyed he left the room and when surrounded by the swaying mob he asked no clemency. Some there were in the pulsing throng who would have stayed the hands of the hangmen, but the odds were against him. They placed him on a mule which was led to the crest of the hill beyond. A large and suitable tree was selected. The noose was adjusted to Caleb's neck, the other end thrown over a stout oak limb. They asked him if he had anything to say. He replied:

"No, only that I be laid beside my dear wife." "That cannot be, old man. You are unfit to lie beside the one you so unjustly slew. We will dig your grave beneath this great oak limb, and may God have mercy on your wicked soul." At the last word the mule was given a sharp lash, which freed him of his burden. Caleb swung into eternity.

Judge Lynch did not deem it necessary for trial and jury, and summary proceedings were considered justifiable by the type of men who peopled California in 1849.

At the same time that Caleb was being hanged, Mary Devine's friends were laying her in her long and narrow resting place on a sunny hillslope. It is told by early Pioneers that the oak died soon after Caleb was buried there. The elements bleached the limbs of the tree and many of those white arms were lifted heavenward as though in supplication for the old sailor's murderous deeds.

MILLIONS FOR FEDERAL PROJECTS.

The Federal War Department announced September 13 allotments of funds provided for under the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932 for flood control and river and harbor projects in various parts of the country totaling in all $41,577,260. California allotments include:

San Joaquin River, $138,000; Petaluma Creek, $166,500; San Diego Harbor, $134,000; Los Angeles and Long Beach Harbors, $700,000.

Values Decrease—Assessed values of California property for 1932 decreased $1,316,965,641, compared with 1931, this year's total being $8,081,944,342.

Yosemite Acreage Increased—Wawona Basin and an area of timber land totaling more than 9,000 acres have been added to Yosemite National Park.

No Registration Depression—The total registration of students at the University of California for the 1931-32 year, 25,150, exceeded the 1930-31 registration by 579.

Forest Funds—The Federal Agricultural Department allotted September 20 to thirty-three states and territories with national forests their shares of receipts from the forests in the last fiscal year. California receives $209,165.53.

Bicentennial Stamps Discontinued—The Federal Postoffice Department announces that manufacture of the George Washington bicentennial stamps will be discontinued October 1. Approximately 7,000,000,000 of them had been printed up to September 1.

THINK THIS OVER!

The order of Native Sons of the Golden West is, we believe, with the exception of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, the only organization that limits membership exclusively to NATIVE-BORN AMERICANS.

Knowing the serious conditions in this country today, this fact alone should impel every Native Son of California to immediately SEEK AFFILIATION with that American-born and American-operated institution, the man-power and wealth of which are pledged to the protection of American institutions in times of peace as well as in times of war.

the pension rolls. Gentlemen, study those figures before you vote.'"

The figures referred to show that in the World War, Germany, France, Great Britain, Italy and Canada, combined, had a total of 34,244,636 men mobilized; 16,563,907 died or were wounded. The combined annual relief bills of these five nations is $891,190,360. The United states, alone, had 4,355,000 men mobilized; 360,300 died or were wounded. The annual veterans' relief bill of the United States, alone, is $860,000,000—but $31,000,000 less than the five nations, combined, expend for the relief of 12,000,000 more men.

There is a growing public sentiment that something must be done to curb the expenditures of the Federal Government veteran bureau. This, because of facts, coming into the light, which cause suspicion that the undeserving are getting a considerable portion of relief funds, and that extravagance, favoritism and graft are not conspicuous by their absence. The veteran bureau now gets approximately twenty-five cents of every dollar paid into the federal treasury. The cost-tide continues to rise, too, and unless checked the financial stability of the country will be seriously jeopardized. For instance, forces in the Civil War were about half those in the World War. Pension payments account of the Civil War, reaching the peak in 1923, fifty-eight years after that war, totaled $238,000,000. Payments to World War veterans in 1932, but fourteen years after that war, reached $650,000,000.

Speaking at Boston, Massachusetts, Rear-Admiral William S. Simms, retired, of the United States Navy said: "The Spanish-American War lasted exactly 114 days, and although less than 400 were killed and less than 5,000 died of wounds and disease, yet more than 227,000 out of the 280,000 who served are now drawing government pensions. The cost this year for Spanish-American War pensions is $119,000,000." He described this pension system, according to press dispatches, as a "steal of the nastiest kind and an outrage to the American taxpayer."

The American Medical Association, through Willam C. Woodard, makes this public protest: "The medical profession cries as loudly as any other group of citizens for the liberal treatment of all persons suffering from disabilities incurred in military service and of the widows and orphans of those who have died or may hereafter die because of such disabilities. . . . What the medical profession complains of, however, is the treatment at public expense of veterans who are suffering from disabilities not incurred in military service and having no relation to such service. Patriotism and national honor call for no such gratuity."

Roger Burlingame, a World War veteran, in his book, "Peace Veterans," warns: "We cannot shut our ears to the word that is whispered and finally will be spoken aloud among the people as we go by; the new word, the new harsh word 'racket.' The word and the accusation will not be altogether just. As the storm grows, the hatred of every man who wore a uniform will be profoundly unjust. We must not wait, we the veterans. We must rise in defense of our own honor as well as in the defense of our country in its new emergency. We must admit our fault and take the lead against its consequences."

Indignation was aroused, and justly so, in Los Angeles when it was discovered that A. I. Lasker, one of the several "Angel City" prominents sent up for robbing innocent investors, had been given his liberty by the State Parole Board. He had served but twenty-five months of a fifteen-to-twenty-year sentence. The excuse for releasing him was, that he "was suffering from pernicious anemia and must be released or die."

Queer, isn't it, how all the higherup crooks become physically afflicted, after they have been convicted? Apparently they know "gwanadie" is the password to freedom! How long before Beesemeyer, the Fishes, Ferguson, etc., etc., will be released? Not a single one of those crooked financiers is deserving of pity. If prison confinement means certain death, they should be confined, for they have wrecked the lives, aye, caused the deaths, of numerous honest, hard-working people. Lasker's parole should be revoked, and he and all of his kind should be compelled to serve the maximum sentences prescribed by the trial judges.

The State Legislature should amend the statutes so that no person convicted of a felony may benefit from the parole and the indeterminate-sentence provisions. The trial judge, being the best qualified to do so, should fix the maximum period of confinement. Let that be done, and California will have less crime and fewer criminals.

Rev. Dr. Jones I. Corrigan of the Catholic Church, speaking of the divorce evil, in the course of a radio address said: "It possesses the appetite that grows with what it feeds on. . . . Public opinion has not been sufficiently aroused to take a stand against divorce. . . . The time has come to face the facts and destroy this national cancer. . . . By our divorce laws and by pandering to divorce, we have poisoned the public mind not alone by suggesting evil, but by suggesting a plausible excuse for it."

He may well have summed up his excellent discourse by stating that marriage in this country has, because of insane interpretations of divergent regulatory statutes, degenerated into legalized prostitution.

Red Cross officials of Salina, Kansas, have decreed that persons who have autos will have to surrender their license tags before they can receive further aid. Welfare authorities throughout California should follow this lead. A person owning or operating an auto is not justly entitled to be aided at public expense—at the expense of numbers of taxpayers who, because they cannot honestly afford to do so, do not own or operate a car. Another form of waste of public funds that should be stopped.

Speaking in San Francisco anent existing court procedure, Federal Judge William B. Sheppard of Florida is quoted thusly: "It is so clumsy that perpetrators of heinous crimes manage, with the aid of racketeering lawyers, to slip through the fingers of the law and go free, or obtain light sentences or fines when they should be severely punished." Perhaps this accounts for crime being the outstanding profession of the nation, as well as for its practicers sittin' pretty atop the social pie.

Continuing, he said, "There is no determination on the part of the Government to enforce it [the prohibition law], nor any real prosecution of those who violate it." Isn't it so?

State Controller Ray L. Riley has served notice he will not approve any salary increase during the next twelve months, unless compelled to do so by the courts. It appears that, although the state administration is preaching economy to relieve the deficit, some forty employes, probably on the specially-favored payroll, were given increases, but the state controller refused to pay the advances. Hurrah for Riley! May his kind increase in public office!

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University is, according to press dispatches, for unconditional repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and he must think it is coming, for he is reported to have a plan for state liquor control modeled after the Quebec act.

Which recalls the frequently advanced argument that repeal will produce liquor-tax revenue to balance the national budget. In ten years, Quebec collected $68,032,472 in liquor revenue, but to produce it the enormous sum of $589,944,914 was expended for liquor. What price, liquor revenue!

Another "investment" scandal, the Insull Industries, is being publicized, and again the nation's "giants of finance" are linked with within-the-law thievery. These blowups are of almost daily occurrence, but not a single "highboy" has had his wings clipped.

Captioned "Japan's Words Disproved Again by Japanese Deeds," the San Francisco "Chronicle" said editorially September 6: "Japan is now the only nation on earth the solemn word of honor of whose government is unanimously disbelieved by every other government." Shades of the mikado!—and from the heretofore decidedly pro-Jap "Chronicle." As that government, so its nationals in this country. Their protestations of friendliness are not sincere, as time will prove.

The "jokiest" joke of the open season: Director Amos Woodcock of the Federal Prohibition Bureau, addressing a W.C.T.U. convention at Seattle, Washington—"There is practically no open sale of intoxicating liquor in the United States." Andy wasn't there to complete the picture, either.

"By keeping silence when we ought to speak, men may be lost. By speaking when we ought to keep silence, we waste our words. The wise man is careful to do neither."—Confucius.

"COWARDICE"

This article, by Bertrand Russell, came t

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

ANNUALLY, STATE CONTROLLER RAY L. Riley presents for the information of the general public figure-facts of the assessed value of property in, and the indebtedness of, each of California's fifty-eight counties. The figures in the 1932 statement are startling! Propertyowners should give them serious consideration, for they clearly indicate that, unless prompt and decisive action be taken by the taxbearers to stop governmental extravagance and waste, bankruptcy must come to every holder of realty.

Bear in mind that these figures do not refer to the state government administration which, with enormously lessened revenue, has not decreased the operating cost. In fact, although facing a deficit reaching into the millions, salaries and other operating costs have been increased and the numbers on the payrolls have not been lessened.

Nor do the figures include the bonded indebtedness of the incorporated municipalities within the several counties. The outstanding bonded debt of the fifty-five municipalities in Los Angeles County alone, December 31, 1931, was $233,711,669. Taxpayers in nearly every other county have proportionately as heavy bond burdens to carry.

But never forget that, irrespective of the claims of promoters and politicians otherwise, every cent of indebtedness—whether resulting from bond issues or operation—of state, county, municipality and township governments is a first lien against every parcel of real estate. Here are some figures from Riley's statement:

Grand total 1932 assessed value all taxable property in California, $8,498,447,651. A decrease, compared with the 1931 value ($9,402,188,441) of $903,740,790, and, compared with the 1930 value ($10,203,866,630), a decrease of $1,705,418,979. Thus, in the two-year period since the presence of the depression was generally recognized, except by California's overnumerous governing authorities, the assessed value of all property in the state has decreased $1,705,418,979, and the opinion is ventured that the actual, or sale, value has decreased double that stupendous sum.

Total 1932 indebtedness of all the counties, $209,725,819. An increase, compared with the 1931 total ($201,724,158) of $8,001,661, and, compared with the 1930 total ($188,866,324), an increase of $20,859,495. So, in the same two-year period while property values have been skyrocketing downward at the rate of close to a billion dollars a year, the indebtedness, resulting mostly from reckless spending, has skyrocketed upward close to twenty-one million dollars. That—loading more debt on falling value—is the governmental efficiency so extensively propagandaed; the efficiency which has caused, and is causing, thousands of propertyowners to abandon their holdings. Here are more comparative figures:

Value real estate—$3,265,550,724 (1932), $3,786,492,171 (1931), $3,867,173,026 (1930). Value real estate improvements—$2,023,307,157 (1932), $2,191,885,304 (1931), $2,143,372,981 (1930). Value personal property—$749,543,070 (1932), $764,220,678 (1931), $962,028,425 (1930). Money—$2,473,208 (1932), $2,762,926 (1931), $2,591,679 (1930). Solvent credits—$411,439,873 (1932), $358,227,892 (1931), $499,841,574 (1930). Stocks, bonds, notes, etc.—$710,098,960 (1932), $874,496,002 (1931), $1,334,481,852 (1930).

From the just-above figures note that the 1932 assessed value of real estate and improvements is $5,288,857,881; the 1930 total was $6,010,546,007—a reduction in two years of $721,688,126. The 1932 assessed value of personal property, money, solvent credits, stocks, bonds, notes, etc., is $1,873,555,111; the 1930 total was $2,798,943,530—a reduction in two years of $925,392,419. Realty, representing approximately sixty-two percent of the tax-producing holdings, gets a reduction of but $721,688,126, while the other holdings are reduced $925,392,419. It is plainly evident, therefore, that realty is discriminated against—shamefully and ruinfully tax burdened!

Note, too, that the 1932 assessed value of stocks, bonds, notes, etc., is $710,098,960; the 1930 total was $1,334,481,852. The two-year decrease, $624,382,892, multiplied by five, gives a conservative estimate, about three billion dollars, of the amount crooked bankers, financiers and promoters of California, thieving without molestation by the authorities, have deliberately and knowingly stolen from honest, hard-working residents of the state. A few of the bigboys have been "goated," and prosecuted at enormous expense to the taxpayers. When convicted, they are, or in all likelihood will be, turned loose, either by the trial magistrate or the state authorities,—to resume preying on the unsuspecting public.

Really, the whole system of government has become a huge farce, and the propertyowners are paying dearly for a continuous performance of the comedy of waste, extravagance, inefficiency, ad infinitum ad nauseum. And just so long as they sit and stand idly by, the farce will be uninterruptedly continued, at no lessening of the cost. Returning to the state controller's statement:

Total value of property [nonoperative and operative] as returned by county assessors—$8,224,150,764 (1932), $9,085,717,507 (1931), $9,868,881,785 (1930); a two-year decrease of $1,644,731,021.

Value of railroads as assessed by State Board Equalization—$274,296,887 (1932), $316,470,934 (1931), $334,984,845; a two-year decrease of $60,687,958.

Los Angeles continues as the richest tax-assessed county in the state. Its 1932 grand total, $3,559,159,860, is, however, $955,102,108 less than the 1930 total of $4,514,261,968. The peak-year in this county was 1929, when the assessment totaled $4,522,926,824. The county's indebtedness has, in the two-year period, increased $527,601, from $9,952,188 in 1930 to $10,479,789 in 1932. The county's 1932 tax rate is $1.532 (inside) and $1.672 (outside); the 1930 rate was $1.369 (inside) and $1.619 (outside). This tax rate is for the county's general expenses, and does not include numerous assessment-district special taxes. The Los Angeles City 1932 rate is considerably above four dollars per $100 valuation, for the city had, December 31, 1931, an outstanding bonded debt of $168,511,961, and the taxpayers must dig up $30,000 a day to pay interest charges on this sum. The county has 1,291,924 acres of assessed land. Nearly 42 percent of the whole state's taxable property is in this one county.

San Francisco, the only combined city-and-county subdivision of California, is the next richest. Its 1932 grand total assessment, $1,433,788,594, is $308,671,149 less than the 1930 total of $1,742,459,743. San Francisco's peak-assessment year was 1930. Its indebtedness has increased $24,176,800 in two years, from $137,729,400 in 1930 to $161,906,200 in 1932. The year's tax rate, $3.96, is eight cents less than the 1930 rate of $4.04. San Francisco has but 29,888 acres of assessed land.

Alameda—$538,046,157 (1932), $587,867,173 (1931), $602,733,625 (1930); two-year decrease, $64,687,468.

San Diego—$216,027,076 (1932), $253,647,549 (1931), $278,043,620 (1930); two-year decrease, $62,016,544.

Fresno—$195,265,571 (1932), $204,589,215 (1931), $211,437,014 (1930); two-year decrease, $16,171,443.

Kern—$191,660,550 (1932), $216,814,424 (1931), $221,391,937 (1930); two-year decrease, $29,731,387.

Orange—$178,047,055 (1932), $187,226,045 (1931), $206,832,045 (1930); two-year decrease, $28,784,990.

Sacramento—$174,182,694 (1932), $176,771,004 (1931), $178,394,240 (1930); two-year decrease, $4,211,546.

Santa Clara—$141,619,660 (1932), $145,812,454 (1931), $146,760,202 (1930); two-year decrease, $5,140,542.

Santa Barbara—$133,092,558 (1932), $156,940,051 (1931), $160,908,377 (1930); two-year decrease, $27,815,819.

San Bernardino—$129,662,460 (1932), $136,033,314 (1931), $140,025,917 (1930); two-year decrease, $10,363,457.

San Joaquin—$125,390,519 (1932), $134,198,792 (1931), $149,870,943 (1930); two-year decrease, $15,672,151.

Contra Costa—$105,771,626 (1932), $112,641,523 (1931), $116,053,724 (1930); two-year decrease, $10,282,098.

Ventura County's 1932 total assessment is $88,568,979; in 1931 it was $119,181,867 and in 1930, $124,720,684; a two-year decrease of $36,151,705.

But three of the state's fifty-eight counties show an increased grand total assessment in the two-year period: Amador—$8,794,432 (1932), $8,575,305 (1930); increase, $219,127. Kings—$48,150,472 (1932), $44,248,847 (1930); increase, $3,901,625. Mono—$6,674,265 (1932), $6,624,202 (1930); increase, $50,063.

Alpine County, with 50,707 acres of assessed land, stands alone in the six-figure grand-total class. In the two-year period its assessment has decreased $106,935, from $901,059 (1930) to $794,124 (1932).

Kern County has the largest number of acres of assessed land, 3,829,498. San Bernardino County is next, with 2,730,145, and then Fresno County, with 2,178,000.

The following counties are free of debt: Amador, Calaveras, Humboldt, Inyo, Madera, Mariposa, Mono, Nevada, Placer, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Trinity, Tuolumne and Yuba.

Three counties—Alpine, Del Norte and Lake—have no railroads. In but nineteen counties could the assessors find money for assessment. The people of Alpine, Del Norte, Marin, Mono, Plumas and Trinity evidently are wondrous wise, for no stocks and bonds are assessed in those counties. Trinity County has the highest tax rate, $4 per hundred, and Kings County has the lowest, $1.45 (inside) and $1.75 (outside).

A new organization, dubbed "California Council on Oriental Relations," was publicly announced last month in San Francisco. Its purpose is to bring about a change in the Federal Immigration Act, so that more Japs and other ineligible-to-citizenship and undesirable aliens may come into this country via the quota. President Robert G. Sproul of the University of California heads the outfit, a byproduct of the deceptively-titled "California State Chamber of Commerce" which, although operated by big interests for their special benefit, is financed largely by public tax-funds donated by boards of supervisors. Taxpayers of every county should unite, and deal this "State Chamber" a deathblow by compelling their supervisors to with-

Quality for Fifty Years

● WHEN California was range land, and cattle raising its principal business, the Hauser Packing Company was devoting its efforts to supplying quality meats.

Now, as then, this organization is pledged to the highest standards of quality, that the brand, "Hauser's Pride," may continue to be one of the commercial landmarks of the state's progress.

The cattle business has always been one of the romantic, colorful and historic backgrounds of this state's rich inheritance and this company is proud to have a part in keeping alive the great tradition of pioneer days and the glorious memory of the days of El Dorado.

PUBLIC GOOD MUST BE PARAMOUNT TO EVERY PRIVATE CONSIDERATION.

Regardless of how involved the present presidential campaign now drawing to a close may have become, with Republicans voting Democrat and Democrats voting Republican, it cannot rival the campaign of 1800, when the Federal Congress was called on to settle the fight, and the leader of the opposing political party was, for all practical purposes, the man who chose the president, declared Professor E. I. McCormac of the University of California history department in the course of an address on famous presidential campaigns.

Because the founders of the country had not visualized the formation of political parties, he explained, the method of election was to have the presidential electors vote for two candidates. The candidate receiving the greatest number of votes would be president, and the second candidate would be vice-president. In 1800, however, the Federalist and the Republican parties had developed. The latter party was in the majority, and voted solidly for its two candidates, Jefferson and Burr. In other words, somebody had to decide which one should be president and which one should be vice-president.

Alexander Hamilton, leader of the opposition Federalists, was a bitter enemy of Jefferson, yet he succeeded in swinging the congressional vote to Jefferson, rather than Burr, because he believed that Jefferson was more honest and more capable.

In a letter to a friend, Hamilton said: "If there be a man in the world I ought to hate, it is Jefferson—but public good must be paramount to every private consideration." He disliked Jefferson, but admitted his honesty and patriotism, whereas Burr, he said, "has no principle, public or private; would be bound by no agreement; will listen to no monitor but his ambition; and for this purpose will use the worst part of the community as a ladder to climb to permanent power, and an instrument to crush the better part. He is sanguine enough to hope everything, daring enough to attempt anything; wicked enough to scruple nothing. From the elevation of such a man may heaven preserve the country." So, Hamilton fought for his enemy.

"Great powers and natural gifts do not bring privileges to their possessor so much as they bring duties."—Beecher.

PIONEER NATIVES DEAD

Louis J. Harrison, born in San Francisco in 1858, died October 16 at Los Angeles City survived by a wife and five children.

Mrs. Annie Buchler-Hughes, born in El Dorado County in 1857, died October 17 at Georgetown survived by a husband and five children.

Charles E. Durgan, born in Tuolumne County in 1859, died October 17 at Jamestown.

Rodeo—Bakersfield, Kern County, will stage its first annual rodeo, November 12 and 13.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

CALIFORNIA'S QUADRENNIAL STATE election was held November 7, 1882, and it was a Democratic landslide. Few Republicans secured even a look-in at the ballot-box. General George M. Stoneman, Democratic nominee for Governor, received 90,694 votes, and Morris M. Estee, the Republican nominee, 67,175. The Democrats elected the state's entire congressional delegation of six. Among the successful ones was "Jim" Budd of Stockton, San Joaquin County, who made a celebrated buckboard campaign and defeated the heretofore invincible Republican warhorse, Frank Page. The State Legislature, also, became overwhelmingly Democratic.

Thanksgiving Day was November 30. With a wet winter in view, and plenty of rain to satisfy the wants of the miners, the farmers and the livestock men, an optimistic feeling prevailed and everybody celebrated. The godly attended church services, while the others had sporting events, dinners, grand balls, etc. Drink emporiums gave their numerous patrons a free roast-turkey lunch. Times were never better in California.

Wheat, selling for $1.70 and barley for $1.40 a cental, and hay for $16 a ton, made the farmers a good profit, and the hopraisers, disposing of their crops at a dollar a pound, were getting rich. Dressed turkey retailed at 20c, prime roast beef 9c, mutton 4c and pork 6c a pound. Chickens were 50c each, and butter 35c a pound. California-layed eggs brought 50c a dozen, while those from Iowa retailed at 35c. To supply the demand, potatoes had to be brought from Salt Lake City, and were selling at one cent a pound.

November was a month of freakish weather. Rain, beginning on the 1st, continued for a week, and a chilling norther came along on the 11th. A fortnight of frosty mornings followed, with the thermometer going below zero at Truckee, Nevada County, and as low as 22 degrees in the valleys. The month's rainfall of 3.22 inches brought the season's total up to 7.42 inches.

A brilliant aurora borealis, shooting red beams of light from the North Pole to the zenith, appeared the night of November 15. It was of fan shape, and with its streaks of red lined with blue was described as one of the most dazzling ever seen. At the same time, the savants at Berkeley, Alameda County, announced three large sun spots, visible through smoked glasses. So, the eyes of California's citizens were trained heavenward.

During the month, sixty-nine vessels arrived at San Francisco. Seventeen from Australia and five from British Columbia were ladened with coal, six from Honolulu had cargoes of sugar, three from Peru brought nitrates for the manufacture of powder, and three from the South Sea Islands had cargoes of oranges.

General John Bidwell donated to the California Immigration Association, for exhibition purposes, nineteen varieties of wheat and a pumpkin three and one-third feet in circumference grown in Butte County.

Santa Cruz County dairymen organized a protective association to fight the sale of oleomargarine, popularly known as "bull butter." Their lead was being followed by butter producers of other counties, for the sale of the substitute, "ole," at about half the price that genuine butter could be marketed, was affecting the dairymen of the state financially.

The first carload of apples to be shipped out of California by rail went from Shingle Springs, El Dorado County, November 13, destined for Denver, Colorado.

H. F. Buckley of Merced County had a sixty-one-acre hop yard. He sold the yield for $26,000, making a $21,000 profit. H. Wittenbrock of Sacramento County had sold his hop crop for $85,000. Had he held it until this month, November, he would have received an additional $50,000.

The stage from Cloverdale, Sonoma County, to Lakeport, Lake County, was stopped four miles from the former place by a lone man who took away the expressbox and the mailbags.

The Nevada Hydraulic Company at New York Flat, Nevada County, made its final cleanup and sent the product, $22,000 worth of golddust, to Marysville, Yuba County. Six men, armed with sawed-off shotguns, guarded the treasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cox and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark, who were married at a double wedding ceremony Thanksgiving Day, November 29, 1857, celebrated at Sacramento City November 29 their silver wedding anniversaries. Hundreds of the oldtimers of California North attended the grand social event. Cox and Clark, as young men, formed a partnership in the early '50s and made millions from land and livestock investments. Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Clark subsequently became widows and, strange to relate, both died several years ago on the same day.

T. Lundy arrived from London with a proposition from a company of English promoters to supply San Francisco and other cities with water drawn from the Blue Lakes in Alpine County and other Sierra ponds. It was proposed to use the Mokelumne River for a canal to the foothills. The promoters had purchased the land they intended to use.

The Judson Manufacturing Company of Emeryville, Alameda County, turned out November 15 the first lot of tacks produced in California. One hundred and fifty men were employed, and the product was being shipped to foreign countries.

Fires during November caused heavy financial losses: Schambacher tannery, Watsonville, Santa Cruz County, 2nd, $20,000; several buildings, Santa Cruz City, 7th, $10,000; Lyman House, Point Arena, Mendocino County, 10th, $15,000; palatial residence, Samuel M. Wilson, San Francisco, 16th, $100,000; block business houses, Wilmington, Los Angeles County, 13th, $50,000; Fry's shinglemill, near Eureka, Humboldt County, 15th, $30,000; Golden Eagle livery stable, Sacramento City, 28th, $40,000.

A building erected at the corner of Sacramento and Webster streets, San Francisco, was dedicated November 4 and christened Cooper Institute. Built by Dr. L. C. Lane, it opened as a medical college November 16 with a faculty of sixteen prominent physicians. It is now known as Stanford Medical School, an adjunct of Stanford University.

E. Pickett, popularly known as the political "stormy petrel" and nicknamed "The Philosopher," died at Merced City November 17. He arrived at Sutter Fort in 1844, and was the first White man tried for homicide in California. He shot a man in selfdefense and was tried for the deed at the Fort. He became famous as a perrenial issuer of pamphlets discussing political topics of the times, and one day occupied the seat of a supreme court judge, claiming he had as much right to usurp it as the judge, who, he claimed, had not been legally chosen. Charged with contempt of court, he languished in jail many weeks before being freed.

John W. Simonton, publisher of the San Francisco "Call" and "Bulletin," died in Napa Valley November 2 at the age of 60. He came to California in 1850 and a few days after arriving became a publisher.

H. N. Nutting, who had served four terms as district attorney of San Mateo County, was November 30 standing upon the sidewalk at Redwood City, waiting for a funeral procession to pass, when he dropped dead.

R. F. Wilson of Lemoore, Kings County, was accidentally killed November 11 while firing an anvil salute in celebration of the Democratic victory at the polls.

W. S. Reed of Oakland, Alameda County, was drowned in San Francisco Bay November 5, the waves of a ferryboat capsizing the boat in which he was sailing.

James, 6-year-old son of District Attorney E. J. Edwards of Tulare County, was accidentally killed November 5 while on a hunting trip with his father.

James B. Smith, a fisherman living near Santa Ana, Orange County, November 2 killed his 14 year-old son by cutting his throat. He claimed to have received a message from the Lord to do so, and his wife corroborated the claim. He had called at the postoffice thrice during the previous week, saying he was expecting a message from the Lord, but not receiving it there, it must have reached him by some other route. Smith was a firm believer in the Bible, and in defense of his act cited the experience of Abraham.

A passenger train struck the rear of a freight near Davis, Yolo County, November 19 and the caboose caught fire. Brakeman William Haggett was burned to death.

The 3-year-old son of P. Ryan of Smartsville, Yuba County, while throwing chips November 28 into a mining ditch to watch them float away, fell in and was drowned.

Three children of a San Francisco citizen named Sullivan died of ptomaine poisoning after eating of a mess of fish.

George J. Reek and James E. Anderson had a shooting affray November 4 at Eureka, Humboldt County, and the latter was fatally wounded.

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing Government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it."—Abraham Lincoln.

HARRY M. BAINE IS A PROVED SUPERVISOR

A man who regards Los Angeles County as a business corporation, spending some fifty millions of dollars a year in its maintenance, and who has had a successful civil record as a businessman and administrator of business affairs; a man to whom the business of County Government can be safely entrusted; Harry M. Baine, incumbent Supervisor for the Third District is such a man.

His retention in office as Supervisor for the Third District will do much to so regulate county affairs and expenditures as to return dividends to the stockholder voters.

Voters and taxpayers reawakened to the responsibility and importance of their voting franchise are supporting Supervisor Baine for reelection.

ANOTHER EPIC

SAN FRANCISCO—SUNDAY, OCTOBER 9, marked another epic in the history of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West Home. Two hundred and fifty reservations were made, and an equal number could not be accommodated. Carrying out the Washington bicentennial theme, the tables were beautifully decorated in red, white and blue, and each grand officer was presented with a corsage of those colors. Past Grand Presidents Dr. Louise C. Heilbron and Mary E. Bell were the hostesses and provided an entertaining and instructive program.

Dr. Heilbron, originator of the Loyalty Pledge, by means of which the entire mortgage on the Home was liquidated in three years' time, presented a beautiful solid bronze plaque, 29x31, bearing the names of all Subordinate Parlors which have paid in full their pledges. In presenting the plaque she said, "I ask you to accept this plaque in the name of the Native Daughters of the Golden West." In speaking of the work accomplished by the three Grand Presidents succeeding her,—Esther Sullivan, Estelle Evans and Evelyn Carlson—Dr. Heilbron remarked that it was singular their names began with "E," typifying energy, efficiency and enthusiasm, and she told the part each had played in the liquidation of the mortgage.

Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola, Chairman Grand Parlor Home Committee, in the absence of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong accepted the plaque, and spoke of the wonderful results accomplished by the Subordinate Parlors in contributing the amount necessary to pay the mortgage. Congresswoman Florence Kahn spoke on the work accomplished at the last session of the Federal Congress. Past Grands Sullivan, Evans and Carlson complimented Past Grand Heilbron for the thought of the Loyalty Pledge.

The plaque, unveiled by Emma Boarman Wright and Henrietta O'Neill, charter members Ursula No. 1, the "mother" Parlor, is adorned with a laurel wreath and inscribed as follows: "Honor Roll Subordinate Parlors Native Daughters of the Golden West whose contributions of Loyalty Pledges made possible our Worthy Achievement—the Native Daughter Home. Cornerstone laid by Grand Parlor, 1928. Building dedicated, Jan. 12, 1929. Mortgage canceled, Grand Parlor 1932. 1929 Californiana. 1930 Marysville, Palo Alto, Camp Far West, Imogen, Buena Vista, Anna K. Bidwell, Golden State, Mary E. Bell. 1931 California, South Butte, Clear Lake, Orinda, Marinita, Vallejo, Presidio, Dolores, La Bandera, Ano Nuevo, La Estrella, Antioch, Copa de Oro, Victory. 1932 Liberty, Ursula, La Junta, Alta, Miocene, Woodland, Sea Point, Amapola, James Lick, Marguerite, Eshcol, Oakdale, Fairfax, Morada, Mission, Golden Gate, Castro, Tamelpa, Colus, El Dorado."

DR. LOUISE C. HEILBRON,
Originator the Loyalty Pledge.

The San Francisco N.D.G.W. glee club rendered several selections, and as the representative of each Parlor that has paid its Loyalty Pledge was introduced, girls of the club, in colonial costumes, presented each with a boquet of red, white and blue flowers. Past Grand Estelle M. Evans charmed everyone with her wonderful voice, rendering "Trees," "Estralita" and "Sweet Mystery of Life." The following Subordinate Parlors responded to rollcall: Copa de Oro No. 105 (Hollister), Dolores No. 169 (San Francisco), Califia No. 22 (Sacramento), Sutter No. 111 (Sacramento), Ursula No. 1 (Jackson), Morada No. 199 (Modesto), La Junta No. 203 (Saint Helena), Golden Gate No. 158 (San Francisco), Alta No. 3 (San Francisco), Marguerite No. 12 (Placerville), Castro No. 178 (San Francisco), Eshcol No. 16 (Napa), Oakdale No. 125 (Oakdale), Orinda No. 56 (San Francisco), Miocene No. 228 (Taft), Fairfax No. 225 (Fairfax), El Dorado No. 186 (Georgetown), Colus No. 194 (Colusa), Woodland No. 90 (Woodland), Reina del Mar No. 126 (Santa Barbara), Santa Cruz No. 26 (Santa Cruz), El Peseadero No. 82 (Tracy), Marysville No. 162 (Marysville), Camp Far West No. 218 (Wheatland), Annie K. Bidwell No. 168 (Chico), Palo Alto No. 229 (Palo Alto), Golden State No. 50 (San Francisco), Imogen No. 134 (Sierraville), Buena Vista No. 68 (San Francisco), Mary E. Bell No. 224 (Dixon), Marinita No. 198 (San Rafael), Ano Neuvo No. 180 (Pescadero), South Butte No. 226 (Sutter), Vallejo No. 195 (Vallejo), Minerva No. 2 (San Francisco), Stirling No. 146 (Pittsburg), Antioch No. 223 (Antioch).

Wild Life Conserved—Wild life in California is conserved in thirty-two state game reserves, covering a total area of more than 2,000,000 acres, within the national forests of the state.

FRIENDS AID JUDGE

Protesting against the actions of a small group of attorneys who seek the recall of Superior Judge Dailey S. Stafford, the Judge's friends have organized a large volunteer organization to carry the true story to the voters of Los Angeles County.

These volunteer workers will tell how Judge Stafford's actions were investigated by the Superior Court, the District Attorney and the Grand Jury, and how each of these agencies, in turn, exonerated him of all charges of misconduct, and will call attention to the fact that, in spite of a decision of the very court which it now presumably seeks to uphold, the small committee from the Los Angeles Bar Association is going ahead with the recall proceedings, thus showing a contempt for the court.

Reports coming to Judge Stafford's headquarters indicate that the Judge will be retained in office by the vote of those who seek fair play.—Advertisement.

CROSSED THE BAR --- GONE AHEAD

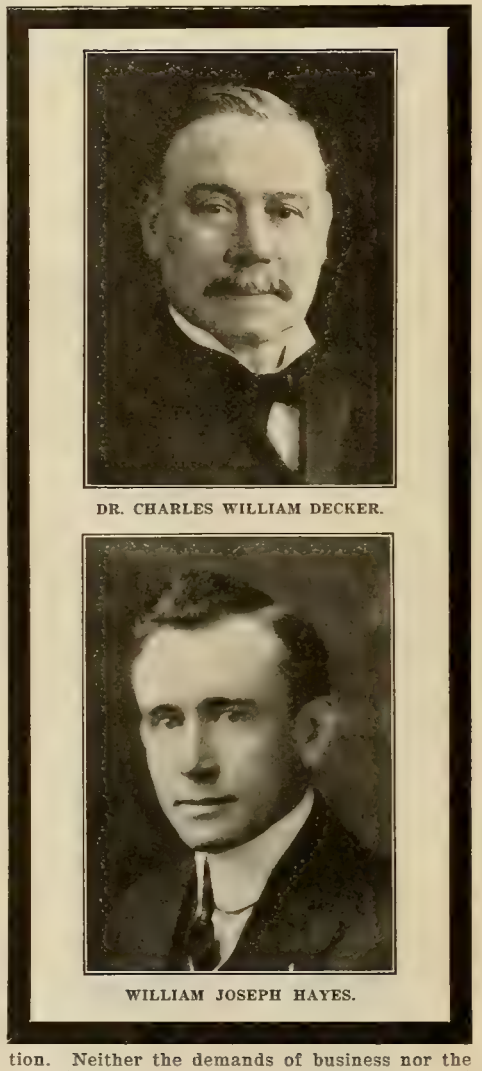
TWO SPLENDID SPECIMENS OF NATIVE-Californian manhood greatly admired within the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West—Past Grand Presidents Dr. Charles William Decker and William Joseph Hayes—crossed the bar to the other shore the latter part of last month, as briefly chronicled in The Grizzly Bear for October 1932.

PAST GRAND DECKER

Dr. Charles William Decker was born at Sutterville, Sacramento County, March 31, 1855, and died at Palo Alto, Santa Clara County, September 25, 1932, survived by two children. He affiliated with California Parlor No. 1 (San Francisco), August 23, 1877. At the Sixth Grand Parlor (San Francisco 1883) he was elected Grand Treasurer, at the Seventh Grand Parlor (Marysville 1884) Grand Lecturer, at the Eighth Grand Parlor (San Jose 1885) Grand Vice-president, at the Ninth Grand Parlor (Woodland 1886) Grand President, at the Tenth Grand Parlor (Nevada City 1887) Past Grand President. Excepting the Seventeenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-second, he attended every Grand Parlor from the Sixth to and including the Fifty-fifth.

During the term of Dr. Decker as Grand President, these Subordinate Parlors were instituted: Sierra No. 85, now defunct, at Forest Hill, Placer County; McLane, now Calistoga, No. 86 at Calistoga, Napa County; Mount Bally No. 87 at Weaverville, Trinity County; Golden Star No. 88, now defunct, at Rohnerville, Humboldt County; Benicia No. 89, now defunct, at Benicia, Solano County; Santa Cruz No. 90 at Santa Cruz City; Georgetown No. 91 at Georgetown, El Dorado County; Downieville No. 92 at Downieville, Sierra County; Ferndale No. 93 at Ferndale, Humboldt County; Golden Nugget No. 94 at Sierra City, Sierra County; Seaside No. 95 at Halfmoon Bay, San Mateo County; Las Positas No. 96 at Livermore, Alameda County; Santa Lucia No. 97 at Salinas, Monterey County; Meridian No. 98, now defunct, at Nord, Butte County; Lassen No. 99, now defunct, at Susanville, Lassen County; Mount Diablo No. 101 at Martinez, Contra Costa County; Glen Ellen No. 102 at Glen Ellen, Sonoma County; Silver Tip No. 103, now defunct, at Vacaville, Solano County; Bay City No. 104 at San Francisco; Niantic No. 105 at San Francisco. Of the twenty Parlors instituted, he personally conducted twelve of the ceremonies. He instituted a greater number of Parlors than any Grand President.

At funeral services for Past Grand President Decker conducted in Native Sons Building, San Francisco, Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington spoke as follows:



"One for whom the brothers of this fraternity have long held a tender and high affection and regard in the maturity of his years has reached the end of life's journey. It is fitting that the final word of tribute due him should be spoken within this building dedicated to the patriotic work of the sons of California. Love of California, its history and traditions, and veneration for the early pioneers of the West, was the dominant characteristic in the life of Past Grand President Charles W. Decker. He often expressed the wish that when he passed away the ceremonies attending his funeral should be held in this building, the home of the fraternity, with the brothers gathered round whose friendship he so deeply cherished, and that the ceremonies should be conducted by the Past Grand Presidents with whom he had been associated, in close ties of affection, for many years.

"Brother Decker was born in Sutterville, Sacramento County, March 31, 1855, and died at Palo Alto, September 25th. The more than seventy-seven years of his life spanned the period reaching almost back to the time of the discovery of gold by Marshal, on through the years of our state's matchless growth and to her present unrivalled supremacy in the Union; from the days of the slow ox team crossing the prairies to those of the aeroplane circling the earth.

"When he was a boy his parents conducted a hotel in Sacramento, and he well remembered the miners from the mountains, who stopped there, entrusting their buckskin bags of gold to his mother, as depositary, and many, when departing, presented her with a golden nugget from their store. The memory of those days was cherished in his heart and when the fraternity of the Native Sons of the Golden West was organized in 1875, to perpetuate the memory of the men and events of the 'days of '49,' he was among the first to enroll. No more loyal son of California had his name upon the roster. He was inspired by the aims and purposes of the fraternity; he loved his country and his state.

"In 1886, at Woodland, he was elected Grand President of the Order. During his administration he was untiring in his zeal for building up and strengthening the organization. At his own expense, he visited every section of the state where he thought a Parlor could be instituted and, as a result, 21 new Parlors were brought into the fraternity. An unprecedented increase. In years devoted to his profession, he was one of the oldest practitioners of dentistry in the state and by vote of the people had served San Francisco as a member of the Board of Education.

"No patriotic celebration, under the auspices of the Order, has been held in which he was not a participant and he attended practically every session of the Grand Parlor since its organization. Neither the demands of business nor the infirmities of age could keep him away. I well remember when in 1931 Past Grands Ryan, Cutler and myself called upon him at Palo Alto on our way to the Grand Parlor at Merced, and found him ill and under orders from his physicians not to travel, he insisted on accompanying us, and, when seated in the automobile and on his way to greet his brothers, the ills and cares of life seemed to drop from his shoulders and joy filled his heart. Presented to the delegates at the session as one of our oldest and best tried members, and greeted with the heartiest of applause, tears filled his eyes and emotion choked his utterance.

DR. CHARLES WILLIAM DECKER.

WILLIAM JOSEPH HAYES.

"At the recent state celebration of Admission Day in San Francisco, weakened by illness, it was impossible for him to be present; but he was not forgotten by the loyal members of the fraternity for his old time friend, Brother Richard Veale of General Winn Parlor, veteran sheriff of Contra Costa County, moved by kindly and brotherly impulse, had in the parade an automobile beautifully decorated with flowers in remembrance of Charley Decker and bearing, prominently displayed, a large framed photograph of our Past Grand President. He often recalled, in fond and loving remembrance, thos with whom he had worked in the early days o the Order and who, as the companions of hi youth and manhood, were ever cherished.

"We leave him today to his silent rest in th bosom of the state he loved so well. Life ha been made brighter for all of us who have en joyed his companionship and shared with hin the pleasures which come to those who dwell o California's soil, and as at last, in answer to th final summons, he moves on to the silent realm beyond the stars, I see him turn and cast on loving, lingering look at the hills of his nativ land and smile farewell to the friends here lef behind."

PAST GRAND HAYES

William Joseph Hayes was born at Havilah Kern County, December 25, 1885, and died a Oakland, Alameda County, September 27, 1932 survived by a wife and four children. He affil iated with Berkeley Parlor No. 210, June 18 1909. His first Grand Parlor was the Thirty fourth (Santa Cruz 1911). At the Thirty-eight (San Francisco 1915) Grand Parlor he wa elected Grand Trustee, and was re-elected at th Thirty-ninth (Modesto 1916), the Fortieth (Red ding 1917) and the Forty-second (Yosemite Val ley 1919) Grand Parlors. At the Forty-thir (San Diego 1920) Grand Parlor he was electe Grand Third Vice-president, at the Forty-fourt (Stockton 1921) Grand Parlor, Grand Secon Vice-president, at the Forty-fifth (Oaklan 1922) Grand Parlor, Grand First Vice-president and at the Forty-sixth (Santa Barbara 1923 Grand Parlor, Grand President. For many year he was a member of the Grand Parlor Histor Committee, at the time of his passing bein chairman thereof.

Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington speaking at the funeral services for Past Gran Hayes, said:

"In response to the request of the Gran Officers of our fraternity and of those who wer near and dear to Past Grand President Willian J. Hayes, I rise to pay a just tribute to thos gentle qualities of mind and heart which earne for him the friendship of all who knew him, an to his sterling character of manhood which com manded the highest admiration of those in ever walk of life.

"In passing along the varied course of life with its trials and tribulations, its joys and tri umphs, it is the extreme good fortune of man of us to meet at times a fellow-traveler whos kindly soul, gentle ways and nobility of char acter draw us to him in bonds of friendshi which time can never sever. Such a friend an brother was William J. Hayes and at the shrin of friendship we are mourners today.

"Yesterday we bore to his eternal rest one o the oldest Past Grand Presidents of our frater nity, Dr. Decker; one whose years had reache almost four score and whose long and honorabl service had brought to him the respect and lov of his associates. Today we stand by the sid of one who was stricken down at the high noo of vigorous manhood and whose honorable ca reer and success in life we believed had jus begun.

"Past Grand President Hayes was born i [Kern] County on Christmas Day, 1885. As a bo he was keen in the pursuit of knowledge and b his individual efforts acquired a liberal educa tion and was graduated from the University o California. He thereafter zealously and suc cessfully followed the profession of the law an held positions of honor and trust in the com munity. Deeply interested in the history o California and in the patriotic work of the Na tive Sons of the Golden West he joined Berkele Parlor in 1909, and in 1923, at Santa Barbara was elected Grand President of the Order. H was a zealous member, spreading the influenc of the fraternity and ever teaching its patrio and historical purposes, while his companionabl ways and fine personality tied all with whom h came in contact to him in bonds of friendshi He was a loving and kind husband, a tender an affectionate father, a patriotic and a loyal mar a generous, faithful and lovable friend. Fron our association with him springs no feelin other than fond regret at his passing and th most tender of recollections. Our grief at part ing from him is not unmixed with pride. H has left to his loved wife and children the her itage of an honored name and the memory o kind acts and noble deeds.

"We realize more than ever on occasions lik this that it is alloted to all men to die. Sur rounded by family and friends, with health an strength and in a land of the beauty and wealt of California, life is indeed pleasant and joyful

HEALTH CONSERVATION GOES WITH RED CROSS RELIEF

INTERPRETING THE MAGNITUDE OF THE unemployment problem as "a national disaster," the American Red Cross is courageously facing the issue, relying upon the support of the devoted legions whose membership dues make possible her program of humanitarian service to enable her to carry on.

The demands of the coming winter from our millions of unemployed constitute a definite obligation on the part of those blessed with jobs. Last year, through its local chapters, the Red Cross aided 337,000 families in the unemployment category, representing some 3,000,000 individuals; 76,000 families in 130 coal mining counties were also aided.

In addition to this form of rehabilitation, the Greatest Mother gave succor to the victims of sixty disasters, within the confines of Continental United States, affecting thirty-one states. These figures include 242,824 persons in the northwest areas affected by drought and insect plagues; 13,000 victims of tornado in the southeastern states, and 53,000 flood sufferers in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Concomitantly with these outstanding items the normal activities of the organization to ex-service men and their dependents, public health projects and other services were carried on. During the winter months alone the cases of 100,000 ex-service men were handled by the American Red Cross. Many of these cases necessitated hours of tedious detail, and correspondence with dozens of other chapters in the search for corroborative data and witnesses whose supporting affidavits were indispensable in substantiating claims for disability compensation. Information on new legislation and the Federal Government provisions both for active-service men and veterans of all wars and of peace-time service, is relayed to the chapters by Red Cross national headquarters. Thus chapters are enabled at all times to supply veterans with up-to-minute data as to their rights and to assist them in proper presentation of their state and federal claims.

To meet the encroachments of disease and malnutrition, always rife in periods of distress and financial stringency, an army of 750 Red Cross nurses has given nursing and maternity care, often constituting the sole relief agency to be found in rural communities. They are giving post-partum care and bedside nursing to families unable to pay for them, safeguarding the rising generation from disease by inspecting schoolchildren, urging parents to have physical defects, thus discovered, corrected at Red Cross and other welfare clinics, immunizing them against communicable diseases by vaccination and inoculation, and in other ways carrying on health education programs.

In twenty-three states where the long drought of 1930-31 had reduced millions of our fellow-citizens to abject want, the immediate succor in the form of food and clothing supplied by the Red Cross was later supplemented by the distribution of more than 300,000 packages of garden seed—enough to cover 100,000 acres. Each package weighed about five pounds and contained a score of varieties of the best tested seed, sufficient to give each recipient from one-quarter to one-half acre of vegetables.

Side by side with the seed distribution was carried on a countrywide canning project, with every housewife urged to can the surplus harvest for winter needs. Whenever instruction was needed in homes unused to this form of conservation, the Red Cross led the way in setting up local centers where experts of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Red Cross nutrition service gave daily demonstrations in canning fruits and vegetables.

In at least two-thirds of the chapters which make up the nationwide network of the American Red Cross, together with some 1,200 branches, unemployment problems are now being met. Hand in hand with distribution of the necessities of life have gone job campaigns and stimulation of public works, in order that the social menace of the soup kitchen might be obviated.

When, on March 7, 1932, the Federal Congress appropriated 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and authorized the American Red Cross to distribute it, requests poured in from more than 2,000 of the 3,600 chapters comprising the Red Cross membership at large. Every state in the Union was represented by these applications for relief. By August 20, the "Red Cross wheat" had replenished the larders of 3,387,156 families, representing some 15,000,000 individuals.

Subsequently the voting by the Congress of 500,000 bales of government-owned cotton for similar relief again made the American Red Cross the disburser of the donation. In thousands of Red Cross workrooms all over the land Red Cross volunteers are assembling, as in the days of the World War, to sew for their fellow-countrymen. It is estimated that 90,000 workers will be required for the task of making into garments the textiles into which the raw cotton is being manufactured. Nor will this gigantic contribution be sufficient to fill the demands of the destitute. As during the two previous winters, the flow of garments, new and reconditioned, from other sources must be continued.

From the membership dues pledged at the annual Roll Call between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day, the Red Cross derives the funds to finance these humanitarian projects. Don't neglect to enroll as a member!

At the blaze of high noon, or when the shadows of evening are stretched out, or when the mountain peaks put on the glory of the rising sun,' to the one who loves nature and can be inspired by all this, life is indeed a joy. But, as has been said, it is not man's to keep, for the Master tramps on his trail and the night will come when the waxing and waning moon will look for him in vain. But a man's honor is his to keep. And when a good man passes to that land beyond our earthly vision his honor, and his character springing therefrom, should live on forever. The blessed gift of memory is given to man with which to recall the tender words, the loving smile, the noble deeds of those we cherished and have lost.

"And so it was with our brother William J. Hayes. He walked in the path of rectitude, he loved his God, he honored his country, he cherished his family and friends, he kept his honor bright. And these will go on forever as a heritage to his children and a fond memory to those who associated with him in fraternal and business life."

MARKED

FOLSOM (SACRAMENTO COUNTY)—UNder the auspices of Fern Parlor No. 123 N.D.G.W., the historic Wells-Fargo building here was marked with a bronze plaque September 25. President Mary H. Curry presided, and the Folsom high school band, directed by Charles W. Ball, contributed musical numbers. Speakers were Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong and Past Grand President Esther R. Sullivan. The plaque was unveiled by Mrs. Sadie Winn-Brainard, whose grandfather, General Andrew Maver Winn, founded the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. It is embellished with a covered wagon on its westward journey, and is inscribed: "Early Day Assay Office and Home of Wells Fargo and Co., 1860. Marker placed by Fern Parlor No. 123, Native Daughters Golden West, September 25, 1932." Grand President Armstrong's address follows, in full:

"Scattered up and down the State of California, in vale and mountain, by stream and along roadside, are located many ancient structures that enter into song and story, and around which is written much of the tradition, the romance and the history of our state.

"Outstanding among these, of course, are the old adobe missions—silent expressions of the devotion of godly men who planted the seeds of modern civilization in this golden west. Then we would, no doubt, name these old places along the Mother Lode, where foregathered John Marshall, Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Joaquin Miller and other famed oldtimers, and from which came much of the enchanting legend of the West. Nor would we forget the old buildings of Monterey, whence came the first laws governing our state, nor that focal point, Fort Sutter, from which radiated most of the early activity of this portion of California. All of these have an enduring place in our history.

"But there are other buildings of ancient origin that may claim our attention, built for commercial purposes but which the glamour of the time has surrounded with a sort of glory that intrigues our minds. You folks of Folsom have such a building, erected almost three-quarters of a century ago. It became the financial center of a wide expanse of country and the activities emanating from it had much to do with the material well-being of your early residents.

"Imagine with me, if you will, what transpired around this old Wells-Fargo building. We see from its vicinity the sturdy prospector lading, either himself or his burro, with pan and rocker, pick and shovel, heading for mountain or stream or gulch in quest of gold—and still more gold. We see him, thousands of him, returning successful; we see him seek these doors, we see him produce his pack—and we see the yellow gleaming metal poured upon the delicately adjusted balances to determine its worth. Maybe some of you have had that very experience.

"It is said that California saved the Union, back in the days of the Civil War, by the wealth of gold which she poured into the nation's lap. This building was erected in 1860, just prior to the beginning of that war. Who knows, how shall we tell, how much of that stream of gold flowed through these doors? Who can tell just how much of a part Folsom had in preserving a nation from disruption? At any rate, this building is worthy of preservation, and worthy of this memorial plaque, and as Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West it is a sincere pleasure to join with my sisters of Fern Parlor of Folsom in marking this as an historic spot in California, the Golden State." At the conclusion of the ceremonies Fern Parlor entertained at luncheon, the guests, in addition to those participating in the program, including Grand Trustee Edna Briggs and Past Grand Presidents Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen and Dr. Louise C. Heilbron.

HISTORIC SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY SITE DESIGNATED BY MONUMENT.

Upland (San Bernardino County)—At the foot of Red Hill, near the intersection of Foothill boulevard and San Bernardino road, Ontario Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W. erected a California Bear monument with bronze marker, which was unveiled October 12. The work was done under the supervision of the Parlor's history and landmarks section, Mrs. Frank Van Fleet chairman. A delightful prologue dealt in pageant form with the early history of the Indians, the Spanish and the covered wagon.

MOST WORTHY CAUSE DESERVES MOST GENEROUS RESPONSE FROM ALL.

The San Francisco N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Joint Committee for Homeless Children, a statewide child welfare organization, is perfecting plans for a costume ball to be held at Exposition Auditorium, Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, November 23. The funds raised will be contributed to the central committee of the Order to carry on the work of caring, and providing homes with the proper environment, for hundreds of waifs.

This committee had its inception in 1909 and has taken care of more than thirty-five hundred little orphans and abandoned children of California. It knows no race, no creed, no color, no birthplace, and its activities embrace welfare work among all needy children, whether native or adopted Californians. Due to the fact that it is statewide in character, it receives no financial assistance from local community chests or charitable organizations. A nominal admission fee of 50 cents is charged, to assist this worthy cause.

Commencing at 8 o'clock there will be a competitive drill by Native Daughter Parlors, also a contest for Native Son and Native Daughter drum corps, and at 9 o'clock the costume ball. Following are the officers: James L. Foley, Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214, chairman; Kittie Mullaney, Dolores Parlor No. 169, vice-chairman; Edna A. Urmy, Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, secretary; Bertha Mauser, Keith Parlor No. 137, financial secretary; Chas. A. Koenig, Golden Gate Parlor No. 29, treasurer.

DISTRICT MEETING.

September 30 was a wonderful evening for the local Native Daughters, because it was the district meeting of San Francisco County, and the new ritual was exemplified by the deputies under the supervision of Alice M. Lane of Castro Parlor. A large gathering, representing forty-six Parlors, assembled to welcome the Grand President to "Anna Mixon Armstrong Parlor No. 1932." The artistic decorations were symbolic of state and country.

The officers were gowned in beautiful evening attire, and as they entered in the opening march each carried a staff decorated with flowers in pastel shades; they formed a line across the hall, and at a given signal turned the staffs and spelled the words "We welcome our Anna" in silver lettering. Marshal Gertrude LaFortune presented the Grand President with a boquet of roses while the San Francisco N.D.G.W. glee club sang a welcome song. The ritual was exemplified by the following deputies: Loretta Cameron, Emma O'Meara, Gertrude LaFortune, Nora Schefflin, Lola Horgan, Merle Sandell, Mazie Roderick, Maud Daley, Helen Sprung, Nan J. Kelly, Mae Waring, Agnes M. Curry, Lena Wall, Mary Hayes, Adele Walsh, Pearl Wedde, Ida Mesquite. Assistants to the marshal were Deputies May McCarthy, Margaret Grant, Agnes Ryan, Margaret Barrett, Emily Ryan, Helen McMahon, Anna Dippell, Jewel Strei, Helen T. Mann, Myrtle Ross, Elizabeth Muller, Claire Lindsey.

Ann Godfrey read a brief history of the glee club and introduced the members, Director Lola Horgan and Organizer Agnes Curry. A very inspiring address was delivered by Grand President Armstrong. "To a Wild Rose" was rendered by the glee club. Remarks by Past Grands Evelyn Carlson, Eliza Keith, Margaret Hill, Emma G. Foley and May Boldeman, Grand Vice-president Irma Laird, Grand Marshal Gladys Noce, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustees Florence Boyle, Ethel Begley and Anna Thuesen, and Supervising Deputy Rene Mathias completed a very happy and interesting evening.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

President May L. MacDonald of Alta Parlor No. 3 has launched a program of activities and each month finds a new and novel feature introduced. During October there was the sport dance, which afforded an evening of pleasure for the members as well as being the means of increasing the funds of the Parlor; Mrs. Agnese L. Hughes was chairman of the delightful affair. October 25 was social night, the success of which was due to Mrs. Angeline Vest, an energetic worker. November 1, with Mrs. May L. MacDonald chairman and Mrs. Catherine O'Reilly subchairman, a benefit bridge-whist will be given; this will be an outstanding event of the winter.

September 22, Keith Parlor No. 137 tendered Past President Gertrude LaFortune a reception. The evening was spent with various members and friends, after which all retired to the banquethall and partook of refreshments. The guest of honor was the recipient of a gift presented by President Gladys Cruise. October 13, Miss Lorraine MacCauley, a member of Keith, was given a miscellaneous shower previous to her marriage to Francis Klein. She received many gifts. Her marriage took place at Mission Dolores, October 16.

Dolores Parlor No. 169 held a delightful Hallowe'en costume party October 12. Many games were played. Chairman Ida Carrigan was dressed as Hot-Cha and gave interpretations of South Sea Islands dances. Hazel Nelson danced a spring dance, while Juanita Blanchfield favored with piano selections. A spanish supper was served at tables decorated with Hallowe'en favors. Agnes McVerry was the honored guest. Plans are now being made to organize a drill team in the Parlor. At the district meeting three candidates were initiated for Dolores.

Grand President Anna M. Armstrong paid her official visit to Castro Parlor No. 178 October 19. A banquet preceding the meeting was presided over by Supervising Deputy Alice M. Lane. A large percentage of the membership was present to greet the Grand President who, in the course of her remarks, paid high tribute to the floorwork of the Parlor officials. Refreshments were served in the banquethall, where Hallowe'en was the motif for the decorations. A monster whist party is being planned for the benefit of the Parlor's relief fund; Paula Hizinger is chairman of the committee, which is working hard to make the affair a huge success.

The San Francisco N.D.G.W. glee club recently met at the home of Mrs. Lola Horgan for reorganization. Members of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Horgan, have endeavored to perfect themselves in order to assist or take entire charge of musical features of official visits, breakfasts, etc. Officers are Lola Horgan of La Estrella Parlor, director; Ruby D. Bried of El Vespero Parlor, secretary; Claire Bolman of Alta Parlor, treasurer; Anne Godfrey of El Vespero Parlor, publicity chairman. September 24, at the home of Ethel Browning, one of the members, a delightful party was given by the club; Mrs. Agnes M. Curry, organizer, was the guest of honor.

NATIVE SON DOINGS.

November 4, the Extension of the Order Committee will feature an educational program in the rooms of the Grizzly Bear Club. Arrangements are being made for the annual basketball league. The committee has taken an option on headquarters in Santa Rosa for next year's Admission Day, September 9, celebration.

The monthly whist parties of Hesperian Parlor No. 137 are proving quite successful. They are held the first Thursday of each month, with Jim O'Rourke as chairman. A wonderful time is promised those who attend November 3. There will be sixteen hands, with an entertainment feature between every fourth hand. Refreshments will be served after the play, and from then until midnight dancing will be in order, Hesperian orchestra furnishing the music.

ISABELLE L. CUDDY.

To the Officers and Members of Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions to the memory of our departed sister, Isabelle L. Cuddy, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has called to the Heavenly Parlor on High our esteemed and beloved sister, Isabelle L. Cuddy, a charter member of our Parlor; and whereas, Bahia Vista Parlor has lost a loyal member, her sister and two brothers a devoted and affectionate sister, and her many acquaintances a true friend To know her was to love her.

Resolved, That the sympathy of the Parlor be extended to the bereaved sister and brothers, and that the charter of the Parlor be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family that a copy be spread in full upon the minutes of the Parlor, and that a copy be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

THE NEW ENSEMBLES ARE JUST AS easy to make as frocks. You will practically live in an ensemble this winter. A three-quarters or a seven-eighths length garment is the coat news of the season. Matching frocks or suits are he smartest ensembles. With these, "short-ong" coats are stunning. The jacket costume is favorite and, of course, you have heard about he hip-length jackets.

Velvet heads the list, both for entire suits and ouches of trimming. Velveteen is popular, too, nd so are plaids and ribbed woolens. Crinkled elvet and velvet lace are highlights of the new ormals.

Black velvet is smartest for princess or puffed-leeve frocks. You will double the chic of any rock this season if you remember that two fab-ics and two colors are twice as smart as one. 'he new combinations are wool with velvet, mooth with crinkled silks, velvet lace with atin, or satin alone in black with white, gray r emerald green.

We cannot decide which we like better, the unic or princess frock, so smart women are vearing both, and looking perfectly stunning. \ grand example is the princess, looking its regal best in dull black satin with the shiny side used for trimming. The tunic, of course, will be in very rough crinkle crepe and do not forget to use fur trimming.

Remember whether you are going with or without a collar this winter, the neckline must be high. It will be becoming, and you will, if you are clever, measure your style by the width of your sleeves.

Lace trimmings are used on velvet, and fur trimmings are used on everything. New scarfs, buttons and fur are details that are different. Tailored lines call for diagonal seamings, slashes here and there, and accented points with buttons.

For business or general wear, here are some good starts for the smartest, most inexpensive winter wardrobe you have ever had. You will need one of the new slim coats in beige or brown, and you can wear this over all the newest frocks in colors such as green, wine, bright red and blue.

You should have two or three sheer woolen frocks for general daytime wear, not to mention a few heavy rough crepes for more-important afternoon engagements. In choosing them, remember that broad cape-collars, bows, puffed sleeves, grouped buttons and checks are fashion details with a future.

It is no problem for the mature woman to dress smartly this season, the new silhouette being so slim and graceful of line. Choose velvet, sheer woolens and any of the crinkly silks, and don't forget fabric contrast is necessary.

The most important of all frocks is dull, creamy-white velvet for the bride; mossy, uncut or novelty crinkled velvet for her attendant, and deep, rich lyons velvet for mother. These will be smart long after the wedding, and may be worn to parties later.

With a few new blouses and skirts you may have many changes—and remember, skirts should be slender. High necklines and fancy sleeves are very new and very chic. Satin yokes or collars and cuffs are worn on woolen dresses. Black is smartest, then deep rich brown, red, green and purplish blue. Checks, stripes and new color contrasts make the young mode gay.

For the well-dressed juniors, one of the very attractive models which the fall has introduced is the jumper suit or frock. Simple in style, it is becoming, not only for girls of the younger age, but also for older girls. They may be made to resemble a two-piece suit, with the double-breasted effect. Made of your favorite color, the guimpe is of plaid georgette. The effective color combinations are red, orange and brown. The younger set wear wool and favor swagger plaids. Every smart junior knows that a generous supply of pretty underthings and gay pajamas are most important items in her wardrobe.

Charming gift suggestions are being offered at this time at all the shops, and the gift that is appreciated most is that which has your own fine needlework to add to its charm and value. Handmade lingerie, pajamas, lacy bed jackets, dainty boudoir pillows, guest towels and many novelties are to be had in great varieties. The shops are bulging now with new ideas.

For the little ones, we have the circus pets. Make them cuddly and well stuffed. You may buy the printed patterns and make them up of novelty materials. Horses and dogs of every description, elephants and, of course, dolls, large and small. The time is slipping by quickly, and the holiday rush will be with us before we realize.

With winter, comes the revival of the cape. Perhaps it should not be called a revival, for the new capes are not much like any that we have seen for a long time. They are new, if any fashion can really be called new. There are capes of all varieties: sturdy, all-weather affairs of tweed; frilled little things that just cover the shoulders and are made of velvet or soft fur; jacket-length and dress-length capes.

One of the most successful capes is finger-tip length, of black velvet, trimmed with ermine or mink. The collar wraps closely around the throat, with the outside end tucked into an immense buttonhole just below the throatline. The cape swings free from the shoulders, and the arm slits are trimmed with fur, forming a comfortable cuff.

Top coats are tailored, with slim lines. Sleeves are elaborate, and collars are flattering. A collar that frames the face becomingly is the making of the whole coat. There are no belts for dressy coats. Loose, swagger lines hang straight from the shoulders, and smart scarf collar and pockets are used.

Native Sons of the Golden West

TO ALL SUBORDINATE PARLORS Native Sons of the Golden West—Greetings: At the last session of the Grand Parlor legislation was enacted endorsing the observance of National Education Week as a suitable exercise for the Subordinate Parlors of this Order, and establishing a Grand Parlor committee, one of the duties of which is to encourage Subordinate Parlors to hold such National Education Week programs.

The week of November 6 to 12 is National Education Week, and I hereby recommend the same for optional observance by all Subordinate Parlors. While it is an entirely optional matter whether or not a Parlor, or groups of Parlors, shall hold any Education Week program, I would strongly urge all Parlors to avail themselves of the opportunity to do so.

Education is a very important matter and a field of activity in which our Order should be vitally interested. If we can educate our members to the needs of the schools, and they in turn as citizens will strive for what is necessary and good and wholesome in the schools, we may look toward the coming generation with high prospects.

Our Order, dedicated as it is to the perpetuation of the memories of the Pioneers of long ago, must see to it that California history is included in the course of study of both elementary and secondary schools. We must insist that courage, valor, honesty and truth, virtues so characteristic of the Pioneers, are instilled into our children. We must ever stand for the proper support of the schools, giving to the children of the state the best possible education, on the assumption and with the hope that our schools will graduate good citizens for the years that are to come. . . . I would suggest that Parlors contemplating the presentation of flags to educational institutions do so during National Education Week.

I therefore, in accordance with the national plan, endorse November 6 to 12, 1932, National Education Week for optional observance by all Subordinate Parlors, and I strongly urge all Parlors, either individually or in groups, either in closed or open meeting, to conduct a program in which thoughts on educational matters are presented by appropriate speakers.

Respectfully submitted in F. L. & C.,
SETH MILLINGTON,
Grand President, N.S.G.W.

Gridley, October 10, 1932.

To All Subordinate Parlors Native Sons of the Golden West—Dear Sirs and Brothers: . Please be advised that the grand officers, headed by Grand President Seth Millington, will dedicate the Jefferson grammar school at Redwood City, San Mateo County, Sunday, November 6, at 2 o'clock p. m. All members and their friends are invited to attend. The date selected is the opening of Education Week, and a special program of music and singing will be rendered.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
JOHN T. REGAN,
Grand Secretary, N.S.G.W.

San Francisco, October 11, 1932.

State Flag for Customs Building.

San Diego—Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer officially visited San Diego No. 108 September 28. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm. Three candidates were initiated, and they were addressed by District Deputy Edward H. Dowell. Other speakers were Grand Trustee Meyer, Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell, Frank C. Merritt (Brooklyn No. 151) and Ed. L. Head (Stanford No. 76). An excellent entertainment program and a buffet supper concluded the meeting.

The following day the Parlor, with the consent of the United States Treasury Department, presented a California State (Bear) Flag to federal customs and immigration officials at the San Ysidro port of entry. Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer presided, and Judge Eugene Daney Jr. made the presentation address. The flag was accepted by William H. Ellison, collector of customs in the district. When the customs and immigration building is completed at the border, this flag will be placed on the flagstaff, along with the Flag of the United States of America. Brief remarks were also made by Grand First Vice-president Seawell, Grand Trustee Meyer and Martin J. Spangler, president San Diego Parlor.

Back in the Fold.

Visalia—Visalia No. 19, reorganized through the efforts of Deputy Grand President Al Lobree, was instituted October 1 by Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin and Grand Secretary John T. Regan. Twenty-one of the fifty-nine charter signers appeared for initiation, and the ritual was exemplified by a team from Fresno No. 25. October 25 additional candidates, to bring the charter membership in the new Parlor to well above the fifty-mark, will, it is promised, be initiated.

Historic Setting for Initiation.

Sacramento—Under the auspices of General John A. Sutter Past Presidents Assembly No. 10, the ritual was exemplified outofdoors at historic Sutter Fort, October 1. Twenty-five candidates were presented for initiation into Sacramento No. 3, Sunset No. 26, Elk Grove No. 41, Courtland No. 106 and Sutter Fort No. 241. Members of the Order from all parts of the Sacramento Valley were in attendance. The ritual team was made up of the following past presidents: J. J. Longshore, president; Irving D. Gibson, junior past; A. W. Katzenstein, senior past; L. P. Ferron, first vice; Roy C. Cothrin, second vice; G. E. Pressey, third vice; C. L. Corcoran, marshal; A. J. Frank, inside sentinel.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, which were most impressive, refreshments were served. Addresses were made by Grand President Seth Millington, Historiographer Chester F. Gannon and Irving D. Gibson, former grand trustee.

Eight Initiated.

Hayward—Eden No. 113 honored its veteran members at an oldtimers banquet October 12. Three of the five remaining charter members were in attendance, Neal McConaghy, John E. Geary and James D. Smalley. Frank B. Leonard was the toastmaster, and Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell was the principal speaker. He reviewed the work of the California Constitutional Convention of 1849, and said that although free public education was just making headway in the oldest of the Eastern states, this young Western state provided for it in its first constitution. The convention also barred slavery, despite the controversy then agitating the other states, and the young state adopted a code of mining law since patterned after by many Western states.

Following the banquet, the Parlor met in regular session and eight candidates were initiated by a team of Alameda County district deputies including Frank Smith, W. Dombrink, Frank B. Perry, E. Fitzgerald, T. Palmer, Grand Inside Sentinel Gam Hurst, Edward Schnarr, Richard Hamb and R. Nielson. After these ceremonies addresses were made by President Henry L'Ecuyer, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Charter Member Neal McConaghy.

Early Preparations.

Grass Valley—Quartz No. 58 and Hydraulic No. 56 (Nevada City) are already perfecting plans for the Grand Parlor which meets in this city in May 1933. Among the entertainment features decided on is a trip to the many historic places in Nevada and Sierra Counties.

Large delegations of both Parlors visited Downieville No. 92, October 10, and that Parlor voted its co-operation by agreeing to serve an outdoor lunch to the caravan in Downieville. At Sierra City, which will be visited also, Golden Nugget No. 94 will provide some sort of entertainment, probably a dance.

Oldtimers Have Inning.

Watsonville—Oldtimers night at Watsonville No. 65 brought out a big crowd, including a delegation of fifty from Santa Cruz No. 90. The festivities opened with a delicious ham dinner, served by Jim Rowe. Entertainment was provided by Anthony Vyeda, Horace Burkett and Allen Dudley.

Following the program, the Parlor session was called to order by President Fred Baese, who turned the meeting over to the oldtimers, with "Veteran" Matt McGowan as chairman. Early experiences in the Order were related by the long-standing members, including W. G. Ryason, a charter member of Watsonville. The committee in charge of the enjoyable occasion included A. T. Enos (chairman), C. H. Close, Charles Scrivani and James Giacoma.

Charter Signers Disappoint.

Alturas—Alturas No. 134 was to have been re-instituted here October 8, thirty-nine having signed the charter petition circulated by Deputy Grand President Al Lobree. Grand President Seth Millington was on hand to officiate, and to exemplify the ritual Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly sent a delegation which included Past Grand President Fred H. Greely, Barney G. Barry, Harry Schroeder, Ray C. Burris, Elton C. Fitch, John P. Colford and J. H. Hamill. Big Valley No. 211 (Bieber) was also well represented.

For some reason, but nine of the charter-petition signers put in an appearance, and so Grand President Millington called a meeting of Big Valley and the nine became, temporarily, members of that Parlor. Deputy Grand President Lobree says another initiation will be held December 1, and he expresses the belief that at that time a sufficient number will be initiated to institute the proposed parlor in Alturas.

Past Presidents Elect.

Santa Rosa—Sonoma County Past Presidents Assembly No. 9 elected officers October 6, and they were installed by Frank Harrison, as follows: P. A. R. Gambini, Santa Rosa, governor; E. L. Mangin, Petaluma, junior past; A. K. Kerner, Sonoma, first vice; Henry Thomas, Sebastopol, second vice; R. A. Pauli, Sonoma, third vice; A. N. Badger, Sebastopol, marshal; L. S. Lewis, Santa Rosa, secretary; George Peterson, Petaluma, treasurer; W. S. Borba, Sebastopol, L. H. Green, Sonoma, W. A. Andrews, Santa Rosa, Trustees; O. A. McChristian, inside sentinel; Henry Ronsheimer, Petaluma, outside sentinel.

To Visit Neighbor in Adjoining County.

Weaverville—The officers of Mount Bally No. 87 will journey to Redding November 3 and exemplify the ritual for McCloud No. 149. Several candidates for both Parlors will be initiated, and many members of Mount Bally will accompany the officers.

Pessimistic Remarks Refuted.

San Rafael—Delegations from twenty-one Parlors were guests of Mount Tamalpais No. 64. The visitors, led by the drum corps of Hesperian No. 137 (San Francisco), Sea Point No. 158 (Sausalito) and No. 64, marched through the principal streets to Native Sons Hall where, in the presence of more than 200 members, a large class of candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified by Mount Tamalpais' officers.

In the course of a spirited address, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin called attention to pessimistic remarks, which were refuted by increased membership, despite the depression; he told the initiates to be proud of the emblem presented them, and to take an active interest in affairs of the Order. Grand Secretary John T. Regan made a stirring appeal for the preservation of California history, and asked his hearers to vigorously oppose any and every attempt to discontinue the observance of Admission Day, September 9. Warden James B. Holohan (Watsonville No. 65) of San Quentin State Prison recalled adoption by the State Legislature of a bill, presented by himself, designating the Bear Flag as the official flag of the State of California; February 1911 the bill was signed by the then Governor, now United States Senator, Hiram W. Johnson (Sunset No. 26). Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann expressed pride and pleasure at seeing delegations from every Parlor in his visitation district.

At the banquet, a real old-fashion Italian dinner, a pair of North Beach serenaders sang and played Italian and Spanish folksongs. The orchestra of Sea Point Parlor rendered selections. Mrs. Antoinette Hecht favored with vocal numbers, and Eugenia Watson & Co. entertained with tap dances. Mount Tamalpais has accepted a challenge to a ritual contest with National No. 118 in Native Sons Building, San Francisco, November 3. Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W. and Mount Tamalpais plan a series of joint social events for the benefit of the homeless children.

First of Mission Talks.

Calistoga—With President E. Molinari presiding, Calistoga No. 86 had a largely attended and peppy meeting October 3. Father T. J. McKeon gave an illustrated talk on San Fernando Mission. This was the first of a series of talks on the California missions to be given during the winter months.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures October 20, 1932:

Parlor.	Jan 1	Oct. 20	Gain	Loss
Ramona No. 109	1088	1087		1
South San Francisco No. 157	822	808		14

Many Places Represented.

Wheatland—The October meeting of Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly No. 6, held here the 15th, was largely attended by members from Oroville, Lincoln, Roseville, Marysville, Grass Valley, Nevada City and Sutter City. Fred N. Beilby of Rainbow No. 40 was the toastmaster at the banquet, and among the speakers were Past Grand President Fred H. Greely, Barney Barry, Frank Meyer, Harry Schroeder, Dr. C. W. Chapman, R. L. P. Bigelow, Edward Baker, Bert Reed, William Tregallis, A. W. Graves and William E. Bowser.

Progress Commended.

Sausalito—Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann officially visited Sea Point No. 158. He was accompanied by the drum and bugle corps of his home Parlor, Hesperian No. 137 (San Francisco), and the visitors were met by the drum corps of Sea Point. The united forces then paraded to the meetingplace. Four candidates were initiated, and No. 158's progress was highly commended by the Grand Trustee. Refreshments were served, and there was a program of music and speechmaking.

Newsy Paragraphs.

Grand President Seth Millington has appointed Past Grand President Edward J. Lynch of San Francisco chairman of the Grand Parlor History Committee, to succeed Past Grand President William J. Hayes, lately deceased.

Deputy Grand President Al Lobree advises The Grizzly Bear that since the last (October) issue he has been working in Modoc and Lassen

NATIVE SON PAST PRESIDENTS HAVE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING.

The twelfth annual General Assembly of the N.S.G.W. Past Presidents Association was in session the afternoon of October 15 with Governor General Louis F. Erb presiding. Assemblies represented included San Francisco No. 1, East Bay No. 3, Marin County No. 5, Fred H. Greely No. 6, San Joaquin No. 7, Sonoma No. 9, General John A. Sutter No. 10, Napa-Solano No. 11. Also in attendance were the following N.S.G.W. grand officers: Grand President Seth Millington, Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig and Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin.

Much routine business was transacted, and many resolutions were presented, but none of any great importance were adopted. Oakland was selected as the meetingplace of the Thirteenth (1933) session. Public Works Director Earl Lee Kelly extended greetings on behalf of Governor James Rolph Jr. Officers were elected, as follows:

J. J. Longshore, Sacramento, governor general, Louis F. Erb, San Francisco, past governor general; Frank Roemer, Oakland, lieutenant-governor general; James F. Stanley, San Francisco, director general; John T. Regan, San Francisco, secretary-treasurer general, Frank Harrison, Saint Helena, marshal general; Frank Wilhelm, San Francisco, guard general; Hubert J. Caveney, San Francisco, sentinel general; Monroe Label, San Rafael, R. L. P. Bigelow, Nevada City, Wesley A. Strong, Stockton, trustees.

Memorial services were held in honor of Dr. Charles W. Decker and William J. Hayes, Past Grand Presidents N.S.G.W., and Henry Faure, Past Governor General P.P.A. Eulogies were delivered, respectively, by Grand President Millington, Grand Third Vice Skillin and Grand Second Vice Koenig. Officers of the General Assembly were installed by Past Governor General Ray B. Felton, assisted by Edward Schnarr, acting marshal general.

In the evening a banquet was held, Irving D. Gibson acting as toastmaster, and the speakers including Grand President Millington, Grand Vices Koenig and Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Charles A. Spengemann, Governor General Longshore, Past Governor General Erb. Fred Kane and Joseph Tracy entertained with songs, and W. A. Strong displayed moving pictures of the 1932 N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor.

DEATH REMOVES SON PIONEERS.

San Bernardino—Walter J. Tompkins, 61, native, and the son of Pioneer settlers of this city, passed away September 27. He leaves a widow, Lulu Alexander Tompkins (Lugonia Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W.), six sons and daughters, among them Walter Tompkins (Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W.) and Lily May McKray (Lugonia No. 241), also two granddaughters and six brothers and sisters, among the latter being Henry Tompkins (Arrowhead No. 110), Daisy T. Hansen and Violet T. Henshilwood (both Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W.).

In Memoriam

RITA GILLERAN SCHOENENBERGER.

We, your committee appointed to draft a testimonial of respect to the memory of Sister Rita Gilleran Schoenenberger, respectfully submit the following:

Again our golden chain has been broken, and it is with deep sorrow we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, who has called from our midst our beloved and highly esteemed member, Rita Gilleran Schoenenberger.

By her untimely passing, San Jose Parlor No. 81 Native Daughters of the Golden West has lost a faithful member, and her family a devoted mother and wife, and a loving daughter and sister.

To these, we extend our heartfelt sympathy, and commend them to a Higher Power for consolation in their grief. We ask that a copy of this testimonial be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy be sent to the family, and one to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

CLAIRE BORCHERS,
CLARA BRIGGS,
ELSIE M. FISHER,
Committee.

Child Parley—A California conference on child health and protection will be held at San Francisco, November 11 and 12.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

SAN DIEGO—The first of the fall card parties given by San Diego No. 208 was for the benefit of the homeless children and was satisfactorily successful, in that the desired amount was raised. Monthly card parties for the benefit of the general fund of the Parlor will be continued until the holidays. Deputy Carrie E. Northway was a visitor October 12, when one candidate was admitted to membership. Miss Elva Crowley read a number of original poems and Miss Marion S. Stough gave a short sketch of the life and character of Columbus. The Columbus Day idea was also cleverly carried out in the refreshments. Chairmen of committees in charge of arrangements for the occasion were Mms. Marie James and Mabel H. Burgert.

The past presidents club met October 17 at the home of Mrs. Mabel Burgert and made comprehensive plans for the winter's work. At the next meeting, November 16, at the home of Mrs. Elsie Case, the study of the constitution will be begun under the leadership of Miss Elsie Frank. A few days ago a sudden heavy storm following a long wet season swept away the small, frail dam, dating from the early days of San Diego, across the old Switzer Canyon, a spot well known and well beloved in this locality. There has recently been talk of erecting a "bigger and better" dam in its place, which would create a beautiful lake in Balboa Park. All of which inspired the following from the pen of Miss Elva Crowley of No. 208:

Breathing to the city
Its inspiration true,
Balboa Park seeks ardently
Another day and you.
When each and all that herd
The beauty lingering there
Will feel her further need
And hear her tranquil prayer:
"A lake with mirrored trees
Close to the canyon's rim
And mossy banks and lees
Along a sunlit stream,
Which murmurs to enchant
As it flows along,
Winking ever at
All the hurrying throng.
Down thru the hills it goes
Beneath a bridge of stone;
Its secrets it unfolds
To a morning world of tone.
Then covers with its sands
Hopes of a world at work,
Till evening, homeward, wends
Man, its thoughts to dream,
As of a book."

Notable Occasion.

Oroville—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong paid an official visit to Gold of Ophir No. 190 October 5. Numerous other visitors were in attendance, including Grand Trustees Edna Briggs and Florence Boyle, Past Grand Presidents Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen and Esther R. Sullivan, Supervising Deputies Ruth Brown and Sadie Brainard, and Deputies Annie Skelly and Anna Bernhard. A turkey dinner preceded the meeting, which was held in Memorial Hall, gorgeously adorned with potted plants and autumn flowers. The new ritual was impressively exemplified, Miss Alma Crum, daughter of President Rosa Crum, affiliating with the Parlor. Mrs. Armstrong spoke of the Order's projects and lauded the Oroville Native Daughters and Native Sons for erecting the Pioneer Memorial Relics Building and placing therein valuable relics.

Grand President Armstrong is postmistress at Woodland, and so, Addie Roderick, attired as a mail carrier, delivered packages of gifts to her and the other grand officers. From Argonaut No. 8 N.S.G.W., Mrs. Armstrong received a boquet of beautiful carnations. During the evening numerous addresses were made, and as a concluding feature an italian supper was served. Committees responsible for the success of the notable occasion included: Decorations—Dorothy Meader, Lauretta Ross, Frances O'Brien, Anna Bernhard, Alma Ghianda. Supper—Alice Frazier, Mattie Lund, Irene Lund, Freda Cole, Alice Tewers. Reception—President Rosa Crum, Grand Trustee Florence Boyle, Flora Sutherland, Addie Roderick, Hazel Scott.

Gold Nuggets for Placecards.

Sierraville—October 1, Imogen No. 134 was hostess at a pioneer dinner at which "Grandma" Emma Perry was guest of honor. She is the oldest woman in Sierra County, being 91 years of age. Eight other Pioneers were present: Mms. Sarah Webber, L. L. Blatchley, Ida A. Joy, Etta Small, O. N. Webber, Emma Nichols, Harry Pearce and Dillon, all of Sierraville.

A plate dinner was served, after which Deputy McMahon gave a very interesting talk. Several Pioneers related earlyday experiences and "Grandma" Perry recited a poem in keeping with the occasion. The table decorations were original and unique, the theme being the old immigrant trail—two immigrant wagons, drawn by oxen, making their way through sagebrush and trees, while in the distance were buffalo and deer. The placecards were in the form of gold nuggets. At the close of the day the immigrant wagons and ox teams were presented to the two oldest guests, "Grandma" Perry and Mrs. Sarah Webber.

Surprise.

Hayward—Hayward No. 122 had a surprise October 4 for Fire Chief and Mrs. Manuel G. Riggs, and many members of Eden No. 113 N.S.G.W. joined in the festivities. Mrs. Riggs, nee Miss Zelda Chisholm, has for more than twenty years been financial secretary of No. 122. Miss Lena Harder played the wedding march and the assemblage proceeded to the banquet-room, elaborately decorated in red. Small fire hats were the placecards. A miscellaneous shower of gifts were presented the honor-guests.

President Florence Hill presided at the festive board, and among the speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Riggs, John Dobbel, Deputy Anna Mello and Mrs. Marion White. The affair was arranged by Mms. Ruth Stromberg, Kathryn Walde and Mrs. Ella Knudsen, and Miss Ruth Gansberger. Whist was played.

Able Work Praised.

Etna—At a joint meeting, Eschscholtzia No. 112 and Mountain Dawn No. 120 (Sawyers Bar) welcomed Grand President Anna M. Armstrong on her official visit. She was accompanied by Supervising Deputy Sadie Brainard of Sacramento and Mrs. Estelle Miller of Woodland. Others present were Grand Trustee Minna K. Horn, Supervising Deputy Margaret E. Weston and Deputy Clara Farr. The lodgeroom was effectively decorated with baskets of dahlias, zinnias and asters. Two candidates were initiated, one for each of the Parlors.

In a most inspiring address, Mrs. Armstrong spoke of her projects for the year, and expressed pleasure in the able work of President Anita Tucker and her corps of officers, who had exemplified the ritual in a very efficient and impressive manner. At the conclusion of the ceremonies delicious refreshments were served at tables attractively decorated with flowers and candles. Piano selections by Miss Margaret Pitman and an informal program of songs and stories by other members brought the pleasant evening to a close. Mms. Armstrong, Brainard, Miller and Weston were guests of Grand Trustee Horn during their stay in Etna.

Visit Pony Express Museum.

San Bernardino—October was an active month for Lugonia No. 241, all committees working to replenish the treasury. The 9th, with Chairman Clara Barton of the history and landmarks committee as guide, several members drove to Pasadena, where they were guests of W. Parker Lyon, sole owner of the Pony Express Museum. An interesting day was spent, and the party had lunch in the barroom. The 12th, announcement was made that President Nola Fogler had changed her name to Mrs. Clifford Noyes, September 30, at Las Vegas, Nevada. Following the meeting, many of the members drove to Ontario to attend the dedication ceremonies of the marking of the historical station, a pageant, dance and card party, all sponsored by Ontario No. 251.

The 22nd, under the supervision of First Vice-president Mary Johnson, a benefit luncheon and card party were given. The 26th, the history and landmarks committee sponsored a miniature carnival, opened to the public. Concessions included a museum of pioneer relics and an antique shop. Dancing was in order, and the Parlor members appeared in historical costumes.

Hawaiian Party.

Sacramento — An elaborate hawaiian party was given by Califia No. 22, the decorations, entertainment and refreshments carrying out the theme in perfect detail. Leis and crowns of flowers were presented the grand officers and district deputies at a ceremony in the lodge-room, and as the guests entered the banquet-room they were given leis. The committee in charge wore costumes of grass skirts, leis and flower wreaths. The ritual was exemplified by a select team under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Leitch, supervising deputy. Hawaiian dances were given by Miss Dorothy Brown in costume, and songs of the islands were sung by Misses Winifred Fisher and Thelma Chappell, and Mrs. Evangeline Baker. Guests of the occasion included members of the Sacramento, Stockton, Elk Grove, Courtland, Galt and Folsom Parlors.

Mrs. Henry Jones planned the evening, with Mrs. J. G. Leitch as the general chairman. Subcommittees included: Decorations—Misses Oneida and Zitka Wilhelm; Mms. Edward Kenny and Alma Craze. Refreshments—Mms. Henry Jones, J. G. Leitch, J. E. Sullivan, Geo. Artz, Iora Maltby, Alma Craze, Edward Kenny and Hazel Leitch; Misses Oneida Wilhelm, Vivian Hall, Minnie Hopley, Nellie Hopley, Zitka Wilhelm and Amy Turner.

Native Sons Banquet Guests.

Quincy—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Plumas No. 219 September 19. She was accompanied by Sadie Brainard and Estelle Miller. District Deputy Minnie E. Johnson was in attendance. Two candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified in a highly creditable manner. The hall was beautifully decorated with a profusion of fall flowers.

At a bounteous banquet members of Quincy No. 131 N.S.G.W. were guests. Mrs. Lena Droege was toastmistress, and Grand President Armstrong delivered an inspiring and instructive address. Other speakers were J. D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Brainard, M. McIntosh and Wilson Hogan. Mrs. Thelma Erickson read a poem, and Helen Hall entertained with accordion selections.

"There is no substitute for membership"

their annual district meeting at Happy Valley. Representatives of all the Parlors were present, with guests from San Jose, San Francisco and Oakland. The opening function was the Washington bicentennial dinner, with eighty five seated at the charmingly decorated tables. At the speakers' table were thirteen candles, to represent the thirteen original colonies. A revolving picture of George Washington occupied a place of honor. Martha Washington, in the person of Supervising Deputy Rose Rhyner, was hostess, and famous women of Washington's period, attired in quaint colonial dress, were introduced by Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Deputy Edna Butterfield and Supervising Deputy Alice Lane were among the speakers. The program for the outing was carried out as presented in detail in The Grizzly Bear for October. The entire affair was declared a decided success, and many were surprised to discover "unexpected talent (?)" among the performers.

Old Folks Guests.

Willows—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Berryessa No. 192 October 3. Other visitors included District Deputy Margaret Davison and delegations from Woodland No. 90 and Colus No. 194. Talks were given by Mrs. Armstrong, District Deputy Davison and Edna Richter, and Henrietta Toothaker gave a reading. The lodgeroom was beautifully decorated, and a delicious supper preceded the meeting.

Glenn County oldtimers were guests of the Parlor September 26. They talked over the past, and were served a delicious dinner at tables decorated in yellow and white. Mrs. E. P. Mapes, president of the Parlor, extended a welcome, and Mrs. Jack Knight spoke on "Early California." Entertainment was furnished by an orchestra directed by L. A. McArthur; Misses Vivian and Frances Turman, Eileen McArthur; Mms. Harry Schnurbusch, J. A. McDonald, A. G. Jansen, L. E. Tuttle; Messrs. J. A. Cogswell, Bennie and Eddie Freeman, Karl Kob. For the old folks to dance, Mrs. Laura Cummins played quadrilles.

Pioneers Reception Guests.

Middletown—Clear Lake No. 135 had its annual reception for the Pioneers, and each of the guests was given a California (State) Bear Flag. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, ferns and late-autumn flowers. Special guests were Supervising Deputy Wilma Mitchell, Deputy Sadie Brooks and Mrs. Ella Parker, charter president of the Parlor, which was instituted in 1902. President Geneva Abercrombie welcomed the guests.

Participants in a most enjoyable program, which opened with a well-executed drill by sixteen members of No. 135 in white uniforms, included Mms. Clara Hunt, Merle Bohn, Leslie Simonsen, Sadie Brooks, Belle Farmer, Maurice Pape, Retta Reynolds and Florence Elliott; Frances Herman, Leroy Elliott, Gladys Brooks, Madeline Simonsen. Dainty refreshments were served, and speeches were made by the Pioneers and others.

Spectacular Drill.

Martinez—The official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong to Las Juntas No. 221 October 17 was a most pleasurable occasion. Numerous other visitors were in attendance, among them being Past Grands Amy V. McAvoy, Dr. Louise C. Heilbron and Estelle M. Evans, and Supervising Deputy Myra Rademaker. Two candidates were initiated.

The Parlor's drillteam, composed of twelve young women with Nina Keefe as captain, put on a most spectacular drill. A banquet, at which members of Mount Diablo No. 101 N.S.G.W. were guests, was served by Phoenia Kane, Adah

Johnston, Cecilia Rogers, Georgia Doss, Nellie Nicholson, Ethel Claeys and Gertrude King.

President Is Hostess.

Sacramento—President Ida Merwin of Sutter No. 111 honored her officers at her home in Clarksburg. An elaborate dinner was followed by bridge. In attendance were Mmes. Lorraine Williams, Audrey Brown, Lavinia Blakeley, Edna Mooney, Adele Nix, Lottie Patterson, Helene Islip, Lily Hinrich and Emilie Lachmann; Misses Ethel Riley, Margaret Nix, Lorene Patterson, Maybelle Tuggle, Thelma Toft and Lily Tilden.

The Parlor had past presidents night October 11. After an enjoyable program all retired to the banquetroom, where refreshments were served. A large number of past presidents were seated at a center table, where each of the honored guests found a potted plant at her place. Mrs. Lavinia Bennetts was in charge of the evening. Deputy Esther Mulligan and Past Grand Dr. Louise Heilbron attended.

Novel Experience.

Alturas—A novel experience awaited Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong when she officially visited Alturas No. 159 in the heart of "the cow country." Typifying the hospitality of the range, a "buckaroo" dinner was served to the distinguished officer and her companion, Mrs. Sadie Winn-Brainard of Califia No. 22 (Sacramento). In cowboy attire, Grand Vice-president Irma Laird presided as foreman of "the Alturas outfit," and with her cowboy entertainers, Rachel Asher, Irene Cummings, Lelah and Mildred Boyd, presented excellent musical numbers. Past Grand Catherine Gloster and Supervising Deputy Dorothy Gloster also contributed to the program. A business session followed the banquet. All present evinced deep interest in and appreciation of the splendid message brought by the Grand President, who took occasion to compliment the Parlor for the good work it is doing in carrying on the projects of the Order, as well as contributing its quota to the civic welfare of its own community.

At the October 6 meeting Grand Vice-president Irma Laird and Elizabeth Callaghan reported on their visit to the district meeting of the San Francisco Parlors and the Home. The museum committee reported the promise of relics from Pioneers. October 8, Grand President Seth Millington and a group of Sacramento Valley past presidents were in Alturas to re-institute Alturas No 159. Following the meeting a committee of Native Daughters served refreshments.

Pleasurable Program.

Saint Helena—Over a hundred enthusiastic Native Daughters participated in a district meeting, with La Junta No. 203 as hostess. The affair was arranged as a get together meeting to give the members in the district an opportunity to become better acquainted, and was the first of a series which, it is hoped, will be continued. All participating Parlors had large delegations. Echool No. 16 (Napa), Vallejo No. 195, Calistoga No. 145, Clear Lake No. 135 (Middletown) and La Junta. The regular meeting of No. 203 was held, and these special guests were escorted to places of honor. Mrs. W. Mitchell, supervising deputy, Mmes. Sadie Brooks, Elvina Woodward and Emma McGlunphy, deputies. The ritualistic and other phases of Parlor work were executed by La Junta for the pleasure of the visitors. The guests of honor each said a few words, which revealed enthusiasm for the get-together plan.

The Parlor meeting was adojurned and an interesting program followed. The Calistoga girls put on a pretty drill. Mrs. Mitchell led community singing, while the Napa girls were preparing for a humorous skit, "The Human Ford;" after a few flat tires they finally got started. A "Half Hour's Pleasure at the Beach," a reading by Mrs. Farmer, followed, then Mmes. Waldeck and M. Alexander sang two lovely songs, "Neopolitan Nights" and "California Lullaby." After this pleasurable program refreshments were served in the banquet hall, where autumn leaves and huge baskets of fruit formed the table decorations.

Wedded at Mission.

Modesto—Morada No. 199 and Modesto No. 11 N.S.G.W. held the first of a series of whist parties October 19. Guests were seated at forty-five tables. Dancing and refreshments followed the card playing. Robert Hansen was master of ceremonies. The next party will be given November 9.

Morada's sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Lena Browder October 22, at which time garments were made for a family of eight which the Parlor is caring for. Mrs. Ethel Gardner was chairman of a costume party October 26. All members not in Hallowe'en costume paid a penalty. Deputy Ethel Mathiasen was married in the Santa Barbara Mission October 19 to Frank Enos of Modesto.

Past Presidents Doings.

Oakland—Association No. 2 celebrated its twenty-first anniversary with a carnival and dinner dance October 8. Guests were Emma Haggerty, Frieda Reichhold, Jennie Brown, Leah Williams. Elizabeth Goodman and committee had charge of the affair, and the humorous program and games were in charge of A. Silva, A. Hofmeister, E. Hall, M. Ward.

San Jose—Association No. 3 entertained Alameda County past presidents October 11. The feature was the report of the welfare committee, Claire Borchers chairman. A Hallowe'n sociable was enjoyed. The arrangements committee included Clara Briggs, Fay Withycombe, Claire Borchers, Elizabeth Hayes, President Amelia Hartman.

Oroville—Mary Woodall, Margaret Gilbert and Emma Logan jointly entertained Association No. 5 October 7 at the home of the former. Three candidates were initiated. Bridge was played. In observance of the Association's fifth anniversary a dinner will be held November 3 in Oroville.

NATIVE DAUGHTER NEWS

Napa—Grand President Anna M. Armstrong visited Eshcol No. 16 October 10. A turkey dinner preceding the meeting was attended by sixty-one. The hall was beautifully decorated, and two candidates were initiated. Mrs. Armstrong was presented with a silver dish, and other grand officers were presented with flowers. Past Grand Estelle Evans sang several solos, and the Grand President gave a very inspiring talk on the projects sponsored by the Order. Visitors were present from all Parlors in the district. Eshcol is planning its annual card party for the benefit of the homeless children during November.

Merced—Veritas No. 75 had a reception October 11 in honor of Supervising Deputy May S. Givens, who is now residing in this city. Mrs. Lennie Crawford delivered a welcome address, and musical numbers were given by Miss Marian Pulcifer, and Mmes. Grace Leonard and Alma Fowler. Following cards, refreshments were served in the banquetroom, decorated in the Hallowe'en motif, by a committe comprising Mmes. Mary vanden Heuvel (chairman), Lennie Crawford, Alma Fowler, Hazel Laverty, Mayme Reuter, Zelphia Thomas, and Miss Marian Pulcifer.

Woodland—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong, in the course of a charming address, presented a California State (Bear) Flag to the C. F. Dingle grammar school September 29. Seventh and eighth grades pupils staged a program, and Miss Henrietta Toothaker of Woodland No. 90 sang "California Is Calling Me."

Oakland—October 11, Aloha No. 106 entertained members and guests with a country fair. The social committee, under the able guidance of Past President Gladys Farley, had charge of booths containing candy, cakes, cookies, pies, jellies, jams, handkies, aprons, doughnuts, hotdogs and coffee. A "haywire orchestry" provided music for the two-cent dance, and fortune-tellers were in evidence. The various booths were attractively decorated with all colors of crepe paper, serpentine and comical signs. Plans are being made by Chairman Caroline Schulze and committee for a theater party November 15.

San Andreas—San Andreas No. 113 entertained the menfolks October 15 at a delightful social. A series of games, arranged by President Zaida Hertzig, Oleta Meyer and Myrtle Schwoerer, were played, and an excellent supper was served by Grace Tiscornia, Bessie Serra and Gertrude Leonard. Hallowe'en was the theme of the evening.

Crockett—October 12, Grand President Anna M. Armstrong made her official visit to Carquinez No. 234. Delegations from Woodland, San Diego, Aloha, Antioch, Stirling, Piedmont, Richmond, Chispa and Santa Rosa Parlors, Past Grand Presidents Dr. Louise C. Heilbron and Estelle Evans, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustee Willow Borba, Supervising Deputy Myra Rademaker and Deputy Grace Curry were present. One candidate was initiated. A short program was given by Arthur Franges, Miss Doris Franges and Arlene Smith. Arthur and Doris Franges are children of Mrs. Lucile Franges, a member of No. 234. The Parlor plans a food sale some time in November.

Fullerton—Grace No. 242 resumed activities when the losing side in a recent membership contest served a chicken dinner. Cards followed, and a social time was enjoyed. Past President Carrie Ford entertained September 29 the homeless children sewing club at an all-day meeting. The next meeting of the club will be at the Los Angeles home of Deputy Mary Noerenberg. This will also be an all-day affair, and one to which members are looking forward. The regular meetings in October were well attended, with Past Presidents Mary Rothaermel and Nellie Cline sponsoring the social hours. Plans are being formed for numerous Parlor activities.

Madera—Mae S. Givens, supervising deputy of Fresno, Madera, Merced and Mariposa Counties, called a meeting of the deputies of the Parlors in those counties at the home of Lois Roach of Madera No. 244. Instructions from the Grand President were read and noted. Plans were discussed for a district meeting in Madera, April 6.

Ontario—Ontario No. 251 had a Hallowe'en party October 27 in honor of Mrs. Frank Van Fleet, largely responsible for the building of the bear monument. Guests were Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel Hansen, Mrs. Florence Schonemann, Deputy Ella Madden, Mrs. Muriel Bray and Mrs. D. Pope. Cards were played and refreshments were served. Esther Kremer, Vada Austin and Dorthea Lucas constituted the committee in charge.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NO. 272 OF THE Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, organized through the efforts of Deputy Grand President Clinton E. Skinner, Lucien A. Griffin, Martin Meza and Leslie Patterson, was instituted October 25 with forty-one members. Some two hundred members from all the neighboring Parlors assembled to witness the ceremonies and to cheer the new Parlor on its way.

Past Grand President John T. Newell officiated at the institution ceremonies, and was assisted by Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, acting as junior past grand president; Owen S. Adams, as grand marshal; Deputy Grand President Clarence M. Hunt, as grand secretary; Grand Organist Leslie Maloche, as grand inside sentinel, and Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter.

The initiatory ritual was exemplified by the following: Orrin C. Welch, president; Harry T. Honn, senior past; Claude J. Wiseman, junior past; Arthur L. Leonard, first vice; Eldred L. Meyer, second vice; Walter Odemar, third vice; Dr. Leland W. Clark, marshal; John J. Smith, secretary; Municipal Judge Joseph L. Call, treasurer; Dr. Robert C. Eshelman, inside sentinel; Ernest Reyes, outside sentinel; George W. Burnett, Elden W. Price, trustees; Maurice Macurda, pianist, and Joel A. Bair violinist. All are affiliated with Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 except Walter Odemar, who is third vice-president of Ramona Parlor No. 109.

The officers of University Parlor were installed by District Deputy Ralph I. Harbison, who was assisted by the following, acting as temporary officers: Frank Adams, District Deputy Al Cron, Dr. J. M. Watson, District Deputy Howard Bentley, Orrin Welch, Walter Odemar, Walter Slosson, District Deputy Edward Baldwin, District Deputy Walter Hiskey, Edward Grom, Claude Wiseman, Harry Honn and Arthur Leonard. University's officers include:

Bernard G. Hiss, president; Dr. Phillip Miller, charter senior past; James English, charter junior past; Maynard Garrison, first vice; Dr. George Woods, second vice; Dr. James Encell, third vice; Leslie Patterson, marshal; Howard F. Babb, inside sentinel; William J. Quast, outside sentinel; Martin DeFazio, recording secretary; John McLaughlin, financial secretary; Lucien A. Griffin, treasurer; Glenn Duvall, Martin Meza, Dr. Herbert Root, trustees. The Parlor will meet every Tuesday night, at Palestine Masonic Hall, northeast corner Figueroa street and Forty-first place.

Municipal Judge Leo I. Aggeler conducted the good of the order, and the speakers were President Bernard Hiss of University Parlor, Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer, Past Grand John T. Newell, Leo V. Youngworth, Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer and Harold T. Power (Auburn No. 59) who, as a lad, marched in the 1875 Independence Day parade in San Francisco out of which originated the Order of the Native Sons. Presentations to University Parlor were made as follows: President Owen Adams, for Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, the Holy Bible; President Dr. James Watson, for Ramona Parlor No. 109, map of California; District Deputy Edward Baldwin, for Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 (San Pedro), United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags; President Leslie Shellbach, for Glendale Parlor No. 264, gavel; President Orrin Welch, for Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267, altar flag. Past Grand President William I. Traeger was in attendance for the institution ceremonies, and many congratulatory messages were received, including one from President Mattie Labory-Gara of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W.—C.M.H.

A PERFECT DAY.

Hospitality reigned supreme, October 15, at the beautiful South Pasadena home of Herman C. Lichtenberger, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., when he and his good wife entertained the past presidents of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. and a number of "outsiders." A delicious supper, including home-barbecued beef, was served in the outofdoors, and during the afternoon and evening there was much speechifying, mostly of a reminiscent nature. It was a perfect day, from every viewpoint, spent amid ideal surroundings with princess and prince of hostess and host. Those privileged to enjoy the occasion included:

Frank Adams, Fred Batser, Walter Baskerville, Irving Baxter, George Beebe, Charles Bright, Charles Brittain, Chandos Bush, William Calderwood, James Coffey, Senator Henry Carter, William Coffey, Joseph Coyle, Dwight Crittenden, Senator Reginaldo DelValle, Major John Diss, Isidore B. PLAN ROSE ARBOR FOR GROVE.

The October 12 card party of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., supervised by Chairman Olinda Kerby and an able committee, was a wonderful success, forty-eight tables being in operation. The party at the Manhattan Beach home of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones was most enjoyable. President Mattie Gara was in charge. The Hallowe'en party, Doris Malin hostess, was a splendid success, the affair being in every way appropriate to the season.

Sunday, October 23, the Parlor featured a breakfast in the memorial grove at Griffith Park, and ample justice was done the delicious viands served by Mrs. Mary McAnany and Miss Edna Holcomb. This is the grove set aside for the Natives, and No. 124 plans to erect a rose arbor to honor the Pioneer Mothers of the Parlor.

Mrs. Harriet W. Martin represents Los Angeles on the Christmas remembrance committee for the National Soldiers Home at Sawtelle. She gave a splendid report of the activities of the committee, which plans to remember 7,000 veterans at Christmas time, and made a liberal donation to the fund in the name of the Parlor. The sewing club met during October at the home of Mrs. Sophia Stewart and made baby bags and sheets for the homeless children; the hostess served delicious refreshments to the busy workers. The Parlor is planning much Christmas work.

Los Angeles' November calendar has these dates: 2nd, initiation; 9th, monthly card party, one of the bridge tournament; 16th, potluck dinner preceding the meeting, and an address on a timely topic. The 19th, the sewing club meets at the home of Mrs. Lucy and Miss Dolores Malin.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. will have an oldtimers night November 3, with past presidents in the chairs. The old boys will provide the entertainment. The Parlor will celebrate its institution anniversary November 17, and the womenfolks will be welcome. Supper will be served, a program will be presented, and dancing will conclude the festivities. First Vice-president Leslie Packard heads the arrangements committee. November 24 being Thanksgiving Day, the Parlor will have no meeting that night.

NATIONAL PARTIES.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. has planned a series of "national" parties to follow the last meeting of each month. October 25 was spanish day; chairman Olive Waite Lopez was assisted by Mrs. Edith Harmon Adams. Hostesses were Hortense Chapman Steinike, Arcadia Bandini Gaffey, Ysabel del Valle Cram, Isabel Cram Marquard, Marguerite Moore O'Neill, Ida Bacigalupi Chappell, Marybelle Chapman, Stella Gonzales Connor, Martina Yorba Pelanconi, Rosa Yorba Locke, Pauline Bodrero, Marianne Etchemendy, Madeline Etchemendy, Maria Lopez Lowther, Teresa L. Troconiz, Guadalupe Estudillo Wright, Lisita Pico Williamson, Aurelia Castruccio Weber, Teresa S. Bouttier, Teresa Toro Brockway, Eloisa Mitchell Cadd, Ysabel Mitchell Golt, Carmen Troconiz Holliday, Rosa Santa Cruz Logan, Dolores Machado Barrow, Petra Pelanconi Hartwick, Ynez del Valle Kirby, Florence Steinike, Amenaida R. Moore, Juanita Sands Flores, Constance Rimpau Seals, Rhea Rimpau Sparling. A collection of historic gowns, shawls and other articles of the days of the Spanish, owned by Ysabel del Valle Cram, was shown, and Isabel Lopez Fages exhibited an ancient hand organ with colorful dancing figures. Marybelle Chapman delighted with a group of ancient Spanish folksongs, recently discovered and set to music by Gertrude Ross, well-known composer. Typical awards for bridge and sewing were made and appropriate refreshments were served.

Mrs. Amos Otis Evans, program chairman, presented Anna McConnell Beckley, member of the Parlor and art authority, in a lecture on "The Treasures of Russia," October 11, following a delightful and well-attended luncheon at which Harry J. McClean gave an enlightening talk on "The Ethics of the Judiciary." Mrs. Evans is exerting every effort to present programs of interest. Past President Gertrude Tuttle announces a bridge breakfast for November 17. The committee, of which she is chairman, is actively engaged with arrangements for the elaborate affair, which will include a fashion show. Deputy Mattie Edwards was a visitor at both October meetings. A silver spoon has been presented to the new daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour. Hortense Steinike reports progress in the membership drive.

INSIDE PARK-WRECKING FACTS.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. heard from Paul Robinson, October 21, the inside facts, regarding the attempt of interests who want to enhance the value of their realty holdings, to put a roadway across, and thereby wreck as a public outing ground, Westlake Park. The speaker's declaration, that neither a bridge nor a dirt fill should be permitted, was vociferously applauded. Professor Day of Occidental College presented first-hand information of conditions in Russia, October 28.

Ramona has inaugurated a series of monthly birthday parties. The October boys were guests the 21st, and there was a very large attendance. October 7, Past Grands Herman C. Lichtenberger and William I. Traeger were speakers. Initiation was held October 14, among the candidates being Vincenzo Pometti, a musician of note who brought up a thirty-piece orchestra and, preceding the ceremonies, entertained with delightful music. September 30, Captain Tommy Lofthouse, assisted by a squad of motorcycle police, provided splendid entertainment, the numbers coming largely from Paris Inn talent. Chairman Ralph Harbison of the membership committee reports good progress, and Captain "Bill" Bright is promoting a band, a bugle corps and an orchestra for No. 109.

Ramona's November program includes: 4th, initiation, and discussion by competent speakers of proposed city charter amendments; 18th, birthday party, with supper at 6:30 and entertainment by Ramona Troop Boy Scouts; 25th, nomination officers January-July term.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Long Beach—Mrs. Clara Fay of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. entertained the Natives and their friends at her home September 30; bunco was the evening's diversion. Deputy Nellie Cline visited the Parlor October 6.

A very successful cooked-food sale was held October 13; Gertrude Riddle, chairman, was assisted by Alice Waldow and President Eleonor Johnson. Members of Long Beach Parlor No. 239 N.S.G.W. were invited guests at a most enjoyable Hallowe'en party October 20. The committee in charge included Claudia Miller (chairman), Leola Temby and Alice Waldow.

MEETING WITH SUCCESS.

Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. has at work an energetic membership committee, headed by John J. Ford, which is meeting with success. November 14 a class of candidates will be initiated. Officers for the new term will be nominated November 28.

RECEPTION FOR N.D. GRAND OFFICER.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. had an "advanced officers" night October 11, with First Vice-president Vera Carlson presiding. President Betty Sanders was absent on vacation—deer hunting at Buckhorn Flats. For her new native daughter, Sandra Claire Wilson, Mrs. Evelyn Wilson was presented a baby spoon. A potluck dinner, in charge of Mrs. Ruby Eubank, was held at the home of Mrs. Arline Newel. Food sales October 15 and 29 were great successes. A card party, with Mrs. Margaret Donlan as chairman, was held October 25.

Preparations are well advanced for a reception, sponsored by Verdugo Parlor, in honor of Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, to be held November 15 in Masonic Temple. All Natives and their escorts are invited. A program and dance will follow the reception.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

William F. Reilly (Ramona N.S.) has gone to San Francisco to reside.

Mrs. Estella Haid (Los Angeles N.D.) was a visitor to San Francisco last month.

Mrs. Mabel Martin (Los Angeles N.D.) was a visitor last month to Oakland.

Miss Lou Fessler and George H. Francis (Ramona N.S.) were wedded October 13.

Leslie Maloche (Grand Organist N.S.) of San Bernardino is now domiciled in Hollywood.

Paul Robinson (Ramona N.S.) and wife (Los Angeles N.D.) were visitors last month to San Francisco.

Harold T. Power (Auburn N.S.), for many years active in Placer County affairs, is now residing in Glendale.

Miss Irene G. Eden (Los Angeles N.D.) became the bride of Sinclair Aubrey, October 22. Mrs. Jennie Raymond was matron of honor.

THE DEATH RECORD.

J. O. Metz, brother of Al Metz (Los Angeles N.S.), died October 3 at Santa Ana. He was born at Compton, in 1870.

Van Rensselaer Kelsey, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died October 13, survived by a wife and three sons. He was born at Los Angeles, June 30, 1890.

Mrs. Ella Hayward, wife of Hubert T. Hayward (Santa Monica Bay N.S.), died October 16.

Mrs. Gertrude Blumenthal, wife of Charles J. Blumenthal (Los Angeles N.S.), died October 20 at San Francisco.

GOOD WELFARE WORK.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. had as guests October 17 delegations from Long Beach Parlor No. 154, headed by Deputy Lucretia Coats, and Verdugo Parlor No. 240 (Glendale), headed by Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen. Trustee Myrtle Barden and Grace Abila were the hostesses. Chairman Marie Barnes told of plans for the card party, October 31, for the benefit of the homeless children.

A dance October 14 was an enjoyable affair. The Parlor is looking after the needs of a worthy family, providing, among other things, two quarts of milk daily. Chairman Rosalie Hyde of the veteran welfare committee visited the National Soldiers Home at Sawtelle and presented, from the Parlor, a check for Christmas cheer.

PROMOTING ATHLETICS.

Glendale—Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer fficially visited Glendale Parlor No. 264 .S.G.W. October 4, and there was a large at-ndance, including visitors from all the Los An-les County Parlors, to greet him. Three can-idates were initiated. Ted Verdugo presented artistically designed map of California to the arlor. Among the many speakers, in addition Grand Trustee Meyer, were Past Grand John Newell, Grand Outside Sentinel William Reu-r and Harold T. Power (Auburn No. 59). lendale is very active, and has committees pro-oting athletics, etc. At the conclusion of the eeting refreshments were served by members Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W.

NEW HOME.

Santa Monica—Commencing November 2, nta Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. will meet the first and third Wednesdays in Odd Fellows Hall, 1431 Third street. A housewarming will be a near-future attraction, and plans are being made for the famous annual lobster supper. Members of No. 267, in force, made visits during October to neighboring Parlors.

PUT YOUR THANKS IN GIVING.

The Los Angeles N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Homeless Children Committee has sent out a letter, signed by Chairman Irving Baxter, asking for a Thanksgiving offering toward the homeless children work, which receives nothing from the community chest. All Natives and their loyal friends should respond liberally, for this year the need is far greater than heretofore.

For twenty-two years the placing of homeless children in childless homes has been carried on by the Native Sons and Daughters, and as a result the hearts of thousands of abandoned little children and foster-parents have been mutually gladdened. There is no more worthy charity than this. Thanksgiving Day approaches. Send an offering to Mrs. Calista de Soto-Stefan, treasurer of the joint committee, 400½ West Seventy-eighth street.—C.M.H.

THRILLS SPILLS

WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

By GEORGE CREEL

The candidacy of William Gibbs McAdoo for the United States Senate gives California the opportunity to get a public servant whose extraordinary abilities have made him not only a national but also an international figure. Builder, executive, financier and statesman, his record entitles him to be regarded as the great administrative genius of his day.

No man in all history has held more important and varied positions. The builder of the Hudson River Tubes and railroad head before entering public life, he was not only Secretary of the Treasury from 1913 to 1919, but also Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Chairman of the Farm Loan Board, Chairman of the War Finance Corporation, Director-General of Railroads, President of the International High Commission, Administrator of the War-Risk Insurance Act, Director of the Liberty Loan and War-Savings Stamp Campaigns and Chief of the National Public Health Service.

HIS NAME MEANS VOTES

His name on the ticket is an asset of incalculable value, and his presence in the senate will add strength to the administration. No apprenticeship will be required of him, as in the case of an unknown, for he will take a leader's place at once, and be the President's strong right arm and an effective representative of California and its interests.

These claims are backed by facts, for the life story of the man is one of continuous constructive accomplishment. Throughout his adult life he has fought consistently and courageously for freedom of the press, declaring these great principles "the cornerstones of liberty that distinguish autocracies from democracies."

McADOO FOR SENATOR CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE, 612 South Spring Street, Los Angeles.

draw all financial support. If not inclined to do so, take steps to force action.

"Big business," which has put numberless obstacles in the way of keeping the Japs and their like out of this country, is now appealing to Washington for help; the pocketbooks have become affected, hence the howl. The Japs are dumping their products into this country, where they are sold at prices far below the cost of manufacture here. The highboys are agreeable to permitting the Japs, but not their products, to flood this country. Consistent, are they not! Looks like a hookup between quota and dumping—another "gentlemen's agreement," whereby the white-Japs would swing ajar the immigration-gates, if the yellow-Japs will cease dumping their products. In the meantime, perhaps it would be a good idea to purchase Jap-made, in preference to American-made, goods, for in no way other than via the pocketbook is it possible to reach "big business."

A considerable quantity of political-smoke, generated in the Capital City, has been stenching the state. The California State Grange, evidently suspicioning, as do numerous citizens, that there must be some fire where there is so much smoke, at its annual meeting in Fresno City adopted this resolution:

"Whereas, The condition of the state government is such as to require investigation and a disclosure of the facts to the rural taxpayers of California; be it, therefore, resolved, that we, the California State Grange, in regular session assembled, do urge and petition that an investigation into the affairs of the state administration be made by a committee of the State Senate, and that, guided by the findings of this committee, the State Legislature take such action as it deems wise and necessary."

Recalling that "Prosperity is just around the corner," an editor inquires, "Are we prepared for prosperity?" No! Dishonesty brought on the depression, and no attempt has been made to legislate against the practice and there have been no prosecutions of the nationally-infamous dishonest. So when, and if, prosperity comes from around the corner dishonesty will continue the vogue and the dishonest, only, will prosper, at the expense of the honest. Until honesty, from top to bottom in government and in every walk of life, be again enthroned in this country and the dishonest minority be cast to the swine, we will not be prepared for the return of real prosperity—the prosperity of the masses.

November 8 will be election day. The first and foremost duty of every man and woman privileged to be an American citizen is to vote. Think first, with your own God-endowed brains, and carefully consider the qualities of the candidates. Things accomplished should have a far greater appeal than things promised, and particularly so when some pre-election promises are not possible of human accomplishment. Vote, and let your conscience, not prejudice or partyism, be your guide!

Apparently, a new racket has come into being—the bankruptcy. Chain-store outfits, whose admitted assets exceed liabilities, are going into receivership. The purpose is to repudiate leases, through cancelation, for a receiver has the powers of a czar. The scheme includes the formation of a company with a new name, but controlled by the manipulators of the "bankrupt" company, to re-lease, if possible, property at greatly reduced rentals. In other words, the chain-store racketeers are using the federal bankruptcy law—which, by the way, was declared by Federal Judge Sheppard to be a national disgrace—to legally repudiate just obligations. In flush times they sought out and leased all available storerooms, to prevent competition. Now that the dollars flow not so lavishly into their coffers, they want to get from under, and are using the bankruptcy court to accomplish that purpose.

As long suspicioned, the state administration, through its finance director, publicly admitted in San Francisco that California has a $40,000,000 deficit. The director said, "There is only one way to reduce governmental expenditures. That is to spend less." Nothing new in the contention and conclusion; both are as old as the hills. Sanely and efficiently managed corporations have been spending less for two and more years. But what has the State of California, one of the nation's biggest corporations, been doing? Spending more!

Federal Attorney-general Mitchell, addressing the American Bar Association in Washington, D. C., said, "It is an affront to decent citizens for convicted persons to go at large for such periods—one to three years—before their cases are finally disposed of. These conditions should not exist." How about those convicted of felonies being at large, on parole, after their cases have been finally disposed of by the courts? Should that condition exist? Does not its existence encourage crookedness, particularly on the part of those adequately supplied with influence and coin of the realm?

The State Appellate Court has rendered a decision to the effect that dual public-school positions, once established, cannot be abolished. The law which permits the establishment of dual positions should be abolished, in the interest of economy and the thousands of competent, unemployed teachers.

Incidentally, the State Legislature should materially lessen the public-school costs by eliminating the too-numerous fads and frills, provided to create jobs. In 1915, California spent $35,717,000 on education; by 1930, the cost had jumped up to $171,110,000—an increase of 379.1 percent in total cost and 151.6 percent in percapita cost. A material jumping downward of the cost is required, in the interest of the taxpayers. Addressing a state convention of school superintendents in San Francisco, Benjamin Macomber truthfully said:

"The schools and school managements are being severely criticized on the point of taxation. There is substantial basis for the complaint. Every enterprise has been forced to draw in its horns. The two that so far have cut down their operations least are the political enterprise and the school enterprise. There is a revolt against taxes to keep up the political enterprise on its old flush-time scale.

"People are beginning, and very loudly, to classify the schools with the political enterprise. This is not, in my opinion, altogether fair. Yet it has some ground. The teachers have the strength of their organizations. This is a dangerous time for them to use their strength in any way that will lead people to classify them definitely as one of the minorities organized for loot."

CO-OPERATION ASKED, THAT DESERVING UNEMPLOYED WHITES MAY HAVE WORK.

A San Franciscan received a letter from Anna Brown, secretary Laundry Workers Union No. 26 of San Francisco, and sent it to The Grizzly Bear with the suggestion that it be published in this magazine. Here it is:

"The great problem facing us today is to create work for our deserving unemployed who are, through no fault of their own, thrown into enforced idleness, brought about by the most devastating depression in the history of this country.

"The continuation of this depression, now i its third year, has well-nigh exhausted the lim ited resources of thousands of our people, whos means of livelihood have been swept away. Tax ation and private contributions are severel strained to meet this crisis.

"There are ways and means to ameliorate, t some extent, this distressing situation. Take fo instance the white laundry industry. In norma times this industry gave employment, at remun erative wages, to thousands of our citizens. To day the white plants have, through necessity greatly reduced their working forces and hav been forced to place those still employed on part-time basis.

"Many of these men and women could be re employed, and made self-supporting if our Whit people who patronize Oriental laundries under stood the situation and gave their preference o their patronage to the white laundry industry.

"The standards of living of the Oriental an Occidental races, diametrically are at variance The Oriental has a system of frugality, inherite from ancestral privations, that is not adaptabl to Caucasian ideals. However, the proverbia thrift of the Asiatic in our midst stands him i good stead during the present economic depres sion. His accumulated resources place him in superior position to the White man to face th present industrial disruption.

"We seek your co-operation in this crisis. Re member that the white laundries have a servic to meet every requirement of the family bud get."

"Government is free to the people under when the laws rule and the people are a part to those laws; and all the rest is tyranny, olig archy, and confusion."—William Penn.

TWO WRONGS NEVER DID AND NEVER WILL MAKE A RIGHT.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Just finished reading the "Growl" concerning what happened at the national [American Legion] convention in Portland regarding the so-called "bonus." . . . I am fortunate to have a job, but God knows plenty have not. Remember, fourteen years ago it was said nothing will be too good when you come back. Here is an editorial written by a mere comrade that will answer your article.

B. R. NORTHRUP,
Navy Post No. 278
American Legion
Dept. of California.

Los Angeles, October 3, 1932.

The editorial referred to, by Henry L. Marshall, commander of Covina Post, American Legion, and captioned "A Simple Solution," appeared in "The American Legion Weekly Bulletin" of October 1, 1932. It follows, in full:

"Just to keep the record straight, we would like to remind the country and the world that the world war veteran did not start the war, nor did he participate in the councils that approved Liberty loans, afterwards reloaned to the Allies, nor in huge bonuses to railroad corporations and other groups just after the war.

"The world war veteran did not pile up the great debt that now takes eighty cents of every dollar the taxpayers disgorge to the federal governments here and abroad. He went to war cheerfully when told to go, but without any enthusiasm for war, either then, or now.

"The church ritual intones that 'We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and have done those things which we ought not to have done, and there is no health in us . . . the burden is intolerable."

"The sin of the war—this last one, and others—is an intolerable burden, but the culpability falls upon all, and with less force upon the soldier in the war than anyone. He didn't start it. He stopped it.

"Just now it seems popular to brand the veteran as a treasury raider, it somehow having been worked around that he is responsible for this expensive aftermath of war; to name him at this late day as unpatriotic, placing a price on patriotism. Two wrongs do not, of course, make a right. The returned soldier should not attempt to put a dollar premium on his service, even though this was done with gusto and with complete unanimity of action by the railroads, all other corporations and every group that supplied food and munitions for the war at cost plus—and, O, my God, what a cost!

"It is said that if the world war veteran is paid his bonus now instead of in 1945, he will pitch it away in riotous living, and will be broke in a very short space of time. Assuming that he will squander it—which we do not admit—what did the railroads and other corporations and the munitions groups do with their adjusted compensations paid by the government in 1919 and 1920? They are all broke now, and asking the government for more.

"Why didn't the government defer these corporation adjusted compensations until 1945? If it had done so, perhaps there still might be something remaining in the United States treasury.

"The solution of the whole problem is simple. If you don't want soldiers to become expensive during and after a war—don't start a war."

PIONEER MOTHER'S EXPERIENCES.

Editor Grizzly Bear—You may be interested to hear of my early California life? I was born in Lee County, Illinois, in 1849. Came to California in 1852. We were six months enroute. My father, Frank D. Swartwont, died of heart trouble and was buried in blankets by the side of the road, in sight of Fort Laramie. Mother was only twenty-two years of age and had never been away from her mother. But there was no going back, so, after two weeks' rest at Salt Lake, we came on. As she was doing some washing in a little creek, an old man, perhaps a Mormon, proposed to her. At that time she had not shed a tear, but she soon drove him away.

There were only three women in the train and they were not very friendly, fearing that she had no money. But she was plentifully supplied, and on arrival sold the horses and, with the money, bought a lot and built a house on one of the main streets of Hangtown, now Placerville. As there were so many miners and desperadoes, she married Samuel W. Huff, who was a widower. He was a kind stepfather.

I could tell you of the gold I have picked up—did not save it—and the fires, bad people, singing schools and my very happy life. I married in 1866. Have four children, two boys and two girls, all married but one, who is a semi-invalid.

SEAWEED FOUND BOON TO HEALTH SEEKERS

A wealth of mineral substances essential to the health and happiness of mankind has been discovered in the lowly plants that adorn the ocean bed, is attested to by Prof. H. H. Barr, Los Angeles, California.

Rich in iron, iodine, calcium, phosphorus, manganese, magnesium, potassium, sulphur and 26 other important organic minerals properly proportioned by nature, seaweed brings to the body, and particularly to the tired, starved glands of the body, those vital elements that build robust health and drive out pain and disease.

That it has long been known as a food to people of far-off climes, endowing them with amazing strength, vitality and mentality, may come as surprising news to many.

At the present time (in Japan) perhaps six or seven different kinds of sea plants or seaweeds are used at a single meal. GOITRE is unknown in Japan.

Prof. Barr, after years of research work, has discovered how to put his formula, consisting of sea plants, in tablet form. Organic minerals and Vitamins A, B, D, E, found in California, Japanese, Nova Scotia and Irish seaweed, have aided many who are suffering from physical exhaustion, nervousness, rheumatism, acidity, gas, indigestion, underweight, low blood pressure, anemia, kidney, stomach and bladder disorders, neuritis, low vitality, asthma, many female disorders, skin disorders, GOITRE and CONSTIPATION.

Sea-Tone Tablets purify the blood stream, assist all of the glands to normal function (chiefly the thyroid, through the action of pure iodine), eliminate URIC ACID, and toxic poisons from the skin, kidneys, liver, stomach and BOWELS. Sea-Tone is a FOOD SUPPLEMENT. THEY DO NOT CONTAIN DRUGS.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

FROM ARTHUR L. SMITH, AFFILIATED with Argonaut Parlor No. 8 N.S.G.W. of Oroville, but for some time a resident of Brookville, Pennsylvania. The Grizzly Bear editor November 4 received the following, titled "Washington or Tokio?":

'In the O. A. MacIntyre column of the Hearst papers of Sunday, October 30, appeared this highly interesting statement:

" 'Recently I told of a New York photographer who refused to take pictures of Chinese and Japanese. His reason was not racial, but due to the skin coloring for his type of photography. Not a Chinese has written me, but a flood of viciously insulting letters come from Japanese. Typical of all is this—which incidentally has been turned over to Uncle Sam:

" 'Tell that stupid photographer that he will soon be taking photographs of us Japanese by Imperial orders. The supremacy of the so-called Yellow Race is around the corner. America will be taking orders from Tokio in 10 years. We who are valets, house servants and the like occupy our posts but we are finding out things that will aid our country when the Great Day comes. We have brought China to her knees and America is next. We have only contempt for America!' "

"The famous columnist made no comment other than that I have mentioned, and passed on to another subject. Yet he left unsaid a great volume of speculation for the United States, and confirmation of California views. For years we have been considered alarmists in our preaching of the dangerous yellow peril. Champions—yellow whites—have not been wanting, to rise to the defense of the 'little brown brothers from far Nippon,' even in our own state [California]. Some are sentimentalists, some are dreamers and some are traitors. Yellow skins have been made to look very beautiful when covered by 'yellow backs,' and the tide of race tolerance has never lacked bombastic orators.

"But, just as the writer of this note to MacIntyre has pointed out, we have had deeds, not words, to base our contentions on. The rape of China is still fresh in the mind of every normal person in these United States. The echoes of the cannon at Shanghai still pulse in the air, the smoke of the conflict that raged through Manchuria is only beginning to settle, and the graves of the Chapai area have yet to sprout their first blade of grass—'AND AMERICA IS NEXT!'

"What caused the cessation of war in China? It was not the League of Nations. They met in solemn conclave and threatened the Japanese with a strict boycott of produced articles. But the government at Tokio sent back word that such an act would be considered as an open declaration of hostilities, and the various governments, fearing secret treaties and underground alliances, withdrew.

"What caused the cessation of war in China? It was not the Peace Conference at The Hague. All that these gentlemen and ladies managed to evoke from Japan was a typical Oriental 'No babe.' There wasn't any war in China; war had never been declared; Japan was having a mere 'military maneuver,' and if any Chinese citizens managed to get in the way and were subsequently shot it was an entirely regretted, but totally unforeseen, calamity.

"What caused the cessation of war in China? As I recall the words of that dynamic newscaster, Floyd Gibbons, they ran something like this: 'China has stopped calling for help. She has opened up in an effort to save herself. From behind every tree, from behind every bush, over every rise of ground and from every cellar and river bank come the roll of rifle fire and the rattle of machine guns.'

"China saved herself! China was only partly prepared, but she became tired of Japan's 'military maneuver' and decided that she would have a 'field day' herself. Fortunately for her, she decided to operate in the same section of China where the yellow boys from Nippon were having such a good time. But her delay cost her a big slice of Manchuria. PREPAREDNESS WOULD HAVE SAVED MANCHURIA!

"It is possible that Japan has 'only contempt for America,' but she has a wholesome respect for the nearest state of the Union [California], and her reluctance to hold a 'military maneuver' on the soil of California has been partly due to the knowledge that such an operation must take place in the area watched over by those to whom, under certain conditions, a counter 'military maneuver' would be highly interesting. As Mexico has often boasted that she could whip the entire United States if it wasn't for Texas, just so has Japan felt that she could invade the United States were it not necessary first to cross that country whose citizens handle a rifle with the deadly precision and accuracy of Kentucky mountaineers.

"But 'ten years' will bring a change. There is poison gas, there are airplanes, there are machine guns and highly dangerous explosives that push individual bravery into the background. If the American Government doesn't want the tragic error of Manchuria to be reenacted with all the ferocious defense of the Alamo she had better begin to forge better locks for her Western door.

"Do I believe the letter? Does any Native Son disbelieve it? It tells the truth, as we have seen and warned of for a long time; it tells the truth with the open candor that we may expect from a drunken or an angry man; it tells the truth, as our country will realize, let us hope, before it is too late.

"I am not preaching war, but preparedness. The only way that we can keep the Golden State from getting her name off the skins of her inhabitants, rather than her fruit, sunshine and mineral products, is for Uncle Sam to forget a lot of his petty troubles and make ready to receive and properly entertain Oriental 'military maneuvers' on the Western seaboard. Of course, the writer of the letter was wrong to 'let the cat out of the bag' so soon, and has probably either committed harikari by now or had matihari committed on him. But either way, let us take a little lesson from the anger evoked by a photographer who did not care to photograph 'yellow skins'."

And it came to pass, that wickedness was everywhere enthroned throughout the Nation, and that depression, with consequent unemployment and misery, hung like a pall o'er the land. Ominous dissention-clouds gathered, peals of political-thunder resounded, and then came the deluge—of November eighth ballots. Long-eared jackasses, heeding the "Forgotten Man" warning, sought safety in such large numbers in the government-ark, but few elephants could find refuge therein, and they perished, politically, in large numbers.

And behold, when the ballot-flood had subsided, atop the government-seat perched, undisturbed by the ferocity of the mighty storm, the eagle, proclaiming: cease worship of the dollar-sign; cleanse the Nation, and all that therein is, of dishonesty; give heed to the needs of the masses; cast out from the temples of government and of business the traitorous high priests; observe these commandments, that prosperity may return and that all may be well with this land that floweth with milk and honey.

I SAW GOD WASH THE WORLD

(WILLIAM L. STIDGER.)

I saw God wash the world last night
With His sweet showers on high;
And then when morning came
I saw Him hang it out to dry.

He washed each tiny blade of grass,
And every trembling tree;
He flung His showers against the hills
And swept the billowy sea.

The white rose is a cleaner white,
The red rose is more red,
Since God washed every fragrant face
And put them all to bed.

There's not a bird, there's not a bee
That wings along the way,
But is a cleaner bird and bee
Than it was yesterday.

I saw God wash the world last night;
Ah, would He had washed me
As clean of all my dust and dirt
As that old white birch tree.

The Fiftieth California Legislature convenes at Sacramento City Monday, January 2, 1933. Ordinarily, when New Year Day comes on a Sunday the following day is observed as a holiday. The California Constitution, however, requires the State Legislature to meet "the first Monday after the first of the year." The Fiftieth will be the eighth Legislature to meet January 2, the other sessions being in 1854, 1860, 1893, 1899, 1905, 1911 and 1918. The 1854 session convened at Benicia, Solano County, but removed to Sacramento March 1.

The George Washington Bicentennial celebration officially closed Thanksgiving Day, November 24, when more than 75,000 churches held appropriate ceremonies. During the nine-month celebration more than one million separate programs in commemoration of the Nation's founder were featured in all parts of the world—the greatest tribute ever paid to a national hero.

The Federal Interstate Commerce Commission disclaims any right under the law to regulate practices of radio-broadcasting stations. That being so, the Federal Congress should provide the right. Broadcasters, like newspaper and periodical publishers, are dispensers of advertising. The competition is unfair, however, broadcasters not being affected by regulations governing publishers. For instance, broadcasters extensively advertise lotteries, which right is denied publishers by the Federal Postal Department, and as a result advertisers featuring chance schemes choose the radio. In the interest of honest competition, either the numerous restrictions governing publishers should be removed, or they should be applied in their entirety to broadcasters. The best interest of the general public unquestionably would be served by the latter course.

A recent press dispatch quoted Murray W. Garsson, special assistant to the Federal Secretary of Labor, as stating: "A preliminary survey shows Hollywood is flooded with alien actors whose permits have long since expired or who came here illegally." There are also numerous actresses in the same category. All should be deported, and the cost of operating the state judiciary materially lessened thereby. As a

CALIFORNIA'S ROMANTIC HISTORY

Lewis F. Byington
(PAST GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

Prior to the 1932 Admission Day, September 9, celebration in San Francisco, Lewis F. Byington of that city, Past Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, broadcast a series of six addresses on California. They were most favorably received, and requests came from all quarters of the state for copies of the talks. So, The Grizzly Bear suggested to Byington that the addresses be published in this magazine and, always willing to co-operate, he consented. The first of the series is here presented; the others will appear in succeeding issues.—Editor.

THE HISTORY OF CALIFORNIA IS A romantic and an appealing history. California's sons and daughters have enrolled themselves into fraternities to perpetuate the memory of those early pioneers who brought civilization to the West and laid the foundation of our state. The citizens of California are also most patriotic and loyal to the nation. Inspired by this feeling of patriotism, the Legislature of California has provided that the annual recurrence of the date of her admission into the Union, which took place September 9, 1850, should be a legal holiday throughout the state, known as Admission Day, and should be fittingly celebrated. Preliminary to this year's celebration, I have been requested to deliver a series of addresses on the romantic history and on some of the most interesting events of our state's forward march. Let us, as an introductory, sketch the important periods in the civilization and development of California:

LEGENDARY PERIOD.

In the Spanish romance known as "Las Sergas de Esplandian" (The Deeds of Esplandian), written by Montalvo and published about 1498, shortly after Columbus discovered America, the author tells of an island "lying at the right hand," as you sail toward the Indies, and near the Terrestrial Paradise, named "California." "The island everywhere abounded with gold and precious stones." It was inhabited exclusively by women, who lived in the manner of Amazons. They were robust of body, with strong and passionate hearts and great virtues. There ruled over the island of California a queen of majestic proportions, and in the very vigor of her womanhood. Her name was Califia. She was a great warrior, and her armor and weapons were all of gold and adorned with precious stones. Cortez, when he discovered Lower California, in 1535, thought it was an island, and believed that it lay "at the right hand of the Indies," and it was quite natural that he should give it the name of the mythical island, "California," referred to in the popular romance of that day.

THE INDIAN PERIOD.

The prehistoric settlers of California were the Indians, who for centuries prior to the voyage of Columbus to the west in search of the Indies had their homes along this coast. Whether they came from Asia by way of the Aleutian islands and Alaska, or from the Pacific isles, or across some prehistoric continent lying where the Pacific now stretches, neither tradition nor history informs us.

Before the padres came, the trees and the brush were their only shelter, save in the case of a tribe along the Santa Barbara channel, more civilized than the others, who lived in thatched huts. Their raiment was an apron of tule grass; their faces, necks and breasts were tattooed, and the only art they practiced was weaving baskets.

It was the missionary fathers who afterwards taught these rude tribes the arts of peace, gathered them in settlements, trained them to sing and to play on musical instruments, to cultivate the fields and to tend the herds, and to build from adobe bricks and timbers the twenty-one beautiful missions which stretched from San Diego to Sonoma.

THE NAVIGATORS.

The foot of no White man pressed the soil of California until the arrival of the navigators.

California, in the days of the early navigators, was the most distant land on earth from the center of White civilization. To reach it from Europe required a hazardous voyage around South America, or a much longer voyage around Africa and beyond Asia. Little can we appreciate today the daring and hardihood of those adventurous navigators who sailed their small wooden boats over unknown seas.

As one writer expressed it: "They were true pioneers. They gambled with luck. Life to them was a glorious adventure. And all the suffering, the thirst and the hunger and the pain, were forgotten when their eyes beheld the dim outline of a new coast or the placid waters of an ocean that had lain undiscovered since the beginning of time."

One of the bold navigators of that early day was Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, a Portuguese sailing under the flag of Spain, who in 1542, just fifty years after Columbus had sighted the New World, braved the dangers of an uncharted sea and sailed up the coast of California. He was searching for a waterway that would shorten the sailing distance from Spain to India. What he found was the wonderland of California. He entered the port of San Diego, and he and his crew were the first White men to land on our coast. He passed the bay, afterwards known as San Francisco, but did not see it.

A third of a century later, 1579, the intrepid Englishman, Sir Francis Drake, sailed the "Golden Hind" into the waters of the great Pacific and found his way to the California coast. He named the land New Albion and claimed it for Queen Elizabeth. All that now remains to commemorate that eventful voyage are Drake's Bay to the north of San Francisco, and the Prayer Book Cross in Golden Gate Park. Although the navigator Cabrillo sailed past the Golden Gate in 1542, it was not until 233 years later that the first vessel entered the port. All others passed without noticing it. In 1775, Juan Manuel Ayala, lieutenant in the Spanish navy, was commanded to sail from Mexico and explore San Francisco Bay, which prior thereto had been seen only from the land. On the evening of August 5, 1775, Ayala, on his ship, the "San Carlos," entered through the Golden Gate. His vessel was the first to enter that harbor and open it to the commerce of the world.

THE MISSION PERIOD.

No military conquest marked the acquisition of California by Spain. In this respect California stands unique among lands taken from native tribes. The Spaniards came, not with the sword, but with the prayer-book and the cross. The California missions brought the native tribes from barbarism to civilization peacefully, without bloodshed.

In 1769, while yet the American colonies on the Atlantic were a part of Great Britain, Gaspar de Portola, the brave and able governor of Lower California, led the pioneer expedition into the land that is now our Golden State. He planted the banner of Castile and Leon on the crescent shore of the harbor of Monterey, established the military posts and the presidios, and discovered the world-famed San Francisco Bay.

While Portola represented the military arm of Spain, the zealous and saintly Junipero Serra, who accompanied him, was the civilizing influence that established permanent settlements here and paved the way for the future growth of California. With never ending patience, unabating zeal and ceaseless effort, he planted mission after mission along the coast of California from San Diego to San Francisco, linked them together by El Camino Real (the king's highway), and brought within their spiritual influence the heathen natives of this western land. The missions which remain of the twenty-one stretching from San Diego to Sonoma should be preserved and treasured as landmarks representative of the earliest civilization brought to this coast. To Portola and Serra, California owes a debt of everlasting gratitude.

Bells of the Past, whose long forgotten music
Still fills the wide expanse,
Tingeing the sober twilight of the present
With color of romance!

Before me rise the dome-shaped Mission towers,
The white Presidio;
The swart commander in his leathern jerkin,
The priest in stole of snow.

O solemn bells! whose consecrated masses
Recall the faith of old;
O tinkling bells! that lulled with twilight music
The spiritual fold!

Your voices break and falter in the darkness,—
Break, falter and are still;
And veiled and mystic, like the Host descending,
The sun sinks from the hill.

THE SPANISH PERIOD.

It may be said that California owes its foundation to the Spanish era. It was during that period that it had its boundaries defined, its harbors explored and surveyed, and its civilization established; the sweet-sounding names given to its mountains, rivers and towns come from Spain. The period following the arrival of the Spaniard was a period of romance filled with the spirit of a carefree people. They had here a land of scenic beauty and enchanting climate, a land gorgeous with flowers and rich with plenty, where lived a happy, peaceful and contented race, "the world forgetting and by the world forgot," where news from other lands came at rare intervals, where there were no railroads, no telephone or printing presses, where the people lived and loved and were content, knowing little and caring less about the people of other lands; a land of vast and rich estates over whose hills and valleys roamed a thousand fattening herds and flocks; where men were brave and courteous, and women fair and fascinating; where outdoor festivals held sway and song and dancing marked the passing hours; where the sweet voice of the guitar, touched by a lovelorn cavalier, floated nightly toward the latticed window of a charming dark-eyed senorita; where the most daring and skilled horsemen of the world bestrode spirited steeds with saddle and bridle ornamented with gold and silver; where nature smiled and gave abundantly with little toil; where mission bells chimed out the hours and called a devout people to their pious devotions; where there was no hurry, no envy, no hate.

TRAPPER AND EXPLORER PERIOD.

The romantic period in the history of California might be considered the years from 1782 to 1820, when Spain ruled the land.

In the years which followed, the adventurous American explorers and trappers crossed the Allegheny mountains, pressed on beyond the Ohio and Mississippi, and turned their faces to the still-more-distant West. The restless spirit of the American frontiersman urged him ever onward to new adventures and dangers. Jedidiah Smith, the first White man to cross the continent to California, came by way of Salt Lake and the Colorado River and reached San Diego in 1826. Within a short time, he was followed over the southern route by Sylvester and James O. Pattie, and the historic scout Kit Carson who, about 1828, trapped beavers along the San Joaquin and Sacramento Rivers. They were followed by hundreds of other daring Americans, who came across the deserts, over the mountains and by sea, prior to 1846. Among these were Kit Carson, General John A. Sutter, Colonel John C. Fremont, General John Bidwell and others. The message of the fruitfulness of California's soil and her healthful climate slowly, but surely, spread and quite a number of loyal American pioneers established their homes here with the hope in their hearts that the American Flag would one day float on the shores of the Pacific.

BEAR FLAG AND AMERICAN FLAG RAISING.

Even before the discovery of gold in California, many Americans had come to the coast. Some on trading ships around the Horn, and others as explorers in search of adventure crossed the plains and mountains to the east of us. From whatever land they came, they were charmed with California and determined to live their days here. The hope was in their hearts that some day it would become a part of the Union. It was then a province of the Republic of Mexico, but many of the people were not satisfied with governmental conditions. English warvessels hovered along the coast, and also ships from other lands, manned by those who looked covetously on this territory.

Don Jose Castro, commandante general of the Mexican troops, was jealous and distrustful of the Americans. The most effective military garrison in California was at the town of Sonoma, in the Valley of the Moon, commanded by General Vallejo. Rumors reached the Americans that General Castro had ordered their expulsion from California, and they were determined not to leave. On the morning of June 14, 1846, a party of Americans consisting of twenty-four men, led by Captain Ezekiel Merritt, captured the Mexican garrison at Sonoma and announced the establishment of an independent government based on republican principles. They were not authorized to raise the Stars and Stripes, so they improvised a flag of red and white cloth, with a grizzly bear and a star painted thereon, and with the words "California Republic" written across the flag. Thus was established the California Republic, by the Bear Flag Party.

About this time Commodore John Drake Sloat was in command of the U.S. ship "Savannah" in the Pacific. He carried orders from Washington to capture all California ports in the event of war between the United States and Mexico. Word reached him of the declaration of war and he at once set sail for Monterey, and on the 7th day of July 1846 landed 250 American marines and raised the Stars and Stripes over the custom house. On July 9, 1846, Captain Montgomery of the U.S. ship "Portsmouth," then anchored in San Francisco Bay, raised the flag over the public plaza, around which had grown up the small Spanish settlement then called Yerba

WILL DESTROY THE ONLY LOGICAL BARRIER AGAINST JAP INVASION

THE GRAND PARLOR OF THE ORDER of Native Sons of the Golden West for many years has been prominent in the demand for a general law that would bar the immigration gates to further entrance of unassimilable Asiatic races. ith three other state organizations, represent g Legion, Labor and Grange, it organized the lifornia Joint Immigration Committee to aid securing such a law, and since the passage ereof in 1924 the Joint Committee has been aintained to defend the law against repeated tack on the part of various interests sec- nal, class and group more concerned in self- rpose or advantage than in the nation's future dfare. Its efforts in that direction have been dly assisted during the past few years by the w American Coalition of Patriotic Societies, th offices in New York and Washington, com- sed of over ninety affiliated bodies, including e Sons and Daughters of the American Revo- tion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, R.O.T.C. As- ciation, Disabled American Veterans, Amer- n War Mothers, various immigration restric- n leagues, etc. The organizations referred to nstitute a remarkable aggregation of bodies widely differing membership and purpose, but l united in this matter in unselfish protection the Nation's interest.

OPPONENTS IN CALIFORNIA.

Within the past year there has been organized e California Council on Oriental Relations for e avowed purpose of securing immigration ota for Japan and thereby repealing the sec- n of the Immigration Act of 1924 which bars l those ineligible to American citizenship as migrants for permanent settlement. The n proposed would necessitate the abandon- nt for all time of the principle recognized in e present law. The organization named has ade public announcement of its intent to de- lop a public sentiment in California favorable its purpose and then approach the Federal ngress with a demand for the necessary leg- lation. For many months past it has prose- ted the first of its two objectives by the pre- ntation of its views before service and other ubs throughout the state through Samuel J. me, its executive secretary. The announced mbership of the California Council is as fol- ws:

Hugh S. Jewett, Bakersfield; Robert G. Sproul, rkeley; Warren N. Woodson, Corning; S. rker Frisselle, Fresno; Major M. J. Dillman, ncoln; Harry Chandler, Los Angeles; Clinton Miller, Los Angeles; R. B. von KleinSmid, s Angeles; Halsey H. Dunning, Marysville; relia H. Reinhardt, Mills College; Allen Grif- , Monterey; Brother Z. Leo, Moraga; Rabbi dolph I. Coffee, Oakland; Justus F. Craemer, ange; Almon E. Roth, Palo Alto; Allen P. chols, Pomona; Dudley V. Saeltzer, Redding; ank Miller, Riverside; Fred W. Kiesel, Sacra- nto; Frederick J. Koster, San Francisco; allace M. Alexander, San Francisco; Edward Richmond, San Jose; C. C. Teague, Santa ula; Ernest L. Finley, Santa Rosa; Col. Fred Robson, Vina; James M. Burke, Visalia; Rob- t H. Hudson, Watsonville.

In the list will be found, so far as known, the me of no one who has insisted that immigra- n shall be so controlled as to guarantee a izenry qualified and disposed to maintain nerican standards rather than that it shall be used as to promote present profit or interests section, class or group. All those named are doubtedly earnest and sincere in urging their int of view; a few, in absence of intimate owledge of the history and present conditions the problem, regard quota as a harmless con- ssion to a friendly nation; many are prom- nt in connection with such interests as plan- ion and commercial enterprises of Hawaii, ge land and orchard holdings in California, ambers of commerce—United States, Califor- State, and local and enterprises whose ofits depend, or are believed to depend, in ge part upon a practically unrestricted supply cheap labor; or groups anxious to placate eign nations by special concessions on the ory that trade conditions will be benefited reby; some have connection with religious d international organizations committed to e theory of subordination of national interest. The activities of organizations and interests ferred to and individuals representing them, before the public, before civic and business bodies and before committees of the Congress, in opposing measures which would permanently close the gates to introduction of cheap alien labor and safeguard the character of our future citizenship, have been pronounced and continuous.

THE EXCLUSION MEASURE.

The California Council on Oriental Relations and Hume are in error in claiming that the 1924 exclusion measure was passed without due consideration and because of resentment induced by the Hanihara "grave consequences" letter. In 1920, and before, California demanded a measure excluding further entrance of Japanese, whose number in continental United States had trebled under operation of the "gentlemen's agreement," although President Roosevelt advised the California Legislature in 1909 that if increase of Japanese population followed operation of the agreement exclusion would be resorted to. Other Asiatic immigration had been stopped. The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was urging adoption of "quota for Japan," and hearings were held thereon by the House Immigration Committee in 1919 and 1921 in Washington, D. C., and in 1920 in California, Oregon and Washington.

The national organizations of the American Legion, American Federation of Labor and the Grange, urged by their California state bodies, demanded a general uniform law which would keep out all the Asiatic races ineligible to American citizenship. The California Joint Immigration Committee presented the case to the Senate Immigration Committee in March 1924, the plan suggested being to enact a simple exclusion provision applicable to all the ineligible colored races and taking the place not only of the "gentlemen's agreement," but also of the Chinese Exclusion Act and the "barred zone" provision of the 1917 act.

QUOTA PLAN REJECTED.

The Senate Immigration Committee first declined to grant a hearing, saying it had decided to concede quota to Japan. After the first two days' presentation of facts, however, the committee acknowledged that it could not, in fairness to the United States, under any conditions concede quota, and consideration was then given to four other plans proposed—a straight Japanese exclusion act, a new "gentlemen's agreement," a treaty, and exclusion of all ineligibles. Full presentation of the case for quota was made on behalf of the Federal Council of Churches by Sidney Gulick. The general exclusion plan was endorsed as the only one which met the requirements of the case. A week or ten days before the Hanihara letter appeared, a poll of the Senate members, made by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and ex-Senator James D. Phelan of California, showed that two-thirds thereof approved the findings of the Senate committee favoring exclusion. The House of Representatives had always been conceded as overwhelmingly for exclusion.

ORIGINAL INTENT NULLIFIED.

Various interests and influences forced certain modifications in the bill which changed the scope of the exclusion measure by (1) retaining in operation the Chinese Exclusion Act and the Barred Zone Act, (2) excepting from provisions of the bill the Filipinos, who are ineligible to citizenship, and (3) throwing the gates wide open to all Mexicans, some millions of whom, as Indians, are also ineligible to citizenship. It was thus made to appear that the Japanese were singled out by a discriminatory piece of legislation, and they have been naturally resentful.

Reasons which were conclusive in 1924 as to adoption of the exclusion measure have since been reinforced by added experience and present conditions. The California Council on Oriental Relations, however, instead of urging a correction of the blunders of 1924 by so modifying the law as to adhere to the non-discriminatory plan of the projectors, demands now that the law be, in effect, repealed by making eligible for entrance as immigrants all those who, under the principle approved, are expressly declared ineligible.

ITS PLAN WOULD DESTROY FOR ALL TIME THE ONLY LOGICAL, NON-DISCRIMINATORY BARRIER THUS FAR SUGGESTED TO PREVENT PEACEFUL INVASION OF UNASSIMILABLE ASIATICS UNDER ANY AND ALL POSSIBLE FUTURE CONDITIONS.

Christmas Trees

MINNA McGARVEY.

In ev'ry clime are Christmas trees. Some decked with drifted snow
And hung with crystal pendants, until each branch bends low;
As frosted plumes they glitter, in beautiful array,
A row of faithful sentries, to greet the Christmas Day.

Beneath the trees the drifting flakes bank high and feather-light,
Above, the skies are leaden, one Star shines all the night;
No ripple of a river, the snow-bird's chirp is shrill,
The lonely trees are silent and keep their vigil, still.

Then out along a western shore, a far-flung sunny land,
Between the blue Sierras and the ocean's silver strand,
The circling breezes wander mid trees in starry bloom
Till all the air is laden with heavenly perfume.

The pepper in its lacy garb, with gems of ruby hue,
The whisp'ring eucalyptus, outlined against the blue,
The flowery acacia, the waving palm spread wide,
Their rustling music mingle with bells at Christmastide.

Some smile beneath an azure sky, some stand where winds blow chill,
God's solace to all mankind, and stationed at His will.
Oh, all the trees are lovely, north, south, or east or west,
Wherever trees are growing, that is a land God-blest.

Native Sons of the Golden West

MODESTO — AN ELABORATE PROgram was presented at the institution anniversary party of Modesto No. 11 November 2. Grand President Seth Millington spoke on "The Aims and Objects of the Order," Grand Secretary John T. Regan on "The Order's Work in Caring for Homeless Children" and Grand Trustee Jesse H. Miller on "Activities of the Parlors." Other speakers were Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, and Charles Swan, George Stoddard, George Nelson and Joe Kelly of No. 11. First Vice-president B. E. Munson presided, and among the 125 in attendance were visitors from Merced, Manteca, Stockton and Los Banos.

During the banquet an orchestra directed by Harold Macomber furnished music. Vocal selections were given by Betty Morris, Rose Hyslop, Dona Smith, Nancy McFee, Kenneth Steiger; violin selections by George Hatfield, Arthur Clinkenbeard, Gus Hewitt; dance numbers by Myrne Hawkins, Robert Robertson, Sam Zeff. The arrangements committee included C. E. Tucker (chairman), Mark Wilson, B. C. Hawkins, Harvey Wright, George Ingle, George Hansen, Arthur Crabb, B. E. Munson, C. C. Eastin, L. E. Bither, Robert Hansen.

Six Initiated.

Redding—McCloud No. 149 and Mount Bally No. 87 (Weaverville) had a joint meeting here November 3. Among the many in attendance were Grand President Seth Millington, Grand Trustees Henry S. Lyons and Horace J. Leavitt, and thirty-five members of Mount Bally. The occasion was the official visit of Grand Trustee Lyons to the two Parlors.

At the conclusion of supper, officers of No. 87 exemplified the ritual, three candidates being presented for each Parlor. Interesting talks were delivered by the grand officers, and Edwin Regan (South San Francisco No. 157) complimented Mount Bally's officers for their ritual work. A return get-together of the Parlors is planned for Weaverville in the near-future.

Notable Historic Site Marked.

San Diego—Murphy Canyon road, which places San Diego Mission on El Camino Real, was dedicated November 5. Albert V. Mayrhofer of San Diego No. 108 presided at the ceremonies, and the speakers included Assemblymen Ed. L. Head and George Bowers, Supervisor Edgar Hastings, George Kerrigan, W. J. Saunders and C. H. Harris.

Commemorating celebration of the first mass in California 330 years ago, a marker was November 12 unveiled at Ballast Point, the site where Father Antonio, a Carmelite priest, first raised the Cross of Christianity. Native Sons were represented by District Deputy Edward H. Dowell and Albert V. Mayrhofer, who delivered addresses. The marker is inscribed:

"This boulder, erected Nov. 12, 1932, by Court San Diego de Alcala No. 1099 of the Catholic Daughters of America to commemorate the first holy mass celebrated in California, Nov. 12, 1602, upon the arrival on this site of Sebastian Vizcaino, who named the port of San Diego in honor of the feast of Senor San Diego de Alcala and who was accompanied by three Carmelite friars, Fray Andres de la Asuncion, Fray Antonio de la Asension and Fray Tomas de Aquino."

Christmas Greeting

"To all Members of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West—Dear Sirs and Brothers: It is only a brief time before the Christmas Season will be on us. Ordinarily a period of happiness and rejoicing, in these times of terrible economic distress Christmas will mean little more than a date on the calendar to many.

"Out here in California, however, even the conditions of the time have fallen with comparative lightness. Although we are feeling the depression with other parts of the country, it is not affecting us as it is other sections. Although we cannot ignore the fact that poverty and distress are in our midst, we can be thankful that the mild and beneficent climate of California prevents the acute suffering of the East. Although labor is not employed to the extent that gives satisfactory living, nevertheless we have the means to carry into another year even though in a lesser degree.

"I want to extend my Christmas Greetings to all members of the Order, and to wish them a happy and successful New Year, hoping that the turning of the page of the calendar will issue in a happier time than the last few years have been.

"I want to thank the brothers for the magnificent courage with which they have maintained the Order during the past year, and I need only look at the roll of membership to know that the spirit of the Forty-niner still exists in his descendants.

"My best greetings are sent to the members of the Order for the Holiday Season, and I cannot restrain from saying that I congratulate them on living in California, with its warmth and sunshine, with many advantages and helpful climate, in these days when the hand of nature has helped us where the hand of man has failed.

"Sincerely and fraternally yours,
"SETH MILLINGTON,
"Grand President N.S.G.W.
"Gridley, November 7, 1932."

School Dedicated.

Redwood City—Under the auspices of Redwood No. 66, the grand officers November 6 dedicated the $66,000 Jefferson school in the presence of a large number of parents and others. John W. Poole, president of the Board of Trustees, presided, and the speakers were Mayor W. J. Dusel, Roy W. Cloud, superintendent San Mateo County schools, Jewett Abbott, Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell and Grand President Seth Millington.

To Assist Santa.

Livermore—Las Positas No. 96 is arranging for its annual Christmas tree, December 19, for Livermore Valley children who might otherwise be overlooked by Santa Claus. The general arrangements committee includes R. J. Rue (chairman), Carl G. Clarke and John Rose, and sub-committee chairmen are J. J. Kelly, H. Wente, J. M. Beazell, Peter Reuss, L. A. Vicar, William Medau and J. M. Baughman.

Grand Trustee Visitor.

Fort Bragg—Alder Glen No. 210 received an official visit October 28 from Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane, who was accompanied by James L. Foley of Twin Peaks No. 214 (San Francisco) and James Bruchner of Santa Rosa No. 28. All gave enjoyable talks. November 4 Grand Trustee McShane officially visited Broderick No. 117 (Point Arena), and a large delegation from Alder Glen attended. Banquets concluded both meetings.

The annual "krazy party" given jointly by Alder Glen and Fort Bragg No. 210 N.D.G.W. netted $50 for the homeless children.

To Establish Museum.

Santa Barbara—Plans for the establishment of a museum of particular interest to students of Santa Barbara County history have been announced by Paul Sweetser, chairman of the history committee of Santa Barbara No. 116. The supervisors have set aside a room for the purpose in the tower of the county court house. Letters, documents, relics and other articles of historical significance will be preserved.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures November 19, 1932:

Parlor	Jan. 1	Nov. 19	Gain	L
Ramona No. 109	1088	1082	..
South San Francisco No. 157	822	811	..
Castro No. 232	700	782	82
Stanford No. 76	614	598	..
Arrowhead No. 110	609	579	..
Stockton No. 7	549	563	14

Piedmont No. 120	523	524	1
Rincon No. 72	448	431	..

Ritual Contests Have Value.

San Rafael—Officers of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 were losers by a narrow margin in a ritual contest with National No. 118 (San Francisco) November 3. The contest was judged by a committee headed by Jas. Stanley of San Francisco Past Presidents Assembly. Following the contest all repaired to the social quarters of National, where refreshments were served and talks on the Order were made by promine members. Tentative arrangements are bei made for a return contest, some time in Feruary, in San Rafael.

All speakers agreed these contests are of i estimable value to the Parlors, both from t standpoint of promoting interest and attendanc and also in maintaining a high standard of r ualistic perfection, thus insuring a proper i pression and appreciation of the beauty of t work and of the aims and purposes of the Orde and in securing the co-operation of the candida in carrying on the work of the Order.

Winter Night Stag.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead No. 110 presented a National Education Week program November 9; Ben Harrison was in charge. The first winter Saturday night stag was held in the Parlor's Crestline clubhouse November 1. A class of candidates were initiated Novemb 16. A large crowd, including members of Lagonia No. 241 N.D.G.W., attended the Thanksgiving party November 23. A turkey dinner w followed by entertainment and dancing. Hen Peake headed the committee in charge.

Pioneers Entertained.

Placerville—Placerville No 9 and Marguerite No 12 N.D.G.W. October 23 had their annual dinner for the Pioneers, forty of whom were present. Presidents Charles Cook and Monica McCusker extended greetings, solos were rendered by Amos Fuller and Nettie Leonardi, and dance numbers were given by Bernice Baumhoff, Colin Clayton and Jamie Ball. Pioneers related their early-day experiences. Ethel Van Vleck was chairman of the dinner and Lilla Zeisz of the decorations.

Grand Trustee Horace J. Leavitt will officially visit Placerville Parlor December 2.

Ready for Official's Visit.

Calistoga—With President Edmund Molinari presiding, Calistoga No 86 had a fine meeting November 7, when elaborate plans were made for the official visit December 5 of Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D Skillin. Among the features will be the initiation of a class of candidates by the Parlor's splendid ritual team. The recent benefit given jointly by No. 86 and Calistoga No. 145 N.D.G.W. netted the goodly sum of $115 for the homeless children.

Thanksgiving Ball.

Bieber—Big Valley No. 211 and Mount Lassen No. 215 N.D.G.W. sponsored a Thanksgiving ball November 24. At midnight a turkey supper was served. The proceeds went to the homeless children fund.

November 10, Mount Lassen had the first of a series of bridge-whist parties to be given through the winter. The committee in charge was Amye Mitchell, Marie Walsh and Nettie McKenzie.

CORNERSTONE LAYING.

The grand officers, headed by Grand President Seth Millington, will lay the cornerstone of the new junior high school at Vallejo, Solano County, Sunday, December 11.

LESS RAIN AND SNOW FORECAST.

California and the Pacific Coast area are due for less rain and snow this winter than was recorded during last winter, according to a forecast issued October 17 by Dr. George F. McEwen, oceanographer, and Dr. A. F. Gorton, meteorologist, of the U. C. Scripps Institution of Oceanography, at La Jolla, San Diego County.

The two predict the precipitation this winter will be from two to three inches greater than the average precipitation for the past sixteen years. The forecast is based on study of surface temperatures of inshore ocean water, of sun spots and of various cycles that apparently indicate the volume of precipitation.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

CHRISTMAS DAY, DECEMBER 25, 1882, came on a Monday. The churches and the communities had their Christmas trees and other festivities on Saturday. With balmy days, an optimistic spirit and everybody employed, the holiday time was of exceptionally good cheer, and citizens of California spent their money freely.

But mild storms passed over the state during the month. One inch of rain fell, making the total for the season 7.15 inches.

Venus crossed the sun December 6, and the transit, which began at 11:40 a.m., was viewed, through smoked glasses, by the state's entire population. The official time, computed by the savants, was nineteen minutes and forty seconds. Venus will not transit again until the year 2004.

V. V. Mann, Democrat, and J. B. Russell, Republican, ran for treasurer of Placer County at the November election, and the result was a tie vote. At a run-off election December 12, Mann won by 218 majority.

Los Angeles City had an election December 4, and Captain Thom was elected mayor, defeating Lieutenant-governor John Mansfield.

Dairymen of the state met at San Francisco December 12 and organized an association to fight the introduction of oleomargarine as a butter substitute. A committee was named to secure legislation tabooing "bull butter" at the 1883 State Legislature.

California produced this year 43,000,000 pounds of wool, valued at $5,000,000.

Napa County produced 2,644,000 gallons of wine during the season. There were sixty-one wine cellars in that county.

The State Viticultural Association was advised that Californians were going into the wine-grape industry so extensively there would soon be an overproduction.

Lumber mills at Truckee, Nevada County, reported a successful season, which ended this month. They had cut 46,000,000 board-feet of lumber and had disposed of over $700,000 worth of the product.

Petaluma, Sonoma County, was now becoming the world's egg basket. To the San Francisco market alone, it was sending weekly 9,000 dozen henfruit.

Dr. E. T. Barnette purchased a ranch near Los Gatos, Santa Clara County, and tunneled into a hill to find a water supply. He struck a deposit of ninety-percent-pure sulphur, worth a fortune.

Gas in Los Angeles City was being supplied at $4 per one thousand feet. The rate is now 75 cents.

Austin Roberts, head of the San Jose, Santa Clara County, gas company, went insane worrying over the illumination of that city with electricity.

Etiwanda, a new mining town at the foot of the Cucamonga Range in San Bernardino County, was the first California South community to be illuminated with electric lights. It had its initial lighting up December 4.

Jose de Maria Amador, a 106-year-old "youngster," took his first ride on a railroad train December 18, going from Watsonville, Santa Cruz County, to Gilroy, Santa Clara County. He was born at San Francisco in 1776.

Henry Yantes, a Negro slave emancipated by his owner in 1847, crossed the plains in 1849 and settled in Sacramento City, where he started a laundry. With his earnings, he purchased the freedom of his wife and three children, held in bondage in Missouri. He died at the Capital City December 1 at the age of 82.

Mrs. E. J. C. Kewen died at San Francisco Christmas Day. She was a daughter of Dr. T. J. White, speaker of the Assembly at the first session of the California Legislature. In 1850 she was wedded to Colonel E. J. C. Kewen of Los Angeles, who at one time owned most of the acreage now occupied by Pasadena.

Ben Levy, who went to Alaska to take possession of that territory for the United States Government and at New Archangel pulled down the flag of Russia and in its stead raised the Stars and Stripes, died at San Francisco December 8.

On Indian Creek, near Happy Camp, Del Norte County, a gold nugget weighing twelve and a half ounces and worth $2,750 was found December 5.

Bread & Taylor, hydraulicing at Smartville, Yuba County, had their sluices robbed the night of December 12 by a gang of Chinamen, who carried away $1,500 worth of gold dust.

At Scott Bar, Nevada County, George W. Smith purchased a building used by Wells-Fargo. He removed the floor, panned the dirt underneath and recovered gold dust worth $600.

During December the United States Mint at San Francisco coined $2,240,000 in twenty-dollar gold pieces and 600,000 silver dollars.

The Berry & Evans warehouse, with 2,000 tons of hay, burned at San Jose, Santa Clara County, December 4, causing a $25,000 loss. Fire in San Leandro, Alameda County, destroyed McDuffie's livery stable; four valuable horses were cremated, and the loss was $10,000. Buildings on the farm of Jos. Sliger, near Gridley Butte County, with eleven horses and quantities of hay and equipment, burned December 20, causing a $25,000 loss.

Fire at Fresno City December 9 destroyed seven buildings, including the post and the Wells-Fargo offices; the loss was $20,000. The warehouse and wine cellar of Draghicervich & Co. at Santa Clara City burned December 18; 40,000 gallons of wine was destroyed, and the loss was $50,000.

At a statewide teachers convention in San Francisco December 28, Governor George C. Stoneman, in the course of an address, advocated free text books for the public schools.

A Modoc County Methodist minister had one of his two horses stolen, and the congregation gathered and prayed for the thief's penitence and the horse's return. While they prayed, the thief returned and stole the other horse.

Alex Girvin and Catherine Daly were married in 1832. At an event in elite social circles, they celebrated at San Francisco December 4 their golden wedding anniversary.

C. A. Harriman and A. J. Chase had a twenty-seven-hour pedestrian match at Nevada City, Nevada County, December 15. The former won, scoring 117¾ miles in twenty-five hours. Harriman then challenged twenty of the city's best sprinters, for a twenty-mile run, each contestant to run a mile. The race was run December 21, and Harriman was victorious, covering the distance in two hours and forty minutes.

The Sacramento Valley Coursing Club had a meet on the plains near the Capital City December 1. Numerous fans and fleet greyhounds assembled, and the hares were plentiful and nimble.

Sierra Valley ranchers December 10 killed a prairie schooner load of jack rabbits and took them to Virginia City, Nevada State, where they sold for a dollar each.

ROMANTIC HISTORY

Buena, the name of which was soon after changed to San Francisco. In honor of Captain Montgomery, the street then running along the water front was thereafter called Montgomery, and the plaza was called Portsmouth to commemorate his ship. From San Francisco Lieutenant Revere carried the American Flag to Sonoma and it there replaced the Bear Flag, being greeted with the loyal cheers of the Bear Flag Party. The Bear Flag, now the State Flag of California, is preserved as an historic emblem.

THE PERIOD OF GOLD DISCOVERY.

There is no more important date in the history of California than January 24, 1848, which marks the discovery of gold by James W. Marshall, an event which set the whole civilized world on fire with excitement. Marshall was employed by General John A. Sutter, of Sutter's Fort, at Sacramento, to erect a sawmill on the South Fork of the American River near what is now Coloma. The millrace had been built and the water turned in to carry the loose dirt away and the water then shut off, leaving the bedrock exposed. As Marshall walked along the millrace in the morning, he noticed some bright golden particles lying upon the rock. As he picked them up, his heart leaped with excitement at the thought that they might be gold. That they were gold was quickly verified.

To every farm, mill, workshop and city of America, to every region of the whole world, the news of the discovery of gold in California spread. The Argonauts came by land and sea, and over desert and mountain. No such days as these were ever known before, nor shall the like of them be known again. Gold had been discovered near the mission of San Fernando as early as 1843, but the placers from which the gold came were not extensively worked and news of the discovery did not spread.

In the "days of '49" the brave, the dauntless, the men of great hope and vision, with strong arm and clear head, relying upon individual exertion and native ability to conquer all hardships and dangers and build a nation, came here from every land. And side by side with the men of those days stood the Pioneer Mother, facing the perils of the forest, the heat of the desert, the snows of the mountain, and the untold perils and tribulations by land and sea. Truly may it be said, "God sifted a whole nation to send seed over here into the wilderness."

AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

It is said that California has twenty million acres of irrigable land. In early days much of her area was made up of vast ranches, over which immense herds and droves of cattle and sheep ranged. With the coming of the American, the plow was set to the broad fields of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys and thousands of acres of wheat and barley ripened and made the plains golden in the summertime. These crops were, however, uncertain, depending upon the fall of rain in the wet season. No other state, however, had as great an available supply of water for irrigation purposes as had California. It needed but to be stored in the mountains and the supply drawn upon as required, both for irrigation and electric power purposes. The engineering skill of America was called into action, vast storage reservoirs were built, and immense irrigation systems constructed. At the touch of living water, deserts blossomed.

Valleys, once deserts, now smile with untold wealth. The orange groves of the South and North, the splendid orchards of all our valleys, the broad fields of alfalfa, the dairy farms on every hand, have sprung into being within the last few years from the life-giving waters of our mountains, and not millions, but hundreds of millions of dollars have been poured into the channels of trade from the farms of California. Power enough to turn all the wheels of the myriad industries of the nation are stored in the snows and waters of the Sierra, and $1,800,000,000 in gold has come from our mines. California's oil fields add $275,000,000 annually to the wealth of the nation.

Truly should the citizens of California be proud of their splendid heritage.

"Never Lose Sight of the Pedestrian's Right" is the December slogan of the California Public Safety Committee in its campaign to lessen the constantly increasing auto death-toll.

HELP FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS
BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

(KENDALL EMERSON, M.D., Managing Director, National Tuberculosis Association.)

THE APPEARANCE OF THE CHEERY little Christmas seals on Thanksgiving Day marked the beginning of the second quarter-century of the organized fight against tuberculosis in the United States. The design this year shows a little boy and girl, dressed in the costume of the Middle Ages, standing in the snow and lustily singing a carol in the warm red glow of a nearby window.

It is expected that during the campaign many persons will ask, "What are they singing?" The answer may very well be, "A hymn of thanks for the protection Christmas seals have given in the past, and a plea for the continuance of that protection." The picture is especially appropriate because a large proportion of the funds raised by the sale of these seals is used by tuberculosis associations throughout the United States for discovering the disease among children and guarding them from it.

Why do children need such protection, and how is it accomplished? It is a surprise to most people to learn that tuberculosis is one of the greatest causes of death among infants under one year of age, and that many children are so seriously infected they break down with the active disease during the "teen" age.

It took thousands of tests and reports to develop the safeguards that now ward off this insidious disease from children. One doctor supervised the X-raying of thousands upon thousands of children and spent many years analyzing the carefully-kept photos and records of each case. Other physicians made test after test upon children with a substance called tuberculin, which reveals years before the active disease flares up whether tubercle bacilli exist in a child's body. In such cases preventive treatment can be undertaken immediately. Careful observations have shown the effect of sunlight, diet and sleep on the growing child and their effect upon the treatment of tuberculosis.

The research committee of the National Tuberculosis Association searches tirelessly for a cure for the disease, as well as making intensive efforts to improve existing means of discovery and treatment. The outstanding feat of this group to date has been the development of a new pure tuberculin, which assures greatly increased accuracy in testing children for infection. This committee also has devoted itself to the improvement of X-ray technique and X-ray materials, and noteworthy progress and contributions to this science have been made both in the methods of taking the photographs and in the materials used in their manufacture.

And so, bit by bit, our modern knowledge about tuberculosis has been pieced together. Those facts, as they concern children, are as follows:

The majority of the entire population of the United States have tubercle bacilli in their bodies, even though all do not break down with the disease. These bacilli may invade the body during childhood and even infancy. The tuberculin test will show whether or not a child has been infected with the bacilli.

A child who has the bacilli in his body may have a condition known as the "childhood type of tuberculosis," which is often shown by the X-ray as darker shadows in the glands between the lungs, or in the lungs themselves. This, of course, is not the active disease, but it is a warning that the "seeds" of the disease are present and that the child is in danger of breaking down with active tuberculosis if his health is not carefully watched.

To keep children healthy, they should not be permitted to come into contact with a person who has tuberculosis. They should at all times be given proper amounts of sleep, day-time rest periods, good food, and play in sunshine and fresh air.

These facts point the way for the work and programs of many tuberculosis associations. Some provide free tuberculin tests, and X-rays if needed, for all schoolchildren. Others maintain a preventorium to which children who have the childhood type of tuberculosis may be sent free for treatment. Still other associations maintain free summer camps to which children who are underweight and generally under par are sent to be built up physically and thus aided to fight off tuberculosis.

So it is that the design of the little Christmas seal is appropriate. The singing children are both hymning their thanks and making a plea. And that plea is directed at you, because it is you who buy and use Christmas seals and thus make it possible to protect all children from tuberculosis—the disease that kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease. Be a liberal purchaser of 1932 Christmas seals.

SERVICE

(EDGAR A. GUEST.)

I have no wealth of gold to give away,
But I can pledge to worthy causes these:
I'll give my strength, my days and hours of ease,
My finest thought and courage when I may,
And take some deed accomplished for my pay.
I cannot offer much in silver fees,
But I can serve when richer people pay,
And with my presence fill some vacancies.
There are some things beyond the gift of gold,
Some joys life needs which are not bought or sold,
A richer treasure's needed now and then;
The high occasion often calls for men.
Some for release from service give their pelf,
But he gives most who freely gives himself.

"Happiness grows at our own firesides, and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens."—Gerrold.

(HISTORIOGRAPHER N.S.G.W.)

"MARK OUR LANDMARKS"

"MARK OUR LANDMARKS"

FORGOTTEN GRAVE

IN MAY OF 1933 THE GRAND PARLOR OF the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West will convene at Grass Valley, Nevada County. There the delegates will participate in the usual light deliberations of a Grand Parlor and spend considerable of their time in play and fraternization, a worthy object of every gathering where men commingle for a few days each year and leave behind them their business and, perhaps, their domestic, cares.

But when they convene in the old California mining town of Grass Valley, on every side will be the footprints of the '49ers. There is scarcely a section of California more replete with the romance, the chivalry and the history of the days agone than this present California town, situated midway between the high Sierra and the lowly Valley of the Sacramento.

Your historian has called attention in the past, and will continue to call attention in the future, to the almost absolute neglect of Native Sons to perpetuate and glorify the days of the pioneer either with monument or with ceremony. Too busy are we in following the paths designated by those who never found in their breasts the real purpose of our Order. May your historian call to your attention another glaring dereliction of duty, and trust as he calls it to your attention that the same will be rectified before the year of 1933 has waned.

In a half-abandoned cemetery just outside of Grass Valley is the grave of John Rollin Ridge, a remarkable man, half Cherokee Indian, whose writings of a half-century ago showed the spark and fire of genius. Ridge came to California when the state was young. He arrived in 1850, at the age of 23, and immediately his pen flowed with poetry and prose, and he became one of the foremost literary lights in California. He stayed here and there as an editor, started a number of newspapers on the Pacific Coast and delved into politics. It is not his pioneer activity which the writer desires to dwell upon, but rather the genius of a man forgotten. He published a book called "John R. Ridge's Poems," and prose which he wrote still stands out as perhaps the best treatise on the days between Ridge wrote a biography of Joaquin Murieta, the bandit. Space does not permit the tracing of his lineage from a full blooded Indian princess and a Puritan mother to his final resting place in Grass Valley.

A year ago the writer visited the old cemetery with Raymond Clinch of Quartz Parlor No. 55 and in an area of perhaps two or three hundred square feet Clinch pointed rather vaguely thereabouts and said, "Somewhere in that spot is Ridge's grave. There is only one woman who can definitely point it out, and she is well past eighty." Therefore, is it not time that we should arise to our fraternal destiny and resurrect him, and dozens of other characters and spots, from the oblivion in which the drifting years relegate them?

Should the man who wrote the following words be forgotten and unnamed among the Pioneers whose names and deeds we should revere? Has anything finer been written of Mount Shasta, our natural, beautiful landmark, than that which Ridge, with his prophetic vision, in about 1856 wrote of that northern landmark. His peroration to Mount Shasta is regarded by many as his masterpiece. This is but a snatch of the poem, but it gives a splendid idea of the magic in his pen and the poetry in his soul:

"And well I ween in after years how,
In the middle of his furrowed track the plowman,
In some sultry hour, will pause and, wiping
From his brow the dusty sweat, with reverence
Gaze upon that hoary peak. The herdsman
Oft will rein his charger in the plain and drink
Into his inmost soul the calm sublimity;
And little children, playing on the green, shall Cease their sport, and, turning to that mountain
Old, shall of their mother ask: 'Who made it?'
And she shall answer—'God!'"

In Memoriam

WILLIAM J. HAYES, P.G.P.

"Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has recently seen fit to take from our midst an honored and loyal member of the Order of the Native Sons of the Golden West and an honored and respected Past Grand President of the Order, in the passing of William J. Hayes; and whereas, all members of our Order deeply appreciate the loss we have sustained in losing such a tireless worker and such an honored member of our Order; yet, whereas, we bow to the will of the Supreme Power in His omnipotent wisdom in His taking our brother to the great undiscovered country where he may still be of greater service than to us; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Extension of the Order Committee of the Native Sons of the Golden West hereby extends to the family of our late brother, William J. Hayes, our deepest sincere sympathy in the loss of a devoted husband and worthy father, and be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Extension of the Order Committee of the N.S.G.W., that a copy be sent to the family of our late departed brother, and that a copy also be sent to The Grizzly Bear Publishing Company, to be printed in The Grizzly Bear Magazine.

Committee.

Oakland, November 7, 1932.

MARTHA J. O'BRIEN.

To the Officers and Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W.: We your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our departed sister, Martha J. O'Brien, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, After a life of devotion to her five sons and many friends our Heavenly Father has seen fit to call our beloved sister, Martha J. O'Brien home, to enjoy the eternal reward she so richly deserves and whereas Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W. has suffered the great loss of a true and loyal member, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting her removal from our midst we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our respect, and that we extend the hand of sympathy to the bereaved family in this their hour of trial; be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our departed sister, that a copy be spread in full upon the minutes of this Parlor, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

SATURDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 3, THE southland Parlors of Native Sons will initiate a class of candidates in honor of Grand President Seth Millington, the ceremonies to be held at Elks Temple, 607 South Park View. The ritual will be exemplified by the following: Charles E. Young (Ramona No. 109), senior past; Judge Leo Aggeler (Hollywood No. 196), junior past; Orrin G. Welch (Santa Monica Bay No. 267), president; Patrick Doran (Sepulveda No. 263), first vice; Roger M. Johnson (Los Angeles No. 45), second vice; John B. Martin Jr. (Sepulveda No. 263), third vice; Henry V. Harris (Ramona No. 109), marshal; Clinton E. Skinner (Glendale No. 264), inside sentinel; William Quast (University No. 272), outside sentinel; Grand Organist Leslie Maloche (Arrowhead No. 110), organist.

Arrangements for the initiation have been under way since August 15, when a joint committee, with Bernard G. Hiss as chairman, was organized to conduct a membership campaign. To assist the Parlors, Grand President Millington appointed Clinton E. Skinner as fieldman. As a result of the campaign, University Parlor No. 272 has been instituted, another parlor is in prospect for Compton, and a large number of candidates will, it is promised, be presented for initiation by all the southland Parlors December 3. Following the initiatory ceremonies, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer will welcome the grand officers, many of whom are expected to be in attendance, and will introduce Grand President Millington, who will address the assemblage.

Preceding the initiatory ceremonies will be a 6:30 supper at Elks Temple, to which all Native Daughters and Native Sons, together with their escorts, are invited. Tickets, at one dollar per plate, may be secured from the secretary of any Parlor. While the Sons are in secret session for the initiation the womenfolks will be entertained at cards. Grand President Millington arrived November 28, and that evening paid a visit to Santa Ana Parlor No. 265. The 29th he visited University Parlor No. 272, and the 30th, Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 at San Bernardino. December 1 he will visit Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, and December 2, Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 at San Pedro. "There is no substitute for membership!" Remember that, and have your candidates ready for initiation December 3.—C.M.H.

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Glendale—A most delightful affair, largely attended by Native Daughters and Native Sons from Santa Barbara to San Diego as well as numerous other admiring friends, was the reception sponsored by Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. in honor of Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel Bruschi-Hansen, a past president of the Parlor, November 15. President Betty Sanders presided, and in the receiving line were the following past presidents and officers of Verdugo: Ida N. Gilman, Clytell Hewitt, Doria Phillips, Ella Mae Madden, Beulah VanLeuven, Kathryn Burke, Vera Carlson, Sarah Burleson, Margaret Donlon, Ruby Eubank, Etta Fulkerth, Ada Steele, Myrtize Tregea, Bernice Binkerdyke, Edith Dobson, Gussie Anderson, Nan Hutcheson, Mayme Kerrie, Dorothy Ravin.

Among the guests were the following Native Daughters: Founder Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustee Jane Vick, Deputy Grand Presidents Nettie Edwards, Nellie Cline, Lucretia Coates, Gertrude Allen, Marion Crum, Mary Noerenberg. And these Native Sons: Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Deputy Grand President Clinton E. Skinner, District Deputies Walter Hiskey, Raymond Marsile, Walter Baskerville.

MRS. HAZEL B. HANSEN.

Mrs. Hansen was showered with beautiful floral remembrances; Mitzi Chandler, accompanied by May Jordan Arbenz, entertained with dance numbers, and dainty refreshments were served. Dancing was the evening's diversion. Sarah Burleson was program chairman; Ruby Eubank, Myrtize Tregea and Ada Steele looked after the decorations and the refreshments, and Vera Carlson, Nan Hutcheson and Ione Gillette had charge of the music.

EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAM.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., assisted by Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W., featured a National Education Week program November 9. Some two hundred were in attendance. President Orrin G. Welch called the assemblage to order and introduced as chairman of the evening Past President Harold Barden.

bichi on "Early Schools of Los Angeles," Miss Mary Foye on "Present Day Method of Teaching," Dr. O. R. Hull, professor of education U.S.C., on "Constitutions," and Geoffrey Morgan on "The Community Chest." Entertainment was furnished by a ukelele band of ten small boys, and Clayton Brendt, accompanied by Elizabeth Marles, rendered vocal selections. The arrangements committee included Harold Barden (chairman), J. Howard Blanchard and Dyke C. Freeman, all senior past presidents of No. 267.

PROMOTING CLUBHOUSE.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. initiated five candidates November 2. Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen was a visitor. A donation was ordered sent the Grand Parlor Veteran Welfare Committee, and Chairman Dolores Malin gave a splendid report for the Parlor's history and landmarks committee. The November 9 card party under the direction of Mrs. Effie Walters was a complete success and delicious refreshments were served. The pot-luck dinner November 16 was greatly enjoyed. Secretary Mary K. Corcoran remembered the November "birthdayites" with a decorated tower cake and Miss Kathryn Ronan sent a box of Death Valley dates. At the meeting following the dinner Mrs. Annie L. Adair gave a fine talk on the homeless children work, and a donation of $15 was sent the local joint committee. The Parlor sewing club spent a pleasant afternoon November 19 at the home of Mrs. Lucy and Miss Dolores Malin. Thanksgiving baskets were distributed to several needy families.

Los Angeles' December calendar includes: 7th, initiation and shower of groceries for Christmas baskets; 14th, monthly card party, Miss Leonie Clos chairman; 21st, Christmas party for members, Mrs. Gertrude Allen in charge. President Mattie Labory-Gara is promoting a clubhouse for the Parlor and is meeting with much encouragement.

FORTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. had an oldtimers night November 3 and there was a large attendance. With George Perdue presiding, the following past presidents filled the several stations: Howard Bentley, Ray LeMoine, Andrew Stodel, Victor Kremer, Mark Hopkins, Al Cron, Earl LeMoine, Richard Fryer, Al Metz, John T. Newell, Walter Fisher and Sid Witkowski. There was a lot of fun, which enriched the charity box, and heart-reaching talks by Henry Brodek, Past Grand John Newell and George Perdue. "Outside" speakers were Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, District Deputy Walter Baskerville, President Bernard Hiss of University No. 272 and Deputy Grand President Clinton Skinner.

November 17, the Parlor observed its forty-eighth institution anniversary at a family gathering which opened with an excellent home-cooked supper. Vocal selections were rendered by Sybilla Moore, Jack Lewis and Mabel Straube, and music for dancing was furnished by Roger Johnson, Jack Lewis and Charles Straube. Sid Witkowski was in charge, and among his assistants were President Owen Adams, Walter Fisher, Mike Botello, Al Cron, Al Metz and Howard Bentley.

Los Angeles' main December event will be a Christmas tree party, December 22, to which the children of the members are especially invited. Santa Claus will be there, and from a gayly-decorated tree will distribute presents and goodies to all the kiddies. First Vice-president Leslie Packard heads the arrangements committee. Earl LeMoine is still very active with his illustrated California talks; November 18 he addressed Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 (San Pedro). The past presidents of the Parlor have organized a proficient ritual team and will gladly respond to a call from any Parlor.

BUSY SEWING.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. had a card party November 3 with Lois McDougall as chairman. The thimble club, Lucretia Coates chairman, had an all-day meeting at the home of Secretary Bertha Hitt November 10 and finished blocks for a quilt. Gertrude Riddle, social chairman, called a special sewing session November 10 and considerable

GRASS VALLEY—THE THIRD ANNUAL celebration of Gold Discovery Day drew a large crowd to the quartz-gold marker site on Gold Hill October 30. E. K. Smart presided, and greetings were extended by President Bernice Deward of Manzanita No. 29. The principal speaker, Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan, chairman Grand Parlor History Committee, classed George Knight, reputed discoverer of gold quartz in California, as among the small group of men and women who contributed great things to the fame and the wealth of the state.

Past Grand Alison F. Watt's address overflowed with highlights of local history, and Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron paid tribute to the California Pioneers. Barbara Foote gave a poetic reading, Mrs. L. Talbot gave a vocal solo and a band led by Harold George rendered several selections.

Marked Enthusiasm.

Saint Helena—La Junta No. 203 looks forward eagerly to the annual official visit of the grand president, but this year the enthusiasm was even more marked than usual, for the reason that Mrs. Anna Mixon Armstrong was born and spent most of her youth in this city. She was the guest of La Junta October 18. The festivities started with a delicious turkey dinner. The table decorations were in autumn style, with huge palm branches forming arches over the tables, and autumn leaves and fruits being artistically arranged thereon. At the Parlor meeting delegations were present from Calistoga, Napa, Vallejo, Woodland and Golden Gate, and guests included Supervising Deputy Wilma Mitchell and Deputies Sadie Brooks, Emma McGlumphy and Elvina Woodard. Mrs. Doris Filtz presided, and one candidate was initiated.

Mrs. Armstrong gave a splendid address, expressing joy at visiting her hometown and meeting old friends, and outlining the projects of the Order. Mms. F. Waldeck and M. Alexander sang "California Lullaby," and on the Parlor's behalf Marshal Emma Navone presented the Grand President with a set of silver spoons concealed in an old-fashion boquet of flowers. Then, as a pleasant surprise, came a huge basket of flowers from Saint Helena No. 53 N.S.G.W. Each deputy grand president was presented with a block print of the historic Bale mill. The evening, one of the most enjoyable ever held by La Junta, will long be remembered. A splendid fraternal feeling prevailed. The committee arranging the details included Mms. Murial Vasconi, Agnes Street, Lois Gifford, Mildred Griffeth, Elmina Bafigo, Effie Baber; Misses Regina Ghirenghelli, Gretchen Graff, Zulletta Bellani.

Christmas Greeting

"Christmas! When all the world celebrates; when family ties are strengthened and more firmly welded; when fraternal love glows brighter; when compassion and helpfulness for the unfortunate become more acutely expressive; when all mankind feels the urge for mutual comradeship; the season when we really take stock of our finer human qualities.

"That gladsome day will soon be with us. Let each Native Daughter find a means of full expression of all those sentiments which tend to brighten the lives of relative, of friend and of neighbor. By a full exercise of such a sentiment our own lives will reflect in greater peace and happiness.

"At this season I wish to express my deepest appreciation to every Native Daughter in making my term of office thus far the great pleasure it has been to me.

"I wish every Parlor would have a 'Christmas Party' and that from it will grow deeper, purer love and esteem between individuals as well as greater consecration to the principles of our Order. Then will we have a miracle of true consciousness that cannot be surpassed.

"I wish each and every one of you a very, very, Happy Christmas, and express a hope that your dearest wishes may be fully realized.

"May God's blessing rest upon all of us this Christmas Season. Sincerely and fraternally yours in P.D.F.A.,

"ANNA MIXON ARMSTRONG,
"Grand President N.D.G.W.

Pioneers Given Flags.

San Bernardino—October 22 Mms. Thelma Nett, Evelyn Shaddox and Marjorie Beck, and Misses Eva Bemis and Marguerite McKenzie were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for President Nola Fogler-Noyes at the home of Miss Bemis in Rialto. Many lovely articles were presented the bride for her home. The miniature carnival October 26 was a success. An orchestra of stringed instruments played by children made quite a sensation.

At appropriate ceremonies November 5 the Parlor presented the San Bernardino Pioneer Society with United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags. Katherine McIntosh presided, Lois A. Johnson sang "I Love You, California," Gladys Baker gave the benediction and President Noyes made the presentation address, to which Vice-president Matt Eaton of the Pioneers responded. November 9 National Educational Week was observed, with First Vice-president Mary Johnson in charge. City Nurse Dorothea K. Stewart commended the Parlor for its interest in supplying milk to tubercular children and for co-operating with her in her undertakings.

Outstanding Musical Event.

Salinas—Aleli No. 102 and Santa Lucia No. 97 N.S.G.W. presented Frances Nason Leidig, dramatic soprano, in a concert program for the benefit of the homeless children in the Civic Club Auditorium. The affair was an outstanding musical event in the history of the town, and the local Parlors were highly commended for their sponsorship. Frances Nason Leidig is a descendant of early Spanish California and has grown up in the atmosphere of Spanish music, of which she is a notable interpreter.

Christmas Gift Suggestion—Give a year's subscription to The Grizzly Bear, the only ALL California publication. Costs but $1.50.

Silver Anniversary.

Alameda—Encinal No. 156 celebrated its silver institution anniversary October 26. The tables were beautifully decorated in pastel shades, with sprays of silver leaves and autumn flowers. Hand-painted placecards, banded in silver, were presented the guests of honor, and the favors were tulip-shaped baskets mounted upon silver leaves. Charter President Irene Rose was the toastmistress, and at the speakers' table were President Mary Orchison, President Perry Badgley of Alameda No. 47 N.S.G.W., Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Past Grand Addie L. Mosher, Grand Marshal W. B. O'Brien of the Native Sons and Mrs. O'Brien, Lola Horgan, A. V. Fisher, Dice Peterson, Deputy Catherine Waldie. Charter members in attendance included Laura E. Fisher, Loretta DuFosse, Sarah Hulse, Dora McMaster, Reta Roberts, Alice Brown.

The drill team of Encinal presented a skit, "The Old Fashioned Girl and the Girl of Today," the participants being Mary Orchison, Fanny Holod, Margaret Larabee, Marguerite Davies, Elvira Davies, Muriel Jarratt, Elsie Flogel, Virginia Davies, Lou Flogel, Ursula Klauman. Captain Soila Harmola was the director. Musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. Geo. Hagy, W. B. O'Brien and Lola Horgan.

Silver gifts were presented Miss Irene Rose, Mrs. Laura E. Fisher and Miss Lorretta DuFosse, who have held office continuously since the institution of the Parlor in 1907. Dancing concluded a most enjoyable occasion. The committee in charge included Irene Rose (chairwoman), Laura Fisher, Loretta DuFosse, Barbara Rose, Fanny Holod, Evans Dunleavy, Elvira Davies, Myrtle Wilson, Emily Jack, Alice Matter, Gertrude Connor, Agnes Reid, Soila Harmola, May Lundstead, Muriel Jarratt.

Grand President's Official Itinerary.

Woodland—During the month of December, Grand President Anna Mixon-Armstrong will officially visit the following Subordinate Parlors on the dates noted:

1st—San Jose No. 81, San Jose.
6th—Ursula No. 1, Jackson.
7th—Forrest No. 86, Plymouth.
8th—Amapola No. 80, Sutter Creek.
9th—Chispa No. 40, Ione.
12th—Menlo No. 211, Menlo Park.
13th—Alta No. 3, San Francisco.
14th—Placer No. 138, Lincoln.

Bicentennial Program.

Oroville—Gold of Ophir No. 190 had a program in observance of the George Washington Bicentennial November 2. A living picture portraying A. M. Willard's "Spirit of '76" was presented by Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, Grand Trustee Florence Boyle and Mrs. Romilda Ralph. Talks on "George Washington" and "Betsy Ross" were given, respectively, by Mrs. Alta B. Baldwin and Miss Irene Lund, both in colonial costumes. Accompanied by Mrs. Claire McKinsey, Mrs. Ralph sang "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Students of the Bird-street school were enlightened on California and Butte County history when Grand Trustee Boyle addressed them. October 28, 259 of the pupils visited the Natives' relics building and were told the stories connected with the various articles on exhibition.

Carnival Dance Nets Neat Sum.

Cambria—A committee of El Pinal No. 163 comprising Katheryn Luchessa, Myrtle Warren, Ethel Mathison and Irma Thorndyke entertained at a Hallowe'en costume party. The decorations, in keeping with the "spook" season, presented a colorful scene. After hours of merriment a grand march was held and costume awards were made to Mms. Maud Ioppini, L. Gamboni, Verna Soto, Katie Van Gorden, Porte, Anabel Kester and Maud Thorndyke. Mrs. F. Lowell, Mrs. Geo. Soto and Alta Thorndyke were the judges.

The Parlor gave a carnival dance November 5. A large crowd attended and a neat sum was realized. A pedro party was sponsored November 8 and ten tables were in operation. The proceeds helped to replenish El Pinal's treasury.

Message an Inspiration.

Calistoga—Calistoga No. 145 had a very large attendance October 24, the occasion being the official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong. Other guests were from La Junta, Clear Lake, Woodland, Bahia Vista and Califia Parlors. A turkey dinner, served at tables decorated with autumn leaves and baskets of fruit, preceded the meeting. As the Parlor officers entered the lodgeroom each was presented by President Bretta Lundell with a corsage, as were also the five candidates initiated by a splendid corps of officers.

The Grand President's message, dealing with the Order's projects, was an inspiration, without service and love these projects could not go on, she said, and she stressed the needs of the homeless children. Gifts were presented Mrs. Armstrong, Supervising Deputy Wilma Mitchell, Deputy Sadie Brooks and President Lundell, the presentation addresses being made by Past President Bernice Martin and Marshal Audriena Lercari. A drill was executed, and Edith Cavagnaro was complimented on the team's finished work. During the evening Irma Howard favored with vocal selections.

Living Poppy Graces Float.

Fullerton—In the Orange County Armistice Day parade, Grace No. 242 entered a beautiful float which was awarded first prize. Hundreds of California poppies and garlands of smilax decorated the car, and the grizzly bear, carrying the United States of America and the California (State) Bear Flags, was a prominent feature. Dainty little Viola Watts, attired in yellow silk and holding a yellow parasol, was a living poppy. Lena Aspden, president of the Parlor, and Christine McFarland, committee chairman, rode in the car.

Grace celebrated family night November 17 when, under the direction of Past President Helen Anderson, dinner was served the members and their families. Deputy Mary Noerenberg and Florence Dodson Schoneman were guests of honor. Cards and a social time followed the feast. The homeless children sewing circle of the Parlor had an all-day meeting, with pot-luck luncheon, at the home of Secretary Mary Rothaermel November 29.

Drill Team Makes Big Hit.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 222 had a most enjoyable social evening October 18. The younger members danced, and the older ones played cards. Delicious homemade refreshments were served. With President Pearl Lopus presiding, three candidates were initiated November 1. Plans were perfected for a November 5 public food sale, which realized a goodly sum, and several card parties.

The drill team participated in the Sonoma County Armistice Day celebration at Healdsburg and, as usual, made a big hit. November 14 a large delegation of Petaluma's members went to Sausalito to attend the official visit of Grand President Armstrong to Sea Point No. 196. Edna Mead was chairman of a turkey whist November 15. A large crowd contributed to the big success.

NATIVE DAUGHTER ACTIVITIES.

Placerville—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong paid her official visit to Marguerite No. 12 November 2. More than one hundred were in attendance, including Grand Marshal Gladys Noce, Grand Trustee Edna Briggs, Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron and representatives of twelve Parlors. On the Parlor's behalf Lilla Zeiz presented a gift to Mrs. Armstrong who, in responding, spoke briefly of the Order's projects. Eight candidates were initiated and a short program followed the ceremonies.

Santa Cruz—Santa Cruz No. 26 had a supper October 31 honoring members whose birthdays occurred in September and October. A realistic ghost greeted members on their arrival at the darkened hall entrance, and the Hallowe'en motif was used in the table decorations. Helen Miller, accompanied by Pearl Reid, sang "The Goblins." The Parlor meeting was held in the

ISOLATED SURVIVORS INDICATE STATE'S FOREST AREAS DECREASING IN SIZ

In the days of '49, when the mud flats of Sa Francisco Bay extended to Montgomery stree and Los Angeles was a pueblo, the pine forest of the Sierra Nevada and the douglas fir forest of the Coast Range clothed the mountains an foothills in a much wider belt than they do t day, according to A. E. Wieslander of the Cal fornia forest experiment station of the Unite States Forest Service. Logging, grazing an particularly forest fires are the chief factor which have converted the old commercial forest to what are now comparatively worthless lan and have created a land management proble of large proportions in California.

In El Dorado County alone, the ponderos pine forests have retreated ten miles up th mountain slopes, leaving a strip of 162,000 acre entirely deforested and an even larger are thinly stocked with second-growth trees. Th land, capable of producing a forest stand 37,000 board-feet of lumber per acre, is no mostly covered with half-scrub woodland, worth less for timber and too dense or too brushy fo good grazing.

Isolated survivors of the original forest, sca tered groups of second growth and such name as Sawmill Flat, Sawmill Creek and Shingl Springs, occurring in what are now treeles areas, indicate that they were once in foreste territory. This theory is confirmed by old re ords which prove that from 1850 to 1870 man sawmills supplied lumber to the placer mines i the central Sierra region.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS! SANTA'S drama of dolls and toys is in progress, and gift-shopping has begun in earnest! Shops are gloriously ready and overflowing with every conceivable type of gift, and the greatly lowered prices that prevail on all Christmas merchandise offer an added incentive to more buying. The Yuletide spirit is manifesting itself in a myriad of ways.

Dolls, no less than toys, each year grow more lifelike and take on more of the human qualities. Educational and instructive toys are those known as developmental toys—those that increase the child's physical or mental skill or knowledge. There is a growing tendency, too, for toys exactly timed to the child's age and stage of development, and a goodly number of interesting games for both old and young provide diverting home entertainment.

Music in the home is a major consideration at holiday time. Discriminating giftseekers will find radios of every style and size, including excellent little models that require a small investment; sideshows, with professional entertainers 'n everything hold youthful audiences spellbound. A "calico circus" is the theme which one of the large toy shops features. A tent provides the circus atmosphere, the comical clown dispenses fun aplenty, and the kiddies are further delighted by the antics of the human pony.

Christmas linens solve countless gift problems quickly and happily for those who would choose something practical and decorative. Never have prices on quality linens been so low, from the most elaborate hand-embroidered and hand-drawn banquet sets to the simple hand-embroidered guest towels. And the linens, whether for table, bedroom or bathroom, were never lovelier, never more appropriate for their individual uses, or more suited to the individual type of home. They reflect the tempo of our lives, and harmonize with all the other smart furnishings.

Collections of fine china, exquisite glassware, sterling silver and lifetime plate offer suggestions without end for gifts both useful and good to look on. In the limitless assortments from which to choose are many that have come from lands across the sea, and many more from American marts—all bespeaking the faith and the confidence of the time-honored tradition of Christmas and the perpetuation of the Yuletide spirit in heart and home.

With the calendar already crowded with coming events, the problem of a formal wardrobe is one that demands immediate attention. The new elegance is achieved by means of luxurious fabrics and much elaboration of detail. The feminine form is glorified anew, and not in many years have styles offered such opportunities for expressing good taste. Fabrics of rough surface have had considerable success. The new pebble-weave satin seems likely to be popular during the winter season. The need for an attractive business dress is one which offers a problem—it must be neat and simple, yet possess a chic smartness.

With such a wide range of coat fashions to choose from, and all at reasonable prices, there are, of course, some very luxurious models. But for a coat that must do duty for more than one season, it is wise to select a simpler style and one not markedly ultra.

Elegance and individuality distinguish themselves in a variety of original ways that are nothing, if not "different" from the coats of other years. They are chiefly remarkable for slimness of lines. Collar, sleeve and shoulder details are increasingly important. Waistlines are moulded. Closings are definitely to the side, with buttons or adjustable ties placed slightly higher than last year.

Fine furs are lavishly applied in all manner of standing, convertible, swirling and shawl collars, not to mention all-fur or fur-trimmed capes and capelets. Speaking of fur, circular separate collars of mink or ermine are the final word in chic. They give a smartness and sophistication to the simplest wool or silk frock, or they may be worn with untrimmed coats.

The autumn and winter gloves are something to conjure with. They are so cleverly keyed to the varied wardrobe requirements that there is a different glove for every costume. They run the gamut from sports to formal evening types, and emphasize glace kidskin, suede, pigskin, the new velvets and various other kinds and fabrics. Pigskin is the very smartest glove one can wear with suits, woolen dresses, tailored or sports costumes, and shirred velvet is the high novelty for evening.

Color combinations are an important factor this season. All-black or all-brown costumes are worn with light-colored furs, hat and gloves. There are, in general, two types of color plans: one, a repetition of double colors, such as tweed coat in multicolor, with hat, gloves and bag which repeat two or three of the tweed colors; or, solid-color dress, coat or suit, with contrasting accents in shoes, hat and bag. Brilliant velvets and satins are the favorites, and shining bright-colored fabrics are the evening vogue.

Cire satins, and silk weaves that have a touch of gold thread here and there in their textures are great favorites. The gowns are simply made, to allow the brilliance of the fabric full play under artificial lights. They are worn with glittering jewels, and if flowers are permitted they are those with waxy, shiny leaves.

Evening clothes, like the occasions they grace, must be brilliant. Somber colors and dull fabrics by day, but night lights must shine on bright hues and vivid materials.

So far, this is a red winter. Bright reds, lodgeroom, beautified with baskets of autumn flowers. Two candidates were initiated. Supervising Deputy Rose Rhyner and a delegation from Aleli No. 102 (Salinas) were guests. A feature was an account of her recent visit to Europe by Past Grand Stella Finkenbey. The lodgeroom was decorated by Myrtle Richey, Marjorie Dellamonica and Mary Gregory, while those in charge of the supper and table decorations were Pearl Reid, Elsie Sayre, Grace Reynolds, Florence McCormick, Mamie Cavanagh and Alberta McCormick.

Richmond November 1, Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong paid her official visit to Richmond No. 147. Other guests were Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Past Grand President Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, Deputy Rosaline Correa and delegations from Fruitvale, Argonaut, Piedmont, Berkeley, Carquinez, San Diego, Woodland and Aloha Parlors. Three candidates were initiated, among them Mrs. Harriet Diercks and Miss Maud E. Muller, respectively the mother and the daughters of Mrs. Mary Muller, already a member, and thus giving the Parlor the membership of three generations of one family.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105 added a new member to its roster November 10 and after the ceremonies, ably conducted, a social hour commemorated Armistice Day. The Parlor and Fremont No. 44 N.S.G.W. had their annual benefit for the homeless children November 27 and it was a social and a financial success.

Berkeley—Bear Flag No. 151 will give a dance and entertainment December 10. The talent will consist entirely of Natives from the various Alameda County Parlors.

Galt—Chabolla No. 171 was officially visited by Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong November 8. Other visitors were Grand Trustee Edna Briggs, Supervising Deputy Bessie Leitch, Deputy Lily Tilden, Past Grands Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen and Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, and representatives of Coloma, La Bandera, Sutter, Califia, Victory and Woodland Parlors. Flags and flowers decorated the lodgeroom, and the banquet tables were adorned with nuggets, picks and shovels. Each honored guest was presented with a miniature ox-drawn covered wagon. One candidate was initiated, and the new ritual was beautifully exemplified by the Parlor's corps of officers headed by President Elberta Carpenter.

Vallejo—Vallejo No. 195 had a party in honor of Mrs. Mary Combs, for fifteen years recording secretary. On the Parlor behalf President Mabel Thompson presented to her a ladies lamp. Following initiation of a class of candidates a program was presented and a banquet was served by a committee headed by Mrs. Julia Hill. Mrs. Anna Johnson was chairman of a card party November 2.

Santa Ana—Deputy Eva Bonta visited Santa Ana No. 235 November 14 and favored with an instructive talk one candidate was initiated. Chairman Muriel Bray of the way and means committee reported a neat sum from a recent dance. Chairman Genevieve Hasley host of the joint entry of No. 235 and Santa Ana No. 260 N.S.G.W. in the Fullerton Armistice Day parade—a float depicting the pioneer, with children costumed for that period. The thimble club had an all-day meeting with Rose Ford.

Ontario—Ontario No. 251, under the direction of President Ethel Baxter, entered a float in the Armistice Day parade and won first prize in the historical division. Yellow chrysanthemums were used to decorate the car, white bronze-colored ones composed the initial N.D.G.W.

Berkeley—Past Grand Ariana W. Sterling, affiliated with Aleli No. 102 (Salinas), accompanied by her husband and daughter, departed November 16 on a trip to the Orient. They will be away most of the winter.

In Memoriam

MABEL TUGGLE.

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom has called from our midst a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, Mabel Tuggle, and whereas, we have lost a loyal member of this Order and a true friend, now therefore, be it

Resolved, That we the members of Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 199 N.D.G.W., extend our sincere sympathy to her mother and other members of the family, and to Sutter Parlor No. 111 N.D.G.W. of Sacramento, in their bereavement; be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy be sent to the family, that a copy be sent to Sutter Parlor No. 111, and a copy to The Grizzly Bear Magazine, in respect to her memory.

Respectfully submitted,

FLORENCE DANFORTH BOYLE,
ALICE CUNDY,
VERNA PARKER,
Committee.

Oroville, October 19, 1932.

IDA C. CHILDRESS.

Having been appointed a committee to draft resolutions to the memory of our late sister, Ida C. Childress, we respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, In the passing of Sister Childress, El Dorado Parlor No. 180 N.D.G.W. has lost another charter member, loyal to the last those to whom she was nearest, a true friend; she has passed from this earth and its sorrows into the light of the Great Beyond, so we can grieve not for when the rest of us are striving, In the setting these resolutions of respect we are performing the last tribute in our power for an honored and revered sister.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication and that a copy be spread upon the minutes.

May the California winds blow lightly,
May the California sun shine brightly,
May the California rain fall lightly
Where sleeps our sister dear.

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,

IRENE M. IRISH,
ELLA C. STANTON,
BEATRICE S. LUCE,
Committee.

Georgetown, November 16, 1932.

NETTIE SHAVER.

To the family of the late Nettie Shaver. The following resolution has been adopted by Bonita Parlor No. 10 Native Daughters of the Golden West.

The Angel of Death has entered the portals of Bonita Parlor No. 10 N.D.G.W. and taken from our midst our Sister Nettie Shaver. She was a loyal Native Daughter and loved California with a true and tender love. Our Order has lost a faithful member. Therefore be it

Resolved, That our Charter be draped in mourning, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to her bereaved family and published in the Redwood City Semi-Weekly, and that a copy be sent The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

May the California winds blow lightly,
May the California sun shine brightly,
May the California rain fall softly,
Where sleeps our Sister dear.

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,

DORA WILSON,
MAMIE O'BRYAN,
IDA THOMPSON,
Committee.

work for the Red Cross was accomplished. One candidate was initiated November 20.

INTENSIVE MEMBERSHIP DRIVE.

Under the supervision of Municipal Judge Leo I. Aggeler, Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. has inaugurated an intensive membership drive which, it is believed, will produce excellent results early in the new year. December 5 officers for the January-July term will be elected, and there will be no meetings December 26 or January 2, those dates being legal holidays.

FIRST SOCIAL FUNCTION.

University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. will stage its first social function, a dance, at Palestine Masonic Temple, 471 West Forty-first place, December 2. The committee in charge includes John McLaughlin (chairman), Martin DeFazio, Dr. J. H. Encell, Walter Hartwell, Thomas P. Riley, Howard Babb, Gennaro Berardino. The Parlor has a committee promoting athletics, and an orchestra and a quartet are being organized.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. will initiate a class of five candidates December 13, among them Mrs. Mattie Lee Porter, the wife of Mayor John C. Porter. That is the date also for the annual Christmas party and homeless children benefit. A bazar will be featured, including a grabbag and cooked-food sale. Mrs. Edward Tabor is in charge.

Mrs. Amos Otis Evans, program chairman, presented a delightful opera reading of "Rigoletto" November 8, with Blanche Pilmer and Raymond Yanqua in the title roles. Richard Cardos was at the piano, and Mrs. Charles W. Roadman was the reader. November 22, the hospitality committee sold delicious cooked food, donated by the members, netting a goodly sum for the Parlor treasury. Refreshments were served. Deputy Mattie B. Edwards and Miss Gladys Edwards were among the visitors.

PARTY FOR "DECEMBERITES."

There was an extra-large attendance at the November 18 meeting of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., when the November boys were guests of honor. Among the speakers were Charles O. Brittain, Charles Gassagne and Past Grand Herman Lichtenberger. Walter Slosson made the first presentation of 1933 "Bear Club" pins. Chairman Ralph Harbison gave a progress report for the membership committee. The Caballeros of Ramona will have a benefit dance January 21; tickets a quarter each. Charles Straube is promoting an unusual birthday party for the Parlor at Catalina next year.

Ramona's December program includes: 2nd, election officers; 9th, initiation; 16th, birthday party for the "Decemberites," all members of the Parlor being invited to join in; 30th, old-year-out-new-year-in jinks.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Andrew M. Stodel (Los Angeles N.S.) made another trip to Eastern cities last month.

Leslie Patterson (University N.S.) departed last month for New York City on business.

James F. Hoey (Past Grand N.S.) of Martinez, district attorney Contra Costa County, was a visitor last month.

Miss Grace J. Norton, Mrs. Lucille Duncan and Mrs. Mildred Ripling (all Los Angeles N.D.) were recent visitors to Ensenada.

Sheriff William I. Traeger (Past Grand N.S.) and wife (Los Angeles N.D.) were visitors last month to the San Francisco Bay district.

Mrs. Hazel B. Hansen (Grand Outside Sentinel N.D.) went to Woodland November 26 to attend the official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstron to her home-Parlor, Woodland No. 90.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Johanna Schepp, mother of Phillip Schepp (Los Angeles N.S.), died recently. She was a native of Kentucky, came to California in 1872, and for many years resided in Sacramento City.

Alonzo William Lopez, son of Mrs. Olive Lopez (Californiana N.D.), died at Monrovia November 2. He was a native of Orange County, aged 32.

Henry W. Edelman, brother of Dr. D. W. Edelman (Hollywood N.S.), died November 4.

Rudolph Goss Vejar, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died November 12. He was born in Los Angeles May 2, 1894.

Mrs. Harriett Burch, mother of Samuel F. Arthur (Ramona N.S.), died November 20.

George Henry Carson, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died November 20. He was born in Los Angeles County, October 26, 1865. November 17 his wife, Mrs. Ellen Carson, passed away.

PIONEER NATIVES DEAD

(Brief Notices of the Demise of Men and Women born in California Prior to 1860.)

Scarlets and vermillions, grape and wine reds, burgundies, are the colors that repeat themselves everywhere. It was expected that bright colors would fall into the discard, but red remains among the current favorites, and will always remain as an accessory color. Red hats, scarfs and bags, and even shoes, are popular favorites. Dark red woolen in coarse weave, run through in striped lines with coarse white thread and cut on the bias, makes a handsome tailored dress or suit, to be worn with plain red hat, bag and shoes.

THE LETTER BOX

My eldest daughter, Mrs. P. McPhee, lives in Vancouver, B. C. The other three live here: Archer T. and Frank D. Shearer, and Mrs. Rena Mathews—all God-fearing, respectable people. No drinking in the family. I was obliged to care for them at an early age; learned telegraphy; was agent for the Santa Fe Railway for six years at Mentone, California, and surely had many books to keep. I do not wish to brag, but I always had work. I wrote in the San Bernardino County recorder's office for one and a half years until I took the Mentone office.

Now, at eighty-three years and over, I am well cared for and have many friends. Belong to the W.R.C. and the P.T.A., where I held offices until illness kept me at home. I ride out, but neuritis has been my oppressor—all but my right hand. I think I write pretty well, even at that.

"WEAVERVILLE."

Editor Grizzly Bear—I am inclosing a piece of poetry recently published in the "Weekly Trinity Journal" here, and wish you would publish same in The Grizzly Bear when you have the space. . . . You'll probably remember me ten years back as secretary of Mount Bally Parlor No. 87 N.S.G.W. . . . Moved away from here to Richmond, Contra Costa County, eight years ago, but returned to "God's country" last year. I am now news editor of the "Journal." Best wishes.

HARRY H. NOONAN.

Weaverville, September, 1932.

The poem, entitled "Weaverville," follows. It was composed by Mrs. Betty L. Whitsell of Burlingame, San Mateo County, who recently visited Weaverville and was so enthused over the town the poem was the result:

No town in all this state
Is quaint as Weaverville.
For there it lies,
An active little mining town,
That time defies.
High up where Nature makes
Great walls with mountain peaks,
Men found new ways
To cross the summits and the streams
In early days.

In eighteen-fifty-one,
They went with horse and gun
To Weaverville.
And pack-trains brought supplies to men,
With many a thrill.
And there it is today,
A mining-camp unchanged,
With iron doors,
And spiral stairways leading up
For troubadours.

A Chinese temple, too,
Stands with its ancient gods.
It reeks incense,
And old and faded are its walls
Without pretence.
Four Chinese stores remain,
With deep cement-made walls.
These stand so bold
And strangely seem symbolical,
Of spirits old.

Oh, yes, I say again
No place in this whole State
Is just as quaint and still.
Old Father Time with arms outstretched,
Left Weaverville.

SUFFERED, THAT OTHERS MIGHT ENJOY

(ALICE LYALL-BORDEN.)

THERE IS SOMETHING ABOUT THE words "Native Sons and Native Daughters" that suggests pioneering. The present generation can only guess, by reading the history of the earlier days, at the hardships endured by the old Pioneers. The unreliability of obtaining the few items of provisions which they did not raise, and the isolation from the rest of the world, did not daunt their spirit of adventure.

My father, Ambrose Lyall, was born in South Carolina in 1824 and was filled with that indomitable spirit of adventure which actuated all the early settlers. He left home when a boy and landed in Missouri in 1842. My mother, Martha Davis, was born in 1827 and they were married in 1843 and raised a family of ten children.

In 1849 my father came to California. His stay must have been short the first time, because he returned to Missouri and took my mother and their two children back. After organizing a train of about fifty people, they started across the plains by way of the never-to-be-forgotten covered wagon and ox team, and arrived here in 1853 and settled near Marysville. My eldest sister, who now lives in the northern part of the state, is, I presume, the oldest covered-wagon baby living today. She was born in Nevada before my parents reached the California line. They lived in Marysville for a time and then went to Hangtown, where I was born in 1857.

By this time, ox teams had been discarded, and they used horses with the same old covered wagon. In 1860 my parents moved to Fresno County, on Kings River. Up and down this river was a land grant handed down from Mexico. It was about twenty-five miles long and several miles wide. No one seemed to know who the owners were. Every few miles on this land were houses; some were log houses and some were built of clapboards. Those coming in could live in these houses as long as they wanted to. These people were called "squatters." In one of these houses we "squatted."

My first recollection was of the '62 flood. We kept a boat, as the older children had to cross the river to go to school, a little red schoolhouse where eight or ten children attended. During this flood, we stayed in the house until the water became knee-deep, when my father took the boat, put the family in it and started out to find higher ground. After finding a place to camp, we found that our cows, horses and sheep had already gone to the plains to higher ground. As soon as the water went down so that we could travel, we started back to Marysville. We were gone a year and then returned to the same old place.

I remember the old spinning wheel. My mother spun yarn and knitted stockings and socks for the whole family. I remember the old crane in the old fireplace where the old kettles hung to do our cooking, and the old dutch ovens to bake our bread. Up and down Kings River was very rich bottom land that would raise anything. It seems truly, that "necessity is the mother of invention." My mother would cut corn from the cob and dry it; also the old field corn made delicious hominy. We would gather

SELECTED FROM MORE THAN 800 PHOtographs submitted in response to the California trees photographic competition, seven winners of cash prizes have been announced by the California Conservation Committee of The Garden Club of America and the Save-the-Redwoods League, joint sponsors of the contest, which was launched in June and entries for which closed September 7.

The prizewinners, in order of preference, are: Edward Weston of Carmel, "Joshua Tree, Mojave Desert;" Alma R. Lavenson of Oakland, "Snow Blossoms;" A. Kono of Los Angeles, "Eucalyptus;" Ansel Easton Adams of San Francisco, "Sugar Pine;" Victor S. Matson of South Pasadena, "Desert Vista;" Albert Barrows of San Francisco, "Live Oak Arabesque;" Willard VanDyke of Piedmont, "Detail of Madrone."

AMERICAN-BORN JAPS DEVELOP HERE FRICTION-CREATING COLONIES.

"Discontinue all immigration and develop a homogenous people, an American race," declared Chairman Paul Stinchfield of the immigration section of the Commonwealth Club, San Francisco, in an address at the club's Oriental immigration dinner November 10.

He reported the section flatly opposes granting an immigration quota to all Asiatic countries, and favors retention of the present naturalization law which disqualifies Asiatics from citizenship. Tracing the history of Oriental immigration to the United States, Stinchfield stated the two major reasons for opposition to Asiatic immigration seem to have been the inability of American labor to compete with cheap Oriental labor, and the self-evident unassimilability of Asiatics.

"All the opposition to Asiatic immigration we have heard," he said, "has been based not on prejudice or lack of international sympathy, but on ineradicable racial and cultural differences. Both sides seem agreed as to the undesirability of Asiatic immigration.

"Japanese in America, even though American born, develop foreign colonies which lead to friction and misunderstanding. Such conditions are not desirable. It would be equally undesirable for large colonies of Americans to settle in Japan for permanent residence."

EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAM.

The N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor Education Committee, Peter T. Conmy chairman, November 4 presented a National Education Week program in the auditorium of Native Son Building. The principal speakers were Father Lornegan, president University of San Francisco, and Miss Eliza D. Keith, Past Grand President N.D.G.W.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

Minerva Parlor No. 2 had a post-Hallowe'en party November 2, and the members were rivals for costume honors. The festive board was a galaxy of orange and black, and groaned under its burden of tempting delicacies. Mrs. Croter, sole remaining charter member, was honor-guest and spoke of the days of old. Deputy Ida Mesquite favored with kind words, and musical numbers concluded the program. Visitors were present from Genevieve No. 132 and Gabrielle No. 139. The Parlor will have its annual Christmas tree party December 16 and Santa Claus promises to be there.

A luncheon, followed by bridge and whist, will be given by Alta Parlor No. 3 December 8; Mrs. Mary Schultz is the chairman. Grand President Anna Mixon-Armstrong will officially visit the Parlor in December; Grand Trustee Annie C. Thuesen heads the arrangements committee. The annual Christmas "jinks," December 27, will conclude a series of activities sponsored by President May L. MacDonald.

El Vespero Parlor No. 118 had a Hollowe'en party October 25 which was a great success. Many members appeared in costume, and a lovely banquet was served. The drill team members, under the leadership of Mary Casey, were hostesses. A whist party was given November 22; Jane Lapachet was the chairwoman.

Genevieve Parlor No. 132 had a delightful Hallowe'en party November 3, all members being in costume and each contributing a song or a dance to the evening's enjoyment. An enchilada supper was served at appropriately decorated tables. May Keane was chairman of the arrangements committee, and Deputy Agnes Curry was the guest of honor. The recent benefit whist was a great success. A dinner November 14 was in charge of Hannah Toohig.

Keith Parlor No. 137 was officially visited by Grand President Anna Mixon-Armstrong November 10. Dinner preceded the meeting. In observance of Armistice Day the lodgeroom was decorated in red, white and blue. Past President Gertrude LaFortune presided. Among those present were Junior Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson, Grand Trustees Ethel Begley and Anna Thuesen, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, Past Grands Mae Himes Noonan, May C. Boldemann, Mary E. Bell, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Margaret Grote Hill and Eliza D. Keith, Supervising Deputy Alice Lane. The Parlor presented gifts to all, and each responded with enjoyable remarks.

The Hallowe'en party held by Gabrielle No. 139 provided an enjoyable evening for the many in attendance. Full credit went to First Vice-president Ranzulo and committee for the startling decorations—ghosts, black cats and witches. Refreshments were served.

Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 had a Hollowe'en party October 24 at which many original and beautiful costumes were worn. A whist party October 31 netted a nice sum for the treasury. In honor of her anniversary, a birthday-card shower was tendered Past President Margret Ramm November 14.

Members of Dolores Parlor No. 169 visited Letterman Hospital October 30 and served home-made cakes, candy, oranges and cigarets to the veterans, to each of whom was also given a Hallowe'en favor carrying out the holiday spirit. Magazines were distributed and greatly appreciated. Betty Both, as hostess, was assisted by Rose Spaelti and Emma O'Meara. The Parlor's drill team met November 15 for its first instruction and Josephine Doray, who originated the team, was selected for captain.

Castro Parlor No. 178 gave a surprise baby shower to Mrs. Georgia Nelson, and among the many beautiful gifts was a bank book showing a deposit of $24, which the little stranger will have to start the life journey. Each officer contributed a dollar, and eight dollars was added by various members. A benefit whist was held November 17, the proceeds being the nucleus for the Parlor's relief fund. Mrs. Paula Hilzinger was the chairman. The affair was most successful, $58.17 being turned into the relief fund and $19.38 going into the Parlor treasury.

TASKMASTER

(F. ELLENORE PRINCE.)

To live as bravely as the pioneers
And win, nor quarter seek from first to last;
To look with steady eye to coming years
And carve a future empire unsurpassed;
To live with head uplifted to the skies,
Nor gather plunder, stoop to greed nor lust;
To heed the hope in little children's eyes,
Nor let my emblem tarnish in the dust;
To live with all mankind in brotherhood,
And smile my way with unquenched faith of youth;
To fight for right and seek the common good;
To pray for guidance and to search for truth.
The God of Nations only this will ask;
So let it ever be my sovereign task.

OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS TREES FOR EVERY CALIFORNIA HOME AND CITY.

All California is preparing again to say "Merry Christmas" to the rest of the world with thousands of outdoor Christmas trees. On front lawns, in city parks and schoolyards, and along the highways trees will gleam with cheer, and do much toward replacing depression and fear with confidence.

Sponsored by the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California, the cause of the living tree has won such public favor it is expected there will be more than 100,000 decorated outdoor trees and shrubs in California this year.

The Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California was started in 1927. This year it has as its twin slogans "An Outdoor Christmas Tree for Every California Home" and "A Mile of Outdoor Christmas Trees for Every California City."

COMMENDABLE ENDEAVOR.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa Parlor No. 217 N.D.G.W. had its annual benefit for the homeless children November 18. A drill team has been organized and will soon be ready to appear in public. Instead of the annual Christmas party, this year the Parlor will prepare boxes of holiday goodies for needy families. For the benefit of undernourished children, a milk fund has been created.

FISH POND CREATES MERRIMENT.

Sierraville—Imogen Parlor No. 134 N.D.G.W. had its annual fish pond, and the big crowd present got a lot of merriment fishing. Refreshments were served, and dancing continued until midnight. November 12 twenty members of Nami Parlor No. 36 came over from Downieville to enjoy Imogen's armistice and colonial program. Deputy Grand President Neva McMahon gave an address. A splendid banquet closed the affair.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION MARKS SITE SHASTA'S FIRST GOLD DISCOVERY.

At the northwest end of the new highway bridge across Clear Creek, on the Pacific highway three miles south of Redding, Shasta County, says "California Highways and Public Works" for October 1932, is a bronze tablet, mounted upon a native boulder, placed there by the California Highway Commission to tell the traveler that on this historic stream the most northern gold discovery in California was made by Major J. B. Reading in the early spring of 1848. The site of the discovery is five miles up the creek at Reading's Bar, marked by a wooden sign. At the top of the tablet is depicted Mount Shasta and the California grizzly bear, the official emblem of the Shasta Historical Society. The inscription reads: "In 1848 gold was first discovered on this creek by Major Pierson Barton Reading, Early California Pioneer. Erected by the California Highway Commission, 1931—dedicated May 23, 1932."

Major Reading entered California via the Pit River gateway and arrived at Sutter's Fort November 10, 1843, and in December 1844 secured from Governor Micheltorena the northernmost land grant in California, comprising more than 6,000 acres extending along the Sacramento River from Salt Creek to the mouth of Cottonwood Creek. When Marshall made the discovery of gold at Coloma, El Dorado County, Major Reading was among the first to visit the scene and, noting the soil was the same, he was satisfied there was gold near his ranch. Returning home he and his Indians washed out the first gold on a bar at the mouth of the canyon of Clear Creek in March 1848. He employed 150 Indians and squaws and took out as much as fifty-two ounces in a day.

UNDERSEA MOUNTAIN DISCOVERED.

A submarine mountain one mile in hight, about sixty nautical miles southwest of the Golden Gate and the same distance westward from Santa Cruz, was recently discovered by the survey ship "Guide," according to a Federal Coast and Geodetic Survey announcement.

This undersea mountain, like all outstanding differences in the configuration of the ocean floor, furnishes another guide to the mariner whose vessel is equipped with echo depth-sounding equipment, in fixing his position when out of sight of land.

matter of fact, this country has an overabundance of bad actors and actresses, aliens and otherwise, and all of them are not harbored in Hollywood, either.

United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, chairman Senator Foreign Relations Committee, declared November 10: "Our program has consisted of levying taxes and lending the credit of the government to a limited number of individuals. The event on November 8 was a political revolution. And there will be a more serious revolution than that if taxes continue to increase and the expenditures of the government continue to enlarge. At a time when millions of our people are saving their pennies to keep soul and body together, we are talking about levying a [sales] tax which will take that penny." Taxes must be reduced, that's a certainty, and a material reduction would come with the elimination of governmental extravagance and political graft.

Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary Federal Commerce Department, declared in an address: "It surely should be plain by now that every retailer has got to fish for business—and fish skillfully and resolutely. . . . Shrewd, forceful truthful, persistent advertising is especially necessary at this time." Good advice, that not only retailers, but all others who have something to sell, should heed.

State Finance Director Rolland Vandegrift declares that "No one should be permitted to vote on bonds that incumber real property unless he pays a property tax." An excellent suggestion which the coming State Legislature should enact into legislation. The voters who pay no property tax have been instrumental in saddling onto the propertyowners of California a bonded indebtedness of some $875,000,000—more than enough!

Ruling that a wife's earnings are community property, a Shasta County judge has ordered a married schoolteacher to pay thirty dollars a month from her salary to her husband's former wife for the support of two minor children. A learned judge!

The Wright Act having been decisively repealed, California's Governor plans to release from the state's prisons and jails all those convicted of liquor-law violations. 'At a boy, Governor! The highup financial and kindred felons are freed without the necessity of financing an initiative, so the lowdown bootleggers and associates who spent thousands to "educate" the voters should be rewarded for their effort and success.

What worries now, is the fact that the statutes against gambling, narcotics and prostitution continue to operate "contrary to Constitution-guaranteed freedom of individual action." Will not some one, please, finance and promote initiatives against those laws, that Californians may enjoy perfect liberty?

Pasadena has joined the increasing ranks of communities and firms which are dispensing with the services of married women with ablebodied husbands. It has decreed: "(1.) No married women will be employed by any city department in the future unless they are supporting a family. (2.) All women employees who marry must resign their positions within six months. (3.) All married women now employed by the city must resign within six months unless their husbands are unemployed." The weeding out of all such from the state, the counties, the cities and the townships governments, as well as from all other lines of endeavor, will, to a large degree, solve the rottenness sorely afflicting the social structure.

Yassah! Topsigned by Ira Mack, the October 28 "Calistogan" of Calistoga, Napa County, had a front-page article, headed "Smooth Political Opportunist Raising All Sorts of Dust To Cover Own Acts," which began thusly:

"The fat tax-eaters now gathered at the California feedtroughs in Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Francisco are raising all the dust they possibly can to obscure the sharp eyes of those who are coming, finally, to see that somehow they are being literally robbed out of hand by a state administration that is eating regularly and at the most expensive places, while the rank and file of taxpayers of California are having an awful time to meet small grocery bills, or to gather cash to buy at bargain, cash prices, barely enough to get by with, and then only by tightening the belt considerably. Meanwhile, if anyone thinks that Vandegrift, Rolph and family, including its insurance agency members, are not eating out and in style, they are not trailing the state limousines or the state fly-car. Anyway, the governor is never at home, but is fed by the generosity of would-be boosters or appointees; hence, he is not worrying about how the taxpayers are eating, if at all."

Considerable has been published about the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors reducing personnel and salary costs. As heretofore remarked, the assertion was propaganda, for political purposes. Here are the figures, just revealed: In 1929 the salary costs for the county were $17,569,082; in 1930 they increased to $19,481,826; in 1931 they went up to $20,874,553; this year, 1932, they total $21,820,999. Where does the muchly-heralded reduction come in?

wild blackberries and elderberries and dry them for the winter.

In 1865, my father bought his first land. We moved just across the river, into Tulare County. At this time, land was thrown open for preemption and sold by the government for twenty-five cents an acre. My father had lots of sheep, and wool was high. He had twelve mule teams running from Visalia to Stockton, hauling all kinds of merchandise; he also hauled lumber out of the mountains. But when, in 1871, the Southern Pacific built its first railroad through the country, the teaming business was stopped. Many people were moving in and taking up land. My father also bought up every piece of land he could get. A canal was taken out of the upper Kings River and the people began farming. The farmers and stockmen fought for a few years over the "No Fence Law." Finally, the law was passed, which prevented open stock raising. Eventually, my father sold his land and went to Arizona and became a wealthy man, having gone into the cattle business. Yet, if he had kept his land in California for fifteen years longer and done nothing else, he would have been almost a millionaire, for that part of the country settled up very fast and land increased in value by leaps and bounds, and today is one of the most flourishing parts of the state.

I must have inherited that pioneer spirit of wanderlust, or whatever it might be called, for although I never left the state until I was thirty years of age, yet after that I traveled across the continent, lived awhile in the South and then in the East, but always longing to come back to my native state, which I did about twenty-five years ago, as I found nothing half so good.

I desire, by these few words, to pay homage to the memory of our beloved Pioneers, with their stout hearts and courageous spirits. How little the people of today, old or young, know what the Pioneers went through with to help build our beloved state to what it is today. They truly suffered, that others might enjoy.

(The above came to The Grizzly Bear, under date of November 15, 1932, from Mrs. Alice L. Borden of Long Beach, who affiliated with Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. September 15. She says: "I am inclosing a little story of pioneer days as I found them."—Editor.)

"Work well done invests the doer with a certain authority."—Emerson.

ROOTS IN THE PAST

"PUBLICATION OF THE PURPOSE OF the Native Daughters of the Golden West to mark and perpetuate the memories of historic spots in and near San Bernardino, in addition to those already made immortal by memorials, reminds us anew of the splendid work this organization is doing," said the San Bernardino "Telegram," editorially, September 30. "Nothing could more certainly promote good citizenship than by providing ocular evidence of the reasons Californians by birth or by adoption have for being proud of their beloved commonwealth.

"More attractive to the casual visitor and more stimulating to the pride of the homefolk even than climate and natural resources in this favored portion of the earth which is His footstool is the romance woven into the warp and woof of its history. California's traditions bind us to a glorious, fascinating past to a degree few other states can claim. Scarcely had Christopher Columbus fallen a victim to the inroads of years and man's ingratitude than adventurers had set foot on California soil. Our commonwealth story goes down to the very grass roots of national traditions.

"Indeed, the history of California is almost the history of the nation although we did not enter the sisterhood of states until three-quarters of a century after the embattled farmers of New England fired the shot heard 'round the world. A great civilization was being founded and constructed here as rapidly and as magnificently as the growth of the new republic was being buttressed by the little group that clung so desperately to the Eastern seaboard. The problems being solved by the fathers of the republic on the shores of the Eastern ocean were being met here, almost coincidentally, in a manner as brilliant and decisive.

"California, perhaps more than other state, needs whatever of cohesion among its citizenship can be promoted by fanning to a brighter flame the fires of pride in our state's traditions. We need here, perhaps more than elsewhere in the nation, whatever may conduce to a greater permanency among our people and an enriched magazine of eulogy upon which to draw in singing the praises of this favored clime. The constant influx from all over the world threatens our homogeneity.

"All this a greater knowledge of the history of California would promote. We shall value the higher our residence in this mighty empire when we know more about the struggles and the vicissitudes undergone by those who builded this empire and made it possible for us to enjoy it. The opportunities with which we are today environed were hard won. It was no light task faced by the men and women who shaped from this virgin soil in all its primitive ruggedness this magnificent commonwealth that is rapidly becoming first and foremost among all the states.

"The Native Daughters of the Golden West and their coordinate organization, the Native Sons of the Golden West, have properly taken upon themselves the pleasant task of perpetuating the traditions and the romance that was California and continues to be. Modern life is complex. We live in an age that rarely permits us the time to step aside from the daily business of earning a livelihood or a competency to meditate upon the reasons why we are where we are, and how it came about that this favored spot of all the earth has been bent to our uses.

"It is true men do not live in the past. Our faces are turned towards the rising, rather than the setting, sun. But our roots are in the past. We are the sum of all that has gone before. Our motives, our passions and our ambitions were shaped for us long before we first saw the light of day. We are the heirs of all the ages. How we are building on the foundation of the empire laid in the years agone was determined for us by the brave souls whose memories and whose achievements the Native Sons and Native Daughters seek to perpetuate in the memorials by which they hope to make these spots immortal.

"The task belongs of right to these natives of California. It is their inheritance. It devolves upon them by the accident of birth because in their veins courses the blood of the pioneers who smoothed across the trackless wastes the paths we so happily tread."

"It is a grand comfort to feel that God is right, whatever and whoever else may be wrong."—Robertson.

SITE CALIFORNIA'S FIRST PROTESTANT CHURCH MARKED

AT BENICIA, SOLANO COUNTY, NOVEMBER 27 the site of the first Protestant church building in California was marked with a plaque which reads: "First Protestant Church in California. On April 15th, 1849, Rev. Sylvester Woodbridge organized a Presbyterian Church in Benicia. On the property now used as a park the first Protestant Church was erected. The church was abandoned in 1871."

Rev. Sylvester Woodbridge arrived in California in February 1849. Like many others, he believed that Benicia, originally known as Francisco, was to be the metropolis of California. Capitalists of San Francisco transferred their interests to the place and induced him to accompany them, promising him land for a college. April 15, 1849, in a school building, he organized the church. An interesting feature of the marker dedication was the reading of excerpts from the diary of Harvey Havey Hyde Jr., who was in Benicia in 1849:

"July 22nd, 1849—This Sabbath is another fine day, just warm enough to be comfortable. I have been here just a fortnight and a greater part of the time it is cool enough to wear an overcoat, and even when hard at work. There are scarcely any clouds and no rain, yet the N. N. W. winds blow steady this season of the year.

"This place has been built up within six months. A very wealthy man by the name of Vallejo (proun. Valahho) sold the land for the sum of $1.00. He owns all the land from here to Sonoma, and as far in width up the river (Sacramento), and as soon as people settle here more thickly they will buy from him. I now see about a dozen houses, a few stores, one gambling shop, one or two restaurants. It seems to be as good a place as could be found, being at the head of San Pablo Bay, which empties into San Francisco Bay. Ships can come and unload up to the very banks with but little expense. Seven miles from here the Government is building a Navy Yard and is now building three buildings, dwellings for the officers. Their progress is slow, for everything is so scarce or hard to get.

"This Sabbath day, August 19th, there is a man by the name of Rev. Dr. Woodbridge, who teaches school week days and preaches Sundays. His text today was from Joshua, 'As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.' He clearly proved the existence of a deity by many good illustrations, and very applicable, for which he has a peculiar taste. He spoke of the affection which God has for His chilren, the same which a parent has for his child. He does not use notes, but spoke from the Bible as fast as his tongue could give utterance. These meetings were held in an out building belonging to Mr. Cooper. The shed adjoins a yard where are his cows and calves, which are noisy when the evening meetings are held. He had an audience of 66, very orderly and attentive. We have just finished a building for the town (18x32) in which he will preach after this. Took the job for $3800 and on which we realized $20 a day."

"WHAT MAN HATH DONE, MAN CAN DO"

"I MIGHT NEVER HAVE KNOWN THE story of William Gwin, if I had not met him when I was a little girl of ten, with another girl, when going down my father's toll road in Aurora Esmeralda, Nevada. We were wandering along heedlessly, just like children, when all at once came down the road a span of oxen driven by a very fair young man on his way out to Bodie, the next town. We asked him for a ride, but he was not willing, as he said we should only be going further away from home. But we insisted and got on via the back wheels, and there we were!

"But he kept saying, 'You will have to get off pretty soon, for I'm not going to let you go along with me—your mother would not be pleased.' So, true to his word, he made the oxen stop, and made us get off. He told us we were far away from home by now, and to hurry back before it got any darker. And as he insisted on it, we knew we had to mind him.

"When we reached home, I saw my mother standing at the door, waving her arms. So we hurried up, and she told us the papers were full of a terrible case in Boston, where a young boy and his sister were killed on Boston Common. As we had just come from the East, and as I had been taken to Boston Common to see it, I knew what she was talking about. So I told her how the young man who was driving the oxen had made us get off and go home to our parents, because he said it would soon be dark. She agreed at once it was nice of him to send u home, that our men in Aurora were good me and not like the brutes on Boston Commo whose names, by the way, were never reveale I had the shivers for several days just thinkin of it.

"Later on I met the young man, who can back from Bodie, and thanked him for makin us go home. And my mother approved of hin I think I never saw a more blonde-lookin young man than he. He tried to look grown u and so wore a full beard, though only twent one. At first he drove an oxteam, but afte

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

WELL, ANOTHER YEAR HAS passed, and although there were, during the last six months of thirty-two, spasmodic indications of improving business conditions, the "beautiful" depression continues, in full force and glory, as thirty-three makes its advent. Millions are unemployed, a sad condition, in a land of plenty. What the future will bring, no human knows; what the past brought, is a matter of history.

Dishonesty is undeniably the chief underlying cause of the depression that has reigned supreme for three years. Dishonesty, embracing wrongdoing of every degree, is the economic-cancer eating at the vitals of these United States and seriously threatening the very life of the nation. Its tentacles have spread, unhampered, into every walk of life—government, business, profession, church, school, civic, club, and even fraternal.

And it is a most remarkable -a non-understandable fact that, in this so-called Christian country, no attempt whatever has been made to curb, if not cure, that cancer, and to thereby rout the depression. Sorry to say, even the church and the school have been found wanting in a time of direst need, and have allied themselves with the agencies, including government, that are appealing to and depending solely on the dollar to restore the nation's health.

All the monetary-wealth of the world will not, can not, cure the depression-cancer! But honesty, in all dealings, practiced by the government and by the citizenry generally, will rout the depression and assure lasting prosperity! The Golden Rule, rather than the dollar-sign, must be the guide! Oh, for a Moses of unimpeachable moral worth to administer to the nation's ills—to marshal the forces of Right, and to lead this magnificent country to its rightful place in the sun!

The devastating tide of dishonesty in which this nation now flounders came in with the World War, when the United States was thrown into that fracas ostensibly to "make the world safe for democracy," but, in reality, to make abroad-investments safe for the financial-swine with which this country has long been, and is today, over-cursed. Uninterrupted, either by moral or governmental forces, the dishonesty-tide, sweeping aside all barriers to its destructive progress, has wrought inestimable havoc, and is fast carrying this government of democracy to complete engulfment.

The Federal Congress grasps at straws, such as booze, to turn the tide—a pitiable exhibition of brainless endeavor! No one is suffering for want of beer, wine, or any other liquor, but millions are suffering for want of food, for need of employment. And certainly all governmental officials, including members of the Congress and others who have sworn to uphold the Constitution, are procuring and consuming all the booze they want—many of them far more than they need. And this Constitution-violating of public officials is decidedly a contributing cause, of no small import, to the growth of the dishonesty-cancer and to the continuance of the depression. The need for men in public office whose vision of the nation's and of the people's needs is unobstructed by a booze-barrel was never more paramount! Intelligence with integrity and truth by the leaders, is the greatest need today of these United States!

Unless checked, civic complacency will result in social disaster, declared Dr. F. W. Hart of the University of California at a recent meeting of the Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda Realty Boards. "One does not need to go to Chicago to find this same civic complacency," said he. "It is everywhere in this Nation. Unless citizens generally arouse themselves from their civic lethargy, the situation found in Chicago today will be nation-wide. Popular government will have fallen the victim of its own hand."

The local property tax is universally condemned by competent authorities. By experts on taxation, it has been called the worst tax known in the civilized world. "This tax falls to place a proper share of the burden of taxation upon the large amounts of intangible wealth and income which modern economic organization has created. It cannot be effectively administered, even under favorable conditions, and otherwise fails to meet the requirements of a sound tax."

California's three-ring circus, the State Legislature with its senate, assembly and lobby, opens at Sacramento January 2 for an indefinite run. The booted ringmaster will be an added attraction, in his aerial glory. From all accounts, it's going to be the greatest show ever.

Among the thrilling stunts will be the budget-balancing act—converting the general fund's red-ink balance of some twelve million dollars into a black-ink balance. It is hoped the lawmakers will not become so mystified by that act as to countenance the foisting of additional insane laws on a long-suffering citizenry, and the piling up of additional appropriations to care for needy politicians and to promote pet schemes of a favored few.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California will endeavor to have the Federal Congress adopt legislation, proposed by him, that would bar from the American market bonds and other obligations of a foreign government which has defaulted on obligations to the government or the investors of the United States. Any person offering such foreign paper for sale would be subject to a five-year prison sentence or a maximum fine of $10,000.

The measure should become a law! The fine-provision should be eliminated, however, for this country is overrun with financial "wizards" who will gladly contribute ten thousand, repeatedly, to the federal coffers for the privilege of mulcting honest and unsuspecting investors.

Severely, but justly, criticising Governor Rolph for pardoning numerous Wright Act violators, State Senator Ralph E. Swing of San Bernardino issued the following public statement December 20: "The Governor proceeded on the theory that they were simply violators of the Wright Act, in that they had disbursed intoxicating liquor in violation of that act, and that act having been repealed, the pardon was justified. If he were correct in this assumption, he would perhaps have reason for justifying their release.

"Unfortunately for the Governor's position, however, most of these persons, while convicted under the Wright Act, were in fact guilty of the heinous offense of manufacturing and disbursing to our unsuspecting youth, constituting the hope of posterity, a dirty, filthy and poisonous substitute for intoxicating liquor, which has affected, both mentally and physically, this upcoming generation to an undeterminable degree and has developed in them a disrespect for constituted authority and for the laws of our land. For such an offense no penalty is too severe, nor can any pardon eradicate the stigma nor convert them into law-abiding citizens."

The southern branch of the California State Teachers Association, meeting last month in Los Angeles City, got quite "het up" over reports that determined efforts are to be made to materially lower the cost of education. A resolution was adopted recommending a "firm adherence to and support of the present standard"—of taxation for so-called educational purposes—"that the ideals of American democracy may be maintained."

No thinking citizen desires that the "ideals of American democracy" as exemplified today shall be maintained; they are a threatening disgrace to the Union, and should be forsaken. If education claims credit for them, then education should be discouraged, rather than encouraged. In any event, the school-tax must be lowered, and it can be substantially reduced by eliminating numerous fads, reducing personnel, etc.

Donaldson Thorburn, speaking before the San Francisco Center on prohibition, quoted a prominent bootlegger as saying: "Women folk will not be satisfied with light wines and beers, repeal or no repeal. The ladies want whisky highballs first, cocktails second, gin fizzes third, and beer and wine not at all." Is not that the real situation as regards all the booze-howlers, irrespective of sex? The quoted bootlegger, however, must have been referring to women, not ladies.

"Something Is Wrong Here," is the heading of a Van Nuys "News" editorial referring to the pardoning, by Governor Rolph, of Fayette Marble, son of a wealthy South Pasadena family, convicted of running down and killing three persons with his auto. Young Marble was sentenced to from one to ten years, and served ninety days in jail. Something is decidedly wrong! Little wonder the killing of people by drunk and irresponsible auto drivers has become a favorite pastime among the "select."

IN THEE WE TRUST

(FRED G. EAST.)

Oh, Lord of Nations, power supreme,
Who guidest every sun and star
Enthroned above the cosmic scheme,
We look to Thee, so near, yet far.
Through war and famine, greed and lust,
Lord God on High, in Thee we trust!

Storm tossed and battered though we be,
Our barque of Destiny sails on
Through many a rough and treacherous sea
In staunch and steadfast union.
Toward the sun our prow is thrust,
Lord God on High, in Thee we trust!

That flag of Liberty unfurled
At Valley Forge and many a field,
O'er land and sea its challenge hurled;
Though battered sore we cannot yield,
And, blindly struggling in the dust,
Lord God on High, in Thee we trust!

We stagger onward; see the light
Which brightly glows beyond the mist
To guide us through the years aright;
E'en though the path may ever twist
We cannot fail for Thou art just—
Lord God on High, in Thee we trust!

Oh, Lord of Nations, this our theme,
We bow before Thy throne of grace;
Give us the vision, God supreme,
Preserve our strength and pride of race,
Sustain us 'gainst each blow and thrust
Because, Lord God, in Thee we trust!

CALIFORNIA'S ROMANTIC HISTORY

Lewis F. Byington
(PAST GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

(Continuing the series of California history talks commenced in The Grizzly Bear for December 1932.)

THE MISSIONS

NOTHING SHOULD APPEAL MORE strongly to all Californians than the unique, romantic and interesting history of our state. In no way can that history be more eloquently told than by preserving the structures reared by those who brought civilization to, and established permanent settlements in, the West.

Pride in the history and traditions of a state is what tends to make loyal men and women, and to elevate and ennoble citizenship. A movement was started several years ago to restore the missions, those beautiful structures, rich with the traditions of a century past, and which are the oldest monuments, architecturally, in the state. If permitted to fall into ruin much that would serve to throw a flood of light upon the achievements and the noble work of the earliest Pioneers on this coast is lost forever. Every man who appreciates beauty or is charmed by romance should labor for their preservation.

For countless years before the missionary fathers built the twenty-one missions of California, this land had been peopled by Indians. The race remained in darkness, devoid of science, art or agricultural advancement. The missionaries brought civilization, and established permanent settlements. The Franciscan friars were the first Pioneers of the West.

How much that word "pioneer" signifies—it embodies the development of the nation. It speaks to us of dangers, tribulations and hardships. It was the pioneer spirit which led those who founded California over barren deserts and rugged mountains, overcoming every peril and danger. It has planted the fig tree, the vine and the olive where the sagebrush grew and the manzanita blossomed. It has builded cities and homes, and dotted our bays with the messengers of commerce.

The colonization of California followed the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. The lure of gold, the expansion of empire, was the impelling motive that caused Spain to send her ships ever westward. Within twenty years after the landing of Columbus, the Spanish explorers had reached Mexico and entered the harbors of South America. Within fifty years the flag of Spain had been carried across Mexico to the Pacific Ocean, and ships were being fitted out for the exploration of the Pacific Coast. Cabrillo sailed up the coast in 1542, Sir Francis Drake, with the English flag, in 1579, and ships of other nations in the years following. Spain claimed California by right of discovery, but for over two hundred years no attempt was made to establish permanent settlements. Russia was pressing down from the north, and eventually reached Mount St. Helena, Bodega Bay and Fort Ross. The ships of England and France had sailed along the coast, and California presented an inviting field for conquest. Spain wakened to the fact that permanent settlements must be established to forestall acquisition by other nations, and she determined to colonize the country and christianize the Indians.

Had Russia or England controlled California when gold was discovered, the territory would not have been acquired by the United States, for we had no reason to go to war with them. The war with Mexico, the successor of Spain to this territory, resulted in bringing California under the "Stars and Stripes."

Spain, having awakened to the necessity of colonizing and protecting the territory, Jose de Galvez, governor general, selected Junipero Serra, a Franciscan monk, to take charge of the spiritual part of the expedition, and Don Gaspar Portola to head the military division. They were authorized to established three missions—one at San Diego, one at Monterey, and one in between these, to be called San Buenaventura. The pious and kindly Serra, in accepting the labor of civilizing California, said to Galvez: "Every colony that has heretofore been brought under the dominion of Spain and under its banner, has been brought by the power of the sword, let me bring to Spain this new land of California by the power of the cross."

At San Diego, July 16, 1769, Father Serra founded his first mission. Here a presidio was also established. Then Portola, anxious to carry out orders to hasten north and prevent the feared invasion by Russia, England or France, marched in search of Monterey Bay as described by the navigators. Unknowingly, he passed that bay, and his sergeant, Ortega, unexpectedly ran upon the Golden Gate and discovered the great harbor extending far inland and which, in honor of St. Francis, was named the Bay of San Francisco.

The failure of Portola to locate Monterey Bay led to another effort in 1770, when Serra himself raised the cross there and established his second mission, San Carlos Monterey, afterwards removed to Carmel. Carmel was Serra's own particular mission until his death in 1784. It was for years the first in importance, being the residence of the Father President, and because of its nearness to, only five miles to Monterey, the capital of California, where lived the Spanish governors. The original plan was to establish the mission at Monterey, where a chapel was built in 1770, but the rich lands of the Carmel Valley offered a more favorable field for the welfare and the moral training of the Indians, and the mission was moved to that pleasant valley in 1771. It was there he taught the natives the arts of peace, the virtue of christian charity, and the loving greeting to stranger and friend of Amár á Diós,—love God—which became a kindly salutation used by the Spaniards of California. His co-worker, Padre Palou, on returning from dinner one day to Serra's humble cell, found him lying peacefully with closed eyes, stretched on the rough boards which served as his couch, in the quiet sleep of eternity, and beneath him the half of a blanket. The other half he had given away.

Portola established at Monterey the second presidio, and proclaimed Monterey the capital of Upper California. After the establishment of the Carmel Mission, Serra set forth to found the third mission. He traveled south from Monterey along the Salinas River some seventy-five miles and reached a beautiful valley with wide-spreading oak trees and well-watered fruitful soil, and there on July 14, 1771, established the Mission San Antonio de Padua, now off the beaten path and much neglected, except for the work of preservation done by the Native Sons several years ago, but in the past one of the most famous of all the missions and renowned for the great number of Indian converts and the wonderful horses, cattle and sheep bred there.

This led up to the founding of the fourth mission, further south, and later to the establishment of the first settlement at what is now Los Angeles. The mission was to be called San Gabriel Arcangel. Two Franciscan fathers, Somera and Cambon, with a number of soldiers, left San Diego and marched northward until they came to a wide valley extending eastward to the Sierra Madre Mountains and with a splendid stream flowing through it. On September 8, 1771, a site was selected, a cross erected, and the Mission San Gabriel established. It was the first mission in what is now the County of Los Angeles, and grew so rapidly and became so prosperous that it was referred to as "The Queen of the Missions." Thousands of sheep, cattle and horses fed in the fertile valley, and vineyards and orchards covered the plains and hillsides. The little town of San Gabriel is one of the most interesting and, after San Diego, the oldest town in southern California.

It was from San Gabriel Mission that Felipe de Neve, Spanish Governor of California, with soldiers, missionary fathers and Indians, started forth and, proceeding some ten miles toward the sea, made the first permanent settlement which has become the City of Los Angeles. Governor de Neve started from the Spanish capital, Monterey, marched to San Gabriel, and from the mission to a point near the Los Angeles River, then known by the name "Porciuncula," where the ceremonies of founding a Spanish pueblo, or town, were conducted. A cross was raised, muskets were discharged by the soldiers, choruses were sung and ground was broken. The original name given to the pueblo was "Pueblo El Rio de Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles de Porciuncula," (The Town of the River of Our Lady, Queen of the Angels of Porciuncula). The shortened name Los Angeles literally means "The Angels." The date of the order of Governor de Neve for the foundation was September 7, 1781. The famous old Plaza church was built a few years later, but was not one of California's twenty-one missions.

In rapid succession, Serra founded the Missions San Antonio de Padua, July 14, 1771; San Gabriel, September 8, 1771; San Luis Obispo, September 1, 1772; San Francisco de Asis, October 9, 1776; San Juan Capistrano, November 1, 1776; Santa Clara, January 18, 1777, and San Buenaventura, March 31, 1782. This zealous and saintly leader of men and founder of California died at Carmel, August 28, 1784; and near the spot where he landed on the beach at historic Monterey, Mrs. Leland Stanford has reared to his memory a beautiful monument bearing the inscription: "In Memory of Father Junipero Serra, a Philanthropist seeking the welfare of the Humblest, a Hero daring and ready to sacrifice himself for the Good of his Fellow Beings, a Faithful Servant of his Master."

The work of founding the other twelve missions, Santa Barbara, in 1786, La Purisima Concepcion, La Soledad, Santa Cruz, San Jose (Alameda County), San Juan Bautista, San Fernando, San Luis Rey, Santa Ynez, San Rafael, and the last at Sonoma, August 25, 1823, was carried on by his followers. Serra and his brother friars had devoted some fifty years to building missions and spreading religion and civilization along the coast. Nearly all were located along the coast line, a day's journey on horseback apart, and connected by a road called El Camino Real,—The King's Highway—stretching some five hundred miles from San Diego to Mission Dolores, at San Francisco.

There were no hotels in those days in California. Every home was open to the traveler, and the master of the hacienda would meet the stranger at the threshold and bowing low say: "Enter, senor, the home is yours." Money was given to the guest on his departure, and a fresh horse to carry him on his way. It is said that Father Serra and his followers scattered mustard seed along the highway, for thus they had a trail ever bordered by yellow blossoms, shoulder high, and so the traveler might readily find his way.

For the protection of the missions and the settlers, the Spaniards established four presidios in California, at San Diego, Monterey, San Francisco and Santa Barbara.

The Spanish friars selected the most beautiful spots in California upon which to plant their settlements. The matchless beauty of San Diego, of San Gabriel, of Santa Barbara, of Monterey, of the Santa Clara Valley and of Sonoma appeals to all who visit them. Hills and mountains and sea lend a romantic charm to the landscape. The architectural beauty of the missions is today reflected in many of our schools and rural homes.

The mission at San Francisco, established in 1776, was the sixth mission founded in California, and located beside a small stream, fed by a spring, on the eastern slope of "Los Pechos de la Choca," now known as "Twin Peaks." This stream flowed down about the line of Eighteenth street and emptied into a lagoon called "La Laguna de los Dolores," and the Mission San Francisco de Asis came to be called the "Mission Dolores."

In that day there was no San Francisco, and the Spanish presidio was several miles north of the mission. At first there were only mission and presidio. Then grew up the village of Yerba Buena at the cove, which came up to Montgomery street, some three miles from the mission. Today a great American city stretches from mission to presidio. The quaint old mission, with its quiet churchyard, is at Sixteenth and Dolores, a beautiful and interesting reminder of the old Spanish days; but the lagoon, or lake, from which the mission derived its name has disappeared.

For three-quarters of a century local history centered around the old mission, and then came the mad rush for gold, in the days of '49, and quiet Yerba Buena became restless San Francisco. But historic memories still cling to the mission. There, in 1791, the beautiful Concepcion Arguello, immortalized in verse by Bret Harte, was christened. On the headstones in the mission cemetery may still be read the names of many who assisted in making local history, including Don Luis Antonio Arguello, Concepcion's brother, the first governor of California under Mexican rule. Mission Dolores is still a beautiful and a holy shrine, within whose walls and churchyard the traveler may breathe again the quiet air of that peaceful and romantic time "before the Gringo came."

The friars, with civilizing influence, gathered around them the Indians, and instructed them in the arts of trade and peace. In a few years fields of golden grain covered the lowlands, and the purpled hillsides smiled with the vine, the olive and the fig tree. Thousands of sheep and cattle grazed in the meadows and some thirty thousand hitherto untutored savages tended the herds and flocks, worked at the anvil and carpenter's bench, ploughed the fields, raised their voices in festival songs, or knelt humbly in prayer to the Great Father of All. A FORTIFIED ADOBE

(RALPH LeROY MILLIKEN.)

WHEN THE ABORIGINES WHOM we call Indians first began roaming over the Pacific Coast they naturally selected as their places of abode the most desirable locations in the whole country. A sheltered spot beside a never-failing spring, like that on the San Luis Gonzaga Rancho, surrounded by timber and in a region abounding in game, was without doubt occupied as a rancheria by the Indians from the very earliest times.

Lieutenant Moraga when making an expedition from Mission San Juan Bautista in 1806 to the Tulare Plains traveled through what is now known as the Pacheco Pass. September 22 he camped over night at this Indian rancheria. It had already been discovered by some still-earlier Mexican expedition and named the San Luis Gonzaga.

It is at this spring that there still stands an old adobe house. It is so old that its origin is unknown. Who built the house, nor when, nobody knows. Old Mexicans whose knowledge of the country dates back to the stories their fathers told them remember hearing that in 1836 the adobe was already an old house.

The distinctive feature of this old adobe is the port holes in the walls. They are on all sides of the building and are just large enough to poke the muzzle of a musket through. It is very plain that this old building, with its walls two feet thick, was a fortress as well as a dwelling. The building is all in one room, and is sixteen feet wide inside and forty-two feet long. It sets north and south across the Pass. The chimney is on the south end. There are three windows on the west side, and one on the north. On the east side are two doors and two windows. The port holes are on each side of the windows and are five feet above the floor, which is of dirt. The foundations of the building are pieces of sandstone rock. The spring that attracted the attention of the Indians and later caused the Mexicans to select this spot for the location of their guardian of the Pass is only a few feet north of the old building.

The Pacheco Pass has been an avenue of travel since the beginning of history in California. The Mexican explorers in their efforts to reach the vast unexplored regions of the present San Joaquin Valley soon found their way over the mountains by way of this Pass. The Tulare Indians, in turn, when once they had learned that there were newcomers on the west side of the mountains with large bands of horses, were just as anxious to visit the mission settlements. They missed no opportunities in making raids to drive off as many horses as possible, not for the use that Mexicans made of horses but for the purpose of holding great feasts of horse flesh on the Tulare Plains.

It was to hold back these roving Tulare Indians and prevent their making inroads on the mission stock that the Mexican governors made grants of large tracts of land to Don Francesco Pacheco and other outstanding persons on condition that their ranches should take the brunt of these raids and that they should hold back the Tulares from the mission settlements. There is no doubt but that this old adobe with its port holes in the sides of the building was built with that very purpose in view.

HISTORIC MERCED COUNTY ADOBE.

Today the Indians are gone. What once was the farthest outpost of Mexican civilization is now only an empty building on the highway leading from the coast region over into the great San Joaquin Valley. A never-ending stream of travel flows past the door night and day.

The first road over the Pacheco Pass was begun in 1855 by a ruddy-complected young man from Virginia by the name of Andrew D. Firebaugh. His forefathers were Pennsylvania Dutch, and his name was originally Fierbaugh. At the outbreak of the Mexican War he was down in Texas and promptly enlisted in the First Texas Mounted Riflemen. Later he came to California, and when the Mariposa Battalion was organized he was right on hand and helped to discover the Yosemite Valley. In 1854 he established a ferry and trading post on the San Joaquin River that is still known by his name, Firebaugh.

In the early fifties some cattlemen by the name of Murphy Brothers, who lived in San Jose, used to have great difficulty in driving their stock across the mountains to the summer pasture around Tulare Lake. They urged Firebaugh to build a toll road over the Pacheco Pass. Firebaugh went at the task with his usual vigor, but the undertaking was more difficult than he anticipated and it was not until 1857 that he succeeded in finishing the road. In many places the old original road is still plainly visible. It followed for the most part the bed of the streams. Over the summit, it followed the top of the ridge. The ruins of the toll house itself are still to be seen in the bed of the creek about two miles west of the summit.

Hardly had Firebaugh got his road finished when the Butterfield Overland Stage Company began, in 1858, running its stages from San Francisco to St. Louis, Missouri. They used Firebaugh's toll road in getting over the Pacheco Pass. The San Luis Gonzaga Rancho became one of the stage stations and here the passengers, after leaving San Francisco before daylight, arrived the same day in time for their supper. In 1860 the telegraph line between Los Angeles and San Francisco was built and passed within a stone's throw of the old adobe.

The overland stages ran only a little over a year through the Pacheco Pass and then were routed by way of Placerville. But the old adobe at the San Luis Gonzaga Rancho was not to be deserted by travelers, for in 1863 Henry Miller began buying up the Santa Rita Grant on the San Joaquin River and from that time on for twenty-five years his bands of cattle, sheep and hogs for the San Francisco market were driven in ever-increasing numbers over the Pass on their way to Butchertown.

In 1878 the toll road was abandoned and a new road built by the counties of Santa Clara and Merced. This was called the "New Grade," and was considered a marvelous road in its day. But the unforseen is always happening on the Pacheco Pass. With the coming of the automobile, the once-famous "New Grade" was soon intolerable and in 1923 the state built the present highway over the Pass.

The old adobe that has stood for a hundred years and has seen all these marks of progress is in itself falling into ruin. Those in charge of the old building are apparently indifferent to its fate. The roof leaks, the windows are gone, and the walls are beginning to crumble in places. The newly-organized Parlor of Native Sons at Los Banos [Los Banos No. 206] took notice of the building's dire needs to the extent of patching up a gap in the chimney. In doing so the workmen tore off part of one of the door casings to make a form for the concrete! A few years ago the Merced Parlor of Native Sons [Yosemite No. 24] discovered that this was the oldest building in Merced County and erected an elaborate plaque beside the south wall.

The future will blame us if we let the present fall into ruins. This old landmark could be preserved for another hundred years. It needs repairs to the roof. An adobe melts very rapidly when once the roof is left to decay. The walls should be plastered. The foundations should be supported in places with cement. It needs new windows and doors. With a little help this fortified old dwelling could again look forth defiantly on those who travel the Pass, whether they come on horseback as of old, in automobiles as at present, or look down from airships floating overhead in the future.

ages they were changed into gentle and kindly men and women. When Serra passed on, he left behind picturesque buildings to take the place of huts of mud and reeds; he left gardens and orchards, vineyards, grain fields, flocks and herds, and civilization to replace barbarism. He left behind a new California and a new spirit in the hearts of men. Our poet, George Sterling, has said of him:

"O spirit pure,
Who in an age of infamy and gold
Saw souls alone."

The glory of the missions lasted some sixty-three years; when Mexico revolted from Spain, many of the missions remaining loyal to the old country, the government began their secularization and, appropriating their lands, the Indians and friars scattered, and the mission languished. The Native Sons Landmarks Committee and other historical societies of late have done much to restore their beauty. The Spanish names given to the missions commemorate illustrious saints, and, soft and musical, appeal to the ear. As Dr. Charles Gayley, in one of his poems, has said:

"To name them is to pray;
For their names fulfill the chorus
Of a thousand saints that o'er us
Swing their censers night and day."

There is a legend referred to in the writings of Bret Harte which foretold the passing of the flags of Spain and Mexico and the coming of a new race bearing the "Stars and Stripes." The story runs that before the Gringo came, a Spanish priest left the mission and bent his steps toward a neighboring mountain, since known as Mt. Diablo. From its commanding summit, he could view for miles the surrounding hills and valleys and with the zeal which characterized these humble friars, seek, perhaps, a favorable spot where a new mission, a shrine or a cross might be planted to lead the savage to christianity and civilization. Having reached the top, he turned and gazed over mountain, plain and valley and to the ocean beyond, but in a few minutes was surprised to see, seated on a rock near him, an elderly hidalgo, dressed in the garb of a century before and wearing a plumed hat, and whom he surmised to be his satanic majesty.

The hidalgo sought to convince the holy man that all his work for the redemption of these lands would come to naught, and the missions fall to ruin, but the zealous soul would not believe this and saw a future, in imagination, more glorious than the past. The hidalgo said, "Look then to the west," and waved his plumed hat toward the ocean. The fog was seen to melt from canyon, hill and forest, and the landscape, beautiful and green, opened clear to the ocean. The padre gazed, and he beheld defiling from ravine and canyon long cavalcades of horsemen and cavaliers, with the royal banners of Spain glistening in the sunlight above them. They were all marching to the sea, where stately vessels awaited to bear them from the shore. "Behold," said the hidalgo, "the departing footsteps of gallant knight and priest from Aragon and Castile. Behold the fading glory of Spain. This land shall be lost to her forever." The venerable priest raised his hand in benediction and exclaimed, "Farewell, ye gallant cavaliers and Christian gentlemen. Farewell, Nunez de Balboa, Cabrillo and ye saintly missionaries of God."

"Now turn to the east," the hidalgo said. The father looked far to the distant snow-capped Sierra and, through the passes and down the mountain sides, beheld advancing a myriad host of strange, fair-haired and stalwart men and women, and at their head floated a banner, new to him, flashing in the golden sunlight, with brilliant stripes of red and white and in a field of blue the stars of heaven. "Behold," said the hidalgo, "the future rulers of this fair land. The flag which shall be known o'er land and sea throughout the West."

And even as this legend foretold, so has it come to pass. The Pioneers came and they founded here a great American state, and they gave to it the beautiful Spanish name "California," and they preserved and cherished the traditions of Spanish cavalier and missionary padre, and retained the soft Castilian names of Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Santa Maria, Santa Ynez, San Gabriel, Santa Rosa and San Francisco, all closely associated with what we now call home and country.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

NEW YEAR DAY, MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1883, dawned with California covered by a mantle of snow. A snowstorm lasting several hours prevailed New Year Eve and deposited from three to six inches of "the beautiful" over the state. San Francisco had a snowfall of five inches, and sleighs with tinkling bells appeared on Market street. Eighteen eighty-two went out with tooting horns, exploding firecrackers and a bombardment of snowflakes. In the valley towns, for the first time within a decade, citizens enjoyed the pastime of snowballing. Weather savants searched the records of the past for similar seasons, but could find none.

While New Year Day was one of frequent showers, prominent dames throughout the state continued the time-honored custom of keeping "open house," and felicitous greetings were exchanged.

January 1 a shower of mud covered Fresno City and adjacent farms with a coating of gray sandy material. At Bakersfield, Kern County, there was a dense sandstorm, said to be the worst ever experienced there; the drifts so obstructed the railroad line trains ceased operating. At Los Angeles City, .60 of an inch of rain fell.

A norther prevailed January 5 throughout California North and did much damage to shipping in San Francisco Bay. It also blew down the seventy-foot-high "spite" fence of Charles Crocker, on Nob Hill, San Francisco, to the great delight of other residents of that district.

The rainfall for the month was 2.82 inches, bringing the season's total to 10.47 inches. There were seventeen frosty nights, and in the valleys the thermometers went down to 22 degrees.

The stock market was still in a torpid state, and the extremely low selling prices of mining stocks indicated the public's opinion of their worth.

January 10, General George A. Stoneman was inaugurated Governor of California, and the Democrats replaced the Republicans in control of the state government. The Senate, with thirty-one Democrats and nine Republicans, organized by electing Senator R. F. DelValle of Los Angeles president-protem. The Assembly, with sixty Democrats and nineteen Republicans, elected Assemblyman H. M. LaRue of Sacramento speaker. The Senate, being in an economical frame of mind, did not select a chaplain, so no prayers were uttered in its behalf.

The quadrennial inauguration ball, sponsored by the citizens of Sacramento, was held in the State Capitol January 16. Mayor John Q. Brown was chairman of the arrangements committee. Governor Stoneman and Mrs. George C. Perkins led the grand march, in which several hundred citizens from all parts of the state joined. Supper was served, and champagne flowed freely.

Statistics showed it had cost $5,384,891 to run the state government during 1882. That the assessed value of property in the state was: real estate, $318,860,810; improvements, $115,218,911; personal property, $140,180,978; railroad property, $31,820,680; money, $19,597,500; total valuation of all taxable property, $658,601,059. The rate of state taxation was 62½ cents on the $100 of valuation.

During 1882 the United States Mint at San Francisco turned out 9,250,000 silver dollars, 1,170,000 five-dollar gold pieces, 2,880,000 ten-dollar gold pieces and 24,175,000 twenty-dollar gold pieces, all minted from Pacific Coast precious metals.

Internal revenue collections by the Federal Government in California during 1882 from liquors and tobaccos totaled $3,891,757.

From July 1, 1882, to January 1, 1883, one hundred seventy-three vessels ladened with California-grown grain cleared through the Golden Gate for foreign countries.

M. P. Kay, deputy clerk of Alameda County, was this month found to be a defaulter. Over $20,000 was missing, and his many political friends were greatly shocked.

A south-bound Southern Pacific passenger train stopped January 25 at Tehachapi, Kern County, and the engine was cut off to take on a coal supply. Robbers, it was claimed, attempted to drop the train down the grade a short distance. Out of control, the cars rushed down the track several miles until finally ditched. Fire resulted, and several sleepers were burned. Twenty-one passengers were killed outright, among them Mrs. Downey, the wife of ex-Governor J. G. Downey, who was burned to death. Five of the killed were never identified.

A large tin ledge was this month uncovered in San Diego County.

In Fine Gold Gulch, Fresno County, a seam of decomposed quartz was found which, for over sixty feet, paid $200 a foot in gold.

A quartz ledge was discovered near Windwhistle, Sonoma County, which assayed $600 a ton in silver.

A four-foot-wide copper vein, portions of it nearly pure metal, was discovered near Garden Valley, El Dorado County.

Nichols & Reem, mining near Grass Valley, Nevada County, discovered a pocket that, the first day, yielded $670 in gold nuggets.

Alameda County was reported to be feeding its county jail prisoners at a cost of five cents a meal.

Fire January 23 destroyed twenty-five buildings in the Chinatown of Truckee, Nevada County. The thermometer being five degrees below zero, icicles were more plentiful than the water supply. The loss was $30,000. The same day, four business houses at Hanford, Kings County, burned, with a heavy loss.

The main conservatory building of San Francisco's Golden Gate Park was destroyed by fire January 5.

Seven saloons and five business houses in Tehama City burned January 15, with a $20,000 loss. Susanville, Lassen County, had a disastrous fire January 20. A loss of $20,000 resulted from the burning of several business houses in Biggs, Butte County, January 23.

Simon Sweet & Co., wholesale produce merchants in San Francisco since the '50s, went into bankruptcy this month on account of having been systematically robbed of over $100,000 by a trusted bookkeeper.

Sixty-one persons arrived from Denver, Colorado, by railroad train January 18, to settle in San Diego County.

Smallpox broke out in the Red Bluff jail. The news becoming known, not a single "wearie willie" could be found rendezvousing in Tehama County.

Fresno City was illuminated by gas for the first night January 23, and the event was duly celebrated.

John LaPorte, who arrived in Monterey City in 1849, died there January 7.

Major Henry Hancock, who came to California South in 1847, died at San Monica, Los Angeles County, January 9.

H. P. Osborne, one of the organizers and first presidents of the Sacramento Association of California Pioneers, membership in which was limited to those arriving in the state prior to January 1, 1850, died at the Capital City January 9.

Mrs. Selma Wilder, claimed to be the first White child born in Grass Valley, Nevada County, died January 14. Her maiden name was Selma Rice.

Judge R. C. Clark, who came from Kentucky in 1853, died at Sacramento City January 27, aged 68. From 1861 to the day of his death he was a judge of Sacramento County.

Henry L. Langley, whose name was a household one in San Francisco, he being from the '50s publisher of that city's directory, died there January 29.

"Lucky" Baldwin was again a press headliner, on account of another of his amours. January 4 Miss Fanny Baldwin—said to be his cousin and to have been employed as schoolteacher at his Santa Anita rancho in Los Angeles County—after a discussion with him in the lobby of the Baldwin hotel in San Francisco, drew a gun and fired, the bullet wounding him in the arm. Miss Fanny claimed "Lucky" had reneged.

An explosion of nitro-glycerine January 18 at the acid works near San Pablo, Contra Costa County, blew three employes to pieces.

A cave-in January 18 at the McCullum mine near Nevada City suffocated Bradford Woodward. A similar accident at the Indian Spring mine near Magalia, Butte County, January 10 crushed to death Ed. Perkins and John Ferrin.

John E. Dever and Charles Schaffer of Vallejo, Solano County, went duck hunting January 3. They were found dead in their boat the next morning, having frozen to death during the night.

An explosion January 21 at a giant-powder works near Berkeley, Alameda County, resulted in Foreman Kompff and twenty-nine Chinamen being blown to pieces.

Four Chinamen attempted to rob the sluices of the Malakoff mine near North Bloomfield, Nevada County, the night of January 26. The watchman fired, and killed one.

J. L. Smith, who killed his son at Santa Ana, Orange County, in obedience, so he claimed, to the Lord's command, was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. Enroute January 6 to San Quentin, he jumped from the moving train near Caliente, Kern County, had a leg cut off, and died a few days later.

Voicing opposition to the proposal for the Federal Government to grant an immigration quota to Japan and other Asiatic nations, V. S. McClatchy, executive secretary of the California Joint Immigration Committee, addressing the San Francisco Commonwealth Club said: "Such a quota would repeal the only logical, non-discriminatory barrier we have against the possibility of a future invasion of unassimilable Asiatics."

He reminded his hearers that Japan would not be satisfied with being granted only a limited quota, but would demand one equal to that of leading European nations. "Concede the Japanese the right to enter on the same basis as the Europeans and they would in time demand a number of immigrants equal to that permitted any other first-class power. We would have no logical ground for refusal."

That there is no great scarcity of dollars in this country, but a growing feeling of distrust, is evidenced by the record of the postal savings system, "in a year of unparalleled financial disturbance." For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1932, the deposits totaled $784,820,623,—more than double the amount on deposit with the Federal Government at the end of the previous fiscal year—and the number of depositors increased one hundred percent, to 1,545,190. By the end of November 1932, the deposits had mounted to $881,054,718. Pretty good argument for government-guaranteed bank deposits!

Because some ten percent of the 17,000 officials and employes of California failed to cooperate in the voluntary salary-reduction plan to balance the budget, the state has abandoned that plan. The modest-salaried employes "came through" all right, but the high-salaried babies refused to co-operate.

Reliable information received by The Grizzly Bear says the judges of the state,—supreme, appellate and superior—excepting those of the superior court in San Francisco, refused to contribute, anticipating the State Legislature will reduce their salaries. The lawmaking body should not disappoint the judges, and should also prune the salaries of numerous other overpaid officials and employes.

Every property owner knows that realty in California is taxed to a near-confiscation degree, and something must be done to lessen the burden. A just procedure, with that in view, would be for the State Legislature to proceed to repeal the damphool legislation excluding certain properties, including churches, from taxation.

In Los Angeles County alone the non-taxable property has an assessed valuation of $80,842,620. Every parcel of property and every individual should bear its and his fair share of the tax-burden. In flush times the voters, unthinkingly, committed many errors. Now is the opportune time to wipe out the tax-exemption and numerous other legalized evils.

California's Governor, so press dispatches say, will again, for 1933, assign the "R" series of automobile license plates to a select list of his friends. Efficient and honest government plays no favorites! The State Legislature should deal a death-blow to the Governor's "R"-oyal family.

Auto License Time—The 1933 auto license renewal period is shorter than in former years. It opens January 3 and ends at midnight of January 31.

Bumper Crop—The San Fernando Valley section of Los Angeles County is this season harvesting the largest lettuce crop in its history.

"Duty—Duty should never be considered an unpleasant task, but a privilege to be enjoyed." —Jeanette Nourland.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

COMPTON PARLOR NO. 273 OF THE Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, organized under the supervision of Deputy Grand President Clinton E. Skinner, was formally instituted December 8 with a charter membership of thirty-one. The institution ceremonies were conducted by the following, representing Sepulveda No. 263 (San Pedro), Santa Monica Bay No. 267, Glendale No. 264 and Ramona No. 109 (Los Angeles) Parlors, as acting grand officers: Ralph I. Harbison, junior past grand; District Deputy Edward E. Baldwin, grand president; Patrick Doran, grand first vice; Walter D. Richards, grand second vice; Dr. L. W. Clarke, grand third vice; Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter, grand marshal; George Fontes, grand inside sentinel; Arthur R. Leonard, grand outside sentinel; Clinton E. Skinner, grand secretary; Fred Staebler, grand organist.

Officers of Compton Parlor were then installed by Ralph I. Harbison as follows: Dr. "Larry" V. Cowan, president; Donn R. Crockett, charter junior past president; Ray W. Hecock, first vice-president; Clarence R. Hann, second vice-president; Dr. Morgan S. Ralls, third vice-president; William Don Castillo, recording secretary; Ernest Spurlock, financial secretary; Roy Lee Otis Adams, treasurer; Raymond C. "Tay" Brown, marshal; Hector Hecock, inside sentinel; Frank L. Hawkins, outside sentinel; Alfred R. Brown, Elmer L. Knight, Loyal F. Simmons, trustees. The Parlor plans the initiation of several additional candidates during January. It meets the second and fourth Tuesdays at Mayo Hall, 231½ East Compton boulevard, in the City of Compton.

PAST PRESIDENTS DIRECT ACTIVITIES.

Long Beach—The December activities of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. were in charge of the past presidents. The 1st, a mock-turkey dinner was enjoyed. Grain troughs were the favors, and huge paper turkeys graced the table. Junior Past President Daisy Hansen was the chairman. Deputy Nellie Cline spoke on the Order, Past President Violet T. Henshilwood gave an interesting reading of early transportation in Long Beach, and Miss Eliza Houghton gave a vivid account of her experiences in South African jungles.

The 15th, the members were served a real-turkey dinner and were entertained with a playlet. The following past presidents were responsible for the success of the occasion: Mmes. Clara Fay (chairman), Daisy Hansen, Violet Henshilwood, Lillian Lassiter, Fannie McPherson, Kate McFadyen, Lottie Wharton, Bertha Hitt, Rosa Faust, Lucretia Coats and Carrie Northway (Rubecinda Parlor No. 240), E. Mabel Emery, Ellen Rogers and Rose Ford. Mrs. Flora Elder, for twelve years financial secretary, was presented with an emblematic pin. Under the direction of Mrs. Lucretia Coats, the thimble club recently completed a very pretty quilt. Officers of the Parlor will be publicly installed by Deputy Nellie Cline January 5. All Natives are invited.

THIRTY-EIGHT INITIATED.

The supper and initiation held December 3 in honor of Grand President Seth Millington of the Native Sons attracted a goodly number and proved a very enjoyable occasion. Several Native Daughters, among them Founder Lily O. R. Dyer, Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer and Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, were in attendance at the dinner.

At the ritual ceremonies, thirty-eight candidates were initiated—twenty-six for Compton Parlor No. 273, five for Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267, three for Ramona Parlor No. 109, and two each for Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 and Hollywood Parlor No. 196. Bernard Hiss was chairman of the evening. Among the speakers following initiation were Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger, William I. Traeger and John T. Newell, Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter, Earl LeMoine, Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz and Grand President Millington. Every southland Parlor from San Diego to Santa Barbara was represented.

DINNER AND BRIDGE PARTY.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. elected officers December 14, Amada Machado being chosen president. Public installation ceremonies will be held January 11, with Deputy Lucretia Coats officiating. A shower of canned goods for the day nursery was held, and it was voted to continue furnishing a needy family with two quarts of milk daily. Myrtle Barden was hostess for the evening.

The Parlor's ways and means committee announces a dinner and bridge party for January 28; tickets 35 cents. A large delegation of members were guests December 10 of Dr. and Mrs. George Sabichi and Harold Barden at the Whittier State School. Following luncheon the boys provided entertainment.

CHILDREN GUESTS.

The Christmas party sponsored by Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. December 22 was a great success. Many less-fortunate children were guests. From a beautiful Christmas tree they were given gifts and candy, and bountiful refreshments were served. The grownups, also, were well entertained. President Owen S. Adams was the Santa Claus, and Sidney B. Witkowski headed the arrangements committee.

Past Grand President John T. Newell has resigned as treasurer of the Parlor and been succeeded by Frank Frank. Grand President Seth Millington paid a visit to the Parlor December 1 and there was a large crowd out to greet him.

OLDTIMERS NIGHT.

Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. elected officers December 5 and for the third time Henry G. Bodkin was selected as president. He plans many activities for the Parlor, including a membership campaign. The officers-elect will be installed January 16, and refreshments will be served.

January 30 has been set aside by Hollywood as "oldtimers night," and members who were active in the distant past will preside as chair officers. All Native Sons are extended an invitation by President-elect Bodkin to be on hand.

STATE FLAG PRESENTED COUNCIL.

Glendale—Mrs. Vera Carlson will head the new corps of officers of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W., being elected president December 13. A Christmas party was held December 20 for the children of the members of No. 240, those of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. and the Scouts of Troop No. 3. Harvey Gillett showed three reels of movies, and short addresses were made by J. Marion Wright and H. E. Cleveland. Santa Claus distributed gifts and candy.

December 22 Verdugo, through President Betty Sanders, presented a California State

Native Sons of the Golden West

VALLEJO—UNDER THE AUSPICES OF Vallejo No. 77, the cornerstone of the General Mariana Guadalupe Vallejo junior high school was laid by the grand officers December 11. Russell F. O'Hara, president Education Board, was chairman of the day, Rev. W. L. Gaston delivered an invocation, and Rev. Louie Naselli a benediction. Several selections were rendered by the junior high school band. Addresses were delivered by Grand President Seth Millington, Past Grand Joseph R. Knowland, William J. Tormey (Vallejo No. 77) and Past Grand Dr. Louise C. Heilbron of the Native Daughters.

Assisting Grand President Millington in the cornerstone laying ceremonies were Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Past Grands Joseph R. Knowland and Charles L. Dodge. Among the articles deposited in the cornerstone box by School Directors Mrs. Elon A. Mitchell and Samuel J. Knight Sr. were copies of Vallejo Parlor's bylaws, the Grand Parlor Constitution and The Grizzly Bear for December 1932.

Jurist Honored.

Weaverville—Mount Bally No. 87 was host to a large gathering of Natives and friends December 15, when Judge James W. Bartlett, a charter member and former grand trustee, was guest of honor. After thirty years of service to Trinity County as superior judge, Judge Bartlett is voluntarily retiring January 1.

President R. L. Marshall presided, and the speakers included Grand Trustee Horace J. Leavitt, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Gehm, Edwin J. Regan (South San Francisco No. 157), C. A. Paulsen and Judge Bartlett. Musical selections were rendered by Misses Ida Koop, Pauline Clark, Alaire Beckstrum and Vivian Bennett. Refreshments concluded the program, and then card playing was in order.

Historical Association's Annual Meet.

San Diego—Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer of San Diego No. 108 was accorded the honor of presiding at the annual meeting of the California State Historical Association in Los Angeles, December 28. The meeting was held on the campus of the University of Southern California, and a feature was a tour of the magnificent Doheny Memorial Library, where speakers recounted recent activities in California history. Dr. Owen C. Coy, director of the association, made a report for 1932, and there was a conference pertaining to the various fields of activity for the promotion and the preservation of California history.

December 4, Grand President Seth Millington debated with Samuel Hume the question of "Quota for Japan" before the San Diego Open Forum. Some six hundred people displayed much interest in the subject. The rules of the Forum forbid applause until a speaker has concluded, but so frequently were the Grand President's remarks cheered the chairman of the evening found it necessary to call the assemblage to order.

District Athletics Urged.

San Francisco—The Grand Parlor Athletic Committee—Al. Sandell, Alva Werner, R. J. Garrett, Wesley Colgan and Arthur Cleu—has concluded that, owing to the uncertainty of conditions generally, it is not advisable to promote state-wide athletics competition on a large scale at present. The state was divided into nine sections, and the Subordinate Parlors in each have been requested to organize an athletics committee to conduct tournaments.

Answers to questionnaires revealed the fact that the following sports, in the order listed, are the most popular with Subordinate Parlors: basketball, baseball, indoor horseshoes, bowling, indoor baseball and golf. "By starting local activities this season," advises the Grand Parlor committee, "it will be easier to organize competition for state championships next year."

Gala Night.

Calistoga—December 5 was a gala night in the annals of Calistoga No. 86, the occasion being the official visit of Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin. Among the large crowd were visitors from all sections of Lake, Sonoma and Napa Counties. President Angelo Molinari presided, and the ritual was impressively exemplified by the Parlor's splendid ritual team.

Grand Third Vice Skillin discoursed on "Friendship," and Grand Second Vice Chas. A. Koenig spoke on "Immigration Restriction of Asiatics." Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane created a lot of fun by his remarks, and Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann said "if all Parlors had the spirit of Calistoga it would be well with the Order." C. E. Butler of No. 86 told what the Order means to him, and there were many other speakers. Bounteous refreshments concluded the festivities.

Annual Masquerade Great Success.

Antioch—The forty-eighth annual masquerade of General Winn No. 32 was a most colorful affair and largely attended. There were many very clever costumes, and prizes were awarded the following: Miss Elnora Elliott and B. R. Garrow, best dressed, representing, respectfully, an old-fashioned girl and a spanish don; Miss Aileen Peters and Harry Hobbs, most original; Mrs. W. A. Christiansen and Frank Baer, best sustained characters. The grand march, directed by Charles Hornback and F. J. Biglow, was led by Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Garrow.

Public Whist Draws.

Salinas—An unusually large crowd attended the public whist party of Santa Lucia No. 97. Following cards, an hour was given to dancing, and refreshments were served. As a special feature Mrs. Frances Leidig rendered several vocal selections. The party was held under the supervision of E. Dougherty, Everall Adcock, John Souza and George McDougall.

Benefit for Homeless Children.

Ferndale—Ferndale No. 93 and Oneonta No. 71 N.D.G.W. had an entertainment and dance December 2 for the benefit of the homeless children, and it was an enjoyable affair and very successful. N. J. Lund gave a short talk, and a comic skit was presented by the high school students, directed by E. J. Clabby. Musical numbers were rendered by R. A. Grinsell, Mmes. Grace Rusk and Bernice Mills, Misses Marie Goff, Gertrude Hartley and Leona Simms, and Hazel Christensen and Hazel Hogan appeared in dance numbers.

Noted Peace Officer Passes.

San Rafael—Mount Tamalpais No. 64 elected officers for the January-July term December 5, Arthur B. Hecht being chosen as president. Extensive arrangements for installation are being made by a committee.

Hugh I. McCurdy, a member of the Parlor, died suddenly December 12, survived by a wife and two daughters. He was born at Bolinas, Marin County, in 1877. He was one of the most widely-known peace officers in California. His kindly and humane treatment of the down-and-outers of the genus hobo was well known and favorably commented on throughout the San Francisco Bay region. He had secured a shelter, jocularly known as "Stumble Bums' Roost," on the outskirts of San Rafael, where wanderers are cared for and provided with work wherewith to earn enough to eke out a scanty living until such time as they are ready to move on. As a result of this policy, the wandering guests of San Rafael seldom cause any annoyance. It has been said that word is passed that weary willies sojourning in San Rafael must behave, or take the consequences from their own companions.

Grand President Visitor.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead No. 110 had as its guest of honor November 30 Grand President Seth Millington, who spoke on the Order's accomplishments and future plans. Many other visitors were in attendance, among them Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, Deputy Grand President Walter Hiskey, District Deputy Ray Marsili and President Bernard Hiss of University No. 272 (Los Angeles). The present officers of the Parlor, headed by President F. L. McGarvey, were re-elected for another term.

December 1, Grand President Millington addressed the San Bernardino Lions Club, being introduced by Ben Harrison. Arrowhead is making great preparations for a winter week-end party at its Crestline clubhouse in San Bernardino Mountains, January 28. All Native Sons are extended an invitation to join in the festivities.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1932, as follows, together with their membership figures December 20, 1932:

Parlor	Jan. 1	Dec. 20	Gain	Los
Ramona No. 109	1088	1041	....	4

Christmas Party.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 elected officers December 21, Charles D. Blaine being retained as president for another term. December 14 the Parlor, with Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W., sponsored a card party for the benefit of the homeless children. Robert Benson and Mrs. Ethel Enos were in charge. The Parlors also joined forces for a Christmas party.

Interparlor Gatherings.

Sebastopol—Representatives of Sonoma, Marin and Napa Counties Parlors, meeting here, arranged to hold monthly interparlor gatherings. The January meeting will be held in Napa, the February meeting in Sausalito and the March meeting in Santa Rosa. District Dep

THE HOLIDAYS OF FREMONT

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! THE DISCHARGE of a lone howitzer reverberates on the bank of an unnamed lake. Fremont and his small band are encamped to celebrate the Christmas Day of 1843. Their location is an uncertain place in northern Nevada or eastern Oregon.

Fremont, with his chief lieutenant, Kit Carson, is pressing south from the Columbia River into Nevada, looking for the Buenaventura River. Adown it they expect to float into the Bay of San Francisco. Like a mythical search of centuries ago, the Pathfinder and his redoubtable followers are questing the unfindable. They have yet to learn that between the Bay of San Francisco and the Great Basin of Nevada a lofty chain of mountains rears its pinnacles skyward and that no river can penetrate their vastness and loftiness.

Yet, the year is 1843. The rough maps of the day in possession of Fremont plainly show his river flowing from Nevada into the Bay of San Francisco. Carson is no more aware of the maps' errors than his chief. So, into barren Nevada the troop of thirty men search, and search in vain. They encounter hardships and suffering, but Fate still seals the supreme test that she has in store for them.

As Fremont rested on the 25th of December, 1843, he records the day and its significance in his faithfully written diary. Let him comment on the 25th of December in his own words:

So southward after his lonely observance of our most popular holiday spent two thousand miles from his bride of less than two years he again charters his way and soon arrives at Pyramid Lake, Nevada. At this time he gave the lake its name. Then on southward again and a cheerless New Year Eve came with the passing days but still no view of the Buenaventura River. The arid, dry, rocky character of the mountain, the cold weather and limited food are taking their toll from Fremont and his men. Was it any wonder that on this night, in the loneliness of barren Nevada, his thoughts turned toward his compatriots miles away, celebrating the advent of the new year and the death of the old one in the normal way which civilized beings through the years have observed the departure and advent of time?

Surrounded by physical discomforts and the loneliness which must have been his, he made this entry in his never failing diary:

"After an hour's ride this morning our hopes were once more destroyed. The valley opened out, and before us again lay one of the dry basins. After some search, we discovered a high water outlet, which brought us in a few miles, and by a descent of several hundred feet, into another long broad basin, in which we found the bed of a stream, and obtained sufficient water by cutting the ice. The grass on the bottoms was salt and unpalatable.

"Here we concluded the year 1843, and our new year's eve was rather a gloomy one. The result of our journey began to be very uncertain, the country was singularly unfavorable to travel, the grasses being frequently of a very unwholesome character, and the hoofs of our animals were so worn and cut by the rocks, that many of them were lame, and could scarcely be got along."

On the 18th of January, 1844, Fremont finally determined that his maps showing the Buenaventura River were incorrect, and wrote:

"And I determined to cross the Sierra Nevadas into the valley of the Sacramento whenever a practical pass could be found. My decision was heard with joy by the people, and diffused new life throughout the camp."

Had Fremont and his men known of the horrors ahead of them, they would have received the news of his decision with horror and foreboding. The date is the 18th of January, 1844. It is the middle of winter. The Sierras are snow-covered. In the year 1844 there was not even a summer trail across them. And now the trackless mountains are covered with many feet of snow, and into this snow trap plunged Fremont and his men. It might be asked why Carson did not advise against it. The truth is, that Carson was as unfamiliar with this section of the West as Fremont. Carson had only been to California once, fifteen years before, and had reached San Francisco and had gone back the southern route. Is it any wonder that they started on what today might be termed the impossible? And, once in, there was no turning back. Their hardships and suffering from cold, hunger and fatigue form a heroic chapter in pioneer history. They endured thirteen-below-zero weather, they ate their mules and had to finally consume their pet dog. Mule soup keeps their brave hearts beating.

Then, on March 7, they reach the Sacramento Valley and Sutter's Fort. I doubt if human beings ever went through forty-eight days of such suffering. Starving, frozen and exhausted, they were met by Captain Sutter, and Fremont ever faithfully records the meeting as follows:

"In a few miles were met a short distance from the fort by Captain Sutter himself. He gave us a most frank and cordial reception, conducted us immediately to his residence, and under his hospitable roof we had a night of rest, enjoyment and refreshment which none but ourselves could appreciate."

Fremont, who was to play such an important part in the great drama of California, thus entered the territory his name was to be so closely associated with. Remember that California is at this time Mexican domain.

It was not until his third expedition that he wrote his history of accomplishment and forever determined that California should not be either Mexican or British, but part of the Union.

Without his presence near Sutter Fort it is possible that the Bear Flag Party would never

Native Daughters of the Golden West

QUINCY—A MONUMENT NOW STANDS at the foot of the steepest pitch on the old emigrant road over which the mining man of the early '50s and his family traveled between Johnsville and Gibsonville—at the foot of grand old Eureka Peak. It is an old arastra stone—a perfectly round slab of granite from one of the earliest Jamison Creek quartz-crushing mills. Upon it is fastened a bronze plaque reading: "The Emigrant Trail, 1850. Marysville, Jamison City. Tablet set in stone from early day arastra used in Jamison Creek. Erected and dedicated by Plumas Pioneer Parlor No. 219 N.D.G.W. and Quincy Parlor No. 131 N.S.G.W."

President Lena Droege of Plumas Pioneer welcomed the crowd at the dedicatory ceremonies. Mrs. Violet Mori introduced the speakers, who included: Mrs. Verbenia Hall, "Tribute to the First Pioneers;" E. C. Kelsey, Plumas County treasurer, "Early Trails and Roads;" J. D. McLaughlin, "The Mining Industry;" M. C. Kerr, "Preservation of Early History."

West of Johnsville, at the Split Rock from which the arastra stones were cut, a second marker was dedicated. Mrs. Birdenia Swingle read a poem descriptive of early-day Johnsville, and Miss Sally Hardgrave told some of her early memories and referred to Messrs. Kerr, McLaughlin and Kelsey as "mere boys who didn't know what it was all about."

AIMS AND OBJECTS of the
ORDER OF NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

To cultivate state pride.
To aid state development.
To advance state progress.
To promote the study of California history.
To preserve California's landmarks, relics and traditions.
To honor and keep in memory California's Pioneers.
To stimulate and inspire patriotism.
To assist in the work of americanization.
To encourage higher education for women, as evidenced by the Order's liberal college scholarship.
To guarantee social enjoyment, mental improvement and mutual benefit to members.
To care, conjointly with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, for the orphaned children of California, of whatever class, color or creed, by placing them in permanent homes through legal adoption proceedings, thus engaging in the most humanitarian of public welfare work, that of improving the future citizenship of the state.

If YOU were born in California and believe in these principles, you should be a member of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Greet N. S. Grand President.

Santa Ana—Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Supervising Deputy Florence D. Schoneman and President Mattie Edwards of Grace No. 242 (Fullerton) were among the November 28 visitors to Santa Ana No. 235. During the evening members and visitors joined with Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W., which was entertaining Grand President Seth Millington. Numerous addresses were made, Miss Marion Parks speaking of the history of early California, and telling the origin of the names of many of the state's cities, towns, etc.

December 19, Santa Ana No. 235 celebrated its seventh institution anniversary. A card party was recently held at the home of Olive Seba, and the evening was most enjoyable.

Grand President Visits Home Parlor.

Woodland—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited her home-Parlor, Woodland No. 90, November 26. President Florice White presided at the banquet preceding the meeting, and among the speakers were Le R. Pierce, Tax Collector Robert Woods and Sheriff James W. Monroe. Three charter members—Lulu Shelton, Harriett Lee and Mattie Zimmermann—were in attendance.

Old Folks Not Forgotten.

Alturas—Beautiful Christmas decorations radiated the spirit of festivity at the December 1 meeting of Alturas No. 159. After the business meeting friends joined the members and eighteen tables of bridge were in operation. Delicious refreshments were served. As usual, a basket of Christmas cheer was sent the old people in the Modoc County Hospital.

A committee from Alturas was successful in securing the high school auditorium for the Parlor's annual Christmas ball—the first time in history a fraternal organization or club has been privileged to give a public ball there. From the proceeds of this event Alturas provides funds for the homeless children cause and for all of its many local charitable activities.

Installation To Be Public.

Crockett—Carquinez No. 234 had a surprise Christmas party for the members December 14. There was a beautifully decorated tree, and Santa Claus distributed presents. Officers were elected, Mrs. Lucille Franges becoming president. Installation will be held January 25, and will be public. December 28 the Parlor had a whist party and refreshments were served.

Old Sacramento Plaza Marked.

Sacramento—A marker commemorating the historic City Plaza, between Ninth and Tenth, I and J streets, the first park given to the City of Sacramento by Captain John A. Sutter in 1850, has been dedicated by Califia No. 22. The marker is mounted upon a large granite boulder on the Tenth-street side of the park, between two towering trees. It carries a replica of a covered wagon, a reminder of the important role the plaza has played in Sacramento's life.

The park once was a pony-express center, and a hay market once graced the outer of the two walks on J street. And, of course, it was a popular rendezvous on Sundays and holidays when public band concerts constituted an important part of the people's entertainment. Many Sacramentans also recall the City Plaza as a favorite "sparking" place for young bloods and their girl friends.

The dedicatory program featured an address by Past Grand Esther Sullivan, chairman Grand Parlor History and Landmarks Committee. Grand President Anna M. Armstrong also spoke, and unveiled the tablet, and Mayor C. H. S. Bidwell made the address of acceptance on behalf of the city. Mrs. Sadie Brainard was in charge of arrangements.

Grand President's Official Itinerary.

Woodland—During the month of January, Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong will officially visit the following Subordinate Parlors on the dates noted:

3rd—Laura Loma No. 162, Niles.
4th—Minerva No. 2, San Francisco.
10th—Califia No. 22, Sacramento.
13th—Orinda No. 56, San Francisco.
16th—Colus No. 194, Colusa.
17th—Fern No. 123, Folsom.
18th—Ivy No. 88, Lodi.
24th—El Vespero No. 118, San Francisco.
27th—Auburn No. 233, Auburn.
31st—Las Lomas No. 72, San Francisco.

Big Sisters To Unfortunates.

San Bernardino—Lugonia No. 241 had a Christmas party for twenty unfortunate children December 21. A huge tree, loaded with gifts, candy and bright decorations, was the main attraction. Santa Claus was there to greet the youngsters, games were played and refreshments were served. First Vice-president Mary Johnson had charge of the arrangements, and members of the Parlor were "big sisters" to the guests. Officers of Lugonia were installed December 28 by Deputy Marion Crum of Santa Ana.

Amador County Products Featured.

Sutter Creek—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Amapola No. 80 December 8, when one candidate was initiated. A program was presented and then Santa Claus (Theresa Cuneo) appeared, and from a large Christmas tree, gorgeously decorated, distributed gifts to Mrs. Armstrong, Grand Marshal Gladys Noce, Grand Trustee Edna Briggs, Supervising Deputy Emma Wright, Deputies Harriett Clemens and Margaret Molfino, Sadie Brainard, Henrietta O'Neill, and President Macea Fontenrose of Amapola. The recipients responded in words of thanks, and the Grand President spoke highly of the ritualistic work of the Parlor officers. A banquet concluded the festivities, the centerpiece of the table being a horn of plenty with Amador County-grown fruits and nuts. The favors were replicas of the centerpiece. Harriett Clemens arranged the decorations.

NEVER FORGET

"There is no substitute for membership"

Amapola is working diligently for the homeless children fund under the able chairmanship of Grand Marshal Noce. It plans to adopt one of the babies for the six-week period, according to the plan of the Central Committee. The Parlor is also selling Loyalty Pledge cook books, and having the amount realized credited to the pledge of Forrest No. 86 (Plymouth).

Proud of Living Christmas Tree.

Petaluma—The card party and dance sponsored by Petaluma No. 222 December 6 for the benefit of the homeless children was a great success. Mrs. Elizabeth Dillon had charge of the cards, and Mrs. Julia Perolini supervised the dance. Members have been liberal purchasers of Christmas seals.

The Parlor had its annual Christmas party December 20. Petaluma is very proud of the living Christmas tree which it planted three years ago in Hill Plaza. It was lighted for the first time this year and was a big holiday attraction.

Charter Members Honored.

Byron—The remaining charter members of Donner No. 193—Elizabeth Plumley, Maud Plumley, Grace Krumland and Clara Houston were honored at a recent dinner. A turkey whist drew a large crowd and everyone had a good time. Officers for the January-July term were elected December 7, Virginia Boltzen being selected for president.

In conjunction with Byron No. 170 N.S.G.W., Donner sponsored a Christmas party December 16 for the needy children of the community and the Parlors' members. An appropriate program was presented and gifts, candy and fruits were distributed.

Dainty Foods Bring Good Returns.

Mountain View—El Monte No. 205 had a very successful food sale for the benefit of the homeless children. A goodly supply of dainty foods attracted many purchasers, making it possible for the Parlor to send a check for a substantial sum to the Central Committee.

Two Initiated.

Menlo Park—Menlo No. 211 entertained December 12 in honor of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong, who was accompanied by Junior Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson and Grand Trustee Edna Briggs. Two candidates were initiated. The banquet table was decorated in holiday effect, with a miniature Christmas tree, Santa and his reindeer. Gifts were presented Grand President Armstrong, Supervising Deputy Rena Mathais, Deputy Ida Pfaff and President Velma Ewers.

N.D.G.W. OFFICIAL DEATH LIST.

Giving the name, the date of death, and the Subordinate Parlor affiliation of all deceased members as reported to Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler from November 18, 1932, to December 17, 1932:

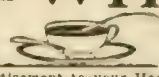
Peyton, Sarah E. Ford; November 26, Amapola No. 80.

CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR OF '60s WILL BE REMEMBERED BY STATE UNIVERSITY.



In memory of the man who signed the organic act creating the University of California, March 23, 1868, the University of California will establish a Henry Huntley Haight scholarship in the school of jurisprudence.

Haight was elected Governor of California in 1867. In his inaugural address, December 5 of that year, he said: "The reformation of our present defective state prison system and the organization of a state university are objects of great public importance, the attainment of which I should be glad to facilitate in any way within my power."

Before coming to California in January 1850, Haight was editor of a Free Soil newspaper in St. Louis, and was an ardent critic of slavery. His father, Fletcher M. Haight, came to California in 1854, and was later appointed district judge for the southern district of California by President Abraham Lincoln.

Time—Time is but the fleeting zephyr of the wind that ever blows; whence it cometh, whence it goeth, no one tells, for no one knows."—Jeanette Nourland.

In Memoriam

EVANGELINE HENSLEY.

To the Officers and Members of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 N.D.G.W. We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of love and respect in memory of our departed sister, Evangeline Hensley, do submit the following:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call our beloved sister, Evangeline Hensley, to the Eternal Parlor above, let us always cherish the fond memory of her noble character and smiling countenance.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family our sincere sympathy. It is our earnest prayer that God in His infinite mercy, assuage their deep grief and send peace into their hearts. Be it further resolved, that our charter be draped in mourning, that a copy of these resolutions be sent the parents and husband of our deceased sister, and one to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

SOPHIE SIEBE,
MARGARET RAMM,
Committee.

San Francisco, November 14, 1932.

HELENA WULBERN.

To the Officers and Members of Bear Flag Parlor No. 151 N.D.G.W. Whereas, With the Birthday of the Lord drawing nigh and the beginning of a new year approaching, Almighty God has called our loving friend and loyal member, Helena Wulbern, to enter the dawn of a new life in His Eternal Home, and whereas the work left for our thoughtful sister to do had reached its culmination in her many friendships and generous actions, and will be carried forward by her noble sons and daughters; and whereas, we are not unmindful of the respect within our souls and the responsibility incumbent upon us in so grave and reverent a transition, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Bear Flag Parlor hereby recognizes the spiritual advancement and the physical departure of a willing worker and devoted sister, and with all honor shrouds her vacant chair, and, as a symbol of our love and affection, extends sympathy from our hearts to her grieving family who greatly mourn her passing, be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be presented to the family of our late sister, that this resolution be entered in full in the minutes of the Parlor, and that a copy also be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

MARY BRIGLIA,
MAUD WAGNER,
ELSIE HAVEN,
Committee.

Berkeley, December 7, 1932.

CLEMENCE CHICON.

To the Officers and Members of Argonaut Parlor No. 166 N.D.G.W. We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiments and heartfelt sympathy of the members of the Parlor on the death of our sister, Clemence Chicon, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst our beloved charter sister, Clemence Chicon, and to summon her to a higher life, and whereas, in her passing our Parlor has lost a most esteemed sister, and the community in which she lived a most respected and loved citizen, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Argonaut Parlor extend sincere sympathy to the husband and the bereaved family, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our sister, that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor.

MAMIE FONTES, President,
CHRISTINA BARTLETT,
ADA SCHLMAN, Secretary.

HUGH McCURDY.

God's finger touched him, and he slept. Once more a brother has answered the dread summons. But a few short days ago a mother in the flower of its manhood was called with tragic suddenness to stand before his Maker.

A brave, generous, genial, sympathetic officer of the law, a faithful and loyal Native Son, an honest, upright and patriotic citizen, Hugh McCurdy will ever live in our memories as one who always commanded that we pass this way but once, he was a friend to the friendless, the downtrodden, the broken spirit, he never spared the lash through heedless rather than through premeditation, he set a noble example, he was not without sin.

The lesson he has taught will not be lost. He was a kind and loving son, and tenderly and with arms braced down we humbly beseech our Maker in Heaven to not only bless the girl in these words of ours, as possibly assuage and to give comfort and consolation to his bereaved family, but He can give Rest.

Resolved, That a copy of these words be spread upon the minutes of Manzanita Parlor No. 64 N.S.G.W. that a copy be forwarded under the seal of the Parlor to his bereaved mother, that a copy be published in the official publication of the Order, and that charter be draped for a period of thirty days, and be it further resolved that the Parlor stand in silence in respect to the memory of our departed brother.

MRS. JOSEPHINE JONES FISCHER.

The Angel of Death has again invaded the portals of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. and taken from our midst our well-beloved and faithful Native Daughter, Josephine Jones Fischer. We, your committee, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has called our sister Josephine Jones Fischer to her eternal home, therefore, be it

Resolved, Los Angeles Parlor has lost one of her finest members, a friend whose memory will always remain dear to her husband and relatives as an inspiration and guide. He who has loved them may they find comfort in the thought that their great affliction is but a temporal separation, and that these messengers have only opened the portals of a better world. THE LETTER BOX

CO-OPERATION APPRECIATED.

Editor Grizzly Bear: Thank you so much for the generous contribution of space which you gave to the American Red Cross in The Grizzly Bear Magazine. In that notice in the November issue a universal invitation to participate in Red Cross work through individual membership, you made a most substantial contribution to our membership roll call.

Please allow me to express to you in behalf of our national officers and the leaders of our 3,600 Red Cross chapters sincere appreciation for your generous co-operation. Cordially yours,

DOUGLAS GRIESEMER,
National Director of Roll Call.

Washington, D. C., December 1, 1932.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED.

Editor Grizzly Bear: Thank you very much for your thoughtfulness in sending us a copy of The Grizzly Bear in which you so kindly used some of our Christmas seal material. We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation for this contribution to our work. Sincerely yours,

A. SCHAEFFER JR.,
Director of Publicity
National Tuberculosis Association.

New York City, December 7, 1932.

A JEST
(N. H. DUNNING.)

He gave the World a friendly nod,
And asked of it a little space
In which to keep the modern pace,
Yet save a speedy fall from grace . . . . .
It only frowned a bit and said,
"Keep off the grass!"

Again he said, "Dear World, how odd
Indeed, I'll chance a little fall . . . . .
If you can make it rational,
The thing I said was just a 'stall'."
The World replied, "Just go ahead,
I'm sure you'll pass!"

(Clipped from Mrs. Annie H. Dunning's Los Angeles, a frequent contributor to the columns of The Letter Box.)

"It is better to do deep thinking on a small problem than thin thinking on a big problem."

BENEFIT BALL A SUCCESS.

The annual ball of the San Francisco N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Parlors for the benefit of the homeless children was a huge success, financially and socially. James L. Foley was chairman of the arrangements committee, Mrs. W. H. Urmy the secretary and Chas. A. Koenig the treasurer. Judge A. J. Fritz was the floor director, and the grand march was led jointly by Governor James Rolph Jr. and Mayor Angelo J. Rossi.

Winners in the drum corps and drill team contests were: Mission Parlor No. 227 N.D.G.W., best N.D. drum corps; Alcalde Parlor No. 154 N.S.G.W., best N.S. drum corps; Mount Tamalpais Parlor No. 64 N.S.G.W. (San Rafael), best N.S. drum and field-music corps; Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185 N.D.G.W., best N.D. drill team.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DOINGS.

The children welfare committe of Orinda Parlor No. 56, under the leadership of Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, visited Thanksgiving Day the tubercular wards of the San Francisco Hospital and presented each child with a chocolate football and funny paper. At the birthday party for the November girls, each was presented with a gift; Deputy Mae Waring was the guest of honor. December 9 the Parlor elected officers, Marie McGrath being chosen president. Orinda is looking forward to the official visit of the Grand President January 13.

Genevieve Parlor No. 132 had a delightful Christmas party December 15. Games were played, carols were sung and a delicious supper was served. Miss Hannah Toohig, as Santa Claus, gave each member a gift and candy. Mms. Lillian Ryan and Lillian Weisel arranged the attractive table decorations.

HEADS PROSPERITY DRIVE.

Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane heads the 1933 prosperity drive of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 N.S.G.W. He has prepared a practical system whereby all delinquent members will be given an opportunity to be placed in good standing. The Order and the Parlor will, it is contended, be greatly benefited by his constructive resolution.

STATE'S OLDEST NATIONAL FOREST CELEBRATES FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

California's first national forest was created by President Benjamin Harrison December 20, 1892. His proclamation set aside 555,520 acres in Los Angeles County, known as the San Gabriel Timberland Reserve. This area was regarded as valuable for watershed protection by the United States Interior Department's geological survey and by the first California State Forestry Commission appointed by Governor George Stoneman in 1885.

From 1892 until 1897 it remained "reserved" from all forms of use except recreation. In 1908 it was consolidated with the old San Bernardino National Forest under the name of the Angeles, but in 1925 the two areas were again separated and administered as distinct units. Today the Angeles National Forest, with its area of 643,836 acres, is more intensively used for recreation than any other national forest in the United States, and two million persons obtain 80 percent of their water supply from the streams rising from its watersheds. Within its boundaries over one million persons annually find recreation.

Bridge Celebration—San Francisco is planning to celebrate January 15 commencement of construction work on the mammoth Golden Gate bridge.

Auto Show—The seventeenth annual Pacific Automobile Show will be held in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium commencing January 7.

Interest Reawakened—Interest in mining in California has been considerably reawakened, and many old mines are being worked.

FREMONT HOLIDAYS

have been organized and would never have committed its overt act against Mexican rule. Fremont, the Pathfinder, the man unafraid, despite all of his services to his country, had finally settled on his head more unhappy circumstances than perhaps any other figure in American history. Between the jealousies of the Army and the Navy, the attacks by politicians and petty men in Washington, a cloud of calumny was raised which still hangs over the name of this noble American, whose greatest weakness, perhaps, was his independency, his incorruptibility and his refusal to fawn upon the petty politicians of his day.

Dinner Dance.

Menlo Park—Menlo No. 185 and Menlo No. 211 N.D.G.W. had their annual Christmas dinner dance December 15. President C. T. Maloney of No. 185 was the toastmaster, and a feature was the singing of carols. The Parlors are taking an active part in local relief work and made cash donations to help fill the Christmas baskets for the needy.

Past Grand Celebrates Anniversary.

Napa—Past Grand Henry C. Gesford and wife celebrated December 3 their golden wedding anniversary at the San Francisco home of their daughter, Mrs. Maidie Jones. Gesford, seventy-six years of age, was born near Calistoga, Napa County, and his wife is a native of Fairfield, Solano County. For eighteen successive years he was superior judge of Napa County, and also served the county as school superintendent and district attorney, and was for two terms a member of the State Senate.

BOOK REVIEWS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

"ON THE TRAILS OF YESTERDAY."
By Roy W. Cloud; Harr Wagner Publishing Co., San Francisco, Publishers; Price, $2.50.

This work, in simple language, most interestingly recites considerable of the history of California, and makes special reference to some of those most prominent in the making of that history. The story features the American era, opening with the journey of the Wiley family overland in 1853, and continuing with accounts of their visits to various places of the state. The author has dedicated the book "To my mother and to the other Pioneer Mothers of the West. Overcoming unknown dangers, they builded on the Pacific a mighty commonwealth."

Anyone interested in California history will enjoy "On the Trails of Yesterday," which is extensively illustrated by Ray Bethers. Author Cloud is a member of Redwood Parlor No. 66 N.S.G.W. of Redwood City. He was formerly superintendent of San Mateo County schools, and is now executive secretary of the California Teachers Association.

THANKSGIVING.
(GEORGE E. PHAIR.)

"I thank Thee, Lord," the workman said,
"For all Thy golden wheat,
Enough to flood the world with bread,
Though I have none to eat.

"I thank Thee for the cotton bales
That tower high in the air
To feed the world from wintry gales
Though I have naught to wear.

"I thank Thee for the whirring wheels
That fashion shoes to wear
Although the stony pavement feels Unkind when soles are bare

"I thank Thee for the trembling heads
That graze on grasses sweet
Though statesmen thing my empty words
Instead of good red meat.

"And though the landlord's heart is cold
Against my last appeal,
I thank Thee, Lord, for all the gold
That fills our vaults of steel!"

(Bear) Flag to the Glendale City Council. This was the Parlor's third flag presentation for 1932, others going to the Glendale high school and the California State building in Los Angeles. December 27 the Parlor had a birthday party for its November and December members.

STOP SINGING THE BLUES.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. had a real old-spirit meeting December 16, and the attendance was big, as in the pre-depression days. Special consideration was given the members born in December and they were honor-guests at a dinner preceding the meeting. Past President Charles G. Young was presented with an emblematic ring, there were many enthusiastic talks, and Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger and Leo V. Youngworth staged an indoor horseshoe match. The Doce Caballeros, a Ramona auxiliary, is sponsoring a dance at Patriotic Hall January 21; 25 cents per person. "Let's stop singing the blues and make this a smashing success," urges Fred Staebler, who will be the floor director.

Scoutmaster Robert Dunn took the Scouts of Troop No. 109 on a hiking trip into the snow-covered mountains the week-end of December 17, and they had a glorious time. The Scouts will distribute baskets to needy families the latter part of January, and members of Ramona are urged to make liberal contributions of canned foods every Friday night including January 27. Ramona wants to start 1932 off with a bang, and so has arranged an affair for January 20 which all Natives and their friends, female and male, are urged to enjoy. Dinner will be served at 6:30, the January boys being guests and all non-members paying the small sum of 25 cents. Following the feast a marvelous program is promised, under the direction of Beulah Belle Smith of Glendale. No charge for the show. Those intending to be at the dinner must notify Secretary John V. Scott not later than January 18. Charles Straube has charge of the affair. January 13 the Parlor will have initiation.

HOSTESS TO NEIGHBORING PARLORS.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. initiated a class of candidates December 7. Dr. Madeline Verneka, director of the course of study in the public schools, delivered an educational message, Florence Dodson Schoneman praised the history work done by the Parlor, and other speakers were Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel Hansen and Deputy Rita Smith. December 21 was a gala night with No. 124—the annual Christmas party under the chairmanship of Gertrude Allen, assisted by the other past presidents. Such fun, presents and "eats!"

The veteran welfare committee of No. 124—Inez O'Shea (chairman), Edna Trombatore, Ann Schiebusch, Evelyn Trautwein, Juanita Porter and Ramona Thoroughgood—visited the National Soldiers Home at Sawtelle Thanksgiving Day and presented lovely, generously filled gift-boxes to the bed-ridden vets. A committee chairmaned by President Mattie Labory-Gara presented numerous Christmas boxes to the deserving. Olinda Kerby and committee are receiving compliments for the Parlor's artistic yearbook.

Los Angeles was hostess at a joint meeting of representatives of Long Bech No. 154, Rudecinda No. 230, Santa Ana No. 235, Verdugo No. 240, Grace No. 242, Santa Monica Bay No. 245 and Californiana No. 247 Parlors, to plan for the official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong to the southland from March 7 to 23. The gathering was called by Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer. Refreshments were served in the tea room, beautifully decorated in Christmas colors, the poinsettia predominating. Delicious home-made refreshments, prepared by Edna Holcomb, were served at tables arranged to form a star. Mrs. Juanita Porter headed the able arrangements committee, and Mrs. Acension Simon furnished music. All enjoyed the wonderful evening. The January calendar for Los Angeles includes 4th, initiation 11th, card party, final of the tournament, Olinda Kerby chairman 18th, pot-luck dinner, followed by a talk on "Bret Harte's Writings of California" by Dr. Chamberlain 25th, reception to Congressman-elect and Mrs William I. Traeger.

SEVEN INITIATED.

University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. added seven additional names to its rolls December 20, the ritual being impressively rendered by a team of present and past officers of Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 (San Pedro) and Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 (San Bernardino), with Francis Fetzer, of the former, as president. Many visitors were in attendance, including a large delegation from Arrowhead, and on that Parlor's behalf President F. L. McGarvey presented University with a seal.

Among the speakers of the evening were Grand Organist Leslie Maloche, Deputy Grand President Walter Hiskey, District Deputy Walter Baskerville, Bob Brazelton, Vincent Hopkins, President Joseph Pia of San Pedro, President Bernard Hiss of University and Judge Donald E. VanLuven. University Parlor had its second monthly dance December 27.

HOUSEWARMING.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. and Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. had a joint housewarming at their new meetingplace, Odd Fellows Hall, 1431 Third street, December 28. Some 200 guests were entertained. Dancing and cards were provided as entertainment features, and refreshments were served. Arthur R. Leonard and Mrs. Eldred Meyer had charge of arrangements.

Santa Monica N.S.G.W. will hold its annual lobster feast February 1—good news that will be received with delight by all southland Native Sons.

JOINT N.S. INSTALLATION.

Officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, Ramona Parlor No. 109, Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 and University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. will be jointly installed January 10 at public ceremonies to be held at the meetingplace of University Parlor, 471 West Forty-seventh place. The presidents-elect of the Parlors are, respectively, Leslie Packard, Frank Adams, Arthur Leonard and Bernard Hiss.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Miss Ann Schiebusch (Los Angeles N.D.) made a flying visit to San Francisco last month.

A native daughter arrived at the home of Oscar Nyland (Ramona N.S.) during November.

Irving Baxter (Ramona N.S.) spent the Thanksgiving holiday in Fresno City, visiting his son.

Mrs. Ralph Tuttle (Californiana N.D.) entertained at supper at her home, for the benefit of the Parlor, December 1.

Miss Julia Larson (Los Angeles N.D.) and William Jeff Morrison were married at the home of her mother in Bakersfield, November 30. They are residing in Santa Ana.

Miss Mildred Connolly and Walter H. Odemar (Ramona N.S.) were wedded November 18, and following a honeymoon in San Francisco and Seattle are residing in Los Angeles.

Robert W. Kenny (Ramona N.S.) has been appointed a superior judge, and Albert Scott (Hollywood N.S.) and George Dockweiler (Ramona N.S.) have been appointed municipal judges.

Eugene W. Biscailuz (Santa Monica Bay N.S.) was appointed sheriff of Los Angeles County by the Board of Supervisors to succeed William I. Traeger (Past Grand President N.S.), elected to Congress.

In recognition of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, Mrs. Clarence E. Noerenberg (Californiana N.D.) and husband were tendered a surprise December 10. It being the crystal anniversary of the couple they were presented with a goodly number of appropriate remembrances following a delightful spanish dinner. Those present included Messrs. and Mms. Walter E. Baskerville, Larry Chapman, Robert Shinn, Edward Tabor, Louis Hansen, Edward Gibbs, Paul P. Lombardi, Stephen Stevenson; Mms. Narcisse de Garnier, Chandos E. Bush; Ursula Silver, Mildred Beckwith, Jeanne Parker, Leon J. Leonard, J. Perry Lewis Jr.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Raymond J. McGrath, former secretary of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W., died November 17. He was born at Redlands, San Bernardino County, September 15, 1892.

Claude L. Fried, brother of Grant Fried (Ramona N.S.), died November 30 at Chicago, Illinois State.

James Owen Cashin, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died December 3 at San Francisco. He was born at Nevada City, Nevada County, October 16, 1865.

Mrs. Grace Riley, wife of Charles Riley (Hollywood N.S.), died December 8.

Mrs. Mary E. Borden, mother of Perry R. Borden (Ramona N.S.), died December 12.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Waterman, mother of Herbert R. Waterman (Ramona N.S.), died December 17.

Rosa del Valle, sister of Mrs. Walter B. Cram and Mrs. John R. Kirby (Californiana N.D.), died December 17 at Santa Monica.

Mrs. Josephine Jones Fischer, affiliated with Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., died December 18.

Louis P. Waterman, affiliated with Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., died at West Los Angeles December 24 survived by a wife and a daughter. He was a native of San Francisco, aged 64, and was chief deputy public administrator of Los Angeles County.

Frank LeGrande Turner, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died at South Pasadena December 25 survived by a wife. He was a native of Hayward, Alameda County, aged 47, and was a deputy sheriff of Los Angeles County.

WHAT MAN HATH DONE

heard that he told it to anyone else. He knew that I sympathized with him.

"I am now seventy-nine and have not seen him since 1863, but think of him as a wonderful man to do so well for his education. Having had a letter from the secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Sacramento, which is my home-town, who has read my 'Life and Letters of a '49er's Daughter' and seems to understand it, I decided to send this story to The Grizzly Bear. Because, what man hath done, man can do! And we do not need any more 'illiteracy,' if only boys will start out like William Gwin. This is the story that was told to me by him:

" 'My father married a baby-doll, and when he died she wanted a good time, so she gave me away to a colored mammy and moved to another town, and I have never seen her since. I worked for my living since I was six years old. I saw the colored boys growing up, and they laughed all the time and danced to funny steps. But I soon made up my mind not to dance or carry on so!

" 'Very soon I found out that people must learn to read. By the time I was six years old I nearly went crazy. My colored mammy was good to me, but she could not read, so I worked for a primer with the letters in, but there was no one to teach me. Finally I met in the street a man who was very fair, with bright hair. Some one told him I was making every one wild crying to learn my letters, and he took notice of me. He asked me my name, and it was the same as his own. Pretty soon he found out we were related—he was an uncle of my father. By that time I was ten years old, and he helped me to learn to read. When I was twelve he advised me to join a party going west to California, by being a driver of cattle, and grow up with a new beginning to my life.

" 'He helped me to get a start, being a driver of cattle himself. Soon after he died, but I always remembered him because he was a perfect gentleman. I tried to be like him, because he was the only one of my family I ever knew. It was a long time before we got across the many miles to the West, and I studied every spare moment I had. Most of the people along the way could read and write, and some of the women helped me.

" 'At last I came to Sacramento and became a helper to a man who sold milk. By this time I was a big, husky boy. However, I still kept on with my books, and one day I learned about the Methodist college in Santa Clara. There was a Catholic college there, also, but I decided to be a Methodist. My uncle had been a Methodist, and I wanted to be like him. So I worked for a man in Santa Clara who helped me so I could work my way through college. I don't remember how long I was there, but I expected to go back, when I came over to Aurora Esmeralda and got a job driving oxen.

" 'That was when I saw you that day, and made you go home. And since then I have joined the Methodist church here, and sing in the choir. Some have made fun of me in this town, but I'm going to sell my mine, and go East and marry a schoolteacher so that the little fellows, if there are any, will learn to read at home and know more than their father.'

"I have not seen William Gwin since 1868, but I heard that he had married a schoolteacher and was perfectly happy."

Here is an excerpt from the Sacramento letter referred to by Mr. Mechels: "What a long, useful life you have led, and think of the great good that you have done. One reason why we are carrying on this Y.M.C.A. work for mountain young people is because the church around that Pioneer Mother's knee seems to have faded away in these modern times, and many of those old church buildings that were built during the days of '49 now stand with broken windows, the yards grown up in weeds, and the buildings going into decay. I find that ninety-seven percent of the boys and girls of high school age in these mountain counties have no church relationships. They are such a fine group of boys and girls, too, who respond so willingly to any challenge that is given to them. F. M. Duckles, district secretary Mountain District Y.M.C.A."

(This story came to The Grizzly Bear from Mrs. Ella Sterling [illegible] story should be published in The Grizzly Bear because I have been [illegible])

KATE OBRADOVICH

It was with [illegible] that the members of Amapola Parlor No. 291 N.D.G.W. received word of the passing of Sister Kate Obradovich. After a life of devotion to family and friends, [illegible] the soul of Him who doeth all things well to rest in the Master's home.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family our deepest sympathy.

"Be comforted, ye loved ones who weep.
She lives with God, she is not asleep."

Be it further resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy of the same be presented to the surviving family, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

WHEN THE RAINY DAYS COME, and come they must, one may note with interest the new designs in wet weather togs. They have improved from heavy practical rubber to cravenet, and now to waterproof tweeds, rubberized crepes and waterproof leather. A stunning new model has nothing of the old style dreary, cloudy-day look. It is made of waterproof tweed in a deep but very dull blue, and is belted. Many models are made of reversible rubberized crepe on one side and ostrich plaid wool on the other side.

Black and blue are the two smartest colors for coats and suits; gray and blue with either dark blue or bright blue. We never have a good thing to say for the dark blue, having for years considered it too middle-aged for words, but if you like it, don't mind, just go ahead and wear it, with the knowledge that it is one of the season's smart shades.

Gray strikes a high note in the fashion world, being shown in varied tones from the soft dove and pearl grays to those with a tint of pink or lavender in their mixtures. It looks so new, so chic and so different, both in lighter and oxford grays. But please don't wear gray stockings or gray gloves with gray outfits. This new popularity has lifted gray into a dominant place. It is being used for every occasion, day and evening, formal and informal, and in every fabric from velvets and crepes to the soft woolens and knitted materials.

A frock of gray rabbit-hair cloth resembling angora in fuzzy texture has the sleeves gathered into deep cuffs, adorned with large white-yarn dots. The waist is plain, is cut with a "V" neck in front, and has a scarf. The frock is belted at the normal waistline, and the skirt is plain except for two kick-plaits at the front widths. This suit is worn with black accessories. The skirt is of average length, well down over the calves.

Most all of the new sports dresses are rough, but loosely woven and light in weight. Beside the various wool textures, the popular materials include chevrons, cords, both fancy and plain jerseys, and knit goods. Everyone will be wearing suits again and the smartest will be tailored, making them becoming to more people. They are plain and quite refreshing, after two seasons of fancier things.

With the new suits we have the adorable sailor hats. Please notice that they are worn straight down over the forehead and turned up at the back. And right here I pause to remark that they must be black, to be worn with gray suits. Brown accessories have been smart with gray, but they must be black this season to be considered smart with gray.

We are going strong just now with old-gold and brown, which is still considered good style. Browns continue to cover the favorite range of colors. They seem almost to have covered the place of the old reliable black. Brown in dark shades is used for afternoon coats and suits, no matter what the fashion costume. They have heavy trimmings of fur, preferably astrakan or fox. Light, soft browns make the sports suits for the younger generation, and browns of all varieties appear in evening dresses and wraps.

Brown lace for evening wear is kept in a solid color scheme, or is trimmed with beige or some bright touch of green or red. Brilliant hues rule in garb for evening. Pale pastel and white evening gowns have yielded their long established prestige to the rich and brilliant tones. Purples dark and light, violet and hyacinth have led the way to the introduction of other deep colors, including fuschia, green, turquoise, blue and red. Vivid nasturtium yellows and browns range from autumn leaf to the rich dark browns.

You may want to select something particularly smart for dinner. Why not choose one of the new taffetas of black, strikingly trimmed with bandings of gold and having a little jacket which, if removed, leaves a decollete evening gown for formal wear? If fashion has a favorite for formal wear, it is perhaps white. So again milady might turn with certainty of chic and charm to white.

A simple, stately gown, looming in its very severity for loveliness, has a perfectly plain skirt rippling at the bottom, and the bodice is a solid mass of sequins in silver, designed with a high straightly crossing line in front and a very low decolletage in the back. The shoulders are draped, and gathered with an ornament of brilliants.

Of course, we have heard a lot about the smartest evening gowns for this winter made of wool crepe. There are practical reasons for this popularity, for those who wear girdles and corset variations find that it is only in the woolen dress that the figure remains smoothly outlined. The weight of the fabric eliminates the breaks in the line of the silhouette that are bound to come, even on the youngest, most girlish figure. Women who consider themselves too full of figure to wear white satin or crepe, find white wool is thoroughly satisfactory.

Greater stress than ever before is centered this season about accessories that complete the smart costume. Never have there been so many different styles of hats, bags and shoes, not to mention costume jewelry, and scarfs of both fur and fabric. Certainly, never before has costume jewelry been so lovely nor so interesting as it is this time of the year. A costume is in no way complete without necklace, earrings, bracelet or some other intriguing decorative fancy. When choosing for formal wear, be restrained in your choice when you cast your eye toward costume jewelry for dinner gowns. For formal afternoon look for the picturesque, but when you seek costume jewelry to wear with sports clothes then let your conscience be your guide. Sports jewelry is exotic, and follows the primitive trend this season.

(HISTORIOGRAPHER N.S.G.W.)

EDWARD D. BAKER

HERETOFORE, THIS COLUMN HAS adverted to the neglected grave of Edward D. Baker in Laurel Hill Cemetery, San Francisco. Feeling that we are inexcusably and forever neglectful of our fraternal mission, if we do not rescue from oblivion the grave of California's most gifted and heroic Pioneer, this subject is again alluded to.

Were Baker of the ordinary mold of Pioneer, then perhaps the unanswered "call to remembrance" of your Historian would have fulfilled his duty, and he would have passed on to other subjects during his incumbency. But we cannot be faithful to our trust, we cannot be faithful to the past, we cannot call ourselves a fraternity dedicated to history, its men and achievements, unless we perform this duty.

Is Baker neglected because he is little known? Is not his greatness known to all loyal Californians? Perhaps the answer is that it is not and, for that reason, neglect and inattention have played their unhappy parts.

If there was a Californian of the early days who was entitled to the homage, the reverence and the respect of all who followed him, that man was Baker. He far outstrode his contemporaries. His record had been brilliant before he came to this state. Once here, he became California's foremost orator, its greatest criminal lawyer, and its most heroic defender to keep it a free state. A man of handsome exterior, he possessed the spark of genius born once in a generation. It is said of him that only one man in the Congress of the United States was abler on the floor of the Senate than he, and that man was the immortal Daniel Webster. Space does not permit a more comprehensive study of his life at this writing, so his untimely end is only dealt with, and mayhap at some other time a more complete story of Baker may be written.

On the 30th of May, 1854, San Francisco, feeling the need of a suitable burial place for its dead, selected a site called Lone Mountain. Later this name was changed to Laurel Hill, and Laurel Hill it is today. By a singular coincidence, the balmy day selected for its dedication was the 30th of May, a date to become immortal at the close of the Civil War. At the dedication, Baker was at his best, and it is difficult to say just what was his greatest forensic effort. Here is a flash of his mind on that long-forgotten day in May:

"Here future generations, in long and solemn procession, shall bring warriors who have given their lives for their country; statesmen, remembered by the liberty they helped to create, and the institutions they aided to perfect. Here shall be brought the poet, who buoyant, passed through sea and land, through earth and sky, and vale and river, penetrating the affections and accomplishing the refinement of men. The projector—worn with toil and gray with thought—leaving monuments to his fame and memorials of his greatness, here, too, shall come to end his life; and, too, the tender maiden, smitten in early blossom; and the little child, the pledge of love, to whose grave the aching heart shall oft repair to weep and pray."

We now pass quickly from the dedication to his untimely death, in his fifty-first year, in one of the first engagements of the Civil War, at Ball's Bluff, Virginia, October 21, 1861. In the face of overwhelming odds, in an untenable position and at the head of his troops, the great Baker fell upon the field of honor.

It is said that President Abraham Lincoln mourned the loss of Colonel Baker more deeply, probably, than any other death caused by the war. Lincoln and Baker had practiced law together in Sangamon County, Illinois, and were warm personal and professional friends. It was Baker who carried the Lincoln banner on the Pacific Coast in the great campaign of 1860 and helped win both Oregon and California as Lincoln states. The peerless orator was at his best when he spoke for Lincoln. No distance was too great to travel, if he could find an audience to talk to of the greatness of the then-little-known-on-the-Pacific-Coast Illinoian who was to achieve immortality.

Baker was a duly commissioned colonel in the Union forces at the time of his death and had been in two wars theretofore, the Black Hawk Indian War and the Mexican War. Lincoln personally attended the commemorative session of the Senate when eulogies of Baker were delivered, for be it not forgotten that Baker laid aside his toga as a Senator to don the service uniform of a colonel of infantry.

The news of Baker's death reached the Pacific Coast in the second message to be sent over the just-completed overland telegraph line. With woe, with sorrow and with uncontrolled grief, the news ran from city to mining camp and to remote habitations throughout California as well as Oregon. Be it remembered that Baker, on account of the strength of the slavery forces in California, failed in his election to Congress.

He was invited, after his defeat, to the State of Oregon, with the promise that, perhaps with his personality and with his rare charm of speech, he could go to Washington as the senator from that new state. Those who conceived the plan, saw it become a reality, and we find Baker retiring from the Senate to the field of honor. Edwin Booth, the actor, was appearing in San Francisco at the time of Baker's death and announced the sorrowful message from the stage. The grief, the gloom, the sorrow were indescribable, and afterwards rage seized the auditors. In several towns disloyalists who expressed gratification at the unhappy news were roughly handled, and in San Francisco several were hanged for a time to street gas posts.

Funeral and commemorative services were held in many cities and mining camps. Oregon and California both put forth their respective claims that the body should repose in its state. The short residence of Baker in Oregon and his far greater work and residence in California were facts presented by the Californians. The committee representing the government and citizens of Oregon, in urging its claim for interment in the soil of that state, promised that the state would erect a suitable monument to Baker were buried there. The contest was earnest, but carried on with faultless taste. Baker's widow finally selected San Francisco as his final resting-place, and at the grave Thomas Starr King delivered the funeral address. At Mus

SITUATION SERIOUS---AID A WORTHY CAUSE

Mary E. Brusie

(Secretary N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Central Homeless Children Committee.)

FOR MANY YEARS THE NATIVE Daughters of the Golden West have been providing clothes for the homeless children in care of the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Central Homeless Children Committee. Every baby has gone to his or her new home dressed in the daintiest and most attractive garments that the Native Daughters could make or buy in different parts of California. Also, the children awaiting placement have been amply provided for. This generosity on the part of the Native Daughters has been favorably commented on by thousands of foster-mothers who have received the first little layettes for their babies, pleased that they were the handiwork of enthusiastic Native Daughters.

Evelyn I. Carlson, during her term as Grand President, was particularly eager to interest an even greater number of Parlors in something tangible, something aside from their collection of funds, necessary as she knew this part of the work to be, and so she stressed the need of clothing as part of her gospel to the Subordinate Parlors. Their response was prompt, and overwhelmingly generous. Never has there been a more beautiful display of baby things than the one of the girls' work during the Grand Parlor session in Merced last June.

Our present Grand President, Anna Mixon Armstrong, realizing the pent-up enthusiasm awaiting expression, suggested that the feeding of the babies be the next undertaking, as sufficient clothes for a year or more had been supplied, and she has advocated the adoption of a baby by each Native Daughter Parlor while the baby is awaiting placement. The six-week period of caring for a child before placement enables the natural-parents to consider more seriously the irrevocableness of their decision. The cost of this six weeks' care is $37.50. Many of the Parlors have undertaken the payment of this sum in specified monthly amounts, thus making the demand on each member less burdensome.

Some interesting sidelights have been the reactions of the members to this message of the Grand President. Alta Parlor No. 3 (San Francisco), for instance, wondered if any one would want to adopt a colored baby, so it took John, a fine little chocolate drop who is looking for a mammy whom he may keep always. Portola Parlor No. 172 (San Francisco) wanted "any needy little fellow." Woodland Parlor No. 90 wanted a girl so it could name her "Anna," after Grand President Armstrong. La Bandera Parlor No. 110 (Sacramento) wanted a girl to name after its Grand Trustee, Edna Briggs. Other Parlors want to name babies after their presidents or, if the majority of the members insist upon a boy, they work in the president's name in some way as a handle. Lovely layettes were sent at Christmas time by Grand Trustee Briggs and James Lick Parlor No. 220 (San Francisco) to the foster-parents, and the Parlors received acknowledgments for the expression of interest in their charity by letters signed, "Baby's mother."

It is the plan of the Central Committee to keep the Parlors informed as to their adopted child's development and progress, and to send them photographs as long as the foster-parents remember the Central Committee, which, bless these foster-parents' hearts, seems always, as the pictures of seventeen- and eighteen-year-old young men and women received by the Central Committee each year bear testimony.

In the face and outstretched hands of a helpless baby there is a direct heart appeal, and if furnished the opportunity to choose a child and keep in touch with him through photographs the interest of the members is intensified and continued success is assured.

The Native Sons have not been appealed to along these lines although, as a matter of fact, a bystander has only to see the twinkle of pleasure in the eyes of a Native Son when he picks up a tiny sunsuit or a small boy's b-v-ds and ejaculates, "Cute as the devil!", to know that he is not altogether indifferent to baby clothes and milk bottles and hungry babies.

Native Daughter Parlors that have adopted babies are: Eschol No. 16, Napa; Oneonta No. 71, Ferndale, sewing club; Veritas No. 75, Merced; Amapola No. 80, Sutter Creek; Woodland No. 90; Calistoga No. 145; Colus No. 194, Colusa; Marinita No. 198, San Rafael; La Junta No. 203, Saint Helena; Caliz de Oro No. 206, Stockton; Phoebe A. Hearst No. 214, Manteca; South Butte No. 226, Sutter; Piedmont No. 87, Argonaut No. 166 and Fruitvale No. 177, Oakland; Alta No. 3, Golden State No. 50, Buena Vista No. 68, Sans Souci No. 96, Keith No. 137, Presidio No. 148, Linda Rosa No. 170, Portola No. 172, Castro No. 178 and James Lick No. 220, San Francisco. Also, Sacramento homeless children sewing club; Past Presidents Association No. 8; Golden Gate Auxiliary, friends of the Order; Past Presidents Association No. 2

The amounts received to January first for the milk fund, as it is termed, total $198.62

A circular letter for 1933 sent by the Central Committee to the Parlors not yet contributing to remind them that April first will be here "ere we are aware," states that the number of children placed to January first is 130, making a total of 4,161 different children in homes; that the bank balance amounts to $2,944.80, with a bequest of $12,000 available during the year; that the time is not now to convert securities into cash; that there is at present about seven months' income on hand, we having disbursed $18,024.23 from April 1, 1932, to January 1, 1933. Only one glance at these figures reveals the fact that, unless every Parlor responds generously to the appeal, we shall have difficulty in getting through the next lean year.

The Central Committee is not unmindful of the many members of both Orders who have been hard hit in various ways during the past two years, and realizes that while there has been no waning interest in the homeless children there has been a decided change in the circumstances and conditions of many of the members.

Quoting from the "Contra Costa Gazette," whose article, "Help Natives Help Others," Las Juntas Parlor No. 221 N.D.G.W. and Mount Diablo Parlor No. 101 N.S.G.W. consider was largely instrumental in the success of the benefit enabling them to contribute over $100 to the cause:

"Tomorrow night a benefit card party, the proceeds of which go to the homeless childrens fund of the Orders, will be given at the Woman's club by the Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West.

"It is a benefit affair that deserves the support of all Martinez. The funds are used for a good work that means a great deal to chances many children have to develop into future good citizens of our city, county and state. It is an annual affair that deserves the support of all loyal, true

In every Parlor there is a leader who would perhaps lend his time and ability toward working out a plan to help his Parlor meet its yearly donation, if the members would importune him to make the effort. The situation is serious, and the members must know it before the eleventh hour!

STIMULATE CALIFORNIA HISTORY INTEREST VIA THE GRIZZLY BEAR.

Albert V. Mayrhofer, Secretary San Diego Parlor N.S.G.W.—We appreciate the generosity of San Diego Parlor in the past in supplying us with a subscription to The Grizzly Bear and should like very much to have you re-subscribe for it if this is at all possible for you to do.

It is a splendid magazine for stimulating interest in California history. We should regret not being able to circulate it which, I fear, will be the case if you cannot send it to us. The old subscription expired with the October 1932 issue, so if you do re-subscribe for us, will you have the subscription begin with the November 1932 issue? In that way, our file will not be broken. Very truly yours,

ADA M. JONES, Librarian
San Diego High School Library.
San Diego, January 11, 1933.

(San Diego Parlor renewed the subscription. For the very reason cited in this letter, Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters should send The Grizzly Bear regularly to all public and school libraries in their several communities.—Editor.)

GRIZZLY GROWLS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

CALIFORNIA IS IN A WOEFUL STATE, financially! The all-wise administration just now admits the truth of the state controller's statement some months ago—that, in place of the bountiful surplus at the end of 1930 there is a deficit of many millions, and that, in all probability, the state will shortly be unable to meet its obligations. Numerous measures, many of them most worthy, have been presented to the State Legislature in the hope of balancing the budget without an increase in taxes.

There is a decided split in the legislative branch of the state government, and there is every likelihood, therefore, that the best of the economy measures—those which would eliminate wasteful extravagances and tend to lessen the rate of taxation—will fail of enactment, unless the taxpayers forcibly impress on their legislators that they will not countenance additional taxes of any nature. Taxes should be lowered, and but for the political racketeers they would be, and, too, the budget would be balanced. If taxes are not lowered, a threatened tax-strike will be justified!

Both the administrative and the legislative wings of the state government are preaching economy, but every department is lobbying to prevent passage of any economy measure directed its way. For instance, the public-schools' cost could be materially lessened, but the education-lobby is spending thousands—probably taken from tax funds—to prevent any curtailment there.

All salaries of more than $3,000 per annum paid wholly or in part by the state should be reduced at least twenty-five percent, and the personnel should be reduced, also. What a fight the administration-lobby will wage to prevent those reductions! An election approaches—may possibly arrive ahead of the scheduled time—and manpower and dollars are most essential in a political campaign.

As heretofore remarked, several excellent bills are before the Legislature and, if enacted, will save the suffering taxpayers millions of dollars and, what is as necessary, deal a knockout blow to the "political racket," largely responsible for California's sad financial plight. Among them are these: abolishment of several unnecessary departments entirely, and of branch departments in San Francisco and Los Angeles; elimination of special attorneys for all of the numerous departments; abolishment of all tax exemptions; prohibiting husband and wife from both holding pay positions with the state or any political subdivision; banning adult education, at public expense, a scheme to extract from the state more dollars for average daily attendance; making it illegal to employ on any public payroll any person already on pension from the state or any political subdivision; reducing the number of superior court judges in Los Angeles to forty, and the number of municipal court judges to twenty-four. The fact-finding committee of the State Senate is deserving of unstinted commendation; it has presented many suggestions worthy of approval.

But, there is grave danger ahead! The Legislature recesses during February, and in the interim every force will be employed by political racketeers and those seeking special favors to assure defeat of needed legislation—legislation that will benefit the majority.

Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth President of the United States, died suddenly at Northampton, Massachusetts, January 5. One of the finest tributes paid to him is this, from "El Nacional" of Mexico City, January 8: "He was a stern thinker, a tireless man of action, a slave to the law and of his given word, firm, incorruptible, simple, disdainful of money. . . . The death of Coolidge is an irreparable loss not only for the United States, but for all humanity."

The Twentieth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States has at last been ratified by thirty-six states, and will become operative October 15. In future, the country will not be burdened and harassed by "lame duck" sessions of the Federal Congress. Each regular session of the Congress will begin January 3 every year, with no fixed adjournment date, and each new president will be inaugurated January 20.

There is growing suspicion that Japan is paving the way to, and fully prepared for, war on this country. "There is no uneasiness concerning our relations with the United States," declared Foreign Minister Uchida in the Japanese Diet the other day. That declaration increases the suspicion, for the Japs always pass out to the public the opposites of their real thoughts and intentions. The record of Japan, at home and abroad, proves that that is true.

For twenty-odd years The Grizzly Bear has contended that, unless the Japs be expelled from the Pacific Coast, Japan would, in time, make a strenuous fight for full possession of this portion of the United States. The Japs have been permitted to remain, and their numbers have increased by thousands. The day when we must pay the terrible price for our folly draweth nigh!

Six officials of Sebastopol, a city in Russia, convicted of grafting, are to be shot. What a thinning-out of public servants would result, if the Russian policy for dealing with dishonesty were enforced in this state and nation! It would hasten the return of honesty, the one thing absolutely necessary to bring about better conditions for the masses.

Humboldt County has joined the growing ranks of charity dispensers refusing to extend aid to any person owning and operating an auto. A person who can afford to own and operate a car is not in such financial distress as to be honestly entitled to relief at public expense. Conditions have produced many charity racketeers. It is incumbent on the state and all its governmental subdivisions to weed them out, that all those honestly in need may be adequately provided for, and at considerably less expense.

A proposal for a one-cent tax on every dollar of all gross income from every source, without exceptions, deductions or any qualifications, has been advanced in the Federal Congress by Representative Griffin of New York as a revenue producer to balance the budget. An excellent suggestion that should be enacted into law! "Such a tax," as the proposer says, would be "a true income tax," because no one would be excepted, not even the horde of office-holders and public employes who are exempt under the present income-tax law.

The state's finance director apparently looks with disfavor on the State Senate investigating committee, for he is quoted as having said, "The Inman investigation reminds me of Nero fiddling while Rome burned." California had been pretty thoroughly burned, financially, prior to the convening of the State Legislature, thanks to the fiddling, queening, frogracing, airplaning, modern Nero, the director's boss.

Dubbing technocracy a myth, Professor Paul D. Converse of the University of Illinois rightly declares woman, and not the machine, is the chief danger of modern civilization. From 1920 to 1930 the number of married women in this country gainfully employed increased from 1,920,000 to 3,071,000. Just another, of many excellent reasons, why working women with able-bodied husbands should be replaced by men with families to support.

THE SILENT MAN

(ESTHER CRONE.)

In death he speaks, the world has heard,
This silent man so scarce of word.
A nation bows its head in grief,
To mourn this noble life so brief.
A life that stood so true and strong;
By many blamed, yet seldom wrong.
Such wisdom, too; we count him great,
For he guided well the Ship of State.
Thus time has proved his matchless worth,
As years reveal the work put forth.
His voice no longer greets our ears,
Yet being dead, the nation hears;
Though doubly silent, still the more
He speaketh louder than before.

According to the report of the State Division of Immigration and Housing for November, the population of 157 inspected labor camps totaled 6,615. Close to one-half of them, 3,210 to be exact, were classed as ineligible-to-citizenship aliens—2,443 Mexis, 619 Filipinos and 148 Japs. These figures are cited as proof of the statement that at least one-half the millions put up by the people of California for depression relief go to undesirable aliens. Were all such aliens deported, there would be fewer unemployed White citizens and the annual charity bill paid by the taxpayers would be substantially decreased.

Declaring liquor propagandists had capitalized the depression condition of dissatisfaction and discouragement to inaugurate a movement against prohibition, Senator Sheppard of Texas delivered in the Federal Senate January 16 a forceful address against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. In conclusion, he said:

"Prohibition has made such progress in helping conditions as not only to justify but to demand its continuance. The figures and studies of the Government indicate a decline in liquor consumption from an average of 23 gallons per capita in wet 1914, the last unqualified wet year, with illicit drink included, to an average of 7½ gallons in dry 1930, including illicit drink. Does any one with the good of the country at heart want to return to the former status?

"The claim of increased drinking is due to the fact that happenings among people of station and influence and their satellites are chronicled far and wide, while the doings of the vast bulk of our inhabitants who earn a living with the labor of their hands never come into public notice. What a perversion of reason it is to say that because the prominent few insist on breaking the law and becoming partners with the underworld, drink must be forced upon the masses with its accompanying poverty and degradation."

CALIFORNIA'S ROMANTIC HISTORY

Lewis F. Byington
(PAST GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

(Continuing the series of California history talks commenced in The Grizzly Bear for December 1932.)

EARLY DAYS IN SAN FRANCISCO

WHEN THE GREAT TIDE OF IMMIMigration swept toward California in the "days of '49," after the discovery of gold by James W. Marshall at Coloma, on the American River, January 24, 1848, the Bay of San Francisco and the city of the same name became known all round the world. Romance and adventure were centered there.

But the site of the Presidio on the bay and the location of the Mission had been selected by the Spaniards some seventy-two years preceding this discovery of gold, and we Californians should be proud of the fact that our city by the Golden Gate was founded the very same year that the United States became a nation, namely, in 1776. In fact, Captain Juan Bautista Anza, in March 1776, over three months before the signing of the Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia, chose the spot where the Presidio should be established and the place where the Mission Church should be erected. There is no more colorful event in the history of the West than the founding of San Francisco on the shores of the bay of St. Francis.

If we pause occasionally to review the history of this city and to absorb something of the sweet spirit of romance which clusters about it and has followed down through the years, it is not surprising that our hearts glow with the retrospect, and our love is renewed with the passing years.

It is a rather remarkable fact that while the Spaniards, in their explorations and voyages to America, were seeking harbors where settlements could be planted, they overlooked entirely the Bay of San Francisco. Cabrillo, the earliest Spanish navigator, passed it by in 1542, when he sailed up the coast. Sir Francis Drake, in 1579, landed at what is now known as Drake's Bay, some twenty-five miles north of San Francisco, remained there a month, explored the surrounding country, called the region New Albion, and never realized that a wonderful harbor lay within a few miles of his anchorage. Had he entered it, the English flag might have flown permanently in that port. Sebastian Viscaino, under orders from Spain, explored and charted the coast from San Diego to British Columbia in 1602, but overlooked the greatest harbor on the Pacific Coast.

For over 225 years vessels of Spain and other nations were passing the port now known as San Francisco, without a single navigator suspecting its existence. The headlands must be deceptive from the ocean. It was eventually discovered by an overland party. Portola and the pious Franciscan friar, Junipero Serra, were directed to establish missions at San Diego and Monterey, and Portola in coming northward overland did not recognize Monterey Bay, and his sergeant, Jose Francisco Ortega, sent forward to explore Point Reyes, unexpectedly came upon the entrance to San Francisco Bay. Serra, the Franciscan, had wished a harbor to bear the name of the patron saint of his order, St. Francis, and when he heard of the discovery he believed the hand of God had conducted the explorers, and he named it San Francisco.

In March 1775, Lieutenant Don Manuel de Ayala, in command of the Spanish boat "San Carlos," was sent north from Mexico to survey the harbor. It took him 110 days to reach the Golden Gate from San Blas. On the evening of August 5, 1775, as night was coming on, the "San Carlos" sailed through the "uncharted narrows, passed its inner portal and opened the Golden Gate to the commerce of the world." It was the first ship to cast anchor in the harbor of San Francisco. Ayala was welcomed by tribes of Indians and remained a month, making a survey of the bay.

It was soon realized by Spain that California could not be colonized by sea, on account of the hardships of the voyage and the length of time consumed. In 1775, a gallant soldier, Captain Anza, the father of San Francisco, was commissioned to lead an overland expedition from Mexico and establish a permanent settlement on the bay. It took him over six months to cross mountains and deserts, with a company of 240 men and women and 825 head of stock. On March 27, 1776, Anza stood at the entrance of the bay, planted a cross above where the fort now stands, and designated the mesa, or table land, where the Presidio now stands, as the location for a new town. Padre Font, his secretary, declared that the port was a marvel of nature, the "port of ports," and prophesied that on this wonderful bay should rise a wonderful city.

The next day Anza explored what is now the Mission and designated the spot where the church should be built. It was near a lagoon, or lake, covering some eight blocks where 17th and 19th streets now cross Valencia and Mission streets. This lake is no longer there, and a stream coming from the hills, now Twin Peaks, but called by the Spaniards Los Pechos de la Choca, has disappeared.

The city did not grow up, however, at the Presidio as contemplated by Anza. Trade and commerce fixed its location. When, in early days, ships entered the harbor they proceeded to a cove which lay below Telegraph Hill, first called Loma Alta—high hill—, and where the waters came up to what is now the corner of Montgomery and Jackson streets. To this sheltered spot came the boats from the missions around the bay with their hides, tallow and produce, which were transferred to the ocean-going vessels bound for other lands. About 1835 a little village sprang up at this cove, and around the Spanish Plaza, which village was known as Yerba Buena. It was two and one-half miles from the Presidio and about the same distance from the Mission.

Most interesting, historically, of the small parks of San Francisco is this old Plaza on Kearny street, between Washington and Clay streets, opposite the Hall of Justice and known as Portsmouth Plaza. The first two houses built by Americans were erected within half a block of the Plaza, near the corner of Clay and Dupont streets. One by Captain Richardson, considered the first inhabitant of San Francisco, erected in 1835, made of ship's canvas supported by redwood poles, and the other, the first frame building in Yerba Buena, erected in 1836 by Jacob Leese, a native of Ohio, who married the sister of General Vallejo. Of course, there are at least two buildings in San Francisco erected prior to this, and made of adobe, namely, the old Mission Church at Dolores and 16th streets, and the officer's club at the upper end of the parade ground at the Presidio. The home of Leese on Dupont street was finished on the 4th day of July, 1836, and resulted in the first celebration of that day in San Francisco, then Yerba Buena, accompanied by the first raising of the American Flag. Here also, in 1838, was born Rosalie Leese, the first White child born in Yerba Buena.

The principal buildings of the little settlement rose around the Plaza. The first hotel—the City Hotel—was erected at the southwest corner of Clay and Kearny. The postoffice was at Pike street, now Waverly place, and Clay street, and in pioneer days a line of men, waiting for mail brought by steamer, stretched across the Plaza and down Washington street. The first custom house was erected on the northwest corner of the Plaza, in 1844, and it served at times as school house, court house and public meeting house. In 1840, Nathan Spear built the first grist mill in California, on Clay near Kearny. The first bank stood at Kearny and Washington, and east of the Plaza was conducted the old El Dorado, the most famous saloon and gambling house in the West, and the well-known Jenny Lind theatre adjoined it.

On July 6, 1846, Commodore Sloat raised the American Flag at Monterey, the Mexican capitol of California, and on July 9, 1846, Captain John Montgomery of the U. S. sloop "Portsmouth," then lying in the bay, landed his marines at the present site of the Bank of Italy, southwest corner Clay and Montgomery streets, and with appropriate ceremonies raised the flag on the Plaza, and proclaimed the occupation of northern California by the United States. Montgomery street then received its name in honor of the American commander, and the Plaza was named Portsmouth in commemoration of his ship.

The first landing place for steamers was at Clark's Point, now the corner of Broadway and Battery streets. William S. Hinckley, who was alcalde in 1844, built a bridge across the neck of the lagoon, at Jackson and Montgomery streets, enabling the citizens to pass to Clark's Point. This was the first street improvement in the town. The original bay shore line in those days extended from the corner of Battery and Market to the corner of Sansome and California, where the Bank of California now stands, and then on to Montgomery and Jackson streets. All the land from Montgomery street to the Ferry has since been filled in.

Afterwards wharves were extended into the bay for landing purposes. One extended from the bay shore between Sacramento and Clay streets, 2,000 feet out into the bay. Here was sufficient depth of water to allow the Pacific Mail steamers to land. When the bay was filled in, the site of Long Wharf became Commercial street.

The first brick building in San Francisco was built by Mellus & Howard, in 1848, on the southwest corner of Clay and Montgomery streets. The finest hotel in those days was the St. Francis, a four-story building, standing at the southwest corner of Clay and Dupont streets, now the center of Chinatown. The sleeping apartments there were the best in California. The Oriental Hotel, an elegantly appointed house built in 1850, stood at the corner of Bush and Battery streets.

The first newspaper published in California appeared in Monterey, August 15, 1846, edited by Walter Colton and Robert Semple, and was called "The Californian." It was afterwards merged with the "California Star," first published in San Francisco by Sam Brennan, January 9, 1847, and in January 1849 the name was changed to "Alta California."

Near the Plaza the first fire companies organized in San Francisco were located, and the splendid fire department had upon its rolls the names of the leading men who laid the foundations of the city. Six times in the year and a half after the discovery of gold, the wooden city was destroyed by fire, and each time, through the energy of the Pioneers, it was rebuilt. On San Francisco's municipal flag are written the words "Oro En Paz, En Guerra Fierro"—"Gold in peace, iron in war!" And embroidered on said flag is the fabled bird, the Phoenix of mythology, which in its old age gathered fagots around it and with the rapidity of the movements of its wings kindled a fire and was entirely consumed. And from the ashes rose a re-created bird more beautiful and aspiring than the one which had been consumed. A true symbol of the unconquerable spirit of San Francisco!

Around the old Plaza, in the days following the discovery of gold, moved and surged the colorful life of every land, and there mingled people speaking the language of every race. German, Italian, French, Irish, Greek, Mohammedan and Chinese mingled in one restless throng in the mad rush for gold. Those interested in the history of California are deeply indebted to Catherine Coffin Phillips for her lately published book, "Portsmouth Plaza—The Cradle of San Francisco," which tells most interestly and instructively the history of the old Plaza, and it is superbly printed and bound and most beautifully illustrated.

The old town of Yerba Buena lay between Broadway and Sacramento, Montgomery and Powell streets. On January 30, 1847, Washington Bartlet, American alcalde, issued an order changing the name to San Francisco, and this name was later extended to the adjacent territory.

In 1847, the population of San Francisco was estimated at 459. With the discovery of gold, came the great tide of immigration and the complete change in the appearance of the town. Over 700 vessels entered the harbor from April 1, 1849, to the end of the year, and over 40,000 people landed here in 1849. Many vessels were beached and converted into warehouses, stores and lodging houses. One of these was the old vessel "Niantic," on the site of what is now the Niantic building, Sansome street, and on which the Native Sons Historic Landmarks Committee has placed a bronze tablet. Everything that could afford shelter was utilized, from a dry goods box to a tent, or a shanty, lined with bunks. The great human tide which swept through the Golden Gate in the "days of gold" was such as had never been witnessed before in any place.

September 9, 1850, California was admitted as a state. The news of the admission was received with the wildest excitement on the arrival of the mail steamer "Oregon," October 18. Business was suspended and the hills and housetops were covered with people. At night, bonfires blazed on the higher places and rockets were exploded. On October 29, the official celebration took place; there was a great parade

WILLOWS (GLENN COUNTY)—WILlows No. 255, organized by Deputy Grand President Al Lobree, was instituted with twenty-nine members December 30 by Grand President Seth Millington, assisted by District Deputy Elton C. Fitch (Colusa No. 69) as acting junior past grand president; J. R. Manville (Colusa No. 69) as acting grand secretary, and Ray Burris (Marysville No. 6) as acting grand marshal. The ritual was exemplified by the following team from Fred H. Greely Assembly No. 6 Past Presidents Association:

J. P. Colford (Sutter No. 261), president; Elton C. Fitch (Colusa No. 69), junior past president; William H. Tregallis (Argonaut No. 8), senior past president; Fayette H. Fitch (Colusa No. 69), first vice-president; J. R. Manville (Colusa No. 69), second vice-president; Grand President Seth Millington (Colusa No. 69), third vice-president; Ray Burris (Marysville No. 6), marshal; Thomas F. O'Connor (Marysville No. 6), inside sentinel. Officers of the new Parlor were installed by District Deputy Fitch, as follows:

Ralph W. Camper, president; Lee V. Logan, first vice-president; Daniel H. Terzain, second vice-president; Ralph Smith, third vice-president; Leon Marshall, recording secretary; Robert Nier, financial secretary; Chester J. Spooner, treasurer; Wilfred L. Fox, marshal; Hugh E. Logan, inside sentinel; James H. Locey, outside sentinel; W. C. Danley, J. W. Monroe, E. S. Ball, trustees. Deputy Grand President Lobree was again in Willows from January 19 to 24, and several additional charter signers were initiated.

"A Noble Example."

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 adopted a resolution—prepared by Past President Eugene Daney Jr., District Deputy Edward H. Dowell, President Martin J. Spangler and Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer—expressive of sorrow on account of the death, in Los Angeles last month, of William Jefferson Hunsaker (Ramona No. 109), the charter president of No. 108. "We knew his worth not only to San Diego, but to the State of California. His loss has made our hearts heavy. He was a noble example to us all."

On behalf of the Parlor, Deputy Grand President Mayrhofer presented a Flag of the United States of America to the San Diego Historical Society. The flag, which was accepted by President George W. Marston of the society, will be flown at Fort Stockton.

Unusual Record.

San Jose—The good of the order committee of Observatory No. 177 provided a wonderful turkey dinner January 3, and although no notices were sent out a large number of members, including twenty-six past presidents, responded. President William Gerrans, exceedingly popular with the boys of No. 177, presided in his always-genial manner and there were several short, but enthusiastic, talks. An unusual record, considering conditions: during 1932 the Parlor lost not a single member for non-payment of dues.

Several members accompanied District Deputy Alfred C. Hansen to Mountain View January 11 and assisted him in installing the officers of Mountain View No. 215. Observatory has resolved to do big things during 1933, and as a startoff is lining up a number of candidates. James J. Flannery, as president, heads the corps of officers for the January-July term.

Whereas, A group of individuals, styling themselves the "California Council on Oriental Relations," are waging a campaign to have the Federal Government amend the Immigration Act of 1924, so as to extend the immigration quota to Japs and other ineligible-to-citizenship aliens; and whereas, this plan, if successful, would for all time destroy the only logical, non-discriminatory barrier against further peaceful invasion of these United States,—and particularly the Pacific Coast states, including California,—by unassimilable Asiatics and others; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Interparlor Committee of Southern California is unalterably opposed to granting an immigration quota to any and all ineligible-to-citizenship aliens, and to any tampering with the Federal Immigration Act of 1924 which bars all those ineligible to American citizenship as immigrants for permanent settlement; and be it further

Resolved, That the Interparlor Committee condemns, as disloyal and unamerican, the activities for extension of such quota by the "California State Chamber of Commerce," the "United States Chamber of Commerce," the "California Council on Oriental Relations," and certain well-known California individuals who should know that the welfare of California depends on the supremacy of the White race in this state, and not on a temporary flood of yellow-dollars; and be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to California's Senators and Representatives in the Federal Congress; also, to Senator J. W. McKinley and Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon of the State Legislature, and that the latter be requested to have the State Legislature voice a strong protest to the Federal Congress against any change in the 1924 Immigration Act.

(The above was adopted by the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Interparlor Committee (Southern District) at a meeting in Los Angeles City January 13. Subordinate Parlors in Los Angeles, Orange and San Bernardino Counties are represented by this committee.—Editor.)

Admission Day Committee Named.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa No. 28 January 10 featured its annual turkey dinner, which was attended by more than one hundred. Following the feast two candidates were initiated and officers, with George Eckman as president, were installed by District Deputy Louis Bosch. Plans are under way for a celebration, possibly March 18, of the forty-ninth institution anniversary of No. 28.

To arrange for the celebration of Admission Day, September 9, President Eckman has appointed the following committee: Wes Colgan (chairman), Frank Berger, Dr. W. C. Shipley, Leland S. Lewis and James Brucker. The statewide celebration of California's natal day will most likely be held at Santa Rosa, under the Parlor's auspices.

Oratorical Contest Winner.

Sacramento—The third annual oratorical contest on California history between students of the Sacramento high school, sponsored by Sacramento No. 3, drew a crowd of several hundred to Native Sons Auditorium January 19. The judges were Justice John F. Pullen, Superior Judge Martin Welch and Professor Everett. Archibald M. Mull Jr. was in charge for the Parlor.

Lawrence Schei, whose subject was "Vigilantes of San Francisco," was the winner, and to him Irving D. Gibson presented a cup. Second place went to Edith Jett, whose subject was "The Golden Legend," and third place went to Veryl Dunn, whose subject was "California Vendetta."

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the cornerstone laying of an early-day Sacramento firehouse, Young America No. 6, was celebrated January 3, and the local Natives presented a plaque to mark the site. George A. Burns was the speaker of the day, N.D. Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong made the presentation address, and among others active at the affair were John T. Stafford, Joseph Fitzhenry and N.D. Grand Trustee Edna Briggs. Henry A. Senf, a member of Sacramento No. 3, has been named Sacramento County Supervisor, to succeed the late Robert E. Callahan. At an early date the N.S. grand officers will lay the cornerstone for one of Sacramento's three new school buildings, the California.

Basketball Team Making Record.

Ukiah—Officers of Ukiah No. 71 were installed January 16 by District Deputy Joseph Figone, W. B. Davis becoming president. A clam chowder supper concluded the ceremonies.

February 4 the Parlor will sponsor a dance for the benefit of its basketball team, which is making a splendid record. Al Bechtol is the team manager. February 10 the basketballers of No. 71 will play the House of David team from Chicago, Illinois, in the Ukiah high school gymnasium.

SUBORDINATE PARLORS BRIEFS.

Stockton—Officers of Stockton No. 7 were installed January 9 by District Deputy Walter Salomon, Ben S. Waller becoming president. Among the many visitors were Deputy Grand President Al Lobree and a delegation from Manteca No. 271 headed by President John F. Mulholand.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W. had their monthly card party January 18. Refreshments and dancing followed the play. Robert Benson and Effie Prothero were in charge. January 25 the Parlors' officers were jointly installed by Deputies Laurence Bither and Ethel Enos.

Napa — Past Grand President Frank L. Coombs, affiliated with Napa No. 62, celebrated his birthday anniversary December 27. He was born in Napa County in 1853.

Salinas—With District Deputy John Thomsen presiding, officers of Santa Lucia No. 97 were installed January 16, James Pedroni becoming president. Following a banquet an elaborate entertainment program was presented.

Lower Lake—Lower Lake No. 159 entertained the womenfolks at a whist party January 12 An enchilada supper was served by Pete Bramlette, Max Berlin and Ray Kiggins.

Fort Bragg—At a well attended meeting January 13 officers of Alder Glen No. 200 were installed by District Deputy Ralph Todd, T. D Cooney becoming president. A turkey supper preceded the meeting and subjects of interes were discussed by several speakers. Cards concluded the enjoyable occasion.

Manteca—A class of candidates rounded u for Manteca No. 271 by Deputy Grand Presiden Al Lobree were initiated January 18, the officer

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW

(E. M. GORE.)

SIXTY YEARS AGO, THE FIRST NAVEL orange trees were planted in Riverside County, and the National Orange Show at San Bernardino City will celebrate this sixtieth anniversary February 16 to 26. It was in 1873 that Mrs. L. C. Tibbets wrote to the Federal Agricultural Department in Washington for samples of the orange tree that produced fruit "without seeds." She received a couple of the trees, and it is from them that the great navel orange industry of today sprung.

Sixty years have gone by, and there are now millions of navel orange trees in California. Many times referred to as the hundred-million-dollar industry, meaning that the citrus crop annually sells for that enormous sum, it is particularly fitting that the National Orange Show should recognize this anniversary.

The great midwinter classic at San Bernardino has for its sole purpose the publicizing and development of the citrus industry in California. It is called the "show window" for the citrus industry. Producing and selling oranges is a serious business, but the ten days of the Orange Show provides the beautiful side of this great fruit industry. In design, in theme and in decoration, the Orange Show expects to convey to the visitor the story of the navel orange.

The National Orange Show is in its twenty-third year. Its 1933 edition promises to excel in beauty and magnitude all former presentations by this organization. It is little wonder that more than a quarter-million persons annually visit the Orange Show. This attendance has kept up year after year, because nowhere else in all the world is there such a beautiful exposition. Visitors for the first time, as they cross the portals of the Orange Show's mammoth exposition building, pause, bewildered, awed, and then exclaim, "isn't it beautiful!" And the designer has worked out a decorative scheme that transforms the big fruit section into a veritable fairyland of beauty. The scene this year is typically Californian colorful, blazing with lights, resplendent with multicolored flowers, a picture indeed that no artist can paint.

There are a score of gorgeous feature displays, some stationary and others in motion. They are built of lights and fruits and flowers, while overhead there apparently is a reproduction of the magic sky of a perfect California day. Ten million oranges repose in rack displays, the finest fruit grown anywhere in the world. These oranges are on dress parade. Colored wrappers work out designs that are pleasing to look upon, but the real fact remains that these millions of oranges are on display for a serious business. They are entered in competition for the rich cash awards that go to the community or organization for producing wellnigh perfect fruit.

An industrial display with scores of exhibitors, a byproducts department, the Citrus Institute, the Department of Citrus Education, the amusement zone—all go to make up this great midwinter event. And on the stage will be presented the light opera which last year brought admiration from thousands of visitors. The Californians will present not only typical California music and song, but the best numbers from the leading light operas of Victor Herbert, George Gershwin, Zigmund Romberg, Oscar Strauss and many others of equal fame. And the National Orange Show has scored a ten-strike in offering for its musical director Arthur Kay, one of the most celebrated musical directors in America. There will be special days for the Native Sons, the Canadian Society, the American Legion, lodges and fraternal organizations, communities, etc.

It is a far cry from oranges to ice, and "never shall the twain mix," as far as the orange-grower is concerned, but there will be, for the first time, a real ice-skating rink as a feature of the show. Champion ice hockey teams will play during the entire time of the show and, of course, visitors may don the skates and enjoy the pastime themselves. The dates for the National Orange Show are February 16 to 26, and all San Bernardino County extends a welcome.

of Stockton No. 7 exemplifying the ritual. Officers of the Parlor were installed January 4 by District Deputy Laurence Buol, John F. Mulholand becoming president.

Deputy Grand President Al Lobree is very active visiting and assisting Subordinate Parlors in various sections. His program for February and March, according to information sent The Grizzly Bear, includes: During February he will be in Fresno, Bakersfield and Visalia, working for Fresno No. 25, Bakersfield No. 42 and Visalia No. 19. All of March will be devoted to Yosemite No. 24 at Merced. In April he may institute a parlor at Turlock, Stanislaus County.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1933, as follows, together with their membership figures January 20, 1933:

Parlor.	Jan. 1	Jan. 20	Gain	Loss
Ramona No. 109	1033	1032	....	1

Visitors Give Encouragement.

Galt—Members of Galt No. 243 spent a very enjoyable and profitable evening January 16, the occasion being the official visit of Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin. He related some of the present troubles of the Order and the Parlors, and spoke encouragingly of the future. He urged his hearers to do their utmost to retain the members the Parlor now has and to secure new ones.

District Deputy W. H. Thisby, accompanied by a delegation from Courtland No. 106, installed Galt's officers, Abel G. Stock becoming president. An unexpected pleasure was the arrival of Deputy Grand President Al Lobree and several members of Manteca No. 271. A social hour was spent around the festive board. The Parlor was greatly cheered by the presence of the visitors and will carry on with renewed interest.

Good Start.

Santa Barbara—Santa Barbara No. 116 has made a good start for 1933, initiating four candidates during January and receiving five additional applications. As a New Year gift, and to aid in the fight against depression, the Parlor presented all its delinquent members with paid-up receipts for dues to January 1, 1933.

Officers of Santa Barbara and Reina del Mar No. 126 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 17 at a public function which attracted more than 300. Deputies A. C. Dinsmore and Vera Pacheco presided, and Philip Bradley and Amelia Acres became the respective presidents. Past president pins were presented C. W. McCormick and Mrs. McCrea by Paul Sweetser and Supervising Deputy Anna McCaughey. Arrangements for the successful affair were made by a joint committee composed of Mms. A. C. Warren (general chairman), Dorothy Henslin and Frank Castro; Clifford Rizor, Leland Smith and Frank Castro.

Rich in Service.

Oakland—Officers of Claremont No. 240 and Argonaut No. 166 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 17 at public ceremonies, Raymond Burke and Angeline Delucchi becoming the respective presidents. District Deputy Victor Raible officiated for No. 240. Refreshments and dancing followed the ceremonies.

Claremont, instituted February 13, 1908, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with a class initiation and banquet February 14. It is hoped many of the grand officers and oldtime members of the Parlor will be in attendance. Active in organizing No. 240 were E. F. Garrison (Athens No. 195), former grand trustee lately deceased, and Richard M. Hamb and James J. Dignan (Piedmont No. 120). Among the remaining charter members are Al Finck, original financial secretary, and Milton Mooney, charter second vice-president.

Claremont is rich in history and community service. It is composed of men never too busy to help good causes. It now has over 200 members and has paid more than $10,000 in sick benefits.

Plugging Along.

San Jose—"Old San Jose No. 22 is plugging along at its usual gait and doing its share of the work required of our Order," says Recording Secretary Joseph Lawrence. "In spite of the turbulent economic conditions, it holds its membership close to the 300-mark." An old-

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

FEBRUARY 2, 1883, A POLARIZED WAVE swept down the Pacific Coast and coated it with frost. From British Columbia to San Diego came reports of freezing weather. The thermometer at Truckee, Nevada County, went to ten degrees below zero. The Truckee River, frozen stiff, did "not choose to run." Trout incased in the ice could be plainly seen, and fishermen were using axes and picks instead of tackle.

This state of weather lasted a fortnight, and brought to a close the coldest winter California had endured since the '40s. During the cold spell a snowstorm dropped two to four inches of snow over the state as far south as Bakersfield, Kern County. The month's rainfall was 1.10 inches, making 11.57 inches for the season.

At the end of February the State Legislature had been in session fifty-six days and, it was claimed, had not passed a single bill. Most of the state press complained bitterly of the inertia. Some of the editors said the Legislature was the laziest on record, and others claimed it was trying so hard to get Republicans out of and Democrats in to office, and to "cinch" the S. P., nothing else would be done.

At a citizens mass meeting in Tulare City February 28 the assemblyman representing Tulare County in the State Legislature was burned in effigy, because of the record he was making.

A state census showed a total of 216,830 schoolchildren, and $1,585,412 was appropriated to pay for their education.

The 1882 hop yield in California totaled 1,808,500 pounds, Sacramento County producing 1,200,000 pounds. The price had advanced during the harvest season to $1.20 a pound, but was now $1. A large increase in acreage was expected.

George Baker, a Feather River fisherman, captured five beaver near Oroville, Butte County, February 1. Bruno Grundlach killed near San Jose, Santa Clara County, a beautiful bird—an albino hawk; its white plumage was flecked with gold, and it had a bronze-colored tail.

Two Siskiyou County hunters killed 1,000 deer during the season, and sold the skins at 30 cents a pound. Wm. Long, a hunter of the Suisun, Solano County, marshes, was killing geese by the hundreds, rendering the fat and selling it for 80 cents a pound.

Six men from Niles, Alameda County, went hunting February 18. They returned with 700 ducks, 25 geese and 49 snipe.

On the ranch of General J. R. Brierly near San Pedro, Los Angeles County, a petrified clam was picked up atop a hill 660 feet above sea level.

Coyotes, rendezvousing in large packs in the Marysville Buttes, were raiding Sutter County flocks. In one night a sheepman lost thirty-one lambs.

Young women of Salinas, Monterey County, formed a society to abate the cigaret-smoking habit of the town's youths—a cigaret smoker was to be tabooed.

Saint Helena, Napa County, was greatly excited over the arrest of five of its prominent citizens for playing poker in a room of the principal hotel. They were charged with violating the anti-gambling law, and a hot legal battle was in prospect.

Sacramento Parlor No. 3 N.S.G.W. had its sixth annual party February 13. The arrangements committee included Clarence E. Parker, Frank D. Ryan, Robert T. Devlin and John T. Stafford. Notwithstanding a heavy rainstorm, 700 couples appeared in the grand march, many coming from San Francisco and other cities.

In Lake County February 27, George Washington, as black as the ace of spades, was arrested for killing a man in Red Bluff, Tehama County. George had won a jackpot but, before he could rake it in, a discomfitted bettor reached for it, and George "jes hed" to shoot him.

The stage from San Andreas, Calaveras County, to Milton was held up February 23 by a lone man, who retired with the United States mail.

Lodi, San Joaquin County, had an exciting footrace along its main street February 24 between George Harrison of Stockton and Jack Nelson of Hawks Corner. The betting was heavy, and as Nelson came in ahead the Stockton contingent went home broke.

James H. Moore, who came to California in 1849, was shot and killed by F. Bennett in an altercation at Dixon, Solano County, February 4.

John Vogan, Pioneer of 1849 who organized the first stage line running from Sacramento City to Mokelumne Hill, Calaveras County, died at the Capital City February 5 at the age of 61. For several years he was sheriff of Amador County.

Charles Brown who, at the age of 22, arrived in San Francisco in 1829, died there February 10.

J. S. Woods, who came to California from Ohio in 1848, died at Sacramento City February 15. He was at one time sheriff of Sacramento County.

Victor Ustrusano, who arrived in Ventura City in 1828, while going to his home the night of February 16 fell headlong into an irrigation ditch and drowned in six inches of water.

Dr. Hugh J. Glenn, a gubernatorial candidate in 1878 and owner and farmer of a princely domain in Colusa County, was shot and killed by Huron Miller—a bookkeeper discharged for intoxication—at Jacinto, Glenn County, February 17. Dr. Glenn, a native of Virginia, came across the plains in 1849. He became a drover, and frequently brought herds of cattle, horses, mules and sheep overland from the Missouri River to California. In 1867 he began farming operations in Colusa County, and they grew to such an extent that, at the time of his murder, he was tilling 65,000 acres of land and using a thousand mules and several hundred men. He shipped his wheat crop by steamboat from Colusa to Port Costa, Contra Costa County; there it was loaded aboard vessels bound for Liverpool, England, and sold at that port. He did without the services of a middleman, and was considered the wheat baron of the West.

Daniel F. Holbrook, who arrived in Nevada County in 1850, died February 27 at Grass Valley.

The business section of Princeton, Colusa County, burned February 1; loss, $20,000. A Riverside City business block was destroyed by fire February 7, causing a $30,000 loss. Twelve buildings of Fresno City's Chinatown burned February 17; loss, $20,000.

Fire February 16 destroyed ten buildings of the business section of Knights Landing, Yolo County, and caused a $40,000 loss; James Dinwiddie was burned to death. In a Chico, Butte County, fire February 26 twenty-five horses were cremated; the loss was $40,000.

Unsuccessful attempts were made February 18 to burn Red Bluff, Tehama County. Fires were set at several places in the schoolhouse and the county court house.

GREATEST MIDWINTER EVENT

EARLY DAYS IN S. F.

through the streets; thirty-one salutes from large cannon, California being the thirty-first state; orations at Portsmouth Plaza; fireworks; a grand ball in the evening, and rejoicing everywhere. California is indeed a proud and a patriotic state!

It was but a short walk from the Plaza to the restaurants and cafés which made the old city by the Golden Gate famous, such as the Poodle Dog, Pup, Marchand's and others. Mark Twain, Bret Harte, and in the later days Robert Louis Stevenson, strolling through the Plaza or seated in the cafés, from the motley crowd, the ebb and flow of human life, and the tales of adventure by sea and land told by the sailor and the miner, secured the local coloring which made their writings so attractive. Actors, artists and musicians gathered at the tables of the less-pretentious restaurants, where for fifty cents bounteous meals were served, including a bottle of wine and a liberal portion of cognac for your coffee. The color and the romance which clustered around the days of old, the days of gold, may never return, but the memory lingers on.

From the vine-clad hills of France, Spain and Italy came those who gave color to the Latin quarter and brought to mind the lays of Ancient Rome, when the poets sang:

> And in the vats of Luna,
> This year the wine shall foam
> Round the white feet of laughing girls
> Whose sires have marched to Rome.

Up the slopes of Telegraph Hill, known by the Spaniards as Loma Alta, stretched the Latin quarter. As early as 1849 a station was erected on its summit from which could be observed the arrival of incoming vessels, bearing news from the outer world. A tall pole with a movable arm, called a semaphore, signaled the character of the ship to the town below and advised as to whether it was a sailing vessel or a side-wheel steamer of the Pacific Mail. In 1853 a telegraph line, the first in California, connected the hill with Point Lobos and gave notice of the arrival, far out at sea, of vessels from Panama or around the Horn.

In the days of '49 the region from California to Market streets was one of high sand hills covered with scrub oak, but south of Market between First and Second streets, and supplied with a good spring of water, was a small protected valley where about 1,000 tents were set up and the place was known as Happy Valley. Between this and Rincon Hill stretched Pleasant Valley.

On Calhoun street, near the summit of Telegraph Hill, lived for some time America's and the world's greatest actor, Edwin Booth, and his father, Junius Brutus Booth. San Francisco has always cherished the memory and traditions of the stage. Maguire's Opera House, in the early fifties, stood on Washington street near Montgomery. Near the same corner was the Metropolitan Theatre, once called "the most magnificent temple of histrionic art in America." Beginning with 1850, three Jenny Lind Theatres stood on the site of the present Hall of Justice, two being destroyed by fire and the last sold, in 1852, to San Francisco for a City Hall. The American Theatre was on Sansome and Halleck streets, the Grand Opera House on Mission, and the California on Bush street. Among the actors who played here and were dear to the hearts of San Franciscans were the great tragedians Edwin and Junius Brutus Booth, John McCullough, Tom Keene, Lawrence Barrett, Edwin Forrest, Barry Sullivan, John T. Raymond the elder Sothern, Mrs. Judah, Mary Anderson Mrs. John Drew, Annie Pixley, Lotta Crabtree and Emily Melville, and a long line of the world's great opera singers. The moving picture shows will never dim the luster or detrac from the fame of the great artists whose genius voices and graceful art won the hearts of our Pioneer Fathers and Mothers. Every lover o San Francisco must desire to see reared on the summit of historic Telegraph Hill a lofty and artistic monument to those who most deserve l —the Pioneers of California.

Irvin S. Cobb, the versatile and genial American writer, has said: "If I could start in al over again back at 20 or 25 I should choose fo my early abiding place some spot in a hundred mile radius of San Francisco. Half the year should like to spend in the city itself; the othe half on a roaming commission to the verges o the desert, or to the glorious hills and mountains of California. Then when I grew tired o rambling, I could go back to that city which, b my way of thinking, is of the American cities o whatsoever size, the most friendly on prelimi nary inspection, and on further acquaintanc the most likable—the one which on all counts wears the best and the longest. Los Angeles already is, and I reckon always will be, Califor nia's diamond-studded stomacher, but San Fran cisco is the golden poppy blossom in her hair.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

THE N.S.G.W. AND N.D.G.W. INTERparlor Committee (Southern District) —Burrel D. Neighbours chairman, Fred J. Burmester secretary—at a largely attended meeting January 13 adopted two resolutions of particular importance at this time. One, anent the proposed Jap quota, appears in full on page 6 of this issue of The Grizzly Bear; the other follows.

Some twenty years ago, the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West launched a "Buy American" drive, and in their purchasing the members of the Order adhere to that policy. The N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Interparlor Committee of Southern California notes with delight the movement, now gaining nationwide momentum, in furtherance of the "Buy American" policy. It is an evidence that the seed sown by the patriotic Orders of California Natives is finally producing a desired harvest.

Resolved, That the Interparlor Committee reendorses the "Buy American" campaign, as a means of returning to employment millions of the nation's now-idle workers. As a matter of consistency and expediency, however, there should be linked with the "Buy American," a "Employ American" movement, that citizens of this country may be the beneficiaries.

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Senate and the Assembly of the California State Legislature, and that that body be requested to enact legislation which will make it mandatory for the State Government and any and all of its several departments to specify in any and all contracts or orders for the purchase of supplies, goods or materials of any and every nature, that such supplies, goods or materials must be manufactured or produced in the United States of America by citizens of this nation.

A SPLENDID NATIVE SON PASSES.

William Jefferson Hunsaker, an outstanding Californian,—a stalwart citizen of the highest degree, a barrister of unimpeachable character and a friend, always, in deed,—crossed the great divide January 13. He was born in Contra Costa County, September 21, 1855, and received his early education in the public schools of that county and San Diego City. For two years he served San Diego County as district attorney, and he was a former president of the California and the Los Angeles Bar Associations.

"Bill" Hunsaker was a charter member of San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. and its original president. When he moved to Los Angeles City to make his home he transferred his membership to Ramona Parlor No. 109, with which he was actively identified to the moment of his untimely passing. Surviving are three children —Daniel M. Hunsaker (Ramona No. 109), Mrs. Mary H. Brill and Mrs. Rose H. Steehler.— C.M.H.

GOOD SLOGAN TO EXEMPLIFY.

Santa Monica—Officers of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. were installed at public ceremonies January 11, Amada Machado becoming president. In her inspiring talk she stressed "co-operation and friendship," the Parlor's slogan for the term. Special guests were Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Florence Dodson-Schoneman and N.S. Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer. Among the many presentations was that of an emblematic ring to Past President Katherine Conterno. Entertainment was provided by Clayton Brandt and others, and refreshments were served. Myrtle Barden, Hazel McCreary, Helen Burke, Emelia Sunquist and Rosalie F. Hyde were the evening's hostesses.

January 25 an "all american" dinner was followed by bridge; Katherine Worsham headed the committee in charge. The Parlor plans a membership drive, and is making arrangements for a rummage sale, a food sale and a dance. The members are delighted with the new quarters.

FOUR N.S. PARLORS INSTALL JOINTLY.

The meetingplace of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. was crowded January 10, when the officers of Los Angeles No. 45, Ramona No. 109, Glendale No. 264 and Santa Monica Bay No. 267 Parlors were installed at joint public ceremonies. District Deputy Harry Hann officiated, and Leslie Packard, Frank Adams, Harvey Gillette and Arthur Leonard became the respective presidents. Assisting the deputy were Albert Cron, past president, Ralph Harbison, marshal, Howard Babb, sentinel, Roger Johnson, pianist, and Mrs. Clinton Skinner, organist.

President Bernard Hiss of University presided following the ceremonies, and a program, arranged by Howard Babb, was presented by Carter Wright, Jenny Alice Farrand, Jackie Jean Simpson and Aileen DeFazio. William A. Packard, 89-year-young Civil War veteran, contributed a couple of vocal selections, acting as his own accompanist and delighting the crowd. Brief addresses were made by Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen of the Native Daughters, Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer, Past Grand President John T. Newell, District Deputies Edward Baldwin, Walter Baskerville and Howard Bentley.

VALENTINE DANCE.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. is sponsoring a semi-formal dance at Odd Fellows Temple, Oak and Washington streets, February 11. The valentine motif will be carried out, and a "snappy" orchestra has been engaged. Marshal Edna Trombatore heads the arrangements committee and is being assisted by the following hostesses. Evelyn Trautwein, Juanita Porter, Louise McNary, Olinda Kerby, Ella Steinbeck, Grace DuCasse, Lillian Mills, Violet Latham,

NATIVE SON NEWS

Dime Notabee, Supervisor A. L. Hubbard, recently passed away.

Officers of the Parlor, with Fred A. Carmichael as president, were installed by District Deputy A. C. Hansen January 30.

Popular Grand Officer To Visit.

San Rafael—Mount Tamalpais No. 64 will receive an official visit February 20 from Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, who will, at the invitation of No. 64, be accompanied by a big delegation from Castro No. 232 (San Francisco), of which he is a member. A reception and banquet will be featured, and the occasion promises to be one long remembered, as the Grand Third is immensely popular in the San Francisco Bay region. The Parlor will make an extra effort to secure the attendance of its veteran members.

Officers of Mount Tamalpais were installed, jointly with those of Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W., January 28 by District Deputy J. S. Rosa. Arthur B. Hecht becoming president. The Parlor has again suffered a sad and serious loss in the death of Dr. R. G. Duffey, a most successful physician and surgeon who, through his many kindnesses to the sick and afflicted, endeared himself to the whole community.

To Celebrate Anniversary.

Colusa—Colusa No. 69, the home-Parlor of Grand President Seth Millington, plans a big time February 2, when the thirtieth anniversary of its institution will be celebrated. Numerous invitations have been extended, and it is hoped to have present as a guest of honor Past Grand Lewis F. Byington, who instituted Colusa during his term as Grand President. A banquet will be served, there will be many noted speakers, and entertainment features will be provided. In charge of arrangements are Percy J. Cooke, Pihl J. Humburg Jr., R. G. Powers, Ben R. Ragain, Thomas F. Bush, Timothy Sullivan and Elton C. Fitch.

Joint Installations.

Sacramento—Officers of Sacramento No. 3 and Sunset No. 26, and Califia No. 22, La Bandera No. 110, Sutter No. 111 and Coloma No. 212 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 12. The new presidents are, respectively, Parker Kelly, Albert J. Costa, Sulene Cowan, Mae K. Sydenstricker, Emilie Lachmann and Amy Sweet. Dancing concluded the ceremonies.

Oroville—Officers of Argonaut No. 8 and Gold of Ophir No. 190 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 5. Deputies Cyril Macdonald and Annie Skelly presided and Frank O'Brien and Hattie Clark became the respective presidents. President O'Brien presided at a toastmaster at a banquet spread by No. 8 and there were humorous and historical talks by several.

Santa Cruz—Officers of Santa Cruz No. 90 and Santa Cruz No. 26 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 13. Deputies Arnold M. Baldwin and Edna Butterfield presided, and W. S. Rogers and Marjory Bronja became the respective presidents. Horace Burkett took charge after the ceremonies. There were brief addresses, cards were played, refreshments were served and, in celebration of her birthday anniversary, Miss Metha McKenna presented a beautifully decorated cake. Among the many visitors from Watsonville, Hollister and Salinas were Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs and Supervising Deputy Rose Rayner of the Native Daughters.

Hayward—Officers of Eden No. 113 and Hayward No. 122 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed January 10 by Deputies Frank Perry and Ann Mello, John A. Meineke and Ella Knudsen becoming the respective presidents. Musical numbers were presented by Carmen Dobbel, Harold Kohen and Anna V. Staley.

SAN FRANCISCO

THE TOTAL VALUE OF THE MINERAL production of California for 1932 is conservatively estimated by the State Mines Division, Walter W. Bradley state mineralogist, to have been $209,725,000. As there are more than fifty mineral substances on California's commercial list, it is impracticable at this early date to obtain definite figures on other than the more important items.

The estimated 1932 total is a decrease of approximately $6,239,000 from the 1931 production value of $215,964,420. Petroleum and gold were the only major mineral substances whose 1932 output showed an increased value over the preceding year. Large decreases in values were registered by cement, miscellaneous stone, natural gas, copper, quicksilver, brick, industrial materials and salines.

The value of the 1932 petroleum output, $153,220,000, was approximately 8.5 percent higher than in 1931, although the 1932 quantity, 179,533,000 barrels, showed a decrease of about 8,840,000 barrels compared with 1931.

Gold produced in 1932 had an estimated value of $11,700,000; compared with 1931, this is an increase of about $886,000. Small placer operations, brought about by unemployment, accounted for about $300,000 of that increase. The outputs of the lode mines and the dredges also showed an increase. The 1932 value of other metals was: silver, $141,000; copper, $67,000; lead, $61,000; quicksilver, $325,000.

California Leads Nation.

According to a report of the United States Mint, California led all the states of the Union in 1932 gold production—566,031 ounces valued at $11,700,900. For the whole country the totals were 2,507,587 ounces, $51,836,000 value. Utah led in silver production, 7,815,956 ounces valued at $2,204,099. For the whole country the totals were 24,425,089 ounces, $6,887,875 value.

HISTORIC DAY CELEBRATED.

The annual Gold Discovery Day banquet, under the auspices of the Native Sons of the Golden West, January 24 attracted a large attendance, including members of the Society of California Pioneers, N.S.G.W. grand officers and public officials.

Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington, the "father" of the celebration, was chairman of the arrangements committee. Among the speakers were Governor James Rolph Jr., Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco, Mayor Fred N. Morcom of Oakland, and Grand President Seth Millington.

ELABORATE CELEBRATION OF GREAT ENTERPRISE.

San Francisco is making elaborate arrangements to officially celebrate, February 26, ground breaking for the $35,000,000 Golden Gate bridge project. A citizens committee, headed by Supervisor William P. Stanton, is handling the details of what promises to be the greatest celebration ever held in the San Francisco Bay region.

The fete will open with a mammoth parade in which all uniformed units of the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters in San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Sonoma, Napa, San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties have been invited to, and should, participate. Other spectacular entertainment features will be a regatta, an aerial show, massed band concerts and a public banquet.

The Golden Gate bridge project, one of the most extensive undertaken in California in many a year, will physically link "The City That Knows How" with the counties of the Redwood Empire. The enterprise will give employment to hundreds of men.

NATIVE DAUGHTER PARLORS DOINGS.

Officers of Alta No. 3 were installed January 24 at public ceremonies, Angeline Vest becoming president. Credit for the success of the past term is due the retiring president, May L. MacDonald, who devoted much time and energy to furthering the Order's aims; through her efforts the Parlor has adopted a colored baby boy. The first activity for the new term was a benefit bridge luncheon January 27; Claire Bolman and Elizabeth F. Douglass headed the committee.

Minerva No. 2 was greatly honored by having been the first Parlor in San Francisco officially visited by Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong in 1933. Present also were Junior Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson, Grand Trustees Anna C. Thuesen and Ethel Begley, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, Past Grands Dr. Mariana Bertola, Margaret Grote-Hill and May Himes-Noonan, and representatives from fifteen Parlors. Four candidates were initiated, and the Grand President praised highly the exemplification of the ritual. A highlight of the evening was a talk by Past Grand Bertola in which she forcefully impressed the slogan "Buy American." Minerva will adopt a baby for the Central Homeless Children Committee. Officers were installed January 18.

Golden State No. 50's officers were installed January 4 by Deputy Emma O'Meara, I. Milan becoming president. A program, greatly enjoyed, was presented by Hazel Heyl, Virginia Eggles, Pat Buckman, Thelma Tiano, Marie Lotts, Wm. Stellwager, Ray Cate and Hazel Burns.

Golden Gate No. 158 had a shower January 9 for Hazel Cerreli, a recent bride. A mock wedding was followed by the presentation of useful gifts to her. The members also had their annual exchange of gifts, and a great deal of merriment was created. All went home with pleasant memories of a very happy evening. The Parlor entertained the children December 19 at a Christmas party.

Officers of Dolores No. 169 were installed January 11 by Deputy Agnes McVerry, Kittie Mullaney becoming president. Louise Winkler, retiring president, was presented with a china service. January 19 the Parlor celebrated its twenty-fourth institution anniversary at a banquet, and many members enjoyed a delightful evening. Mae Baumeister was chairman of the evening. Members of Dolores paid a visit Christmas Day to Letterman Hospital, served seventeen veterans with home-made delicacies and presented each with a handkerchief.

Officers of Castro No. 178 were publicly installed January 18 by Deputy Myrtle Ross. Despite the inclemency of the weather, a large number of relatives and friends of the members braved the elements to see the enthusiastic young president, Luella Cauvin, enter upon her term. After installation the N.D.G.W. choral club entertained; Ruby Gried's "Autograph Album of the Officers of Castro Parlor," a clever skit, was a scream, displaying quite a bit of histrionic ability. The annual Christmas party, given to the kiddies of members and friends, was a huge success. The boys at Letterman Hospital were not forgotten during the holiday rush, a stocking filled with goodies being given each, and the children in the tubercular wa of San Francisco Hospital were given scra books, balloons and bags of candy.

CALIFORNIA SKI DATES.

Dates fixed by the directors of the Californ Ski Association are: February 8, Truckee, N vada County, tournament; February 11-13, sta meet at Los Angeles City; February 19, Auburn Placer County, Ski Club tournament; Februar 26, Mount Lassen Ski Club tournament.

Passing of the California Pioneer

(Confined to Brief Notices of the Demise of Those Men and Women Who Came to California Prior to 1870.)

MRS. AUGUSTA TRIMINGHAM, native of Germany, 91; crossed the plains to California in 1850 and resided in Tuolumne and Alameda Counties; died at Sunol, her home for sixty-five years, survived by seven children.

Emile S. Pitois, native of France, 90; came via the Isthmus of Panama in 1852 and five years later settled in Amador County; died near Jackson, survived by four children.

Harry T. Payne, native of Illinois, 88; came across the plains in 1851; died at Glendale, Los Angeles County. He was well known as a newspaperman and an artist, at one time being city editor of the old "Los Angeles Tribune."

Frank S. Fugitt, native of Missouri, 83; since 1852 Kern County resident; died at Bakersfield, survived by five children.

Mrs. Alice E. Gordon, native of Indiana, 87; came across the plains in 1853 and resided many years in Santa Clara County; died at San Francisco. She was a daughter of John H. Adams, who served in the Mexican War and in 1849 arrived in El Dorado County; as sheriff of Santa Clara County, he won fame for his part in the capture of Tiburcio Vasquez, notorious bandit, and for distinguished service during the trouble-some Civil War days.

Mrs. Margaret E. Byrum, native of Missouri, 75; crossed the plains in 1852 and settled in Stanislaus County; died near Salida, survived by five children.

Charles H. Nolte, native of Germany, 96; came via the Isthmus of Panama in 1853 and resided several years in San Francisco; died at Hollister, San Benito County, survived by a wife and four children.

Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Vincent-Bacon, native of Canada, 89; came via Cape Horn in 1853 and two years later settled at Lockeford, San Joaquin County, where she died; two children survive.

Joseph Wright, native of Iowa, 85; came across the plains in 1853 and resided in Yuba, San Luis Obispo and Los Angeles Counties; died at Canoga Park, survived by four children.

Forrest Foote, native of New York, 80; came in 1856 and resided in Calaveras and San Joaquin Counties; died at Stockton, survived by a wife and six children.

Mrs. Jane Cadd-Smithson, native of Australia, 81; since 1856 San Bernardino County resident; died at San Bernardino City, survived by seven children, among them Mrs. Edward McGarvey (Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W.). She was a member of the San Bernardino Pioneer Society.

Carl Dresel, native of Texas, 81; since 1856 Sonoma County resident; died at Sonoma City, survived by a wife and six children.

George W. Wilson, native of Missouri, 81; came in 1857 and long resided in Mendocino County; died at Compton, Los Angeles County, survived by eight children.

Mrs. Amand M. Flowers, native of Illinois, 89; came in 1858 and resided many years in Trinity County; died at San Francisco, survived by five children. She was the widow of Ellis Flowers, early-day sheriff of Trinity County.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

EVIDENCING THE GOOD WORK BEING done by the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West in one of its many worthwhile endeavors, there follow letters received by Past Grand Stella Finkeldey of Santa Cruz City, chairman Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee. "I take great pleasure in reporting the response from our Order," writes Miss Finkeldey to The Grizzly Bear. "To date (January 18, 1933,) 135 Subordinate Parlors have responded to the call, and I wish especially to express my appreciation, taking into consideration present conditions of world affairs. The wishes of those in charge of the various hospitals are being carried out as they desire."

"This will acknowledge receipt of one dozen duplicate bridge boards and one dozen decks of playing cards, which have been delivered to our recreational aide. The bridge boards arrived at a most opportune time, as a group of men who have been much interested in starting a duplicate contract tournament had been planning to improvise with ordinary paper envelopes. They will be very pleasantly surprised to have these professional looking boards to use. Will you please extend to your organization our sincere thanks for this manifestation of their interest in our disabled veterans?" Also, "This will acknowledge receipt of your letter and the package containing two dozen decks of playing cards for the use of our patients. The cards are very attractive and will be most welcome to the recreational aide for use in the card contests. Will you please convey our appreciation to all of your members for their thoughtfulness."—United States Veterans Hospital, Walla Walla, Washington.

"We wish to acknowledge receipt of forty pounds of small candies which you sent for the Christmas nut cups, also your letter. Will you please extend to your organization our sincere thanks for their share in making Christmas in this hospital a time of as much cheer and happiness as possible? With all best wishes to you and your organization for the new year."—United States Veterans Hospital, Whipple, Arizona.

"In the rush of Christmas work, reply to your letter has been delayed somewhat. As we still have quite a good supply of wool socks remaining from the generous quantity sent us last spring by the Native Daughters of the Golden West, it is not believed we shall need any more until next winter. Without first looking over the supply closet and determining our needs, we do not know what to suggest in place of socks. However, there always seems to be needed little extras not provided the patients by the Veterans Administration. May we write you later in regard to this? Meanwhile, many thanks indeed for the kind interest of the Native Daughters in the welfare of our patients."—United States Veterans Hospital, Livermore, California.

"It was a very great pleasure to receive your letter and to learn that even in this year of stress our patients are to be remembered again so generously by your organization. We believe that there is no service that you could render them that would afford the patients more enjoyment than that which you gave them so splendidly last year. The patients seem to get so very much pleasure from the card parties and of course the prizes are the crowning event of the parties. We cannot tell you how happy we all are, patients and staff, that we are to have more 'Native Daughters of the Golden West Parties,' and we do wish that some member of your organization might happen to be here to attend one. With many thanks for your thought of us, and with all best wishes."—United States Veterans Hospital, Tucson, Arizona.

Hall, where the indoor services were held, the Honorable Edward Stanley, at one time Baker's law partner, delivered the oration. His observances were based on a close personal contact with the departed. This is but a fragment of that notable address:

"He had as much unworldliness as Goldsmith. No love of filthy lucre ever found a resting-place in his heart. For years I have known him well, and part of that time was associated with him in business, and I never heard a profane word or irreverent expression from his lips. He never uttered a word that could impair the celestial comfort of a Christian's hope. . . . I have never known a man in public life whose heart more abounded in generous philanthropy for all mankind."

Thomas Starr King, at the grave, poured out this heartfelt eulogy:

"Yes, warrior and statesman, wise in counsel, graceful and electric as few have been in speech, ardent and vigorous in debate, but nobler than for all these qualities by the devotion which prompted thee to give more than thy wisdom, more than thy energy and weight in the hall of senatorial discussion, more than the fervor of thy tongue and the fire of thy eagle eye in the assemblies of the people, —even the blood of thy indomitable heart when thy country called with a cry of peril,—we receive thee with tears and pride. We find thee dearer than when thou earnest to speak to us in the full tide of life and vigor. Thy wounds through which thy life was poured are not 'dumb mouths,' but eloquent with the intense and perpetual appeal of thy soul. We receive thee to 'reverence and gratitude' as we lay thee gently to thy sleep, and we pledge to thee not only a monument that shall hold thy name, but a memorial in the hearts of a grateful people so long as the Pacific moans near thy resting place, and a fame eminent among the heroes of the Republic as long as the mountain shall feel the Oregon."

This monthly contribution ends at this point, and as we review the years from the day that King delivered his beautiful thoughts, we search our hearts and find that King's promise of a grateful remembrance by posterity has not been fulfilled. There is not a monument to mark Baker's grave, there is not even respect shown his last resting-place. Perhaps economic conditions do not warrant a monument, but we are not so poor as to justify the grave of California's greatest being covered with weeds, the simple grave marker to become battered and a coping to become worn and battered by time. A few hundred dollars would rescue the grave from oblivion and demonstrate that we are mindful of our obligations to our past.

Broderick has a beautiful monument over his last resting-place. Referring to the graves of Baker and Broderick, so close to each other, at the funeral, the orator said:

"Let their monuments arise to meet the eye of the ocean-worn exile as he comes near this haven of rest. Let them tell the traveler, as the landscape fades from his sight on leaving our gorgeous land, that the paths of glory lead but to the grave'."

What is the answer of the Native Sons? If we are essentially a historical organization, we cannot fail in our duty to that shrine, our first duty of the present day.

MISS EDNA TROMBATORE.

Los Angeles initiated nine candidates January 4 and listened to interesting reports on charitable endeavors and history work by Lucy Malin, Harriet Martin, Dolores Malin and Jennie Raymond. The January 11 card party was most successful. January 15 about forty members, led by President Mattie Labory-Gara, pilgrimaged to the Cota adobe. A pot-luck dinner honoring those born in January preceded the January 18 meeting; Dr. Chamberlain gave a greatly enjoyed talk on "Bret Harte and His Writings." Marshal Edna Trombatore entertained the sewing circle at her home January 7; delicious refreshments were served.

The Parlor's program for February includes: 5th, sewing circle meeting at home of Marvel Thomas; 8th, monthly card party, Evelyn Trautwein in charge; 11th, Valentine dance; 22nd, George Washington party.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

Compton—Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. had a most enthusiastic meeting January 24. All neighboring Parlors were represented among the large number of visitors, big delegations coming from Los Angeles, San Pedro and Santa Monica. Among the speakers were Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William Reuter, Deputy Grand President Clinton Skinner, District Deputies Edward Baldwin, Harry Hann and Howard Bentley, Past Grand President John Newell and President Laurence Cowan of No. 273.

Seven candidates were initiated, the ritual being most impressively exemplified by a team from Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 with Ray LeMoine as president and the following participating: Earl LeMoine, Lee Erwin, Sidney Witkowski, Roger Johnson, Howard Bentley, Walter Fisher, Clyde Davis and Chester Staley. Due to good-natured "panning" among the visitors, Compton's charity box was considerably enriched, and refreshments ended what one oldtimer declared was the most pleasant evening he had spent at a Native Son meeting in a long time.

SECRETARY RESIGNS.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. will be officially visited February 23 by Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer. Preceding the meeting a buffet supper will be served. Richard W. Fryer, long the efficient recording secretary of the Parlor, resigned at the close of 1932 and has been succeeded by Willard F. Allen, an oldtime member of the Order, originally affiliated with Chico Parlor No. 21.

"CHINA TODAY," FEBRUARY FEATURE.

Officers of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. with Henry G. Bodkin as president, were installed by Ralph I. Harbison January 16. Previous to the ceremonies the officers-elect exemplified the ritual and they were highly commended by District Deputy Howard Bentley. There was a goodly attendance, considering the rain downpour, and Bodkin was highly praised for getting into the harness for the third time. Among the several speakers was Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer. The Parlor had an oldtime ight January 30, and officers of the long-ago resided. A splendid program, arranged for by resident Bodkin, was presented.

The feature attraction on Hollywood's February calendar is an address by Leonard Husar (Ramona No. 109), for some time in the Federal Government's diplomatic service in China, n "China Today," scheduled for the 20th That evening, also, a class of candidates will be nitiated. February 27, Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer will pay his official visit.

DANCE AT GLENDALE.

Glendale—Amidst most colorful surroundings, officers of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed January 23 at impressive ceremonies attended by some two hundred. Deputy Gertrude Allen officiated, and Vera Carlson succeeded to the presidency. A program of musical selections was presented by Joseph Dismay, Dorothy Courtney and Adelia Larson. Among the speakers were Founder Lily O. R. Dyer, Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer and Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen of the Native Daughters, and Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, President Harvey Gillette of Glendale Parlor No. 264, President Arthur Leonard of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 and District Deputy Harry Mann of the Native Sons. Numerous presentations were made, among them an emblematic ring to Betty Sanders, retiring president.

February 11, Verdugo No. 240 and Glendale No. 264 will give a dance at Masonic Hall, 234 South Brand boulevard, and all Natives and their friends will be welcome. The same good music furnished for the Parlors' past dances will be provided, and an equally good time is guaranteed. Ione and Harvey Gillette are in charge. February 15, at Chevy Chase Country Club, Verdugo will feature a 12:30 bridge luncheon. Margaret Donlan heads the arrangements committee.

MEMBERSHIP RECORD.

Following the initiation of three candidates January 17, University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. presented Roscoe Goodcell, for ten years a resident of China, who delivered an interesting and informative address on "The Awakening of China." The Parlor plans to have a speaker each month on some timely subject. It has what is believed to be a membership-record—five DeFazio brothers, Angelo, Frank, Joe, John and Martin. It is promoting athletics, and its monthly dances are most successful.

VALENTINE BRIDGE-LUNCHEON.

At the January 10 meeting of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. an enlightening lecture on "Why the Nation Builds California" was delivered by Charles Horworth, who was presented by Chairman Ora Evans of the program committee. Miss Grace Anderson (Grace No. 242) of Fullerton, who succeeds Mrs. Mattie B. Edwards as deputy for the Parlor, was a visitor. Chairman Gertrude Tuttle of the ways and means committee announced a Saint Valentine bridge-luncheon February 16 at the Beverly Hills hotel. As a special feature Mrs. Constance Rimpau-Seals will present a fashion show.

January 24, Mrs. Edith Adams and Miss Lillian Anderson of the hospitality committee sponsored a charming Swedish party. The committee were in costume, and refreshments peculiar to that country were served. Numerous curios of Swedish origin were displayed. Cards provided the afternoon's diversion.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

San Pedro—At joint ceremonies January 6, the officers of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. and Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. were installed by Deputies Kate McFadyen and Harry Hann, Carrie Kuhlman and P. H. Doran becoming the respective presidents. The ceremonies were preceded by a supper, served by Sepulveda. Among the many in attendance were Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel Hansen, Grand Trustee Eldred Meyer, Mrs. Florence D. Schoneman and District Deputy Edward Baldwin. An informal dance followed the ceremonies.

MUSICAL TREAT.

Through the courtesy of Beulah Belle Smith, Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. presented January 20 a musical program of exceptional merit—a real treat to those who enjoy high-class music by artists. Vocal selections were rendered by Constance Piper, Dora Bach, Olga Petrova and Layar Samoiloff. Thelma Leggett was the accompanist. Preceding the concert a dinner, largely attended, was served, the boys born in January being honor-guests. First Vice-president Charles Straube was master of ceremonies and there were impromptu remarks from several. Ernest Ortlia extended the Parlor's well wishes.

Ramona's February program inlcudes: 10th, initiation; 17th, birthday dinner for the February natives, a tag affair, free to all members of the Parlor, at which Judge Dawson and Leonard G. Husar will be the speakers. 24th, official visit of Grand Trustee Meyer and initiation.

N.S. OFFICIAL TO VISIT.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. initiated four candidates during January. In future, initiation will be featured the third Wednesday of each month, and under the leadership of President Arthur Leonard a large increase in membership is anticipated. The Parlor, through its quartet — Clayton Brandt, Al Toenjes, Edward Curran and Royal Stanton, with Miss Elizabeth Marles accompanist, and Ernesto Reyes with his Spanish revue, is keeping the Order before the public. They contribute their talents for the good of the cause, and appear at many functions, Native and otherwise.

Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, a member of No. 267, announces the following itinerary to complete his official visits to Parlors: February—7th, University No. 272; 9th, Long Beach No. 239; 10th, Bakersfield No. 42; 15th, Santa Barbara No. 116; 17th, Sepulveda No. 263; 20th, Santa Ana No. 265. March 1, Arrowhead No. 110.

ers in Congress or in the business world to accurately gage the size and seriousness of the depression, its causes or promising remedies.

I agree with what you say. We are apparently drifting, hoping in some way to muddle through without very much clear seeing or clear thinking, and with an obvious unwillingness to recognize that the house in which we have lived is no longer habitable and cannot be made habitable without some rather radical repairs involving important departures from our past method of living and doing business, which produced the present depression.

Congratulations on your excellent editorial! Sincerely,

PHIL D. SWING, Congressman
Eleventh California District.

Washington, D. C., January 14, 1933.

ORIGINAL NATIVE SON'S PASSING.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Edwin Lewis Meyer [whose death was chronicled in The Grizzly Bear for January 1933] was a charter member of the Native Sons, San Francisco, which body subsequently became California Parlor No. 1 of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West.

On organization July 11, 1875, the members were given certificate of membership, in the order in which they joined. Meyer's certificate was No. 106. The charter was kept open from the time of organization to March 24, 1876, when 113 members had signed the charter-roll. My certificate is No. 4.

CHARLES H. SMITH.

Avalon, January 5, 1933.

(Smith is a member of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., Los Angeles. He was born in Contra Costa County, and was the first secretary of the original organization of Native Sons. Editor.)

FIRST CALIFORNIA GOLD DISCOVERY.

Editor Grizzly Bear: Thought the item herewith may be of interest to the readers of The Grizzly Bear.

EMIL C. MALZ JR.

San Rafael, December 21, 1932.

Here's the item: "When was gold discovered in California? The first well authenticated discovery of gold in California was made near Los Angeles in 1842, six years before a workman named James Marshall discovered gold at John Sutter's mill on the south fork of the American river near Coloma" [El Dorado County].

PIONEER NATIVES DEAD

(Brief Notices of the Demise of Men and Women born in California Prior to 1860.)

William B. Cutler, born in Solano County in 1853, died December 22 at San Jose, Santa Clara County, survived by three children. He was for many years an educator, and was the son of Nathan Cutler, Pioneer of 1849 who served in an early-day State Legislature.

Fred Branch, born in San Luis Obispo County in 1853, died December 23 at Santa Barbara City survived by a wife. He was a son of Francis Ziba Branch, Pioneer of 1831 to whom the Mexican government in 1837 granted the Santa Manuela rancho.

Leonidas Clay Branch, born in Stanislaus County in 1851, died December 29 at Los Angeles City survived by a son. [At one time he was affiliated with Modesto Parlor No. 11 N.S.G.W., and as a representative of that Parlor at the Fifth (Sacramento 1882) Grand Parlor was elected Grand Lecturer, an office long since abolished; later he was identified with the original Visalia Parlor No. 19 N.S.G.W.—Editor.]

In Memoriam

DR. RAFAEL C. DUFFICY

Again the solemn hour has struck, and another dearly beloved brother of Mount Tamalpais Parlor No. 64 N.S.G.W. has departed this Vale of Tears.

The son of a pioneer family, Dr. Rafael C. Duffey was true to the principles of this great Order, the community has lost a public spirited citizen, his family a kind and loving husband and father, and to them we offer that poor consolation within our power to give, and we commend them to the all wise and loving and merciful Father who has called him to his final rest. He only can console and comfort them in these, their dark hours of sorrow and tribulation. Be it

Resolved, That a copy of this memorial be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy be forwarded under the seal of the Parlor to the bereaved relatives, that a copy be published in the official publication of the Order, and that the charter be draped for a period of thirty days, and be it further resolved, that the Parlor stand in silence, in respect to the memory of our departed brother.

C. F. REINDOLLAR,
M. W. LABEL,
HAROLD J. HALEY,
LOUIS J. PETER,
Committee.

San Rafael, December 23, 1932.

MABEL HAMB.

To the Officers and Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our late, beloved sister, Mabel Hamb, submit the following:

Whereas, Again the Angel of Death has entered our Parlor and taken from our midst our dearly beloved sister, Mabel Hamb, whose kind and gentle manner won the love and esteem of all who knew her, and whereas, in her passing our Parlor has lost a most highly respected and loyal member, her family a devoted wife and loving mother, the community a citizen who was always ready and willing to help and do for others, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved family; and further be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our departed sister, that a copy be spread in full upon the minutes of this Parlor, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPHINE COLLINS,
ROSE MARTINELLI,
MAE MEAD,
AUGUSTA HUXSOL.

Oakland, December 29, 1932.

TILLIE BARGMAN.

To the Officers and Members of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee on resolutions in respect to the memory of Sister Tillie Bargman, submit the following: There is another vacant chair in our Parlor, and our heads are bowed in loving memory for our sister who has passed to higher and better things.

Whereas, In view of the loss we have sustained, and of the greater loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to her, be it

Resolved, That it is only a tribute to her memory to say that we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our regard

GORGEOUS BLOOMS ON PARADE SEEN BY HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS

The forty fourth annual Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena, January 2, was declared by the multitude of onlookers as the most gorgeous ever presented. Fairyland was the theme, and the designs were presented in myriads of exquisite blooms of endless color.

The grand sweepstakes prize went to the City of Glendale for its elaborate "Hanzel and Gretel." The City of Long Beach was awarded the theme prize for "The Peacock," a magnificent presentation; a symphony in white and pink blooms. Other prizewinners were:

Class A (civic bodies) Los Angeles Chamber Commerce first, "Little Boy Blue." County of Los Angeles second, "Once in a Blue Moon;" City of San Francisco third, "Six White Swans;" City of Santa Monica special, "Their Breakwater."

Class A-1 (civic bodies) City of Santa Barbara first, "A Castle in Spain;" City of Pomona second, "The King of Flowers;" City of Inglewood third, "Rainbow Palace;" City of San Jose special, "Fairy Barge;" City of San Bernardino special, "National Orange Show;" City of Santa Ana special, "The Lady of the Silver Moon;" City of Alhambra special, "Peter Rabbit."

Class A-2 (civic bodies)—Santa Catalina Island first, "Magic Isle;" City of Altadena second, "Queen Titania;" City of San Marino third, "Little Miss Muffet;" City of Covina special, "The Rainbow and the Pot of Gold;" City of South Gate special, "A City Built of Flowers."

Other most attractive floats were: "Alice in Wonderland," Pasadena Chamber of Commerce; "Water Babies" and "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," City of Pasadena public schools; "Little Bo Peep," Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce; "Pasadena Fairyland," Pasadena Park Department; "Dream of Youth," Pasadena Water Department; "Daughter of the Dragon," united service clubs of Pasadena; "Cinderella," Camp Fire Girls; "Jack and the Beanstalk," Boy Scouts of America, Culver City, and "Thumbelisa," Boy Scouts of America, Pasadena.

Citrus Institute—The annual California South Citrus Institute is to be held at Anaheim, Orange County, February 13 and 14.

Tree Giant—The tallest tree on state-owned lands in California is in the North Dyerville Flat State Park, Humboldt County, 364 feet.

Stanislaus Big Producer—The value of the 1932 products of Stanislaus County's farms was $18,253,600.

Her work here is finished,
Over there it's just begun,
And we know she'll greet each of us
At the setting of the sun.

Be it further resolved, that to the bereaved family we extend our heartfelt sympathy, and commend them for consolation to Him who doeth all things well; resolved, that the charter of our Parlor remain draped for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine and that a copy be sent to the family of our departed sister.

Sincerely submitted in P.D.F.A.,
BERTHA McGEE,
EMMA FRERICHS,
Committee.

Tracy, January 23, 1933.

LILLIAN ROBINO.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to His home Sister Lillian Robino, a member of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 N.D.G.W.; and whereas, in the death of Sister Robino Golden Gate Parlor has lost an honored member, her family a loving sister and a devoted wife and mother; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend our sincere sympathy and condolence to the family; that our charter be draped in mourning, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and that one be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication in the current issue.

MARGARET RAMM,
SOPHIE SIEBE,
Committee.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

SEQUINS AND BEADS, HAVING WON their way back into the winter fashions, promise to be increasingly popular during the spring and the summer months. These sparkling beaded effects, however, will be achieved with a new artistry, one of the most attractive being in attached trimmings, such as capelets, collars, scarfs or sashes.

A delightful evening gown owes much of its allure to bright beads. The frock, of shiny cobbly crepe, is made very simple, with a high waistline and quite a deep decolletage in back. It can be worn for dinner with its separate bolero of black crepe, heavily beaded in silver and white beads. The same bolero may do duty, also, with any other black frock.

Glittering ornaments on dark or neutral backgrounds are good. Metallic and gem-set evening bags are among the new features for evening use. Bright and glittering is the current recipe for smartness in evening clothes. Bright metallic belts are worn on both day and dinner dresses. They are buckled, and fastened in the tailored manner.

Belts, sashes and girdles are shown, of glossy satin or cire. The ribbon is placed flat across the back of the waist, but is twisted into a single knot at the center front. The dress is tunic type, of chiffon, with a scarf-like arrangement which drapes gracefully.

We have some good, early tips on spring clothes. Everyone will be wearing suits again and the smartest will be tailored. Though tailored, they are softly so, therefore more becoming to most people. Woolens amaze and delight by their variety. So lovely are they, so different, they almost challenge the mode fabric. Woolens, silks and cottons all have importance. We are chiefly concerned at the moment with woolens. The new tweeds are most attractive, in broken checks and diagonal stripes. Then we have the sheer and light-weight rabbits hair tweeds, available in a choice of natural and pastel shades, which may be used in connection with tricolored checks in perfect harmony. Plain and novelty jerseys are well represented in the showings of angora, pebbly woolens and crepy woolens.

Black and white effects are the height of chic, and may always be depended on to be both stylish and in good taste whatever the occasion of use. Whether for every-day street wear or for formal evening, black and white combinations are necessary, or at least a popular adjunct to every woman's wardrobe.

A one-piece dress is of bagdad crepe, in black and white. The skirt, of black crepe, follows the long, slender lines that are today's vogue, molded closely to the form at the hips and falling into graceful folds from the knees. The bodice, of snowy white crepe, is most attractive, and is fashioned in combination with the full-black girdle, rather high so as to give the effect of a vest and jacket. The high-pointed girdle ties at the side back, and falls into long black streamers, which are finished at the ends with a fringe of long white silk. The sleeves, of one piece, are fitted close at the wrist, and broaden toward the shoulder to form the upper front of the blouse, and turn back at the neck into a bias fold that makes the collar. With this unusual gown is worn a handsome black caracul neck-piece, fastened with two large buttons.

The blouse and skirt have come into their own again, offering a happy variation from the one-piece frock which has held almost undisputed favor for so long a time. Not only for street wear, but now the skirt and blouse are finding popular favor for dinner wear, and there is every evidence that they will gain greater momentum with the new spring fashions.

It looks like capes and capelets are here to stay, for the current year at least. They will adorn suits and frocks, formal and informal, and are shown in varying lengths and styles for outdoor wraps. Evening coats continue to be of all lengths. Velvet holds a more definite place for the very formal wrap. The long silhouette lines are likewise quite firmly set, for the winter months at least. The full sleeves are effective in producing the broad shoulder lines. An outstanding novel idea is the treatment of the sleeves, which are in one with the back width of the wrap itself.

Many of the new shoes this year have matching colors for frocks. The new spring shoes will borrow their lines and colors from last-minute fashions in frocks and hats. Rounder toes and slightly lower heels will distinguish shoes for morning wear. Oxfords, pumps and strap models are the favorite designs, while kid, reptile and light-weight calf are combined with tweed matching the fabric of the costume. For afternoon, pumps and sandals hold the spotlight. Reptile and suede are displayed for the more informal models.

A brocade sandal for spring and evening wear is woven with gold threads flecked with many colors. Its varied color scheme makes it practical for wear with many frocks. Another for evening wear is of white crepe-de-chine, with collar and heel of gold or silver. New models run higher at the instep, and the counters point well up at the ankles. With formal evening wear, the slender sandals will leave the heels exposed.

The smartest thing for underwear is white, and after that, tea-rose. Ivory and egg-shell are best in satin. They look richer than white in that fabric. Then, just for a change, there are aquamarine, peach, apricot, the palest green, the faintest blue and the most luscious pale beige. Pink is conspicuously absent. The or pink we like for lingerie is tea-rose, a yell pink. All lingerie should be in color sets. one wears a white slip, the panties and brassie should be white also. Sets may be had in rai bow shades, but as long as you wear only o color at a time, you will feel well dressed.

Spring millinery shows a trend toward sma round hats with tilted brims, worn sauci at an angle, some of them almost hiding t right eye and exhibiting the hair freely at t left side. The prevailing colors are black, brov and navy blue, and there are also models gray, hyacinth, flame red and putty beig Feathers, flowers and bright metal ornamen are used.

TWO FRIENDS

ABRAHAM LINCOLN! EDWARD D. Baker! What genius, what talent, humanity and Americanism these two names recall. Their lives ran a similar course. From early manhood they lived as contemporaries and friends. Their lives closed in tragedy, one the victim of the assassin's bullet—the other of a rebel shot on the field of the great Civil War.

How little do Californians realize that in Baker was a man as close to Lincoln as any man who lived. The days just closing have heard praise bestowed and the name of Lincoln glorified. But few interested in the history of this state realize that Edward D. Baker's life was inseparably interwoven with the great Emancipator. It is not amiss to recall at this time—and then let the subject-matter rest—the intimate association of these two men.

From 1837 to the date of Baker's death, we find them battling in a common political cause. In the aforesaid year, when Baker, speaking at Springfield to a hostile crowd, was threatened with bodily harm, he saw at his side the tall, lank figure of Lincoln threatening defiance. As he seized a stone water-jug, he exclaimed, "I'll break this over the head of the first man who lays a hand on Baker!" To that far-away date of 1861 when Lincoln attended the Congressional memorial services to Baker the warm and admirable friendship continued.

In 1844, Baker and Lincoln both sought the nomination for Congress in the Springfield district, and Baker won after a contest of honorable rivalry. Lincoln was elected the following term, when Baker declined to contest against him.

In 1860, when Baker was elected as Senator from Oregon and Lincoln had been elected President, upon Baker's arrival in Washington he found there a message from Lincoln inviting him to proceed at once to Springfield to talk over the then-serious situation. Baker left on the first train for Springfield, Illinois, and before the travel stains had been removed from his person there appeared at the window of a relative's home in which he was resting the tall, gaunt figure of the President-elect. It was their first meeting since Baker had left Illinois for his conquest of the Far West. As these two strong men shook hands, Lincoln said, "Hell, Baker, I am glad to see you. I'd rather have had you elected Senator than any man alive." With mock formality, Baker responded, "I was coming soon to call on you, Mr. President." Whereupon Lincoln interrupted with, "None of that between us, Baker."

No other ears than those of the two principals heard what then transpired, but undoubtedly there was spoken at that time conversation which was as momentous and as important as any of that troublesome era.

When Lincoln prepared for his inaugural address at Washington, it was decided that the man to be given the signal honor of the introduction of President Lincoln to the assemblage on that dramatic and momentous occasion would be Baker.

Thus, on the 4th day of March 1861, when the retiring President, James Buchanan, walked arm in arm with Lincoln to the inaugural platform, they were escorted by Senators Foot, Pearce and Baker. While Senator Douglas held Lincoln's hat in a show of respect to the man whose bitter political rival he had been, the melodious voice of Baker rang out over the vast assemblage with these simple words: "Fellow citizens, I introduce to you, Abraham Lincoln, the President of the United States."

With Lincoln in office, the two men had more in common than ever before. Baker had access to the White House at any and all times and hours. He could have received from Lincoln anything within his power to bestow. But days of tragedy soon dawned, and the incomparable Baker was soon on the battlefield where Fate without much ado, decreed that he should be an early sacrifice.

While training his regiment near Washington, Baker frequently had as a visitor to the camp his friend and the President, Abraham Lincoln.

If the immortal Lincoln thought so much of the living Edward D. Baker, is it not just and reasonable that we, the Native Sons who have for years declared for homage and reverence to our honored pioneer dead, do our duty to his memory? THE GRAVE OF EDWARD D. BAKER IS NEGLECTED AND FORGOTTEN IN SAN FRANCISCO.

CITRUS, BRIGHT SPOT IN DISCOURAGING 1932 FARM PICTURE

California's fruit and nut growers had abundant crops during 1932, but owing to adverse conditions, the farmers received for their products "probably an all-time low" price, according to the Federal-State Co-operative Crop Reporting service.

In farm products value, 1929 was California's peak-year, $256,071,000. The 1932 production exceeded that of 1929 by more than 500,000 tons, but the 1932 value, $123,460,000, was $132,611,000 less than in 1929. The citrus industry represented the one bright spot in an otherwise discouraging farm-picture; the value of the orange crop increased from $38,390,000 in 1931 to $46,760,000 in 1932.

The value of the nut and the fruit crops of California for the past six years, as reported by the service, follows: 1927, $254,900,000; 1928, $218,734,000; 1929, $256,071,000; 1930, $179,515,000; 1931, $135,977,000; 1932, $123,460,000. A big decrease during each of the three past, depression, years.

"Hand Signals Prevent Confusion" is the March slogan of the California Public Safety Committee in its campaign to lessen the constantly increasing auto death-toll.

THE BRODERICK-TERRY DUEL

AMONG THE STRIKING INCIDENTS IN the early history of California was the tragic duel between David C. Broderick, a United States Senator, and David S. Terry, Chief Justice of the California Supreme Court. Broderick was born in Washington, D. C., February 4, 1820, the son of a stonecutter who worked as such upon the National Capitol. Before the boy was fourteen years of age the family removed to New York. He grew strong and self-reliant and attached himself to a volunteer fire company. Those were the days in which the fire department was manned by volunteers who not alone fought the fires of that city but nearly everything else, including other firemen. He became foreman of his company at the age of twenty and entered politics. For a while he kept a saloon but never drank liquor, smoked or gambled in his life. At the age of twenty-six he was nominated for Congress, but owing to dissensions in his party was defeated. Shortly thereafter he determined to go to California, and when parting from a friend stated, with his indomitable spirit, that if he ever returned to the East, he would do so as a United States senator from the new and untrammeled State of California. As a boy, with his father, he had seen the United States Senate in session.

Colonel J. D. Stevenson, a friend of young Broderick, had written him: "Come out to California and try this new land, this new El Dorado." He did so and, by way of Panama, reached the Golden Gate in June 1849, at the age of twenty-nine. He at once entered the political activities of San Francisco, and within seven months after his arrival was elected State Senator. A vacancy occurred in the office of lieutenant-governor and at the age of thirty he was chosen by the Senate to the position. He organized the first fire company in San Francisco, Empire No. 1, of which he was foreman, and which took his name after his death.

He was indefatigable as a leader, but somewhat intolerant at times, awakening a spirit of enmity in some quarters, but tied many to him in the strongest bonds of friendship. The Democratic party became Broderick and anti-Broderick. He declared, "My goal is the Senate and I will arrive there if I live." He never avoided a conflict, personal or political, and was fearless in the conflicts of those days, even where weapons were drawn.

At the time he was chosen by the Senate as lieutenant-governor, a member of the Legislature by the name of Moore made an address on the floor of the Assembly reflecting on Broderick. When they afterwards met on the street Broderick resented the attack and Moore drew a revolver and, leveling it at Broderick, threatened his life. The crowd scattered, but Broderick, fearlessly looking into the eyes of Moore, said: "You cowardly assassin, why don't you fire? You dare not, you coward!" The courage of Broderick awed his opponent; Moore hesitated, and the weapon was wrested from his grasp. These were the days in which the Vigilance Committee was organized in San Francisco to suppress crime. Charles Cora was hanged for the killing of United States Marshal Richardson, and James Casey for the killing of James King of William, editor of the "Bulletin."

Broderick first campaigned for election as United States senator in 1855, and although defeated prevented the choice of any other candidate by the Legislature. In the session of 1857, at the age of thirty-seven, he was elected United States Senator. Broderick took his position with those opposed to slavery. In a speech delivered upon the floor of the Senate he spoke of his humble birth, and how he, the son of a poor stonecutter who had worked on the columns of the National Capitol, had by the genius and liberality of our American institutions taken his seat in that same Capitol as the representative of the young but imperial State of California.

Returning to California, factional differences arose within his party, and a quarrel ensued between him and David S. Terry, who came to California from Texas in 1849 and settled in Stockton. Being defeated in 1859 for renomination as justice of the Supreme Court, Terry referred to the faction of his party which opposed him as "the personal chattels of a single individual of whom they are ashamed; they belong heart, soul and breeches to David C. Broderick." These were the words of the chief justice of the state. Reading Terry's address while at the breakfast table in the International Hotel at San Francisco, Broderick, angered at the reference to him, stated that he had once paid $200 a week to support a newspaper to defend Terry while held by the Vigilance Committee, and added that he had stated that Terry was one of the most honest men on the supreme bench, "but now I take it all back." This remark being repeated to Judge Terry, he, by letter, demanded a retraction from Senator Broderick, which was refused, and on September 9, 1859, Terry sent the Senator a written challenge to a duel. The challenge was accepted. They were both men of unquestioned courage, but victims of the so-called code of honor which prevailed at the time. Broderick had for some time believed that his life was in danger through the political animosities of the day. When he was last in New York, he said to a friend who accompanied him to the steamer: "Good bye, you may never see me again."

The duel was fought on the 13th day of September, 1859, in a small valley near the southern end of Lake Merced and near the San Francisco and San Mateo county line. The spot has been since marked by the Landmarks Committee of the Native Sons. The principals had met the day before, but the duel was prevented by the sheriff, and the following morning they took their positions just over the county line. Both Pioneers of 1849, and yet under forty years of age, they had attained the highest positions in the gift of the people. Pistols of the duelling pattern were used, with barrels twelve inches long. It was afterwards found that the hair trigger of one was so light that it would be discharged on a sudden motion. Broderick had never seen the weapon before, and Terry having won the choice, unfortunately, and some declare intentionally, it happened that the pistol with the delicate trigger fell to Broderick. Broderick won the choice for position and stood with his back to the rising sun.

One, in describing the duel, said: "Fronting the ocean, like himself, was California, that California on whose soil he stood and to whose fame and future he had consecrated his hopes, his energy and devotion. With troubled look he turned to the pistol, of a type with which he was not familiar." One of the seconds, Colton, said, "Gentlemen, are you ready?" Terry, who stood cold and unmoved, at once replied, "Ready." Broderick, handling the unfamiliar weapon for a few seconds then answered, "Ready." Colton after a moment's pause said, "Fire—one—two." It had been agreed that the word "three" should be omitted and that the principals should fire between the words "fire—one, two." As "one" was uttered Broderick's pistol was discharged, the bullet striking the earth midway between the opponents. Broderick said, on his death bed, that he did not touch the trigger of the pistol as he raised it. Terry fired at "two," and his bullet entered the right breast of Broderick, who staggered and fell on his left side, the pistol dropping from his nerveless grasp. Terry said to his second, Calhoun Benham, "The wound is not mortal; I hit two inches too far out." Broderick was at once conveyed to the home of Leonidas Haskell at Black Point, Fort Mason, on the west side of Van Ness avenue, near the bay. The house still stands. He was shot Tuesday and died Friday morning, September 15, "in the very morning of his career."

Then followed universal sorrow for the dead. His body was conveyed to the parlors of the Union Hotel, Kearny and Merchant streets, and on Sunday afternoon taken to the Plaza, opposite where, in the presence of thirty thousand men, Colonel E. D. Baker, matchless orator and friend of the deceased, afterwards United States Senator from the State of Oregon and at the same time colonel in the United States Army and later killed at the battle of Ball's Bluff during the Civil War, delivered a memorial address unrivaled in American literature. The closing sentences of his oration I quote as a tribute to Broderick and as illustrative of the ability and character of the men who came to California as Pioneers in the days of '49. He said:

"And now, as the shadows turn toward the east, and we prepare to bear these poor remains to their silent resting place, let us not seek to repress the generous pride which prompts a recital of noble deeds and manly virtues. Senator Broderick rose unaided and alone, he began his career without family or fortune in the face of difficulties; he inherited poverty and obscurity; he died a Senator in Congress, having written his name in the history of the [illegible] and lifted up their voices and wept."

The death of Broderick and the oration of Baker brought an end to dueling in California. The remains of Senator Broderick and Colonel Baker rest in Laurel Hill Cemetery, San Francisco.

Judge Terry himself met a violent death August 15, 1889. While in the railroad diningroom at Lathrop he struck Justice Stephen J. Field of the United States Supreme Court in the face and was thereupon shot and killed by United States Deputy Marshal Nagle. Justice Field and Terry had sat together as judges of the Supreme Court of California in 1858. President Lincoln later appointed Field a justice of the United States Supreme Court. Terry had become attorney for a colorful, headstrong young woman, Sarah Althea Hill, in her suit concerning an alleged contract of marriage with United States Senator William Sharon of Nevada, owner of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, and later married her.

Judge Field, in the United States Circuit Court, rendered a decision adverse to the client of Terry and she arose in court and upbraided the judge, who ordered her removed, and Terry aided her in forcibly resisting the bailiff. They were both adjudged guilty of contempt and sent to prison. This aroused in Terry bitter hatred for his former associate. Justice Field returned to Washington and the next year, in performance of judicial duties, came to California. He had been told of threats made by Terry. When on the way from Los Angeles to San Francisco Field, accompanied by Nagle, left the train for breakfast at Lathrop. Terry and his wife, it so happened, had boarded the same train at Fresno and also entered the diningroom and took seats. When Sarah Althea saw Field, she returned to the train, but Judge Terry, who was a man over six feet in height and weighed 250 pounds, in a fit of anger arose and, walking over and behind the veneral justice, who was seated, struck him in the face and was thereupon shot and killed by the United States deputy marshal, who testified that Terry, when ordered to stop, made a motion as though to draw a weapon.

LOVE STORY OF CONCEPCION ARGUELLO

Of equal interest to the Broderick-Terry duel is the romantic love story of Concepcion Arguello, which story is connected with the Presidio at San Francisco. Concepcion, in the year 1806, was sixteen years of age, the daughter of the commandante of the Presidio, and the recognized beauty of California. Into the Bay of San Francisco that year sailed Prince Rezanoff, ambassador from the czar of Russia, who came to secure provisions for the settlement in Alaska. He was most hospitably received by the Spaniards, and met and was at once charmed by the fair Concepcion. Being a distinguished and handsome courtier, he deeply impressed the beautiful girl. In time they fell desperately in love and though of different faiths secured the consent of Concepcion's father and the friars to an engagement. The prince sailed for Siberia and Russia to report to the czar, and gave a promise to return soon for his affianced bride. The years passed and no word came to Dona Concepcion who, with unwavering faith in her lover, hoped on through the passing years. Keeping in mind that she, in time, became a nun, let the California poet, Bret Harte, continue the story:

Long beside the deep embrasures, where the brazen cannon are,
Did they wait the promised bridegroom and the answer of the Czar;
Day by day on wall and bastion beat the hollow, empty breeze,
Day by day the sunlight glittered on the vacant, smilin' seas.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

THE FREQUENTLY-REPEATED DECLaration by the oversigned, that dishonesty is the underlying cause of the numerous ills afflicting this nation and its inhabitants, is daily amply verified by the newspapers, but, for one reason or another, the half is not made public by those dispensers of current events. Quantities of additional facts and figures substantiating the declaration are available in the "Congressional Record." Dishonesty is the source whence flows the depression-stream, growing more turbulent and causing greater havoc!

Dishonesty applies not alone to what are generally regarded as criminal acts of major magnitude. It includes every act not wholly honest: lack of honesty in principle; preaching one thing and practicing its opposite; deceitfulness; faithlessness; violation of a trust, etc. Dishonesty, petty or otherwise, is dishonesty, and any act which is not honest is dishonest. Dishonesty, rampant in government, as well as everywhere else, not excepting religious, educational or fraternal activities, is the guide piloting this nation to eventual doom!

Racketeering is one of the offshoots of dishonesty. And the most pernicious of the bountiful crop of rackets is the political one, fostered by those who thrive on "the hidden things of dishonesty." The political racket accounts for the general disrespect for all law, both God-made and man-made; for open defiance of constituted authority; for the overload of taxation; for the colossal waste of tax-exacted dollars; for the maladministration of public affairs; for the temporary absence of justice. The gangster racket, always featured in the press as a national disgrace, as it is, is but a pigmy, compared with the giant, far-reaching political racket!

Government sets the example, good or bad, for the governed! And government in this country has proven such a prolific field for cultivation by political racketeers, all other fields of endeavor have, naturally, become infested by racketeer-pests. For one such, analyze the financial field, the putridity of which stinks like a dead mackerel rotting in the moonlight. And conditions in this land of plenty,—where honest men by the millions are unemployed, are suffering from want of the necessities of life, and are being dispossessed of their hard-earned, honestly-acquired holdings,—stamp this nation as one controlled by racketeers. And the shame that cries to high heaven is, that no attempt whatever is made to purge the nation of dishonesty, to eliminate the racketeers.

Basically, nothing is wrong with this nation, but everything is radically wrong with the system in vogue! A system which condones, aye, rewards, dishonesty; a system which vaults to hights of prominence and plenty the dishonest few, and crushes to ignominy and want the honest many; a system which so thoroughly disintegrates the foundation that, unless checked, must, as a natural consequence, bring about collapse of the government-structure.

Who, and what, are responsible for existant conditions? That vast majority who have been perfectly content to honestly acquire the things they desire, but who have failed to fulfill their first and chief duty as citizens, in that they have neglected to take an active interest in government. They have, through their passiveness, bartered their heritage—the greatest and the grandest country God's sun ever smiled on—for a few prosperity-sheckels, scattered among "the rabble." As a result of their apathy, a dishonest few have become the dictators of government and of business, the masters of the honest many. The masses can, if they unitedly determine so to do, rectify conditions; they have the power, and the wherewith, to rout the national enemy—the racketeers—by enforcing the dictum, "Nothing is profitable which is dishonest."

All the gold of the world will not, can not, permanently right conditions, except it be coupled with a return of honesty. And honesty will not endure unless, and until, the dishonest be ostracized—be completely excluded from the governmental, the business, the social, the religious, the educational and the fraternal life of this nation. If, as a nation, we choose to worship at the shrine of dishonesty, then we must, uncomplainingly, accept the certain reward, want and degradation. But if, as a people, we are not content with existant conditions, then we must again enthrone honesty and maintain its enthronement.

The above, referring to national conditions, applies as forcibly to California, where the situation is no worse, and decidedly no better, than in any other state. The press has publicized a sufficient number of state happenings to verify the assertion that racketeering is rampant here in government—state, county, city and township—and otherwheres. The political and other racketeers are responsible for the deplorable conditions!

Californians, generally speaking, are patient and long-suffering. They gave the "system" an unobstructed right-of-way, and behold the result. The course must now be changed, in the interest of the masses. The cost of government must be reduced, materially, and injections of honesty will bring it down, without endangering government efficiency. Consider, among other things, the number of high-salaried positions that have been created, during the past two depression years, for the care of favored ones, many relatives, and the increasing of salaries of the "select." Considerable of the talk about the excessive, and always increasing, costs of state government being chargeable to "fixed charges" is "long hooey."

> "I desire so to conduct the affairs of this administration that if, at the end, when I come to lay down the reins of power, I have lost every other friend on earth, I shall at least have one friend left, and that friend shall be down inside of me."—ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The time has come for a cleanup! And it is incumbent on the State Legislature, now in session, to do the job, speedily and thoroughly, irrespective of the pleadings and the protestations of the political, the education, the public utilities and the numberless other lobbies. Taxes must be lowered, not shifted, and they can be lowered by eliminating "the hidden things of dishonesty." If, for any reason, the Legislature fails in this crisis, then the masses should undertake the task by invoking the recall against those legislators and other public servants who fail in their duty and then assembling a new legislature composed of citizens who, having the welfare of this great state at heart and in mind, can and will serve, faithfully and honestly, the majority, not the minority. Too much time and too many dollars have been wasted in fiddling with dishonesty and incompetency in public affairs. Charges and counter-charges lead nowhere, except to additional taxes. Action, not talk, is what the people of this state demand, and, unless their present attitude be misinterpreted, they will get action!

A statement of the Federal Commerce Department, issued February 11, says the total value of the foreign trade of the United States with the Far East declined some $300,000,000 in 1932, compared with 1931. "During 1932," according to the statement, "Japan bought 28 percent more American raw cotton than in the previous year, but at reduced prices; and trebled her purchase of kerosene oil. Additional purchases included 33 percent more crude petroleum and 16 percent more lead, besides larger quantities of iron and steel-mill products. Sharp declines in both the quantity and value of other important items, however, tended to reduce total United States exports to Japan."

Note that all the increased exports to Japan are absolutely necessary for carrying on war. Couple that fact with Japan's militaristic expansion program, and the highly suspicious actions of Japan's nationals in California, a few of which have been publicly revealed, and watch the "rising sun." Eventually, this country must pay a stupendous cost for its insane folly in permitting the Japs to "peacefully invade" the Pacific Coast and to use the Western states as a breeding-ground for subjects of Japan. History warns that the possessors of the land have in their keeping the destiny of a country, and the Japs possess thousands of the best acres in California.

H. L. Mencken has been investigating public-school costs, and calling education a "hold up," he writes:

"There was a time when they (these costs) were cheaper, and by billions. In the year of my advent upon these scenes, the 'annus mirabilis' 1880, they (the pedagogues) took but $78,094,687 for flogging the elements into 15,065,767 pupils, which worked out to but little more than $5 per capita per annum. This 'Golden Age' lingered all through the '80s and '90s. Not until 1903 did the bill go beyond a quarter of a billion. In 1914, the year of fate, there were 26,002,153 boys and girls in the schools, and 'making them fit for democracy' cost $555,077,146, or $21.34 a head, four times as much as in 1880, but still within the means of a rich and gallant people.

"But then the pedagogues began to call upon the taxpayer in real earnest, and presently they had him down and were turning his pockets inside out. By 1920 they were taking a billion of his money, by 1926 they had advanced to two billions, and now they are somewhere between three and four billions. In other words, they have increased their demands forty times over in forty-three years—and during the same time they have little more than doubled the number of pupils they teach; in 1933 they have a shade more than 30,000,000. But in 1880 they performed

(ELEANOR McCARTHY.)

Courage isn't a brilliant dash,
A daring deed in a moment's flash;
It isn't an instantaneous thing,
Born of despair, with a sudden spring;
It isn't a creature of flickering hope
Or the final tug at a slipping rope;
But it's something deep in the soul of man
That is working always to serve some plan.

Courage isn't the last resort
In the work of life or the game of sport;
It isn't a thing that a man can call
At some future time when he's apt to fall;
If he hasn't it now, he will have it not
When the strain is great and the pace is hot.
For who would strive for a distant goal
Must always have courage within his soul.

Courage was never designed for show;
It isn't a thing that can come and go;
It's written in victory and in defeat
And every trial a man may meet;
It's part of his hours, his days and his years,
Back of his smiles and behind his tears.
Courage is more than a daring deed:
It's the breath of life and a strong man's creed.

CALIFORNIA HAPPENINGS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas R. Jones

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

MARCH 1883 was a freakish weather month in California. A hot, dry north wind prevailed the first fort night, and for twenty-five days not a cloud floated in the sky. It became so warm, straw hats were donnéd and coats were shed, and many large corporations began laying off men and otherwise economizing in expectation of a hard-times dry year. Others climbed upon the anxious-seat, fearing deluges and other weather calamities foretold by self-appointed prophets.

Away back in March 1783, Padre Anseleno predicted that a hundred years hence (1883) a flood of mammoth proportions would sweep through Livermore Valley, Alameda County. Led by Bernard Alviso, numerous Mexican families left their homes for quarters atop Cedar Hill and other elevations and awaited the flood that never came. And not one of the many other similar prophesies was fulfilled, either.

A heavy storm came March 26 and dropped from three to five inches of rain in the valleys and six feet of snow in the mountains. The month's rainfall was officially tabulated as 3.70 inches, and the season's total to date 14 inchse. This was below the average, but rain had come at opportune times. So, by the end of the month, the dry-year fear having been dispelled, people again began spending.

Easter Sunday, March 25, was religiously and fashionably observed throughout the state.

The State Legislature adjourned sine die March 10. Some newspapers condemned it for what it did, and others for what it did not. One measure appropriated $80,000 for a pavilion in Sacramento City for State Fair exhibits, the sum to be available when the Capital City contributed an additional $50,000. The city promptly responded and the building was erected at the Fifteenth and N streets corner of State Capital Park. A few years ago the structure was demolished.

The cornerstone of the Chaffey Agricultural College was laid at Ontario, San Bernardino County, March 17.

The U. S. Mint in San Francisco this month received 6,070 pounds of gold dust, worth $1,-341,470, and 43,800 pounds of silver—all produced on the Pacific Coast.

Wheat advanced to $2.00 and barley to $1.50 a cental during the month.

Boca, Nevada County, now in the heydey of its business career, was exporting lumber, ice and beer. One company reported shipping 15,-000 barrels of beer during 1882.

The Big Bend Tunnel Company, promoted by New York State citizens, was running a tunnel —2 miles long, 8 feet high and 15 feet wide—fourteen miles east of Oroville, Butte County. The purpose was to divert the Feather River from its channel near Big Bend Mountain and allow thirteen miles of it to be mined.

N. P. Vallejo of Sonoma County received from the Mexican government an order for 1,000,000 grapevine cuttings.

Yuba County reported mudhens were devastating the grain fields adjacent to the Feather and the Yuba Rivers.

Coon hunting was providing sport and meat for the residents of Sutter County.

A Nevada City, Nevada County, newspaper reported four breweries and thirty-seven saloons in successful operation there.

San Francisco had a charter election March 4. The total vote was 18,613, and the proposed new charter was defeated by thirty-two votes.

During the month 4,555 people came to the state—673 by sea and 3,882 by rail. Departures totaled 2,388—610 by sea and 1,778 by rail. The population gain was 2,167.

Davis and Drumm built a house at Lompoc, Santa Barbara County, and announced their intention of opening a saloon March 17. A citizens mass meeting was called in front of the building, and the assembled crowd was asked to divide, for and against. The antis were far in the majority, so a committee offered to reimburse the proprietors for money expended. They were given five minutes to consider the offer, but refused to sell. Then followed a crash, for a long rope had been circled around the building and at a given signal several hundred men, women and children tugged at it and the saloon-home became a mass of disorganized lumber. Lompoc had been saloonless for eight years, and evidently intended to so remain.

Two Redding, Shasta County, citizens discovered a gold quartz lode on Olney Gulch. Using a hand mortar to crush the rock, they got a yield of twenty dollars a day.

An artesian well was being bored near Fresno City. At a depth of 320 feet a tree was encountered, and wood, charcoal and nuts were brought to the surface.

A citrus fair opened March 2 at National City, San Diego County. Excursion trains from several cities hauled many people desirous of viewing what was then a novelty.

A fire March 8 in San Jose, Santa Clara County, destroyed a furniture and two box factories, causing a $30,000 loss.

Forest City, Sierra County, March 16 had a disastrous conflagration in which G. Miller, a hotelman, was cremated. Eighty-five buildings were destroyed, forty families lost their homes, and the monetary loss was estimated at $250,-000. Much suffering resulted.

A man named McCullom, convicted in Los Angeles City of whipping his mother with a blacksnake, was fined $200.

Mrs. Mariette Judah, oldest actress on the California stage, died March 2 at San Francisco, aged 74. She came to the state in 1853.

John S. Haines, '49er and early-day San Joaquin County sheriff, died March 12 at Stockton.

Adna Hecox, who arrived in Santa Cruz City in 1848 and was the lighthouse keeper for twenty years, died there March 17.

Captain W. S. Moss, a Virginian who came to California in the '50s, died at French Camp, San Joaquin County, March 25, aged 85. He was one of the founders of the "San Francisco Examiner," in 1865.

March 25 an immense crowd gathered at the racetrack near Los Angeles City to witness a fifty-mile riding race for a $5,000 wager between Charles Anderson and Jose Figuron. Each rider was allowed to use but ten horses. Anderson won, in one hour and forty-seven minutes, and the Spanish-Mexican contingent returned home broke.

John S. Gay, secretary of the San Francisco Board of Harbor Commissioners, was about $50,000 short in his accounts and levanted. The grand jury indicted him on forty-nine count of embezzlement, and he was subsequently apprehended in Guaymas, Mexico.

A runaway team caused the death of Mrs. J. R. Gries near Ventura City March 8.

Peter Miller, Siskiyou County miner, was thrown into a flame by the bursting of a hydraulic pipe March 17 and drowned.

Pat Hurley, Oroville, Butte County, Pioneer, March 17 sold his land for $1,100 and banked the money. He then bought a butcherknife and went into a livery stable and committed suicide.

I. N. Randolph, who came to California with Stevenson's famous regiment and in 1864 was sheriff of Amador County, ended his life at Sutter Creek March 26.

Long Lim, a highbinder convicted of murdering a fellow Chinaman, was to have been hanged in the San Francisco jail March 2, but committed suicide the previous night.

W. P. Renowden and Archie McIntyre were found murdered on a farm near Lexington, Santa Clara County, March 12. Robbery was the motive, and it was found the deeds had been committed by Jewell and Showers, abetted by Myers, a saloonkeeper. Taken to the San Jose jail, the sheriff announced they could there be viewed by the public March 24. Between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. more than 5,000 people, actuated by morbid curiosity mostly, visited the jail.

The husband of Mrs. Barnes, in Shasta County, March 20 brought home a shotgun with the announced intention of killing his wife's father. She, however, secured the gun and put friend husband out of the way.

PRESERVATION OF LANDMARK WILL PERPETUATE PIONEER'S MEMORY.

A gift of land December 30 in Santa Barbara County assures preservation of a historic landmark. To be known as the Benjamin Foxen Memorial, the property includes more than an acre of ground at Sisquoc, near Santa Maria, with an old chapel.

During Christmas week of 1846, Benjamin Foxen led John C. Fremont and his troops through rain and storm over the San Marcos Pass into Santa Barbara, traversing the steep mountain barrier for the first time with wagons. As a result, Fremont raised the Flag of the United States of America over Santa Barbara in a bloodless conquest. Had Foxen not aided him by pointing out this new road, Fremont and his battalion probably would have been annihilated in an ambush at Gaviota Pass, the other entrance through the mountains from the north into San Barbara, and at that time thought to be the only one.

Foxen's aid to Fremont circumvented this tragedy and saved the day for Fremont, but it cost the American ranchero dearly. His California contemporaries regarded him as a traitor and made life difficult for him for many years after. He lived a life of isolation on his rancho, Tinaquaic, where he died and was buried.

HISTORY IN THEM THAR NAMES, AND MUSIC ALSO IN FIDDLETOWN.

Amador County has many historic landmarks, among them Fiddletown, settled by gold miners in 1849 and once having a population in excess of a thousand. In 1878 its name was changed to Oleta, but lately there has been a revival of the early-day California spirit, and so July 1, 1932, the town was officially given its original name. Incidentally, Fiddletown was the birthplace of Senator Charles M. Belshaw, deceased, at one time Grand President and for many years a most valued member of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West.

Like others of the many California mining towns of the glorious gold days of the past, the naming of Fiddletown resulted from a unique local incident. There's history in every one of "them thar" names. In this case, so Amador County history asserts, the first arrivals at Fiddletown were a company of Missourians, all of whom were fiddle artists. While a miner was at work with pick and shovel, his partner, perched upon a nearby rock, entertained him with fiddle-music.

Slavery Revived—"Slavery has been revived in the United States. Within recent years the number of Americans turned slaves has shockingly increased. I refer to those citizens who have had to submit to usury at the hands of some of our lenders, both large and small. Usury is the lending of money at more than the legal rate of interest. . . . It is a national problem very urgently needing solution."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Native Cypress Preserved—California has acquired as a state park Point Lobos, embracing the only grove of Monterey cypress remaining intact. The new park is located four miles south of Carmel, Monterey County.

Beautifying Highways—During the past ten years the California State Nursery has planted more than a million trees along state highways.

SAN FRANCISCO—WITH GRAND PRESIdent Seth Millington presiding, the Board of Grand Officers met February 18. Other grand officers in attendance were Grand First Vice-president Justice Emmet Seawell, Grand Second Vice-president Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Third Vice-president Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Jesse H. Miller, Eldred L. Meyer, John M. Burnett, Henry S. Lyon, Joseph J. McShane, Horace J. Leavitt and Charles H. Spengemann. Junior Past Grand Dr. Frank I. Gonzalez, again suffering from the effects of last year's auto accident, was unable to attend and a letter of good wishes was ordered sent him.

Communications pertaining to immigration and ineligible-to-citizenship aliens were received from V. S. McClatchy, executive secretary California Joint Immigration Committee, and the Grand Secretary was ordered: to communicate with the Subordinate Parlors regarding the activities of Samuel J. Hume in behalf of a quota for Japan; to urge members of the State Legislature to adopt the bill forbidding intermarriage of Caucasians and Filipinos; to request California's representatives in the Federal Congress to favorably consider the measure for return of indigent Filipinos to their native islands.

Richard P. Doolan (Hesperian No. 137) requested, in a letter, action in the economic situation, and urged that, if possible, a special Grand Parlor session be held in Sacramento to assist the State Legislature in finding means to alleviate conditions. Every consideration was given the present serious conditions by the Board, but the laws of the Order provide how special sessions may be called, and the regular Grand Parlor meets in the near-future. The Grand Secretary was ordered to so advise Doolan.

Grand Trustee Miller, Grand Third Vice Skillin and Grand Second Vice Koenig were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of condolence on the passing of Past Grands Dr. Charles W. Decker and William J. Hayes for submission to the Grand Parlor.

It was ordered that Grand Parlor reports of the grand officers be limited to 1,500 words each, and those of district deputies to 250 words.

Visalia No. 19 and University No. 272 (Los Angeles) having, so the Grand Secretary reported, complied with the regulation stipulating that Parlors instituted with fifty or more charter members will be allowed a $150 supplies credit, were voted the allowance. It was also ordered that Compton No. 273 and Willows No. 255 be given a similar credit if their charter rolls are completed within the time allowed by the Grand President.

Assemblyman Ray Williamson (Castro No. 232), Assemblyman Lucius Powers Jr. (Fresno No. 25) and Senator Ray Fellom (Stanford No. 76) were appointed a committee to present Resolution No. 24 1932 Grand Parlor, relating to the conservation of the state's natural resources, to the State Legislature.

Grand Trustees McShane, Burnett, Miller and Meyer, Grand Third Vice Skillin, Grand Second Vice Koenig and Grand First Vice Seawell were appointed a committee to draft and present at the next Board meeting welfare legislation which, if approved by the Board, will be submitted to the Grand Parlor.

Much additional business, of a routine nature, was transacted, and there was discussion on matters pertaining to the welfare of the Order in general. Adjournment was taken to the call of Grand President Millington.

GRASS VALLEY GRAND PARLOR.

The Fifty-sixth Grand Parlor will convene in the City of Grass Valley, Nevada County, Monday, May 15. Arrangements for the gathering are in charge of Quartz No. 58 (Grass Valley) and Hydraulic No. 56 (Nevada City), which have a general committee that knows just what to do and how to do it. The two communities always put things over with a bang, and the 1933 Grand Parlor will prove no exception.

Each Subordinate Parlor must elect its delegates to the Grand Parlor the first meeting-night in April, and at least one week must elapse between nomination and election.

Interest in Grand Parlor office candidates is being aroused, and The Grizzly Bear has communicated with all rumored candidates. From responses received to date, this information is passed on:

Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane (Twin Peaks No. 214) will be a candidate for Grand Third Vice-president.

John T. Regan (South San Francisco No. 157) will be a candidate for re-election as Grand Secretary.

Henry S. Lyon (Placerville No. 9), Charles H. Spengemann (Hesperian No. 137) and Eldred L. Meyer (Santa Monica Bay No. 267) will be candidates for re-election to the Board of Grand Trustees, composed of seven members.

Unless the unusual happens, these grand officers will be advanced: Grand First Vice Justice Emmet Seawell (Santa Rosa No. 28), to Grand President; Grand Second Vice Chas. A. Koenig (Golden Gate No. 29), to Grand First Vice; Grand Third Vice Harmon D. Skillin (Castro No. 232), to Grand Second Vice. Grand President Seth Millington, who will preside at the Grass Valley session, will automatically become the Junior Past Grand.

Thirtieth Anniversary Celebrated.

Colusa—At a long-to-be remembered function, largely attended, Colusa No. 69 celebrated February 2 the thirtieth anniversary of its institution. The ceremonies opened with a street drill by the Parlor's drum corps, with George Jameson as drum major. P. J. Cooke then led the way to the banquetroom, where Past President R. G. Power presided as toastmaster. During the discussion of the excellent menu entertainment features were presented.

Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington, who was the head of the Order when Colusa was instituted, said he was proud to be the "father" of No. 69. "I was not born in Colusa County, as has been often stated," he continued. "I was born in Sierra County, and came here with my father at the age of eight." He reviewed the history of California, and said it remained for the Native Sons to perpetuate the ideals of the Pioneers. Grand President Seth Millington, affiliated with Colusa, said "that California's old missions should be further restored, and that the Native Sons should confine their efforts to perpetuating historic things and refrain from taking up matters of less importance."

Other speakers were Tim Sullivan, Phil B. Arnold, Secretary Phil Humburg Jr., R. G. Lawson, Superior Judge Ernest Weyand, C. J. Froh, Herman Schroeder, W. C. Stokes Sr., W. G. Davison, Burton Smart and President Rotheus A. Gray, who outlined the projects the Parlor has for the future. The celebration was in charge of a committee composed of Postmaster R. G. Power, Ben R. Ragain, Thomas F. Busch, Tim Sullivan and Elton C. Fitch.

Resources Belong to Citizens.

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 had as honored guests February 15 its past presidents. With President Martin J. Spangler presiding, the officers initiated a class of candidates. Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer reported on the Parlor's many activities, civic and historical, and No. 108 went on record as favoring an appropriation by the State Legislature for the support of the California State Historical Association. A program following the business session was in charge of J. P. Murphy, M. V. Cruze, P. Raske, J. Spencer, R. E. Mahony, B. Pauter and J. Navarro.

The following resolution, submitted by District Deputy Edward H. Dowell, Past President Edgar F. Hastings, President Martin J. Spangler, Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer and Past President Eugene Daney Jr., has been adopted by the Parlor:

"Whereas, The preservation of our natural resources constitutes one of the objects of the Native Sons of the Golden West; and whereas, the benefits derived from the natural resources of this state should reflect to the citizens of the state; and whereas, the fishing industry constitutes one of the most important occupations along our coast and furnishes employment to numbers of our citizens; and whereas, our citizens are gradually being forced out of the fishing industry and their places being taken by aliens ineligible to citizenship; therefore, be it Resolved, That San Diego Parlor No. 108 Native Sons of the Golden West petition our Senator and Assemblymen to introduce and support such measures as shall prohibit the issuance of fishing licenses to aliens ineligible to citizenship."

"Old Guards" Give "Kids" a Run.

Calistoga—The ritual contest between the "old guard" and the "kids" of Calistoga No. 86 attracted a large crowd from Napa and Lake Counties February 2, and they had the pleasure of listening to and witnessing two splendid exemplifications. Two candidates were initiated. So near-perfect were both teams, the judges—James F. Stanley of the Grand Parlor Ritual Committee, John Schroeder (El Capitan No. 222), Hubert Covey and Arthur Poheim (Stanford No. 76) and Grand Secretary John T. Regan—deliberated for some time before awarding the honors to the "kids," who appeared in duck trousers, dark coats and golden ties.

WILLIAM B. IDE

WILLIAM BROWN IDE? WELL, HE achieved fame as one of the Bear Flag Party. He arrived in California October 25, 1845. Living on Belden's rancho—now Red Bluff, Tehama County,—an Indian messenger delivered to him an unsigned letter which resulted in his identifying himself with the party which, led by Ezekiel Merritt, started the Bear Flag Revolution at Sonoma, June 14, 1846, and took possession of that Mexican military post. General M. G. Vallejo and others were arrested, and taken by Merritt to Sutter Fort (Sacramento). John Grigsby was elected captain of the garrison of about eighteen left in charge at Sonoma. Prior to his departure, General Vallejo had caused confusion in the Bear Flag ranks by inquiring as to the authority for his arrest. No one appeared to know. Grigsby evidently did not fancy the outlook, for he exclaimed, "Gentlemen, I have been deceived; I cannot go with you; I resign and back out of this scrape."

A crisis had come, and with it the man. William B. Ide, realizing the peril of the moment, in trumpet tones called to the receding men: "I will lay my bones here before I will take upon myself the ignominy of commencing an honorable work and then flee like cowards, like thieves, when no enemy is in sight. In vain will you say you had honorable motives. Who will believe it? Flee this day, and the longest life cannot wear out your disgrace! Choose ye this day what you will be. We are robbers, or we must be conquerors."

With renewed hope, the men gathered about Ide and made him commander-in-chief of the Bear Flag forces—governor of the new-born California Republic. A flag was necessary, so the historic Bear Flag, now the official flag of the State of California, was designed. June 18, Commander-in-Chief William B. Ide issued a proclamation, setting forth the reasons for the Bear Flag revolution. Few, apparently, have read this remarkable document, so it is here presented:

"A proclamation to all persons and citizens of the District of Sonoma, requesting them to remain at peace and follow their rightful occupations without fear of molestation.

"The Commander-in Chief of the troops assembled at the fortress of Sonoma gives this inviolable pledge to all persons in California, not found under arms, that they shall not be disturbed in their persons, their property or social relation, one with another, by men under his command.

"He also solemnly declares his object to be First, to defend himself and companions in arms, who were invited to this country by a promise of lands on which to settle themselves and families; who were also promised a Republican Government, which, having arrived in California, they were denied the privilege of buying or renting lands of their friends, who, instead of being allowed to participate in or being protected by a Republican Government, were oppressed by a military despotism, who were even threatened by a proclamation by the chief officers of the aforesaid despotism with extermination if they should not depart out of the country, leaving all their property, arms and beasts of burden and thus deprived of their means of flight or defense, were to be driven through deserts inhabited by hostile Indians, to certain destruction.

"To overthrow a Government which has seized upon the property of the Missions for its individual aggrandizement, which has ruined and shamefully oppressed the laboring people of California by enormous exactions on goods imported into the country is the determined purpose of the brave men who are associated under my command.

"I also solemnly declare my object, in the second place, to be to invite all peaceable and good citizens of California who are friendly to the maintenance of good order and equal rights, and I do hereby invite them to repair to my camp at Sonoma without delay to assist us in establishing and perpetuating a Republican Government, which shall secure to all civil and religious liberty, which shall encourage virtue and literature, which shall leave unshackled by fetters, agriculture, commerce and manufactures.

"I further declare that I rely upon the rectitude of our intentions, the favor of Heaven and the bravery of those who are bound and associated with me by the principles of self preservation, by the love of truth and the hatred of tyranny, for my hopes of success.

"I furthermore declare that I believe that a Government to be prosperous and happy must originate with the people who are friendly to its existence that the citizens are its guardians, the officers its servants, its glory its reward."

William Brown Ide, a native of Ohio, was a lawyer by profession. Following the Bear Flag incident he was appointed land surveyor for the northern district of California by the Federal Government, and later was elected treasurer and county judge of Colusa County. He died in 1852, at the age of 50.—C.M.H.

of Calistoga, in the 1890 Admission Day celebration in San Francisco, donated by E. E. Light, inspired Charter Member C. E. Butler to reminisce on the early days of the Order.

Living Example Order's Precepts.

Santa Clara—C. E. "Doc" Newton, financial secretary Santa Clara No. 100, passed the fifty-eighth milestone February 7, and is "still going strong." A charter member of the Parlor, he has held every office, and in years past was a familiar figure at Grand Parlor sessions. His wife, Mrs. Mary Newton, and a daughter, Miss Myrtle Newton, are affiliated with the Native Daughters, and a son, C. Elmer Newton, is affiliated with No. 100. "To those who know him," says Recording Secretary Clarence Clevenger of Santa Clara, "he is a living example of friendship, loyalty and charity."

Open-air Initiation in Trinity.

Marysville—At the meeting of Fred H. Greely Assembly of past presidents February 11 it was decided to hold the annual open-air initiation of the assembly near Weaverville, Trinity County, June 4. Mount Bally No. 87 will be the host. A dance will be featured the evening prior to the ceremonies.

Officers of the assembly were installed, Peter J. Delay of Marysville No. 6 becoming governor. Grand Trustee Horace J. Leavitt was initiated, and Grand President Seth Millington was among the speakers. Sutter City was designated as the place for the March meeting of the assembly.

To Celebrate Anniversary.

Santa Rosa—Native Sons of Napa, Sonoma and Marin Counties will gather here March 18 to help Santa Rosa No. 28 celebrate its forty-ninth institution anniversary. Art Janssen is progressing in his efforts to form a drum corps. A large delegation, headed by President George Eckman, visited Mount Tamalpais No. 64 (San Rafael) February 25.

One candidate was initiated January 31, and Chairman Matt Rogina of the baseball committee reported a team is being organized for the coming season. With Chairman George Gilman of the good of the order committee in charge, a banquet was served.

Membership Standing Largest Parlors.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan reports the standing of the Subordinate Parlors having a membership of over 400 January 1, 1933, as follows, together with their membership figures February 20, 1933:

Parlor	Jan. 1	Feb. 20	Gain	Loss
Ramona No. 109	1053	1043
South San Francisco No. 157	803	803
Castro No. 242	784	784
Stanford No. 76	575	575
Arrowhead No. 110	573	568		5
Stockton No. 7	563	563

Piedmont No. 120	491	492	1
Rincon No. 72	418	414		4

Subordinate Parlors Briefs.

Marysville—Grand Trustee Horace J. Leavitt officially visited Marysville No. 6 and Rainbow No. 40 (Wheatland) in joint session here February 10. Argonaut No. 8 (Oroville) was represented by a delegation of fifteen. Officers of Marysville were installed by District Deputy Cyril R. Macdonald, A. W. Graves becoming president.

Modesto—Charles D. Blaine and Minnie Hogan are the presidents of Modesto No. 11 and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W., having been installed, along with other officers, at joint ceremonies conducted by Deputies L. E. Bither and Ethel Enos. Brief talks followed the installation.

Auburn—Death has removed three of the old-time active members of Auburn No. 59, George Keehner Walsh, Louis Armbruster and Charles Henry "Guy" Walsh. George Walsh, born here January 29, 1870, and Armbruster, city councilman, born here July 29, 1868, died February 2. "Guy" Walsh, also a native of Auburn, born May 31, 1869, died February 3.

Halfmoon Bay—Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane paid a visit February 14 to Seaside No. 95. Accompanying him were the officers, the ritual team and a large number of the active members of Twin Peaks No. 214 (San Francisco). In an enlightening address, Grand Trustee McShane related the wonderful progress he has noted in visits to northern and southern Parlors. Other speakers were Frank Matulich, Joseph Tracy, Eddie Doody, Oswald Storm and Edward P. McAuliffe.

Livermore—Morris Victor, very active in the affairs of Las Positas No. 96, died recently. Indicative of his interest in the community's welfare and the less-fortunate, he bequeathed one thousand dollars each to the Presbyterian, the Methodist and the Catholic churches, and one thousand dollars to the N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Central Homeless Children Committee.

Cambria—Officers of Cambria No. 152 were installed by District Deputy Henry Twisselmann, San Luis Obispo County supervisor, N. Storni becoming president. A delicious banquet, prepared by Mrs. George Steiner, followed the ceremonies.

Sonoma—Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann officially visited Sonoma No. 111, February 20. A class of candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified by the officers of Hesperian No. 137 (San Francisco). A banquet and highjinks, in charge of Emil Andrieux, followed the ceremonies.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

SMART WOMEN ARE GOING IN HEAVILY for transformation dresses. These are the frocks which may be taken apart and made into something else. A cape may be worn as a skirt, and a scarf may be wound about one's head as a turban. The newest transformation dresses are designed so that a busy woman who leaves home in the morning may be correctly dressed at each one of her occupations during the day.

The dress which has detachable sleeves is one such device. Without the long, tight sleeve, it is suitable for afternoon bridge, for dining out, or even for the theater. The sleeves may be pulled on and off as easily as a glove. This dress is correct for business or shopping.

There are many designs for women who want to economize in planning, and thus give closer attention to details. Thrifty fashions are often the best for all. Women who are obliged to make little economies in the planning of their clothes often pay more attention to every detail of their costumes.

In the first days of spring, not every woman who would like a between-season coat can afford one. Yet, there is a model which is three things in one. A double coat, warm enough for winter, a furless coat of the between-season type, and a little jacket to be worn over wool dresses.

The first days of spring this season are dedicated, primarily, to comfort. It naturally follows that the new masculine styles should have enthusiastic endorsement. They are particularly adaptable to resort activities, where freedom of movement is the first requirement. Flannel slacks lead the trouser mode, followed by various types of shorts, ankle-tight trows and the new lounge suits, delightfully feminine and at the same time practical. Leisure hours in one's boudoir are made more enjoyable and restful in pajamas, which are smart and comfortable.

For sports wear this spring, there will be real rivalry between the two- and the one-piece suits for popular favor. One thing certain, according to the first models for beach and other recreational centers, they will be colorful and will be modeled along lines that are becoming to youth and maturity alike.

Among the most attractive being shown is a natty one-piece garment of angora lacy-knit material, whose outstanding note is the peasant sleeves of vivid multi-colored stripes. The sleeves are cut raglan style, with the upper part full to the cuff, which is tight fitting. The scarf-collar at the ends carries the same bright color note as the sleeves. The skirt is cut circular, and is generously full at the hem. White shoes with colored stripe and white knitted cap and gloves complete this costume, which is suitable for many informal occasions.

Sweaters amaze one by their versatility, sheer loveliness and color beauty. Coat styles are new, with high-neck versions and turtle-necks in openwork, stripes, plaid, and solid colors. Long and short sleeves are seen in the many types available. They ensemble themselves effectively with straight tailored skirts of flannel, plaid or checked wool.

The new tennis dresses are frankly short, ending just below the knee, and have the bracelet neck, exposing the entire back. Bathing suits and beach clothes are identical, whether for sunshine resorts or bicycling costumes.

Gay and charming, a one-piece bicycle dress is made of yellow flannel, with divided skirt, fitted hipline, deep armholes, two pockets, rever collar and center front closings. If you prefer to ensemble your own bicycle costume, use a white flannel divided skirt with yoke top, and a printed or plaid pique shirt with cap-sleeves and open throat. Red suede belt and gloves are worn to match a knitted red beret, pompon trimmed.

There is much talk about the new square neckline. It is forecasted as one of the big fashion features for spring. It is scheduled to appear in all types of clothes, from active sports garments to formal evening gowns. Many of the newest evening gowns show this new neckline, especially at the back. The style is said to have originated (in its 1933 version) with the bathing suit. Women who wore square-backed bathing suits last summer found that they stayed in place and gave a smart, tailored, trim look to the figure, so they turned to square-back evening clothes. They found them to have an added virtue, a new medium for wearing jewels. Immense clips may be worn at the corners or along the base of a square.

Women who watch carefully for any change in style, often say that it is the evening clothes which first indicate any new trend, such as fullness in skirts, higher-than-usual waistlines, new necklines or new wrap closings. All these appear often in evening dresses and wraps long before they are taken up for daytime wear.

If you have given no serious thought to your wash frock needs for the coming spring and summer, then you are due for some happy surprises. They have so advanced that to attempt to classify them as house dresses is to do them a rank injustice. Since tub frocks elected to step out of their plebeian role and exchange the kitchen for the parlor, they have qualified for all manner of smart daytime needs. Delightful ensemble effects have been achieved in this connection with the new cottons.

Strictly tailored linen suits with contrasting blouses are very much in the picture, and the smart style revival of plaid and checked ginghams is reminiscent of the gay nineties. Wash frocks subscribe to the cape influence, flaunting capes and capelets in variety, thus achieving the necessary shoulder width. They are further used in lieu of sleeves, with flattering effect. Detachable features characterize some models.

Trimming touches also indicate the trend toward more style for less money. They include white organdie collars, sleeves, sashes, frills, pleatings, jabots, bows and buttons. The rayon weaves are hardly distinguishable from silk, and are exquisite in their colorings. They bid fair to enjoy well-merited popularity during the months ahead.

The highlights of the new spring apparels are higher necklines with definite shoulder width, sleeves to elbow or above, normal waistlines, and skirt lengths unchanged. The newer frocks will give an impression of vertical lines. Evening frocks are ankle length for dinner gowns and heel touching for formal wear.

Brown is at the peak of style, with blue in navy or paler shades, beige, gray and pastels following. White, with color accent, is good. Small prints are shown for day use, and floral prints for evening.

Coats and scarfs are popular. Many coats have capes. Sports coats are polo or tailored, and are belted. Furs are detachable. Suits are styled for every figure, and this is a suit season.

Hats will be worn forward, straight or tilted. New styles include the cossack fez, or the bonnet hat with no brim in the back. Large hats are shown for summer with lots of trimming. Hosiery in neutral colors is best. Gray and sun-tan are the most popular.

Shoes are higher, and are cut in front, and the vamps incline to shorter lengths. Colors, materials and trimmings appeal to diversity of tastes. The new shorter vamps have been so treated that the shoe is commodious and comfortable on the inside and appears smaller when viewed from the outside. The new colors are blue, the ever-favorite black, beige varying from medium dark and fawn brown to chaff, and gray. Materials for the season indicate high popularity for white light-weight buckskin, pigskin, lizard or patent leathers. Heels for walking types vary from one and one-fourth inches to two and one-half inches. Semi-dress and afternoon dressy sports heels will be from one to one and three-quarters inches.

Passing of the California Pioneer

(Confined to Brief Notices of the Demise of Those Men and Women Who Came to California Prior to 1870.)

MRS. LOUISA JANE STEVINSON, native of Illinois, 93; came to California via the Santa Fe Trail in 1849 and after wintering in San Diego City moved north to the Merced River section, residing in Mariposa and Merced Counties; died at San Francisco. She was a daughter of Isham J. Cox, who established Cox's Ferry on the Merced River; at Quartzburg, December 27, 1855, the year Merced County was organized, she was wedded to Colonel James J. Stevinson.

Mrs. Nancy Moore Wheeler, native of Connecticut, 106; came via Panama in 1851 and resided in Los Angeles City many years; died at San Luis Obispo City. She was the widow of John Wheeler, who arrived in Los Angeles City in 1849 and established the first newspaper there, "The Californian," in 1853.

Carl Van Jenkins, native of Ohio, 93; came via Panama in 1850, landing at San Pedro March 9; died at Los Angeles City. At the outbreak of the Civil War he joined the California battalion which enlisted as the Second Massachusetts Cavalry.

Mrs. Catherine R. Martin, native of Ireland, 86; came via Panama in 1864 and long resided in Alameda County; died at Pleasanton, survived by two children. She was the widow of William H. Martin, whose father, Dennis Martin, was one of the early settlers in San Mateo County; he located above Searsville, where he opened the first mill and later carried on the first gold mining.

GRAVE OF NOTED PIONEER OF WEST FOUND IN CALIFORNIA GRAVEYARD.

"In the community graveyard at Franklin, Sacramento County," said the "Sacramento Bee" of February 11, "lies almost forgotten the grave of Alexander Willard. He died on March 6, 1865. He was one of the Argonauts, but although the tombstone fails to indicate the fact, and, perhaps, few of his neighbors of the gold-rush days were aware, he knew the West almost a half-century before John Marshall made his momentous discovery on the headwaters of the American River. Willard was a member of the famous Lewis and Clark expedition that paved the way for the conquest of the great Northwest for the United States in the years 1804, 1805 and 1806.

"This discovery, or re-discovery, was announced in San Francisco today by Edward P. Fitzgerald, a biographer. He revealed that he has identified the grave of Alexander Willard, marked by a mossy marble monument in the little cemetery at Franklin, fourteen miles from Sacramento, as that of a member of the intrepid band of thirty-two who, between 1804 and 1806, crossed the continent in one of the greatest explorations ever attempted by the United States Government."

Manteca—With a ritual team from Stockton No. 7 in charge, Manteca No. 271 initiated three candidates. Among the many visitors was Deputy Grand President Al Lobtree. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a committee from Phoebe A. Hearst No. 214 N.D.G.W. served a turkey dinner, and the following members of that Parlor, accompanied by Edward Perry, rendered vocal selections: Gudrun Evenson, Helen Evenson, Jessie Grisham and Dorothy Brown. Dancing followed the feast, music being furnished by Edward Perry, Carl Hill and Lawrence Mendosa.

Joint Installations.

San Rafael—Officers of Mount Tamalpais No. 64 and Marinita No. 198 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed by Deputies J. S. Rosa Jr. and Delphine Todt. Arthur B. Hecht and Mary Zapatini became the presidents and both promised, in the course of inaugural addresses, to keep things humming in their respective Parlors. Presentations were made as follows: to Mrs. Todt, a set of glassware; to Arthur W. Todt, a gold wrist watch engraved with emblems of the Order, to Mrs. Gussie Bannister, an emblematic bracelet. A delicious banquet, at the conclusion of the installation ceremonies, was followed by dancing.

Redwood City—Officers of Redwood No. 66 and Palo Alto No. 216 were jointly installed by Past President Frank Delucchi, H. E. Holmquist and J. C. Bernal becoming the respective presidents. Two candidates were initiated for No. 66. At a banquet concluding the ceremonies several enthusiastic addresses were made.

Georgetown—Officers of Georgetown No. 91 and El Dorado No. 186 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed by Deputies George M. Smith and Hattie E. Presby, George W. Buehler and Georgia Gardner becoming the respective presidents. Owing to the deep snow the attendance was limited in numbers, but those who did "make the grade" enjoyed a splendid turkey banquet at the close of the ceremonies.

Pleasanton—Officers of Pleasanton No. 244 and Pleasanton No. 237 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed, Edward Holzreiter and Julia Crommie becoming the respective presidents. Many visitors were present from Fruitvale No. 252 (Oakland) and El Cereso No. 207 N.D.G.W. (San Leandro). Following the ceremonies refreshments and dancing were in order.

IN 1930, A MOVEMENT WAS INAUGURated by a "select" few in California to create public sentiment in favor of granting immigration quota to Japan, on the grounds that it was necessary to promote goodwill and to prevent loss of trade with that nation. In 1931, the California Council on Oriental Relations was organized, and Samuel J. Hume was secured to address service clubs and other organizations in favor of the quota movement and to obtain pledges of support therefor.

In 1932, the Commonwealth Club of California, an outstanding civic organization of San Francisco, undertook, in its usual thorough style, through its immigration section a study of the question, and all of the section's semi-monthly meetings for practically a year were devoted to hearing speakers on various phases of the subject and to discussing arguments advanced for and against the proposed quota.

At the club's dinner meeting November 17, 1932, a comprehensive report of the section's work was made, and a final debate was held between Hume, speaking for the quota, and V. S. McClatchy, executive secretary of the California Joint Immigration Committee, in opposition thereto. The California Joint Immigration Committee is an organization established by the California Department of the American Legion, the State Federation of Labor and the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West to secure enactment of a law to exclude from the United States aliens ineligible to American citizenship. Since the passage of the Federal Immigration Law of 1924, which contains such a provision, the committee has been continued, to oppose repeal or any modification of the exclusion measure.

The report and the debate were published in full in "The Commonwealth" of December 20, 1932, copies of which were mailed to each of the club members, largely business and professional men, with a request for careful study thereof and an expression of opinion on certain phases of the problem. The result of that vote, announced by the club, follows:

1—Do you favor granting an immigration quota to Japan? Yes, 364. No, 715. 2—Do you favor granting an immigration quota to Japan exclusive of other Asiatic countries? Yes, 81. No, 959. 3—Do you favor granting an immigration quota to all Asiatic countries? Yes, 279. No, 783. 4—Do you favor repeal of the naturalization law which now disqualifies certain races from United States citizenship? Yes, 194. No, 875.

IMMORTAL LINCOLN INSPIRES.

The February 12 breakfast at the Native Daughter Home, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, was largely attended. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Millie Tietjen were the hostesses. The tables were prettily decorated in the national colors, and the attractive placecards had this inscription, most appropriate at this time:

"The American's Creed: I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of Freedom, Equality, Justice, and Humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its Flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

The main speaker of the occasion was Peter T. Conmy, Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 N.S.G.W., whose subject was "Lincoln, the Westerner." Presenting the immortal Lincoln in an entirely new light, his remarks were inspirational and greatly enjoyed. Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola spoke on "Patriotism," Past Grand President Eliza D. Keith on "Education," Past Grand President Dr. Louise C. Heilbron on "Loyalty," and United States District Attorney I. M. Peckham (Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W.) on "Significance of the Day."

NATIVE SONS BRIEFS.

Pacific Parlor No. 10 had its annual dinner dance February 21. The arrangements committee included Harry C. Alexander (chairman), Charles F. Strothoff, Henry Bastein, Walter W. Mohrdick, Frank A. Soracco, Bert D. Paolinelli, Thomas F. Duffy, Joseph Sugrowe, William G. Boyce, Kenneth Wehser and Andy Theusen. Grand Trustee Jesse H. Miller paid an official visit to the Parlor February 28.

Golden Gate Parlor No. 29 was signally honored by the selection of Harry W. Gaetjen as the grand marshal of the big Golden Gate bridge ground-breaking parade February 26.

Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 received an official visit February 16 from Grand Trustee Charles H. Spengemann. A feature was a ritual contest between the Parlor officers, headed by President Oswald Storm, and a team of past presidents with Frank Matulich as president; the latter won, by five points. Grand Trustee Spengemann paid a tribute to the splendid achievements of Twin Peaks, Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane spoke on the Golden Gate bridge, and Past President Charles J. Powers discoursed on civic activities. An italian dinner was served at the meeting's close. Members of the Parlor actively assisting throughout the evening, and contributing to the huge success of the occasion, included Augie Sandel, Harry Sandel, Albert Sandel, Eddie Doody, John J. O'Brien, Mel Norton, Thomas McLaughlin, Edward P. McAuliffe, Thomas Pendergast and John Kirrane.

Mrs. Carlotta Musto-Keenan, wife of Joseph B. Keenan (Niantic No. 105), for many years active in the affairs of the Order, passed awya February 14.

NATIVE DAUGHTER BRIEFS.

Forty-six years ago this month (March), Alta Parlor No. 3 came into existence. Reminiscences will be told by many charter members at the anniversary banquet to be held the evening of March 13. The bridge luncheon at the club and the bridge whist at the N.D. Home the eve of Washington's Birthday were social and financial successes.

Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong paid an official visit to Golden State No. 50 February 15. Dinner preceded the meeting. Among those in attendance were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Trustees Anna Thuesen, Ethel Begley and Willow Borba, Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini, Past Grands Evelyn Carlson, Margaret Hill, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Genevieve Baker and Eliza Keith, Supervising Deputy Sadie Brainard and Deputy Emma O'Meara.

Orinda Parlor No. 56 received an official visit from Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong. In recognition of the fact that the Orinda girls, attired to represent the various colleges, won the first group prize at the recent homeless children benefit dance, it was a football meeting, and an immense crowd enjoyed the occasion. Mrs. Armstrong was escorted into the hall by Grand Inside Sentinel Orinda Giannini and presented with a football filled with handkerchiefs. A dinner was served previous to, and a buffet supper following, the meeting. Past Grand Emma Foley was in charge of all arrangements. Officers of the Parlor were installed at public ceremonies by Deputy Mae Waring, Marie McGrath becoming president; dancing followed the installation.

At public ceremonies attended by a host of friends, the officers of Golden Gate No. 158 were installed by Deputy Maud Daily, Wilma Creighton becoming president. Beautiful gifts were presented by Sophie Siebe, "mother" of the Parlor, to Deputy Daily and Margaret Ramm, outgoing past president. After the installation a very fine program, under the direction of Gertrude Mariane, was enjoyed. Golden Gate celebrated its silver anniversary at a banquet which was largely attended, eleven charter members being among the number. Cards, dancing and music were enjoyed, and "Mother" Siebe was presented with a silver basket. Anna McQuade and Flora Justis had charge of the delightful affair.

Officers of Linda Rosa Parlor No. 170 were installed by Deputy Jewel Strel, Gladys P. Huber becoming president. Vocal selections were rendered by Marie Sharkey and Deputy Strel. Refreshments were served.

Castro Parlor No. 178 celebrated its twenty-third institution anniversary at a banquet. Many members enjoyed a most delightful evening. Supervising Deputy Alice Lane and Deputy Myrtle Ross were honored guests. Isabel Thiebaut will be hostess for the next whist party, to be held at her home March 7.

Officers of James Lick Parlor No. 220 were installed by Deputy Lauretta Cameron, Margaret Kane becoming president. Beautiful gifts were presented President Kane, Senior Past Hattie Driscoll and Junior Past Irma Collins. The Parlor has adopted a baby girl and named her Irma Jeanne. February 14 several members visited the various children's wards of San Francisco Hospital and presented scrapbooks, candy and valentines to the little shutins.

Past Presidents Association No. 1 will give a card party March 6 for the benefit of the fund being raised to entertain attendants at the annual convention of the General Association, to be held in San Francisco April 22. Chief President Cora Stobing will officially visit Association No. 1 March 20.

LOVE STORY

So each year the seasons shifted, wet and warm and drear and dry;
Half a year of clouds and flowers, half a year of dust and sky.

. . . .

Yet she heard the varying message, voiceless to all ears beside;
"He will come," the flowers whispered; "Come no more," the dry hills sighed.

. . . .

Or the small mouth curved and quivered as for some denied caress,
And the fair young brow was knitted in an infantine distress.

. . . .

Forty years on wall and bastion swept the hollow idle breeze,
Since the Russian eagle fluttered from the California seas;
Forty years on wall and bastion wrought its slow but sure decay.
And St. George's cross was lifted in the port of Monterey.
And the citadel was lighted, and the hall was gayly drest,
All to honor Sir George Simpson, famous traveler and guest.

. . . .

Till, the formal speeches ended, and amidst the laugh and wine,
Some one spoke of Concha's lover, heedless of the warning sign.
Quickly then cried Sir George Simpson: "Speak no ill of him, I pray!
He is dead. He died, poor fellow, forty years ago this day,—
"Died while speeding home to Russia, falling from a fractious horse, Left a sweetheart, too, they tell me. Married, I suppose, of course!
"Lives she yet?" A deathless silence fell on banquet, guests and hall,
And a trembling figure rising fixed the awe-struck gaze of all.
Two black eyes in darkened orbits gleamed beneath the nun's white hood;
Black serge hid the wasted figure, bowed and stricken where it stood.
"Lives she yet?" Sir George repeated. All were hushed as Concha drew Closer yet her nun's attire. "Senor, pardon, she died, too!"

MISSION TRAILS

(RUTH PARLE.)

Old adobe, grey in the sun,
Sheltering old bronze bells now green
Whose task for long has been done
Of tolling chimes o'er peaceful scene.

Mighty beams of old brown wood
Hold up the roof of red clay tile
Under which the fathers stood,
Teaching the Word with kindly smile.

These are the symbols of the trail,
Remnants of Serra's work so vast,
The paths where soft shod feet have trod;
Let us follow them into the past.

"IN THE HOPE THAT IT MAY BE OF SOME news value as an indication of what the Native Sons and Daughters may do by concerted effort in their respective communities, and at the suggestion of Grand President Armstrong, I am enclosing herewith a biref article for publication. Very truly yours, NEVA B. McMAHON, D.G.P." This letter, dated Downieville, February 13, was received by The Grizzly Bear. The article, captioned "The Rejuvenation of Naomi No. 36—A resume of events as related by Deputy Grand President Neva B. McMahon on the occasion of the visit of the Grand President," follows:

"May I be permitted a few words on the growth and achievements of Naomi Parlor during the past two years? In 1930, when I became deputy grand president for this Parlor, it had a total membership of twenty-one, two of whom have since passed away. At the close of my second term as deputy, in 1932, the membership was forty-two, a net gain of twenty-one, or 100 percent. During this period the Parlor, acting in conjunction with the Native Sons, accomplished much for the benefit of the community, the most important of which were the mounting and dedication of the cannon at Cannon Point, the dedication of the Sierra County Museum, the celebration of the completion of Yuba Pass national highway, the placing of a plaque on the Sierra County Court House, the presentation of a stand of flags to the superior court, and the restoration of the old gallows.

"The old cannon that had belonged to Company K, Sixth Regiment, California Volunteers, in Downieville during the Civil War had lain unnoticed for many years and finally passed into the possession of Sister Butler and her husband, who generously relinquished their claim to it with the understanding that it wohld be suitably mounted on Cannon Point. This was accomplished, and the dedication was made June 14, 1931, by Neva B. McMahon, chairman of the joint committee.

"The old stone building on upper Main street was deeded to the trustees of the Native Daughters and Native Sons by the heirs of J. M. B. Meroux, one of the Pioneers of Downieville, for use as a public museum. A suitable plaque was placed thereon and the building dedicated July 3, 1932, by J. M. McMahon, president Downieville Parlor No. 92 N.S.G.W.

"At the request of the Board of Supervisors of Sierra County, the Native Daughters and Sons, July 17, 1932, conducted a celebration of the completion of Yuba Pass national forest highway. This celebration was held at the Masonic picnic grounds, near the summit of the Sierra, and was attended by federal and state officials and people from many parts of California and Nevada.

"Judge Henry B. Neville, the beloved judge of our superior court and one of the outstanding jurists of California, presented a plaque showing the date of the construction of our court house, and requested the Native Sons and Daughters to place the same with appropriate ceremonies. This was done July 22, 1932, the plaque being placed in position by Past President Antone Lavezzola of Downieville Parlor, Native Sons.

"Following a custom in vogue throughout California, the Native Daughters and Sons of Sierra County, July 23, 1932, presented a stand of flags to the superior court of Sierra County. These flags consist of the National Flag and the Bear Flag, upheld by small bears, and are placed upon the judge's dais. August 20, 1932, a crew of Native Sons re erected the old gallows—that had not been used for an execution since 1885—upon a site chosen by the joint committee of Native Sons and Daughters.

"Sisters, I have much pleasure, as well as pride, in recounting the achievements of this Parlor, and now that I have retired from official activity in this Parlor and assumed the duties of deputy for Imogen Parlor, may I not express the hope that that Parlor will grow and prosper, and that the two Parlors will work together, hand in hand, for the advancement of our fraternity and the glory of the great State of California!"

New Citizens Given Flags.

Grass Valley—Officers of Manzanita No. 29 and Quartz No. 58 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed by Deputies Adeline O'Connor and John Thomas. A beautiful addition to the ceremonies was the appearance of sixteen members of No. 29 dressed in yellow silk and carrying large boquets of yellow poppies and ferns. They acted as an escort to the officers-elect and executed a very pretty drill. A turkey dinner after the installation was followed by brief talks and community singing. Many Nevada City visitors were in attendance.

Anna Rowe, Annie Conlin, Louise Wales, Lorraine Keast, Grace Eva and Kitty Clemo, representing Manzanita, journeyed through the snow to the Nevada County Court House at Nevada City January 29 to witness the examination of aliens who had applied for citizenship. To the three successful ones they presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags. The committee was highly praised by Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle, affiliated with Hydraulic No. 56 N.S.G.W.

Message Inspires.

Folsom—On the occasion of the official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong to Fern No. 123, visitors were present from Sacramento, Elk Grove, Grass Valley, San Francisco, Oakland and Woodland. Among the number were Grand Trustee Edna Briggs, Supervising Deputies Bessie Leitch and Sadie Brainard, and Deputies Anna Kloss, May Lucas and Gertrude Keehner. One candidate was initiated.

Grand President Armstrong gave an interesting address touching on the work, the ideals and the aims of the Order. She left with the members inspiration for better and more enthusiastic efforts in the Order's behalf. Several presentations were made, and at the meeting's close a supper was served at flower-bedecked tables.

Unique Feature.

Santa Rosa—A unique feature, designed to stimulate attendance and to raise funds, was added to the program of Santa Rosa No. 217 February 2. The members invited their "boy friends" to be guests during the social hour. Box suppers were auctioned, and each purchaser had the privilege of sharing the food with the Native Daughter who had prepared it. Kathryn Branstetter had charge of a program presented by the male chorus of Santa Rosa No. 28 N.S.G.W., Ida Losch, Florence Irwin, Althea Leggett, Georgia Heintz and Ruby Berger.

The Parlor sent a delegation to the district meeting at Sonoma City February 17. It plans a membership drive, with Ann Beach and Ruby Berger as the captains. Ida Losch, as president, heads the corps of officers for the January-July term.

Protests Mispronunciations.

San Bernardino—Lugonia No. 241 had as special guests Ferbuary 8, Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Deputy Genevieve Hiskey and President Maude Van Fleet and Past President Ethel Baxter of Ontario No. 251, who brought inspiring messages. Chairman Clara Barton of the press committee reported sending letters to various broadcasting stations regarding the mispronunciation of California place names. On display were a generous supply of canned goods, brought by the members for the unemployed. February 15, a benefit card party at the Colton Womans Club attracted a large crowd. A cake, made by Mrs. H. M. Barton brought a splendid sum.

February 22 was Natives day at the National Orange Show. Lugonia and Arrowhead No. 110 N.S.G.W. were in charge. A basket supper was served, and a special program was presented.

Pioneer Mother Presented Boquet.

Oakland—Piedmont No. 87 celebrated its anniversary February 16 with a delightful dinner served under the chairmanship of Josephine Collins. An enjoyable evening, with games and entertainment features, followed. In the course of events, Mrs. Raymond Ford (Marcella O'Connell) was presented with a lovely gift from her many friends in the Parlor.

At joint ceremonies, officers of Piedmont No. 87 and Piedmont No. 120 N.S.G.W., with Ella Mullen and Stanley Hadlen as presidents, were installed by Supervising Deputy Mildred Irwin and District Deputy Frank Perry. Mrs. French, the mother of President Mullen, was presented with a boquet; when but a few months old she came to California via Cape Horn and has since resided in this state.

Anniversary Celebrated.

Alturas—Alturas No. 159 celebrated its silver anniversary at a delicious dinner presided over by President Erma Elliott. The charter members and the past officers responded to the call for reminiscences, and each received a gift from the Parlor. Past president emblems were presented Mildred Boyd and Annie Estes. The table centerpiece was a huge "Golden West" cake, made and decorated by Grand Vice-president Irma Laird, and the favors were tiny individual cakes with a single candle atop each.

Officers of the Parlor were installed February 2 by Deputy Mildred Boyd, Mildred Smith becoming president. The "buy american" movement was endorsed. Mrs. Lulu Ferguson (Phoebe A. Hearst No. 214) of Manteca was a viistor.

Keep Actively Engaged.

Merced—Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Veritas No. 75, February 7. Preceding the meeting, at which Zelphia Thomas presided, a delicious turkey dinner was served. In attendance were delegations from all neighboring Parlors, Supervising Deputies May F. Givens and Katherine Kopf, and Deputies Hazel Laverty, Lois Roach, Frances Oliver and Ethel Enos.

Grand President Armstrong gave a most beautiful and inspiring address. She first dealt with the projects of the Parlor, then emphasized the fact that "though it is a difficult time to gain new members, we must keep actively engaged in our work at all times." She said that "though conditions are difficult, they have served a purpose in that they have brought us nearer to one another, to our homes and firesides; they have brought affection." Mrs. Armstrong was presented with a gift, following which Lois Roach sang "I Love You Truly." Refreshments concluded a meeting with lovely memories to cherish.

Joint Installations.

Ferndale—Officers of Oneonta No. 71 and Ferndale No. 93 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed at public ceremonies. Deputies Myra Rumrill and J. B. Tilley officiated, and Anna Jespersen and Hans P. Petersen became the respective presidents. Ferndale was host following the ceremonies. Cards were played and a delicious supper was served. Supervising Deputy Hattie Roberts was among the many in attendance.

Calistoga—Some 160 attended the joint installation ceremonies of Calistoga No. 145 and Calistoga No. 86 N.S.G.W. Deputies Sadie

THE LETTER BOX

Comments on subjects of general interest and importance received from readers of The Grizzly Bear

From Past Grand President Stella Finkeldey of Santa Cruz, chairman Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee, The Grizzly Bear received this letter, dated February 18: "Enclosed please find copies of letters from the various hospitals in re service given by the Native Daughters of the Golden West. . . . Will you kindly publish the enclosed in March number of the magazine?" The letters follow:

"It is noted that the subscriptions to [several] magazines, donated by the Native Daughters of the Golden West, will expire with the March 1933 numbers. Since all have been greatly enjoyed by the ex-service men and women hospitalized here, it is believed that the Native Daughters of the Golden West may wish to renew the subscriptions to these magazines for another year. We wish to thank you again for your co-operation and interest in the patients undergoing treatment in this hospital. They have derived much pleasure from the above listed contribution of periodicals and join the hospital staff in expressions of appreciation for this generous gift." Veteran Administration Hospital, San Francisco, California. The requested magazines have been ordered for another year.

"This will acknowledge receipt of your letter relative to the renewal of subscriptions to magazines which your organization has been furnishing for the pleasure of the patients in this hospital. Please be advised that [those specified] will be greatly appreciated. Thanking you for your kindly interest." Veterans Administration Hospital, Palo Alto, California. The requested magazines have been ordered for another year.

"We received your letter in which you have so kindly offered to provide us with Easter candy and razor blades. (Same as last year, S. F.). These articles are most satisfactory and we shall be very happy to have them. At this time we are collecting furnishings for a small recreation room for mental patients. If you have anything which you wish to send, such as a few cushions, table runner, card table covers, ash trays, etc., they would be greatly appreciated. Thank you kindly for your interest in the patients at our hospital. . . . Received the five glass and nine metal ash trays and twenty packages of razor blades. We are indeed grateful for these very useful articles, and wish to thank you most heartily for your interest in our work at this hospital. Expressing appreciation of your helpful co-operation," United States Naval Hospital, Mare Island, California.

"This is in further reference to your communication and my tentative reply. In going over the supply of comfort articles on hand at the present time, there does not seem to be anything in this line of which we are particularly in need. However, there are a number of magazine subscriptions which the librarian reports she would like very much to have for the enjoyment of her readers. If the Native Daughters of California would like to subscribe to any of the above magazines for the patients, it would be a kindness which our hospitalized veterans would greatly appreciate. All of the men and women would benefit from the subscriptions, for all reading material is being continuously circulated throughout the wards."—Veterans Administration Hospital, Livermore, California. The suggested magazines have been subscribed for.

Brooks and Lionel Saviez officiated, and Adele Nolasco and Fred Heitz became the respective presidents. After refreshments dancing was in order, the music being furnished by Edith Cavagnaro, Fred Tedeschi, Leonard J. Moors and Atillio Bagnasco. Among the many visitors were Supervising Deputy Wilna Mitchell and delegations from Saint Helena and Napa.

Subordinate Parlors Doings.

Lodi—Six Parlors were represented when Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong officially visited Ivy No. 88. Deputy Catherine Tully installed the officers, Verna Weesner becoming president. Theresa E. Hunt, retiring president, was presented with an emblematic pin. The Parlor is holding a series of card parties for the benefit of the homeless children.

Willows—Berryessa No. 192 has set aside the first meeting night of each month to celebrate the birthdays of members occurring during that month. February 6 the January and the February girls were guests.

Byron—Donner No. 193's officers were installed February 4 by Deputy Edith Easton, Virginia Boltzen becoming president. Supervising Deputy Myra Rodemacher and a delegation from Antioch were guests. Past President Josephine Pimental was presented with an emblematic pin by Vera Thomas, the outgoing president. A banquet and social hour concluded the ceremonies. A series of bunco parties being held by the Parlor are creating much fun and interest.

Santa Ana—The thimble club of Santa Ana No. 235 had an all day gathering at the Anaheim home of Marguerite Cramer. In the evening several attended the card party of Grace No. 242 (Fullerton). The card club met with Deputy Genevieve Hiskey, February 21.

Interesting Group Entertains.

Mojave—Desert Gold No. 250's officers were installed February 10 in a hall aglow with floral decorations and a warm fire. Deputy Jennie Dennis was the installing officer, and among the many visitors were Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Supervising Deputy Florence D. Schoneman, President Mattie Labory-Garra of Los Angeles No. 124, and delegations from Kern County Parlors.

An interesting group of friendly guests helped to pass a very pleasant evening. Miss Ramona Crabtree, a teacher, brought from Tehachapi a group of little girls, dressed in orange costumes, who sang California songs and gave a poppy dance; also, ten small boys, who sang. The high school principal spoke on the state's history. Grand Outside Sentinel Hansen told of the aims of the Order, and Supervising Deputy Schoneman emphasized the necessity of keeping California history alive. Junior Past Reni Evertt of Desert Gold was presented with an emblematic pin by Senior Past W. M. Truitt. Delicious refreshments were served at tables decorated with real flowers, a rare thing on the desert.

Cute Costumes at Valentine Party.

Petaluma—Officers of Petaluma No. 222 were installed by Deputy May Rose Barry, Edna Meadows becoming president. February 7 a social time was held and dainty refreshments were served. Zora Tompkins was in charge. A large delegation from the Parlor attended February 17 the Sonoma district meeting.

A Saint Valentine "kid" party Febraury 14 brought out some very cute costumes, many of the members appearing in rompers. Appropriate games were played and home-made refreshments were served. Josie Tagliaferro headed the arrangements committee, which included also Edith Witham, Alma Tilman, Anna Trontelle, Emma Tomosi and Bonnie Ross. February 21 a public card party was featured.

Hear of Indians' Conditions.

San Diego—The monthly card parties of San Diego No. 208 have been most successful, both socially and financially. Other charming affairs given for the benefit of the Parlor were a waffle bake February 8 at the home of Doris Hoffner, and a bridge dinner February 23 at the home of Marie James. The past presidents are rehearsing a program to be presented in April, on the occasion of the Parlor's birthday anniversary. At the February 22 meeting Purl Willis spoke on "Conditions Among the Indians of San Diego County."

At the third anniversary celebration of the Past Presidents Association President Irma Heilbron, Secretary Marion Stough and Treasurer Elsie Frank were re-elected, and Sofia Sharpe was made vice-president. A vase was presented President Heilbron and she, in turn, presented gifts to her assisting officers. The untimely passing of Miss Florence Brewer, well-known educator and member of San Diego Parlor, is mourned; she was born in Contra Costa County, sixty years ago.

Card Party Attracts.

Modesto—At its February 8 meeting, Morada No. 199 voted to adopt a Central Homeless Children Committee baby. Supervising Deputy Katherine Kopf, Deputy Ethel Enos and a number of members went to Oakdale February 6 to attend the official visit of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong to Oakdale No. 125. A sociable February 22 was in charge of Rhoda Jenkinson.

At the whist party given jointly February 15 by Morada and Modesto No. 11 N.S.G.W., guests were entertained at forty tables. Emma Smith and Lena Browder had charge of the card playing and dance, and Katherine Kopf and Robert Benson looked after the refreshments. The next card party and dance, scheduled for March 16, will be in charge of Annette Petersen and Robert Benson.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

THAT LOS ANGELES IS ONE OF THE few American large cities whose origin is traced to a formal founding, in the choosing of a location, "eminently satisfactory for an agricultural colony," is disclosed in a human geography study made by Dr. Ruth E. Baugh, assistant professor of geography, University of California at Los Angeles.

"Analysis of the historical development of present-day cities," she says, "shows that in a majority of cases favorable geographical conditions attracted settlers to places where simple requisites of water, fuel and food supply, or of protection of market facilities were provided. While some cities mark the successive stages of urban growth, other cities have been chosen arbitrarily and settlers directed to occupy them. Such artificially created cities may degenerate if the basic elements for survival and growth are absent."

Los Angeles, according to Dr. Baugh, is one of the rare cases among the great cities of the United States whose origin was prescribed in accordance with conditions viewed necessary for settlement. It was Governor Felipe De Neve who ordered that, "after selecting a spot for a dam and ditch with a view of irrigating the largest possible area of land," a site for the pueblo was to be chosen "on high ground in sight of the sowing lands, but at least 500 feet distant, near the river or main ditch, with sufficient exposure to the north and south winds."

To this site, September 4, 1781, Governor de Neve conducted the forty-six settlers recruited in northern Mexico, and with impressive ceremony formally founded El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles, she says. The river still serves the city, contributing from 19 to 20 percent of the total water supply of the state's metropolis, adds Dr. Baugh.

PLAN FOR VISITS N.D. HEAD.

The Native Daughter Parlors in the southern district are eagerly anticipating the official visits of Grand President Anna Mixon Armstrong, scheduled elsewhere in The Grizzly Bear. At a meeting February 1 attended by many officials, attractive features were planned for Mrs. Armstrong's entertainment. Among those present were Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, who presided, Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Supervising Deputy Florence D. Schoneman, Deputies Gertrude Allen, Lucretia Coates, Carrie Lenhouse-Northway, Genevieve Hiskey, Ellen Mae Madden, Grace Anderson, Rita Smith, Mary Noerenberg, Eva Bemis, Nellie Cline and Kate McFadyen.

CARAVAN VISITS.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. had a surprise visitor February 2—Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane of San Francisco, who discoursed on conditions in the Order. He was welcomed by Past Grand John T. Newell. February 13 a caravan of 45ers, led by First Vice-president Roger Johnson, paid a visit to Hollywood No. 196 and furnished entertainment there. February 23 the Parlor was officially visited by Grand Trustee Eldred L. Meyer, and preceding the meeting Sid Witkowski and his "gang" served a buffet supper. William Gilkey is doing fine work in behalf of landmarks.

DELIGHTFUL BRIDGE LUNCHEON.

Glendale—President Vera Carlson of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. has appointed several committees to carry on the many spring activities. The dance of February 11 held in conjunction with Glendale No. 264 N.S.G.W. was a huge success, more than 200 attending; Ione and Harvey Gillett were in charge. A dinner under the chairmanship of Margaret Donlan preceded the February 14 meeting.

Chevy Chase Country Club was the scene of a delightful bridge luncheon sponsored by the Parlor February 15. The decorations were in the valentine motif, and guests came from Ontario, Fullerton and Los Angeles. A. D. Orr gave piano numbers and Dorothy Courtney sang. Margaret Donlan was in charge. Following the February 28 meeting lovely refreshments were enjoyed at the home of Ione Gillett; Historian Dorothy Rawn gave an interesting talk. A food sale was held February 25.

March 18, Verdugo and Glendale Parlors will feature a Saint Patrick Day dance at Masonic Temple, 234 South Brand boulevard. Ione Gillett and Albert Boeckman, who are making the arrangements, extend an invitation to all Natives and friends, and President Carlson of No. 240 assures a joyous time.

GALA OCCASION.

Santa Monica—Some three hundred Native Sons, including delegations from every nearby Parlor, attended the annual lobster feast of Santa Monica Bay No. 267, February 1. And what a feast! It was an all-around gala occasion, perfectly handled by President Arthur Leonard and his able assistants. Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, a Black Bart at extracting funds for charity, directed the good of the order, and between his extractions some excellent entertainment features were presented. Speakers, limited, of the evening were Past Grands Herman C. Lichtenberger, William I. Traeger and John T. Newell, Grand Trustees Joseph J. McShane and Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William A. Reuter, District Deputies Howard Bentley, Edwin Baldwin, Walter Baskerville and Harry Honn.

March 1 the Parlor starts a membership drive, which will be in progress to May 1. March 15 will be past presidents night, and there will be special entertainment features and other attractions. Secretary Smith assures "a big night for all."

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

Long Beach—In a pretty spring setting of ferns and sweetpeas, the officers of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W., with Miss Eleanor Johnson as president, were publicly installed February 2 by Deputy Nellie Cline. Entertainment was contributed by Marietta Brown, Orville Cooper, Ruth Dwelly and Kermit Holven. Clara Fay, Daisy Hansen, Victoria Thompson and Elnora Martin constituted the refreshments committee, and Lillian Lassiter and Daisy Hansen had charge of the decorations. Among the visitors were a delegation from Grace No. 242 (Fullerton). The thimble club met February 9 at the home of Alice Waldow and completed tying a comfort. A bridge-bunco party was held at Kate McFadyen's home February 11.

RIGHT NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO BECOME A SUBSCRIBER TO THE GRIZZLY BEAR
The ALL California Monthly

A birthday party celebrating the Parlor's twenty-sixth institution anniversary was held February 16. Louise McDougall was the chairman. Several members of Rudecinda No. 230 (San Pedro) were guests. A bridge luncheon was held February 23 at the home of Lillian Lassiter. A plunkett dinner and card party will be held March 2. Mrs. Lassiter heads the arrangements committee.

DANCE WITH THE CABALLEROS.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. initiated three candidates February 10. Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer, a visitor, gave a resume of the splendid work being accomplished by San Diego No. 108, and urged cooperation with all organizations and agencies that are in sympathy with the Order's undertakings. Past Grand Herman C. Lichtenberger and Edward Fitzgerald were among the other speakers. Walter Slosson distributed additional "1933 Bear Club" pins.

March 25 the "Doce Caballeros," an auxiliary of the Parlor commendably promoting the best interests of the Order and deserving encouragement, will give another dance at Patriotic Hall. Ralph Harbison assures all who attend a good time. First Vice-president Charles Straube says he has heard it announced that No. 109 will this year celebrate its birthday with a big affair at Catalina.

Ramona's March calendar includes: 10th, initiation. 17th, monthly birthday dinner for those members born in March; all members of the Order and their friends of both sexes invited; Henry Carter will speak on "The Boundaries of the Counties of the State;" reservations must be made with Secretary John Scott not later than March 10. 24th, reception to those members initiated during March of previous years. 31st, nomination of delegates to Grass Valley Grand Parlor.

SPIRIT OF ENDEAVOR PERVADES.

Santa Monica—Kathryn Worsham was chairman of the bridge-dinner given by Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. January 25. February 15, Native Sons were guests at a spanish dinner in charge of Elizabeth Valencia. February 18, Helen Burke, Myrtle Barden and Rosalie Hyde of the Parlor's welfare committee visited the National Soldiers Home at Sawtelle and distributed jams, jellies, magazines and jigsaw puzzles. A Washington party, February 22, was in charge of Mary Rittner and Helen Burke.

A spirit of endeavor pervades the Parlor, and planned events include a beach club bridge breakfast, Emelia Sundquist chairman; a patio bridge at the Beverly Hills home of Catherine Conterno; a dance, Myrtle Barden chairman; a benefit bridge at the Elks Club, sponsored by Willette Biscailuz.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Gertrude Schilz, mother of Nicholas M. Schilz (Ramona N.S.), died February 4 at the age of 73.

Mrs. Laura Sagar, wife of William S. Sagar (Los Angeles N.S.), died February 16. She was a daughter of John T. Newell (Past Grand President N.S.) and a sister of William G. Newell (Los Angeles N.S.).

Mrs. Mary B. Pico, mother of Mrs. Lisita Pico-Williamson (Californiana N.D.), died February 20.

HOMELESS CHILDREN BENEFIT.

The N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Homeless Children Committee has elected the following officers: Irving Baxter, chairman; Grace Norton, vice-chairman; Annie L. Adair, secretary; Calista Stefan, treasurer; John Gower, financial secretary.

Hazel B. Hansen, N.D. Grand Outside Sentinel, and Eldred L. Meyer, N.S. Grand Trustee, head a joint committee appointed to arrange for the annual homeless children benefit ball, which will be held at the Breakfast Club, April 22. At a preliminary meeting of the joint committee at the home of Mrs. Edward Taber, February 17, several subcommittees were named to look after details.

HEARS OF CHINA.

The "oldtimers nite" of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. attracted a large crowd, including a big delegation from University No. 272.

In Memoriam

THOMAS P BOYD.

Once again Death has invaded our ranks and taken a well-beloved brother. Thomas P. Boyd a Past President of Mount Tamalpais Parlor No. 91 N.S.G.W. has answered the final call. To those who knew him best this passing is an irreparable loss. He was one of those splendid characters whom this Parlor has been justly proud to claim as a member, whose affiliation has helped to give it the enviable standing and prestige it has ever enjoyed in this community.

Brother Thomas P. Boyd was a self-made man. Left an orphan at an early age by the passing of his father, a hardy Pioneer, he quickly realized the importance of preparing himself for the serious affairs of life. A good mind, hard work and close application to his studies soon enabled him to reach the high estate of honors in his profession.

Self-sacrificing and self-effacing, he sought no political preferment. After serving several terms at the important post of District Attorney of Marin County, with credit to himself and satisfaction to the community, he renounced all further ambition in that direction. Kindly and sympathetic, he devoted much of his time and talents to aiding his less fortunate fellow citizens. His loyalty to his clients won him a splendid reputation in his profession.

An ardent believer in the cause of education he served his community well, sparing neither time nor labor in its advancement. His unwavering devotion to his political principles, prompted by motives of highest patriotism, gained for him the respect and admiration of friend and foe alike. No triumph however great, made him arrogant, no defeat discouraged him.

A just man, an earnest leader, a kind and loving husband, father, brother and son, we deeply deplore his passing, and we extend to his bereaved family our most sincere sympathy in their dark hour of sorrow. We realize how futile it is for us to attempt to comfort them and we commend them to the Just and Merciful Father who, in His infinite wisdom, has called our brother to his eternal rest.

Resolved, That a copy of this memorial be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication, be it further resolved, that the charter of this Parlor be draped for a period of thirty days, and that the Parlor stand in silence in respect to the memory of our departed brother.

HISTORIC BACKGROUND OF "MORGAN TERRITORY" HOME.

The home of Jeremiah Morgan, Pioneer of Contra Costa County and once owner of "Morgan Territory," originally consisting of 10,000 acres, was built eighty years ago. The lumber was hauled by him from the Santa Cruz Mountains by oxen. Pegs were used in place of nails. The house consisted of eight rooms, five on the ground and three on the upper floor.

Jeremiah Morgan came to California in 1849 from Tennessee and settled in Ignacio Valley, Contra Costa County. Later he went back to Tennessee, where he was married. He returned with his bride to his holdings in Ignacio Valley which he sold soon after, in 1852, to take up 40,000 acres near the foot and on the east side of Mount Diablo. This vast acreage came to be known as "Morgan Territory."

Fourteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, ten of them in the historic old home. Jeremiah Morgan died at the age of 85 years. A son, I. N. Morgan, the only one of the fourteen children now living, has always resided in "Morgan Territory," which at the present time consists of but 1,400 acres, instead of 40,000.

(The above came to The Grizzly Bear from Edna Hall, a Recreation attendant with Diablo Parlor No. 194 N.D.G.W. (Morgan). She says: "This item seems to me to be of some historic value. It was given to me by a member of Diablo Parlor, a descendant of Morgan and concerning a very old historical home in that part of Mount Diablo. It was burned September 15, 1932. No one seems to have known much of its historical happenings until very recently.—Editor.)

INA SWANK.

To the Officers and Members of Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft a resolution to the memory of our departed sister, Ina Swank, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has called to the Heavenly Parlor on High our esteemed and beloved sister, Ina Swank, and whereas Bahia Vista Parlor has lost a loyal member, her husband a devoted wife, and her two daughters and son an affectionate mother.

Resolved, That the sympathy of the Parlor be extended to the bereaved family that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, that a copy be spread in full upon the minutes of the Parlor, and that a copy be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine.

LOUISE I. McDOUGALL,
HELEN O'CONNELL,
MINNIE E. RAPER,
Committee.

Oakland, February 2, 1933.

CHARLOTTE WHARTON.

To the Officers and Members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our late, beloved sister, Charlotte Wharton, submit the following:

Whereas, Again the Angel of Death has entered our Parlor and taken from our midst our dearly beloved sister, Charlotte Wharton, whose kind and gentle manner won the love and esteem of all who knew her, and whereas, in her passing our Parlor has lost a most highly respected and faithful member, the community a useful citizen, her husband a devoted wife and her mother a loyal and loving daughter.

Resolved, That we extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved family; and further be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the husband and also a copy be sent to the loving mother that a copy in full be spread upon the minutes of this Parlor, and a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication. In drafting these resolutions of respect we are performing the last tribute in our power for an honored and revered sister.

"May the California winds blow lightly,
May the California sun shine brightly,
May the California rain fall lightly
Where sleeps our Sister dear."

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,
KATE McFADYEN,
DAISY T. HANSEN,
CLARA HARPER LAY,
Committee.

Long Beach, February 16, 1933.

Midwinter Fair—The Imperial County Midwinter Fair is billed for Imperial, March 4-12.

LOS ANGELES

Speakers of the evening were Grand Trustees Joseph J. McShane and Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Outside Sentinel William I. Reuter, Past Grand John T. Newell, Superior Judges Samuel Blake and Joseph Sproul, Municipal Judge Leo Aggeler and President Henry Bodkin. A good program was presented, and refreshments were served.

February 20, Leonard Husar of Ramona No. 109 spoke before the Parlor on "China." He related bits of the early history of that country, and told something of conditions there today. His informative remarks were greatly enjoyed. Among the "strangers" were Henry Ireland, who originated the homeless children penny march several years ago, J. M. Lynch, John Concannon, J. S. Jeffers and W. R. Topham. March 20, Hollywood will initiate a class of candidates.

CLUBHOUSE FUND ENRICHED.

The February 1 meeting of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. was largely attended and most enjoyable. Matters of importance were discussed, among the speakers being Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Deputy Rita Smith, Grand Outside Sentinel Hazel B. Hansen, Dolores Malin, Mary McAnany and Deputy Mary Noerenberg. Mrs. Mary and Miss Marvel Thomas entertained the sewing club at their home February 5; delicious refreshments were served.

The valentine party February 11 was very unique and a great success. Due to the untiring efforts of Chairman Edna Trombatore and her assistants a neat sum was raised for the clubhouse fund. The Washington Birthday party February 22, under the chairmanship of Juanita Porter, was thoroughly appreciated. All members having February birthdays were entertained. The "dessert bridge" at the home of Evelyn Howell, February 18, attracted a large crowd.

Los Angeles' March program includes: 8th, monthly card party, Grace Haven chairman; 22nd, get-together meeting; 29th, drill team night. President Mattie Gara says: "Through understanding and co-operation, we will have progress."

UNIVERSITY IN NEW HOME.

University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. has changed its time and place of meeting. Commencing March 8 it will meet Wednesday nights at 1008 West Adams street, and a dinner at 7 p. m. will precede the initial gathering in the new quarters. An outing at Big Pines is scheduled for March 12. Through the courtesy of Bert Rovere, entertainers from the Paris Inn will be featured March 22; Howard Babb will be in charge, and all Natives, including the womenfolks, are invited. President Bernard Hiss announces that Monday nights have been set aside for the Natives at the Olympic Swimming Stadium.

University had a Valentine Day program, under the direction of Howard Babb, February 14. Numbers were presented by Carter Wright, Evelyn McCarthy, Maryjo Beebe, Jackie Jean Simpson, Jennie Alice Farrand, Wallace Weberg, Florence Goodale, Florence Leedom and Margaret Maupin.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. was hostess at a delightful bridge luncheon and fashion show at Beverly Hills, February 18. A valentine motif was carried out, and the function was one of the most successful in the Parlor's history. Gertrude Tuttle and a corps of able assistants carried out the plans. The program vied with bridge in holding the interest of the large number of guests. The funds obtained from this brilliant social event will be used for homeless children and philanthropic activities of Californiana.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

their magic at a cost of $5 per pupil, whereas in 1933 they are making off with something close to $100.

"The plain fact is that the public schools have gone on a joy-ride. If they did their work competently in 1914 there is no reason why they shouldn't do it at no more than twice the price today. And if they really need all the money they are now taking, then it must be manifest that they were so ineffective in 1914 that it was scarcely worth while to keep them open at all."

The dastardly attempt on the life of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt at Miami, Florida, should hasten closer scrutiny, by United States agents at foreign ports, of aliens desiring to come into this country for permanent or temporary residence. Also, a law should be passed, and rigidly enforced, requiring the registration and fingerprinting of all aliens.

All the undesirables in this country, however, are not of alien birth. We are burdened with a too-considerable number of native production. The latter are not generally referred to as anarchists, communists or what have you, but as "prominents," "international bankers," "business princes," etc. All undesirables, alien and native, are a constant menace and, being such, should be disposed of by deportation or penitentiary confinement.

Monteville Flowers of Pasadena, at a meeting in Sacramento of California taxpayers, suggested that control of government be taken from taxeaters and returned to taxpayers. He conveyed the astounding information, "Los Angeles County's public employes used physical force to break up tax reduction meetings," and declared "this sort of thing shows we must give control of government back to the people who pay."

The "lame duck" Federal Congress accomplished one thing—put the Eighteenth Amendment proposal on the glory-road. Here's something for the statisticians and others to worry over: the Congress devoted approximately three months' valuable time, and millions of dollars that could have provided food and shelter for thousands, in getting the proposal launched; how much time and how many dollars will be expended before the sought-for goal is reached, if it be reached?

State Controller Ray L. Riley has proposed and is advocating a taxation plan which, he contends, will relieve California of possible bankruptcy and reduce the tax burden on common property. It limits state, county and city taxes, reduces the proportion of state government supported by common property taxes to 50 percent, and establishes a gross receipts tax on all forms of corporate income. "The purpose of this plan," says Riley, "is to afford direct relief to real estate."

Bernard M. Baruch, addressing, by invitation, the Federal Senate Finance Committee, asserted that Congress is trifling with disaster. "No nation is living within its income now," he said, "and the money of all is unsound or suspected. That is the defective cause of continued misery, and cure of that is the controlling principle for any council among nations. There is no need for long agenda or complicated plans. The program for both talk and action can be written on a calling card, 'Balance the budgets of the world.'

"We should make one single and invariable dictum and theme of every discourse: Balance budgets. Stop spending money we haven't got. Sacrifice for frugality and revenue. Cut governmental spending—cut it as rations are cut in a siege. Tax—tax everybody for everything. But take hungry men off the world's pavements and let people smile again."

"The moral and spiritual bankruptcy of the modern age, not the depression, is causing the hopeless futility facing most of us today," declared Martin Kiddle of the Oxford Group, in a Los Angeles address. "The crisis we are facing is at least as momentous as the fall of the Roman empire. Sooner or later we must discover that the only way out of it is to . . . . learn from Him [God] that we must get back to the fundamentals of life.

"It is very easy for us to sneak out of the mess some other way. For instance, we might try making good resolutions for the future. But I do not need to remind you that hell is paved with good resolutions. We have to realize today that the world is in the mess it is because the world is like each of us. If we would make the world better, we must begin with ourselves."

William E. Borah, in the United States Senate February 14, declared: "There is already a revolution in this country. There are places where the courts cannot operate, where they are frustrated by sheer force. That has spread from the old State of Pennsylvania to my own State of Idaho. We know what has happened in Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa. Every farmer in the United States is looking with anxious solicitude toward the Congress to know whether anything is going to be done by March 4. If nothing is done by then, this condition will be accentuated beyond the measure of words to portray."

Several good bills, and some not so good, are before the State Legislature for consideration. Lack of space prevents a listing of all, but a few of the meritorious ones were referred to last month. Another, of the good class, is S.B. No. 178, which will, if enacted, make it possible for county assessors to collect a personal property tax from all auto owners. Twenty percent of them, it is said, now avoid payment and saddle approximately $2,500,000 annually onto those who do pay.

One bill which should not pass is A.B. No. 1528, which provides for the creation of a state license tax commission—of three members to be appointed by the governor for six-year terms—to license manufacturers, purveyors, transporters and sellers of alcoholic beverages. That is dangerous legislation, in that it opens wide the government-door for the entrance of dishonesty! When, and if, the Eighteenth (prohibition) Amendment be repealed, each community, not the state, should have the right to license and to regulate its liquor business.

The Indeterminate Sentence Law should be repealed! It increases in number the miscarriages of justice, is expensive, and is a statutory reflection on the efficiency of the judiciary. The presiding judge, hearing the evidence in a criminal case, should fix the definite penalty for the convicted. If it be desired, however, that the prison board, who do not, under the existing law, hear the evidence, shall fix the definite penalty, then the courts dealing with criminal cases should be abolished, and to the board should be delegated complete jurisdiction in all criminal cases—to hear the evidence and to fix the definite penalty. The indeterminate statute, providing for one of the too-many overlapping or duplicating functions of government, should be repealed, for the common good.

It is most gratifying to note that many of the state's papers, incensed at prevailing conditions, have their guns trained on the system that exists on "the hidden things of dishonesty" and those who profit therefrom. With very few exceptions, they are expressing opinions in mighty plain language. It is well, for if the press unite in battling the system, tranquility will, in time, succeed chaos. Here are some sample hot-shots:

"Why Honeycomb the State? We are for the best plan to relieve taxpayers and it is up to the men we send to Sacramento to determine the surest way to achieve this result. There has been a suggestion giving more powers to boards of supervisors, but judging by the experience of Marin County and Los Angeles County, and the mixup in San Mateo, it is not a very reassuring method of lifting the burden which a lot of enthusiasts, plus many skilled lobbyists, put upon us. Supervisors are not immune to such influences and are no longer the guileless rurals who represented their neighbors and shaved expenditure down to the last nickel. The day of such supervisors passed long ago, and too many now belong to the vast army of sophisticates who puff the cigars of big business and cement friendship with highway contractors."—Editorial "Sonoma Index-Tribune," February 17.

"Well, you poor devil of a businessman and farmer, who can see nothing but ruin ahead, what are you going to do about it? So far you have acted like you didn't have an ounce of gumption, and not enough spunk to bat a mosquito. Are you going on like this? Are you going to continue to be but a human worm in the dust to be set upon by a lot of public leeches who are bleeding you to death? Come, let us have mass meetings. . . . Let us tell our public servants what's what. A well-backed-up recall here and there might clarify the situation and bring decency to some through fear, who have no honor for honor's sake. It is this or ruin. We are rushing down the precipice of financial collapse at a pace that is appalling. And we are doing nothing. Our officials are doing nothing. In God's name, what is wrong with Americans?"—Editorial "Township Register," Niles, Alameda County, February 16.

"In response to an inquiry from a Weaverville, Trinity County, correspondent, regarding the comparative expenditures of the governor's office during the terms of Governors Richardson, Young and Rolph, The Bee prints the following figures obtained from the state controller's office: Governor Richardson, total for four years' administration, $176,018; average yearly expenditure, $44,004. Governor Young, total for four years, $184,140; average yearly expenditure, $46,035. Governor Rolph, total for two years and one month, $188,919; average yearly expenditure, $90,681, or approximately twice that of either Governor Young or Governor Richardson."—Featured news item "Sacramento Bee," February 15.

J. H. Hoepfel, congressman-elect from California, went to the National Capital to look around. He was shocked at the evidence of extravagance, according to the "La Verne Leader" of February 9, which featured a letter from him. Quoting from the letter:

"In the senate office building we find an elegantly conducted beauty shop, which cost the taxpayers a small fortune to construct, while in the same building we find elegant white marble-trimmed baths and a plunge, reported to have cost $200,000, where our ninety-six senators, and perhaps their male secretaries, may bathe to their hearts content before and after a strenuous day's work of sitting idly by. . . . That millions upon millions of our American youth do not even have a galvanized tub today in which to bathe has probably not entered the craniums of the (reported) Wall-street representatives in the senate. Of course, we will disregard the bathhouse attendants paid with funds which come from the American farmer and others who are losing their homes through foreclosure or taxes. . . . Why does the Senate prate about economy, with these conditions so glaring that they must stumble over them daily, unless they are mentally inert and physically blind? Under the vicious patronage system 13-year-old boys are receiving $110 a month as pages, paid from funds derived through taxation from farmers who are forced to sell their cotton and wheat below cost of production."

"To gild refined gold, to paint the lily,
To throw a perfume on the violet,
To smooth the ice, or add another hue
Unto the rainbow, . . .
Is wasteful and ridiculous excess."

DESCENDANT WM. ISAAC TUSTIN, PIONEER OF 1845, SEEKS DATA.

Editor Grizzly Bear—I am a member of Rudecinda Parlor (San Pedro) N.D.G.W. and a subscriber to The Grizzly Bear Magazine. In January 1933 I noticed an article that interests me greatly. It is printed on page 2, is about the first Protestant church in California, and quotes from Harvey Hovey Hyde Jr.'s diary.

It tells about only six houses being in Benicia July 22, 1849, and speaks of the government constructing some buildings there. This interests me, as my grandfather built the first house in Benicia (of adobe) and he contracted and built for the government the barracks there (1847). My grandfather's name was Wm. Isaac Tustin. He was a charter member of California Pioneer Lodge and I have his memorial, drafted by them, and my daughter is assembling the facts from that and from other relatives and hopes to have an article that you might be interested in. When she has it finished, I will gladly send it to you.

Referring to the article printed in the January Grizzly Bear: I wonder if there are any copies of Harvey Hovey Hyde Jr.'s diary printed in book form? Where could I find one, or do you know where the original diary is? The town of Tustin, Orange County, is named for my grandfather's brother.

MRS. MARGARET BIRKENBERG.

Sierra Madre, March 1, 1933.

(The "California Pioneer Lodge" above referred to is the Society of California Pioneers, San Francisco. From Mrs. Birkenberg a copy of the memorial has been received, and it will be published later in The Grizzly Bear.—Editor.)

FIFTY-ONE YEARS AGO—THE GREAT SNOWSTORM OF 1882.

Editor Grizzly Bear—I am sending you a true story of the great storm of 1882. The records show it was the greatest ever known in Southern California, I think. I was alone at our Pine Valley cattle ranch, in the mountains of San Diego County. We were having a very cold northeast wind, and the ground was dry and frozen. In the afternoon great black clouds came rolling in from the southwest, and the snow began to fall very fast.

The next morning I could not get out of the front door, on the west side. Before the storm ended the snow was four feet deep, and in many places great drifts were ten feet deep. I had to dig a path to the barn, to lead the horses and cows to the well for water. It was a week before I could break a trail to another valley, three miles away, where my father and mother lived, and I would go over there most every day for a warm dinner.

In those days, we would buy our food for winter in large wagonloads, and we had lots of flour, sugar, potatoes, beans, dried fruit, bacon, etc., on hand. We did not have canned food then. To pass the lonesome hours, I had a Bible to read, a pack of cards, my violin, and my good old dog, Trusty, to talk to.

In three weeks I started with a large saddle-horse to break a trail to Descanso, six miles distant, to get the mail. About half-way I met two neighbor cattlemen on their way to their ranch, six miles beyond Pine Valley. They had the mail, and stayed all night with me. Next day we broke a trail to their ranch at "Corta Medara." We found many cattle that had perished with cold and fallen into drifts. In one canyon I found nine head dead, in a little flat. They had eaten all the brush they could reach, but they could not get out through the snow. It snowed clear to the ocean that storm.

DAUGHTER FIRST AMERICAN COUPLE WEDDED IN CALIFORNIA PASSES.

San Luis Obispo—Mrs. Anna Davis, born at Santa Cruz City in 1862, died February 24. She was a daughter of George and Elecia Sumner Davis, who were wedded at Sutter Fort (now Sacramento) July 17, 1843, the ceremony being performed by Captain John A. Sutter.

George Davis crossed the plains in 1838 and was first lieutenant under General John C. Fremont, and his wife, Elecia Sumner, came across the plains in 1842. It is believed theirs was the first marriage of citizens of the United States in California.

Inland Seaport—The six-million-dollar deep-water channel constructed by the Federal Government and Stockton, San Joaquin County, was officially completed January 18. Since then several ocean vessels have visited California's seaport ninety miles inland from the Golden Gate, and regular service between Stockton and Atlantic and Pacific ports will start April 1.

CALIFORNIA'S ROMANTIC HISTORY

Lewis F. Byington
(PAST GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

DAYS OF GOLD

ONE OF THE MOST COLORFUL PERIods in the history of California, and of all times, was the period following the discovery of gold by James W. Marshall. "It set the whole civilized world on fire with excitement." No such days were ever known before, nor shall a like period be seen again. If gold-fields of equal wealth were discovered in this age, rapid transportation would rob the discovery of the romance of the "days of forty-nine." Railroads, the automobile, the airplane and rapid steamships would bring people to the new "El Dorado" in a few hours, and the treasure of the mines would fall into the hands of organized companies and syndicates. It was the poor man who had his opportunity in the gold rush to California. Never again will we have the romance of the emigrant trail, the slow-moving ox-team, the long sea voyage around Cape Horn or by way of the Isthmus of Panama, the heat of trackless deserts, the storms and snows of the mountains, and the dangers that beset the journey through attacks by Indians or wild animals.

It is not generally known that, prior to the discovery by Marshall, placer mines had been worked in southern California, near the San Fernando Mission, and within two years following this first discovery, in March 1842, some $80,000 had been taken out. But the missionary fathers apparently discouraged mining. They were not in search of wealth, but were seeking to Christianize the Indians. It remained for James W. Marshall, an American, to make the important discovery near what is now Coloma, on the south fork of the American River, January 24, 1848, a discovery which turned the eyes of the world toward California.

General John A. Sutter had been given a large grant of land by the Mexican government, an empire of eleven square leagues, 48,825 acres, and established himself on the present site of the city of Sacramento, in 1839, erecting what is now known as Sutter's Fort. Finding himself in need of lumber to use on his vast estate, he employed Marshall, a millman, to search for a location and directed him to build a sawmill on the American River. Marshall built his mill near Coloma, in El Dorado County. He constructed a mill-race and turned the water of the river in at night to wash away the loose dirt which had been dug during the day, and, having shut the water off in the morning, the bedrock was exposed and he noticed bright golden-colored particles on the rock. His heart leaped with excitement at the thought that they might be gold. His belief was soon verified. Marshall reported his find to Sutter, but Sutter was anxious to complete the mill and also a flour-mill on the American River and he and Marshall agreed to keep the discovery a secret, but the men had picked up other pieces of gold and at once quit work and went to mining. The news of the discovery spread like magic and in a few weeks hundreds were engaged in digging along the river and creek beds.

In July 1848, Colonel Richard B. Mason, under orders from the Federal Government, made a tour of the mining region and in his official report stated that he could not believe at first the accounts of the great wealth of gold in the mountains and could not realize the value of the discovery until he visited the mining district, but that he now had no hesitation in saying that there was more gold in the country drained by the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers than would pay the cost of the war with Mexico a hundred times over. In a later letter he stated that if he had said five hundred times over he would be nearer the mark. Colonel Mason's official report to Washington soon reached the world at large and brought the great rush of gold-seekers to California. Mason street in San Francisco is named after him.

San Francisco at first did not credit the reports, but in a short time a number of gold-diggers drifted into the town with bottles, tin cans and buckskin bags filled with golden nuggets, and the well-known Pioneer, Sam Brannan, one day appeared on the Plaza with a bottle of gold dust in one hand and, swinging his hat with the other, yelled: "Gold! Gold! from the American River." The town was at once fired with excitement. Business houses closed their doors, schoolteachers, lawyers and doctors left their offices, sailors deserted their ships, and soldiers the Presidio. By boat up the rivers, by mule and horse and on foot they struck for the mines, fearing that the gold would be gone before each dug his share. By August 1, over 4,000 men were working along the river and in ravines. Ships began to arrive from all quarters of the world, filled with treasure-seekers from every state and land. By November, 600 vessels had entered the harbor and many of these were left at the wharves while passengers and crews hurried to the gold mines. Not alone by sea, but across mountain and desert they came, and it is estimated that in the year 1849 over 42,000 people reached California overland. Thirst, privations, dangers and death could not check the rush, and the stories of adventure by land and sea, told by the Argonauts, were more marvelous than any theretofore recorded.

To reach the gold-producing Sierras from San Francisco the earliest miners first proceeded slowly up the rivers by boat. There were three distributing towns through which the mines were reached, Sacramento, Stockton and Marysville. At the levees of these towns the boats landed and on them the provisions and supplies for the mines were stacked, and from there at first trains of pack-mules, and later wagons and stages, started on their way across the valley, over the foothills and on upward to the mining camps. The gold-producing counties of early days stretched from Mariposa to Sierra, including Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Tuolumne, Amador and Calaveras. The gold in prehistoric days had been washed down from the higher levels and deposited in the river beds and was found in the large gravel bars along the rivers and in the creeks, gulches and ravines tributary thereto, and in the deep channels of ancient river beds running back into the hills and often covered by lava.

The earliest miners, with pick and shovel, dug the richer gravel from the crevices or seams in the bedrock and washed it out in the gold pan. Later still, they used a rocker, which was more expeditious; and afterwards ground sluices, hundreds of feet long, into which the gravel was shoveled and carried along by a stream of water and the gold sinking to the bottom was held by riffles. When the miner by digging a tunnel followed the ancient river channel back into the mountain it was called "drifting." The gravel in these ancient channels frequently abounded in gold, particularly on the bedrock. In the gradual development of mining operations long ditches and flumes were built from the foothills far up toward the summit of the mountains, where the deep snows of winter conserved the water for spring and summer use. Later on, we had hydraulic mining, by which water under the highest pressure was directed through a nozzle, tearing down high banks and hills and carrying the gravel through large flumes in which the gold was caught. In 1850, on Gold Hill, at Grass Valley, quartz mining was first started, stamp mills being erected to crush the quartz which was found in rocky veins, and after being crushed the gold was separated from the rock by means of mercury or quicksilver.

The discovery of gold in 1848 changed completely the character of California. The Spanish settlers had been engaged entirely in agricultural pursuits and in cattle and stock raising. Care-free and contented, they lived a quiet, happy life, with the least of toil and caring little for outside life. Then came the gold discovery, and the news spread everywhere. The New England farmer left his plough in the furrow, the Southerner his cotton in the field, the laborer turned at once from the work bench, the peasant from the vine-clad hills of Europe, all thrilled with the thought that they might cross the mountains and plains, or sail by sea around the Horn, throw off the bondage of poverty and never-ending toil and, in after years, return from California to the old homestead, rich beyond the dreams of other times. They poured through the Golden Gate,—the Celt, the Saxon, the Teuton, the fair-haired Scandinavian, the Spaniard of South America and the yellow races of the Orient.
